Acknowledgements

I am grateful to Alexis Sanderson, Dominic Goodall and Harunaga Isaacson for initiating me into the philological study of Śaivism, and to Florinda De Simini for encouraging me to apply for a position in her ŚIVADHARMA PROJECT (ERC no. 803624), for sharing with me all the relevant manuscript material and in general leading the project in the most friendly and generous way through difficult Covid-affected years. While working on the Vṛṣasāra-saṃgraha, I have also been affiliated with another ERC project, the DHARMA PROJECT (ERC no. 809994), and I'm grateful to all my colleagues involved in that enterprise, including Arlo Griffith, Emmanuel Francis, Annette Schmiedchen, Astrid Zotter, and Dániel Balogh.

During my visit to the National Archives in Kathmandu, the staff were helpful and professional. I wish to express my thanks to Jyoti Neupane, Manita Neupane, Saubhagya Pradhananga, Rubin Shrestha, Sahan Ranjitkar, and all other members. Sushmita Das made great efforts to acquire the manuscripts in Calcutta.

My colleagues and friends working in Naples or visiting Naples for shorter periods have helped me on a daily basis, during our regular reading sessions and in every other possible way, and I am thankful to them: to Florinda De Simini, Nirajan Kafle, Kengo Harimoto, Giulia Buriola, Alessandro Battistini, Lucas den Boer, Torsten Gerloff, Kenji Takahashi, Francesco Sferra, Dorotea Operato, Daniela Cappello, Michael Bluett, Marco Franceschini, Martina Dello Buono, Chiara Livio, Margherita Trento, Nina Mirnig, Timothy Lubin, S.A.S. Sarma, R. Sathyanarayanan, and others.

Colleagues I have known for countless years, such as Judit Törzsök, Dominic Goodall, Harunaga Isaacson, Csaba Dezső and Gergely Hidas, are always the first to help my work and support me in every possible way.

I am infinitely grateful to my family for always supporting me unwaveringly.

The present publication is a result of the project DHARMA 'The Domestication of "Hindu" Asceticism and the Religious Making of South and Southeast Asia'. This project has received funding from the European Research Council (ERC) under the European Union's Horizon 2020 research and innovation programme (grant agreement no. 809994). This book reflects the views of the author only. The funding body is not responsible for any use that may be made of the information contained therein.

Preface

Aims and problems

What is this edition? It is not much more than a new copy, and carefully prepared new version of a text called Vṛṣasārasaṃgraha, based on a number of witnesses, augmented with an analysis of the contents, with contextualisation, and with an English translation. As for the critical edition, while I went to great lengths to understand the textual history behind the manuscripts used, it is obviously a deeply contaminated version of a text transmitted through contaminated witnesses. Nevertheless, it is hopefully a version that is as close to the authors' and redactors' original intention around the time they assembled these chapters together, approximately in the seventh to tenth centuries, as possible. Of course we do not know if there was a single moment when the intention to compose a new text on Dharma under the title Vṛṣasārasaṃgraha was born or if there was one single 'original copy',¹ but it is hopefully the most meaningful and most readable among all available copies. Still, the present book is just a version of a text that surely has never existed exactly in this very form, inevitably showing signs of being an eclectic edition. Furthermore, it may show unintentional characteristics of the 21st century (ones that go beyond the modern Devanāgarī typeface or occasional choices based on our modern understandings and misunderstandings) mixed with characteristics of the first millenium. We know that '[a]ll editing is an act of interpretation.'² And many of the editorial decisions I made were based on opinions expressed by colleagues during our regular reading sessions. Thus this edition is a result of the interpretative efforts of a group of scholars, and this may sometimes, but hopefully rarely, have caused contradictions.

Find a hard copy of McGann's Textual Condition.

And as to complicate things, we are publishing this long text in two volumes, and the second volume is still in the making when the first comes out. This may produce various problems: of interpretation, of internal references, of repetition, and most importantly of presenting a text of embedded and recurring layers cut in half. To counteract some of these problems, I had finished editing and studying some of the most significant passages in the second part of the text by the time I let the first one out of my hands; some of these the reader can find in the Appendices. A further minor problem arises when I discuss topics that I have already touched upon in Kiss 2021: some overlaps are inevitable.

And what is the purpose of this edition? The main objective of the ŚIVADHARMA PROJECT has been to understand better the function of individual texts within the so-called Śivadharmā corpus, and thus the raison d'être of the corpus itself. My attempt is rather simplistic: it is to understand what the Vṛṣasārasaṃgraha tried to convey when it was composed and to try to see why this text got inserted in those multi-text manuscripts that usually transmit the so-called Śivadharmā corpus. But even without this ideal to fully understand the purpose and function of the Vṛṣasārasaṃgraha, to make a pre-eleventh-century Sanskrit text easily available in the twenty-first century is, I believe, a noble aspiration.

Introduction

The Śivadharmā corpus

In general...

Reading the Vṛṣasārasaṃgraha

The title

The title Vṛṣasārasaṃgraha can be translated as: ‘A Compendium on the Essence of the Bull [of Dharma].’ The last two elements (sāra-saṃgraha) need little explanation: this work is a ‘compendium’ on, a ‘collection’ or ‘summary’ of (saṃgraha) the ‘essence’ (sāra) of its topic. The words ‘compendium’ and ‘collection’ reflect the composite nature of the Vṛṣasārasaṃgraha well; see sections on the structure of the text and on the its possible sources on pp. ??ff and pp. ??ff. The remaining question is whether the bull in the title is only a reference to a representation of Dharma or also a hint at Śiva’s bull, his vehicle or mount, sometimes called Nandi or Nandin in other works.³

Dharma is frequently referred to as a (four-legged) bull in Sanskrit literature from at least the time of the Mahābhārata. See, e.g., this passage (MBh 3.188.10–13):

kṛte catuṣpāt sakalo nirvyājopādhivarjitaḥ |
vṛṣaḥ pratiṣṭhito dharmo manuṣyeṣu abhavat purā || 10 ||
adharmapādavidhas tu tribhir aṃśaiḥ pratiṣṭhitaḥ |
tretāyāṃ dvāpare ’rdhena vyāmiśro dharmo ucyate || 11 ||

Manusmṛti also confirms this (8.16a): vṛṣo hi bhagavān dharma.

The ŚDhU also mentions the ‘Dharma bull’:

Sanderson 2015 (210 n. 136), in general, on vṛṣa being Dharma, and on the bull appearing on the coins of the Hephthalite Hun Mihirakula in particular says the following:

To laud the bull (vr̥ṣa) would be surprising if the intended meaning were the bull that is Śiva's mount, but not if the word is intended in its figurative meaning, namely dharmah, or sukṛtam 'the virtuous actions [prescribed by the Veda].' For this meaning of vr̥ṣah see, for example, Amarasimha, Nāmaliṅgānūsāsana 1.4.25b (sukṛtam vr̥ṣah), 3.3.220 (sukṛte vr̥ṣabhe vr̥ṣah); Halāyudha, Abhidhānaratnamālā 1.125cd (dharmah puṇyam vr̥ṣah śreyah sukṛtam ca samam smṛtam); Manu 8[.]16a (vr̥ṣo hi bhagavān dharmas...); and the Gwalior Museum Stone Inscription of Pataṅgaśambhu (Mirashi 1962), l. 15, vr̥ṣaikaniṣṭho 'pi jitasmaro 'pi yah śaṅkaro 'bhūd bhuvi ko 'py apūrvvaḥ, concerning the Śaiva ascetic Vyomaśambhu: 'He was in the world an extraordinary new Śiva, since he too was vr̥ṣaikaniṣṭhaḥ ('devoted solely to pious observance'; in Śiva's case 'riding only on the Bull') and he too was jitasmarah ('one who had defeated sensual urges'; in Śiva's case 'the defeater of the Love god Kāmadeva'). This is also the meaning of vr̥ṣah in the title Vṛṣasārasaṃgraha, one of the works of the Śivadharmā corpus (see, e.g., Sanderson 2014, p. 2), i.e., 'Summary of the Essentials of the [Śiva]dharma'.

In his last sentence here, Sanderson implies that the Vṛṣasārasaṃgraha is organically part of the teachings that we call the Śivadharmā corpus, and thus he adds Śiva in square brackets when translating the title Vṛṣasārasaṃgraha. A closer examination of the VSS reveals no direct references to either Śiva's bull or to the bull as embodying the Śivadharmā. Instead, the bull in the VSS is repeatedly associated with the Dharma that is the four āśramas (see p. ??). My conclusion is that while the word vr̥ṣa in the title may well carry a reference to Śiva's bull, it is always only implied and never explicitly taught, while the bull as the personification of Dharma as the four āśramas explicitly appears. Thus the title actually lacks any explicit hint to Śaivism, which fits in well with the rather blurred and multi-layered affiliation of the text to Dharmaśāstra, Vaiṣṇavism and Śaivism.⁴

Bhattacharya (1977, 1552) suggests that

In the Purāṇas the bull (Vṛṣabha or Vṛṣa) of Śiva is identified with Dharma, "virtue personified". This is a new development to sanctify the animal vehicle of the god. This new situation took place with the religious rite when an offering of a bull to a Brahmin deemed to be of a high religious merit.

Is he ignoring the fact that Dharma as a bull appears already in the Mahābhārata? NOOOOO He comes to the conclusion (Bhattacharya 1977, 1555) that one of the earliest sources to fuse the figures of Nandin and the bull is the relatively early⁵ Matsyapurāṇa.

Vṛṣadeva's commission? As a fanciful experiment, and if one supposes that the VSS originated in Nepal, one could wonder if the title Vṛṣasārasaṃgraha has anything to do with the Licchavi king Vṛṣadeva. Sanderson (2009, 74) mentions that Vṛṣadeva is 'described in an inscription of his eighth-century descendant Jayadeva as having inclined towards Buddhism;' (Vajracārya 1973, 148, l. 9: sugataśāsanapakṣapāṭi) 'a view confirmed by a local chronicle, which attributes to him the establishing of Buddhist images,' and that this king established 'the Caitya of the Sīnagu-vihāra (the Svayambhūnāth Caitya).' More importantly, Sanderson summarises the information to be found in the Changu Narayana Pillar Inscription (east shaft),⁶ namely that Vṛṣadeva was the great-grandfather of Mānadeva, whose 'dated inscriptions range in date from 459 to 505/6' [CE] (Sanderson 2009, 75).⁷ This would place the reign of Vṛṣadeva around 400 CE. The early fifth century may look too early for the date of composition of the Vṛṣasārasaṃgraha, and any connection between this king and the text is impossible to prove at the moment, but it is equally impossible to reject any connection, and if there were one, it would give some explanation for the slightly unusual nature of the title.

The genre

Is the VSS a Purāṇa? There are at least two reasons to think so. One is the section VSS 1.63–76, a list of so-called vedavyāsas, transmitters of Purāṇas, from Brahmā, to Vyāsa Dvaipāyana, Romaharṣa and his son. Why should a text include in its first chapter such a list if the implication is not that it is about its own origin?

Another argument is that the topics dealt with in the VSS are exactly what we expect from a Purāṇa. The famous purāṇapañcalakṣaṇa includes, following Wilson's translation (in Rocher 1986, 26), the following: (1) primary creation, cosmogony and chronology (sarga); (2) creation, destruction of the world (pratisarga); (3) geneologies (vaṃśa); (4) Manu eras (manvantaras); (5) history (vaṃśānucarita).⁸ Arguably all these are present in the VSS, most of them already in chapter one, and later in twenty-one and twenty-four, plus narratives of the deeds of gods (e.g. in chapter twenty-three), and much more that one normally sees in Purāṇas.

Adhyāya 1 After a maṅgala-verse that addresses a deity whose identity is obscure (is it Śiva or the impersonal Brahman?, verse 1.1), we enter the first layer of the text, which comprises a dialogue between Janamejaya and Vaiśampāyana and could be labelled Dharmaśāstric. Janamejaya wishes to hear the essence, the ultimate Dharmic teaching, of the Mahābhārata. In response, Vaiśampāyana starts relating a dialogue in which Viṣṇu, disguised as a Brahmin, is testing an ascetic called Anarthayajña, reknown for performing non-material sacrifice (anarthayajña, the topic of adhyāya eleven), and a devotee of Viṣṇu (which becomes clear in adhyāya twenty-one). This is the beginning of the layer one could label Vaiṣṇava. The first topic they discuss is brahmavidyā (1.9–10), and ambiguous definition of the impersonal Brahman and/or the syllable om. The next topic is kāla (‘death, time’), the origin of the body, karma (1.11–17), and the divisions of time (from truṭi, nimeṣa up to kalpas, 1.18–31), which leads to a teaching on numbers, from one up to two hundred quadrillion (para, 1.32–36). Verses 1.37–40 introduce a list of the rulers of the eight regions of the Brahmāṇḍa (1.41–49). In addition, Viṣṇu features as the ruler of the centre of the Brahmāṇḍa (1.50), reconfirming the general Vaiṣṇava character of this layer. 1.51–58 give the number of subordinates to each ruler mentioned above. 1.59–62 teaches the measurements of the Brahmāṇḍa. Finally, verses 1.63–76 list the redactors and transmitters of the Purāṇas, from Brahmā to Vyāsa Dvaipāyana, Romaharṣa, and Romaharṣa’s son Amitabuddhi.

Introduction

Pāśupatas in the VSS

Buddhism in the VSS

Notes on the language

The language of the VSS goes beyond the idiosyncrasies of epic Sanskrit. It exhibits strong similarities to Śaiva Aīśa Sanskrit,¹⁰ and it applies particular metrical licences and uses a special vocabulary, morphology and syntax. The analysis of this language, ideally, could lead us to the author(s) or redactors of the text and to its place of composition. Here I only give a brief overview of the most important phenomena. For details see the observations on the constitution of the Sanskrit text in the footnotes to the translation (pp. ??), as well as the Index.

Metre

As regards metrical licences, the first striking feature is the generous use of the poetic licence sometimes labelled ‘muta cum liquida,’¹¹ namely that some consonant clusters that would normally turn the previous short (laghu) syllable long (guru) may in some cases do not do so. The syllables pra, bra, hra, kra, especially at the beginning of words CHECK, are well-known candidates for this licence.¹² In the VSS, tra, vra, śra, pra, and also śya, śva, sva, dva, all involving conjunct consonants with a liquid sounds or semi-vowels in second position, and possibly also rpa, CHECK! seem additional ones.

The well-known author on prosody, Kedārabhaṭṭa (11-12th centuries),¹³ frequently quoted by Mallinātha, gives the following definition in his Vṛttaratnākara (here given together with Sulhaṇa’s Sukavihṛdayanandinī commentary):

padādāv iha varṇasya saṃyogaḥ kramasaṃjñikah |
purasthiteṇa tena syāl laghutā ’pi kvacid guroḥ || 1.10 ||

vibhaktyantaṃ padaṃ tasya padasyādaḥ vartamāno yo varṇas tasya saṃyogaḥ | sa iha śāstre kramasaṃjño jñeyah
| tena krameṇa purovartinā prākpadānte vartamānasya
prāptagurubhāvasyāpi laghutā syāt | kvacil lakṣānurodhena
| nanu ka eṣaḥ kramo nāma saṃyoga ucyate | pūrvācāryānāṃ

TRANSLATE the whole passage!

In this [work], a consonant cluster at the beginning of a word is called krama. A [preceding] long syllable can sometimes be turned short by that initial [syllable].

... TRANSLATE

Tender mustard seed, fresh porridge, and slimy curds: village people eat this kind of dishes, O beautiful goddess, due to lack of money.

To sum this example up: the verse given above (1.11) is in āryā, and the metric pattern of the second half-verse is the following: - . - . - . - . - . - . - . - . This yields 28 morae, instead of the expected 27. By treating the final syllable of sundari short, in spite of the following grā, the pattern conforms to the expected pattern: - . - . - . - . - . - . - . - .

The commentator gives several more examples (involving the syllables gra, hra, bhra), including this Śārdūla line:

nidravyo hriyam eti hrīparigataḥ prabhraśyate tejasaḥ

In this line, the last syllable of eti should count as short, in spite of the fact that the beginning of the next word (hrī°) would normally turn it long.

The VSS abounds in this phenomenon of ‘muta cum liquida’. EXAM-PLES from the VSS and from my emendations. CHECK

- only beginning of words in the VSS?
- final -am etc. counts as long (reverse of muta cum liquida)
- In Kannada and Telugu prosody, under the name of śīthila-dvītva, the exception is that sometimes in a consonant cluster of the form [consonant + “r”], the “r” (repha) can be ignored, so that it is not a conjunct consonant anymore.

- The exception is not accepted by purists: Shatavadhani Ganesh says that the Sanskrit masters like Kālidāsa, Bhāravi, Māgha, Śrīharṣa, and Viśākhadatta have not freely used this exception (though the masters in Kannada and other languages have). Being more of a “poetic licence” and a violation of the standard rule (only found in later poetry), it is extremely unlikely that any sane poet would have indulged in that exception in all four pāda-s of a verse. Thus it is very unlikely that the program will miss identifying a verse that indulges in this

A Critical Edition of Vṛṣasārasaṃgraha 1–12

Witnesses

In the pre-modern era, the VSS has been transmitted exclusively in multiple-text manuscripts that were produced in Nepal. Even when a manuscript of the VSS seems to be a single-text MS, chances are high that it originally belonged to a multiple-text manuscript.¹⁴ In the manuscript descriptions below, in addition to some general remarks, I will mainly focus on information relevant to the VSS. For much more detail on the overall features of these manuscripts, see De Simini 2016b and the catalogues I mention at some of the individual manuscript.¹⁵

In recently published and forthcoming critical editions of and articles on the Śivadharma corpus (e.g. Bisschop 2018 and Bisschop, Kafle, & Lubin 2021), the sigla of the manuscripts used are made up of a letter signifying the script (e.g. ‘N’ for Nepālākṣara/Newari), a superscript letter for the current location where the manuscript is deposited (e.g. ‘C’ for Cambridge), and two (sometimes only one or even three) subscript digits echoing the last digit(s), if any, of the reference number of the manuscript in the library where it is located or, in the case of NGMPP reel numbers, the last two digits of the first part of the reel number. For details of this system and for the underlying reasons, see Bisschop 2018, 50–51. Since in the case of the

¹⁴ As I remarked elsewhere (Kiss 2021, 185, n. 9): ‘Asiatic Society (Calcutta), Manuscript G 4076, cat. no. 4083, may seem to be an independent manuscript of the Vṛṣasārasaṃgraha, but as De Simini has already remarked (2016b, 240 n. 19) [= De Simini 2016b], it is probably from a multiple text manuscript. In fact, from what can be gathered from its description in Shastri 1928, 716ff, it seems likely that this manuscript was originally part of manuscript Asiatic Society (Calcutta) G 3852, cat. no. 4085. See for example the folio numbering in these two manuscripts: ASC G 3852 contains 210 folios, and ASC G 4076 starts on folio 210.’

VSS all available manuscripts use some variant of the Nepālākṣara script, in this publication I omit the first letter, making the letter for the current location non-superscript. This helps keeping the apparatus more readable. In the manuscript descriptions below, I give this omitted and implied ‘N’ in brackets as a reminder.

The Cambridge manuscripts

(N)C₉₄ Cambridge University Library, Add. 1694.1. This MS has been fully collated for chapters 1–12 of the critical edition in this volume. See a detailed description of this manuscript in the CUDL online catalogue.¹⁶ According to this catalogue, the date of creation of this manuscript is the 12th century, its dimensions are 5 × ca. 53.5 cm. The script is Nepālākṣara. It is a palm-leaf multiple-text manuscript containing 258 folios and transmitting eight texts: 1) Śivadharmasāstra, 2) Śivadharmottara, 3) Śivadharmasaṃgraha, 4) Umāmaheśvaraṣaṃvāda, 5) Uttarottamamahāsaṃvāda, 6) Vṛṣasārasaṃgraha, 7) Dharmaputrikā, 8) Śivopaniṣad.

The VSS occupies 45 folios: it starts on f. 193 (the recto side, online image no. 381, is an empty folio side, the text itself starts on the verso side); it ends on f. 239r (online image no. 473). The text of the VSS is transmitted fully, without any folios or major sections of the text missing. The leaves transmitting the VSS are well-preserved. Some folio sides are faded and most folios are somewhat damaged on the right side, sometimes at other parts, and it seems from the images that some opaque-looking tape has been applied to protect these damaged sections. In my critical edition the broken off, completely lost, akṣaras are represented by ×, the illegible akṣaras under the tape by CHECK (‘illegible’). The quality of the readings of this manuscript is one of the best among the available witnesses, comparable only to K₈₂ and P₅₇, making it one of the most important sources for the VSS.

(N)C₄₅ Cambridge University Library, Add. 1645. This MS has been fully collated for chapters 1–12 of the critical edition in this volume. See a detailed description of this manuscript in the CUDL online catalogue.¹⁷ According to this catalogue, the dimensions of the manuscript are 4.4 × 61.7cm. The manuscript is dated to (Nepal) ‘samvat 259 śrāvaṇa śukla dvādaśīyādī(?)’ < trayodaśyām,¹⁸ which converts to July 10/11 Monday/Tuesday, 1139 CE.¹⁸ The script is Nepālākṣara. It is a palm-leaf multiple-text manuscript containing 247 folios. Eight texts are transmitted in this manuscript: 1) Śivadharmasāstra, 2) Śivadharmottara, 3) Śivadharmasamgraha, 4) Śivopaniṣad, 5) Umāmaheśvarasamvāda, 6) Uttarottamamahāsamvāda, 7) Vṛṣasārasamgraha, 8) Dharmaputrikā.

The VSS occupies 37 folios plus one folio side: it starts on f. 201v line 4 (online image no. 404), and it ends on f. 238v line 3 (online image no. 478). The readings of this manuscript seem to follow those of K₈₂ remarkably closely while transmitting the Śivadharmottara (as observed by De Simini and Harimoto).¹⁹ This is more difficult to see in the case of the VSS, but indeed, they seem closely related.

(N)C₀₂ Cambridge University Library, Add. 2102. All available folios of this MS have been collated for chapters 1–12 of the critical edition in this volume. See a detailed description of this manuscript in the CUDL online catalogue.²⁰ According to this catalogue, the date of creation is the 12th century, and the dimensions of the manuscript are 4.8 × ca. 52.5cm. The script is Nepālākṣara. It is a palm-leaf multiple-text manuscript containing 96 folios. Six texts are transmitted in this manuscript: 1) Śivadharmottara, 2) Śivadharmasamgraha, 3) Umāmaheśvarasamvāda, 4) Śivopaniṣad, 5) Vṛṣasārasamgraha, 6) Dharmaputrikā (only f. 322v). Note that the Śivadharmottara starts on f. 51r, thus the part that most probably contained the Śivadharmasāstra is lost.

The Vṛṣasārasamgraha starts on f. 267r line 1 (online image no. 181).

¹⁸ F. 247r line 6. The CUDL website transcribes this colophon as: saṃvat 259 śrāvaṇaśukladvādaśī[pyādi 8 trayodaśyām] (retrived 8 Dec 2021). The element dvādaśīpyādi might be read as dvādaśiyā di, perhaps a mistake for dvādaśyām di (di for a misplaced diva/divā?), and the symbol that does look like a figure ‘8’ of a slightly later period than the manuscript itself (resembling the mathematical symbol <) might also be a kākapada. Another faint kākapada is perhaps to be seen under daśī, therefore it is possible that the scribe’s intention was to delete dvādaśī and correct it to trayodaśyām, and then the date becomes the 11th of July. Kengo Harimoto has suggested that the unclear element (yādi/pyādi) is in fact ghaṭi, and after comparing these two syllables to other instances of gha and ṭa, one cannot but agree. In this case this should be an indication of the exact time (ghaṭikā) the scribe finished copying the text. It is still not clear if we should take dvādaśī or trayodaśyām as the date. For help on the conversion of the date and for a detailed discussion on the colophon I am indebted to Kengo Harimoto.

The online description labels this image as f. 237r. This first folio in fact has no visible foliation. The previous text, the Śivopaniṣad, ended on f. 236v, with pāda b of verse 7.122,²¹ which is not the end of the Śivopaniṣad: about eighteen verses, probably transmitted in one single folio, are lost. This means that, if the foliation and the order of the folios are presented correctly, and if the portion containing the VSS indeed belongs to the same manuscript, folios 237–266, i.e. thirty folios, are missing. They must have transmitted the Uttarottamamahāsaṃvāda, which takes up twenty-three folios in C₉₄, and twenty folios in C₄₅. Thus this MS did most probably transmit all eight texts of the Śivadharm corpus.²²

This first folio of the VSS is in a hand which is different from the rest of the manuscript, but the hand changes back in the next folio.²³

In this multiple-text manuscript, the VSS is transmitted in an incomplete form, that is to say, a number of folios are missing (most notably chapters 15–17). The first partially visible folio number is in image 184: the numeral characters 200+60 are visible (268v, according to the CUDL online catalogue). In image 186, the folio number 269 is clearly visible (f. 269v). In folio 270v, the continuous text is broken at verse 2.21c (kāmarū°), ff. 271 and 272 are missing, and the text resumes on f. 273r with verse 3.30b ([ahimsā pa]ramam sukham). Folio 291 is missing (verses 12.87cd–12.113). In folio 296v (image no. 234) the text breaks off again at vātaśūlair upadrutā | śukro (verse 14.22b), the next folio being 306r (carmatāś ca dvijasundarīṣu, verse 18.27b; nine folios and chapters 15–17 are completely missing).

Again, there are two missing folios after bandhus sarvva° in verse 18.47c

²² Compare with the claim of the online catalogue: “The present manuscript probably contained seven texts.”

in f. 306v. The text resumes in f. 309r (image 237) with °ṇeṣu ca sarvveṣu vidvān sreṣṭha sa ucyate (verse 19.52cd). Another folio is missing between iṣṭāniṣṭadvaya^o (verse 20.22, f. 309v) and snāyu majjā sirā tathā (verse 20.51d, f. 311r). The VSS ends on f. 322v (image no. 262) with the concluding colophon vṛṣasārasaṃgraha samāpta iti. This folio also contains the beginning of the Dharmaputrikā, but this multiple-text manuscript contains no more folios.

In the apparatus, the siglum C^Σ signifies all three Cambridge MSS described above.

The Kathmandu manuscripts

(N)K₈₂ NGMPP A 1082/3, NAK 3/393. This MS has been fully collated for chapters 1–12 of the critical edition in this volume. See a brief description of this MS in the NGMCP online catalogue.²⁴ According to this catalogue, the dimensions of the manuscript are 55.6 × 5.5cm. It is dated to Nepāla Samvat 189 (1068–69 CE).²⁵ The script is Nepālākṣara. It is a palm-leaf multiple-text manuscript containing 274 folios. Eight texts are transmitted in this manuscript: 1) Śivadharmasāstra, 2) Śivadharmottara, 3) Śivadharmasamgraha, 4) Umāmaheśvarasaṃvāda, 5) Śivopaniṣad, 6) Vṛṣasārasaṃgraha, 7) Dharmaputrikā, 8) Uttarottamamahāsaṃvāda.

As for each text in this collection, the foliation for the VSS restarts from f. iv (f. ir is a cover) and the text spans ff. iv–46r. This is a beautifully written and well-preserved manuscript which gives very useful readings and has proved to be essential for the reconstruction of the Vṛṣasārasaṃgraha.²⁶ niṣad, 4) Vṛṣasārasaṃgraha.

Some folios feature monochrome drawings. A great number of the leaves that transmit the VSS are damaged and, at least judging from the microfilm images, faded and slightly disordered. The folio numbers are rarely visible. The VSS starts on exp. 44 (upper leaf, no folio number is visible here). The text continues on the lower leaf and then on the upper leaf on exp. 43 (going backwards, so to say) up to 1.62 (viṃśakoṭīṣu gulmeṣu ūrdhva°). Verses 1.62cd–2.22 seem to be missing. The lower leaf on exp. 43 contains verses 2.23–2.39. The single leaf in exp. 42 contains verses 2.40–3.16a. Exp. 41 contains a single leaf of the Umāmaheśvarasaṃvāda, ending in a colophon for its chapter twenty-two, and still going backwards, the preceding folios continue transmitting the Umāmaheśvarasaṃvāda. Exploring the presence of the VSS in this manuscript further, one should look at the expositions after no. 44. Exp. 45 contains the end of the Śivopaniṣad. The single leaf on exp. 46 is almost illegible but most probably contains a fragment of the Gautamadharmasūtra. The second line just above the string hole on the left reads ... vīrud vanaspatīnām ca puṣpāṇi svavad ādadite..., which is a fragment of Gautamadharmasūtra 2.3.25 (12.28). The remaining parts of the VSS are to be found on exp. 47ff. The upper leaf on exp. 47 continues with VSS 3.16b–36ab, while the lower leaf contains a text that I have not been able to identify. The lower leaf in exp. 48 transmits 3.36cd–4.11ab, the upper one 4.11b–30a. The lower leaf in exp. 49 contains 4.30ab–47ab, the upper one 47d–68a, and so on so forth. Thus when reading the text from these images, after exp. 48, one has to start with the lower leaf and continue with the upper one.

(N)K₇ NGMPP B 7/3 = A 1082/2, NAK 1/1075. This MS has been fully collated for chapters 1–12 of the critical edition in this volume. See a brief description of this MS in the NGMCP online catalogue.²⁸ According to this catalogue, the dimensions of the manuscript are 58 × 6cm. The script is Nepālākṣara. Dated to Nepāla Samvat 290 (1169–70 CE). It is a palm-leaf multiple-text manuscript containing 289 folios. Eight texts are transmitted in this manuscript: 1) Śivadharmasāstra, 2) Śivadharmottara, 3) Śivadharmasaṃgraha, 4) Umāmaheśvarasaṃvāda, 5) Śivopaniṣad, 6) Vṛṣasārasaṃgraha, 7) Uttarottamamahāsaṃvāda, 8) Dharmaputrikā. Ff. 209v–264v contain the VSS.

This is a nicely written manuscript, giving generally useful and convincing readings.

(N)K₃ NGMPP A 3/3 (= A 1081/5), NAK 5–737. I have collated this MS

²⁸ https://catalogue.ngmcp.uni-hamburg.de/receive/aaingmcp_ngmcpdocument_00062373

only for verses 1.1–15ab to test it. See a brief description of this MS in the NGMCP online catalogue.²⁹ According to this catalogue, the dimensions of the manuscript are 58.5 x 5.5cm. The script is Nepālākṣara and the MS is dated to Nepāla Samvat 321 (1200–01 CE). It is a palm-leaf multiple-text manuscript containing 215 folios. Eight texts are transmitted in this manuscript: 1) Śivadharmasāstra, 2) Śivadharmottara, 3) Śivadharmasaṃgraha (only a few folios are extant, e.g. ff. 124 and 143), 4) Umāmaheśvarasaṃvāda, 5) Śivopaniṣad, 6) Uttarottamamahāsaṃvāda, 7) Vṛṣasārasaṃgraha, 8) Dharmaputrikā.

The VSS starts in f. 227 (image no. 177) and seems to end after it begins transmitting chapter 23 in f. 264 (image no. 218), but the last image (no. 253) also contains a fraction of VSS chapter 13. The microfilm images are somewhat blurred and the readings do not seem promising.

Other palm-leaf MSS preserved in Kathmandu, but not used for this critical edition include the following:

NAK 5–738 (NGMPP A 11/3)³⁰—the microfilm images of the folios containing the VSS are unfortunately extremely blurred to an extent that make them impossible to use.

NGMPP C 25/1 (Kesar Library 218)—this multiple-text manuscript preserves only a few disordered folios of the VSS.

The Munich manuscript

M This MS is preserved at CHECK and has no access number CHECK. I have collated the readings of this MS only for VSS chapters one and five as a test. On this MS in more detail, see Harimoto 2022. I received the digital images of this MS from Kengo Harimoto shortly after he had taken pictures of it in Munich on Nov 16, 2021. This MS contains the following texts: 1) Śivadharmasāstra, 2) Śivadharmottara, 3) Umāmaheśvarasaṃvāda, 4) Śivopaniṣad, 5) Vṛṣasārasaṃgraha, 6) Uttarottamamahāsaṃvāda, 7) Dharmaputrikā. The section that must have contained the Śivadharmasaṃgraha, ff. 82–121, is lost. The portion that contains the VSS and the Dharmaputrikā is dated (f. 50r line 5): || iti vṛṣasārasaṃgrahē caturviṃśatimo dhyāyaḥ samāptaḥ | samvat 192 māghakṛṣṇadivāpāñcamyām || postakalikhitam iti ||. The year 192 in Nepāla Samvat converts to 1071–1072 CE. The part of the MS the precedes the VSS looks considerably earlier and is potentially an important witness for other texts of the Śivadharma corpus. An interesting feature of this MS is that it gives the number of verses contained in each chapter in the colophons. Ten folios that transmitted the VSS are missing: f. 5 (VSS 3.4–3.33), ff. 11–13 (VSS 6.20–8.45), ff. 24 (VSS 13.9–13.36), and ff. 39–43 (VSS 20.38–22.35).

The foliation for the VSS restarts and the hand in which the VSS and the Dharmaputrikā are written are different from, and most probably later than that of the texts that come before them in this bundle.

The MS often transmits unique and interesting readings but rarely convincing ones, and in general does not seem to be superior to any of the MSS described above. But at some points I did follow its reading against the other witnesses, e.g., at 5.1b.

The Paris manuscript

(N)P₅₇ This is a multiple-text palm-leaf manuscript written in Nepālākṣara script and preserved in the Collection Sylvain Lévi at the Institut d'études indiennes, Collège de France as MS Skt 57-B 23. I have collated the readings of this MS for VSS chapters three and eight. It contains 249 palm leaves. Folios 214 and 216 are missing from the part of the manuscript that transmits the VSS, thus we don't have verses 1.60d–2.21ab, as well as 3.14–42 and 4.1–7. Foliation appears on the verso side: in the left-hand margin in Newari alphabetical numerals and in the right-hand margin in arabic numerals by a second hand. The portion that contains the VSS is fairly well-preserved and the text is written in a clear hand. Although it is an undated manuscript, it could be dated to the 11th century CE on palaeographical grounds. It contains the following text in the order they are presented in the manuscript: 1) Śivadharmaśāstra, 2) Śivadharmottara, 3) Śivadharmasaṃgraha, 4) Umāmaheśvarasaṃvāda, 5) Śivopaniṣad, 6) Uttarottamamahāsaṃvāda, 7) Vṛṣasārasaṃgraha, 8) Dharmaputrikā. The VSS appears on ff. 212–252. This source gives reliable readings and contains relatively few scribal mistakes.³¹

³¹ This description had as its starting point a shorter description written and kindly shared with me by Nirajan Kafle.

The Oxford manuscript

(N)O₁₅ This palm-leaf manuscript is deposited in the Bodleian Library, in Oxford, under shelf mark Sansk. a. 15. It is dated to Nepāla Samvat 307 (1186–87 CE), and it contains 335 folios, transmitting the following texts: 1) Śivadharmasāstra, 2) Śivadharmottara, 3) Śivadharmasaṃgraha, 4) Umāmaheśvarasaṃvāda, 5) Śivopaniṣad, 6) Uttarottamamahāsaṃvāda, 7) Vṛṣasārasaṃgraha, 8) Dharmaputrikā.

A cursory examination of the text reveals rather disappointing readings, therefore I have not included in the apparatus any of the collation done.

The Kolkata manuscripts

I have not been able to access either of these two potentially important witnesses:

(N)Ko₇₆ MS G 4076 in the collection of The Asiatic Society, Kolkata.³² Shastri 1928 (716–718) gives a detailed description of this manuscript along with the text of VSS 1.1–16. According to Shastri, the dimensions of the MS are 22½ × 2 inches (57.15 × 5.08cm), the text is complete and the script is of the twelfth century CE.

This manuscript may appear as a rare instance of the VSS being transmitted independently, and not in a multiple-text manuscript, but it seems very likely that it was originally part of Ko₅₂ (MS G 3852), a Śivadharm corpus MS in the same collection lacking the VSS; see note 14 on page 1.

(N)Ko₇₇ According to Shastri 1928, 720, MS G 4077 in the collection of the Asiatic Society, Kolkata, a palm leaf MS, transmits the VSS in 52 folios. The MS is dated to July 6, 1036 CE (Nepāla Samvat 156; see De Simini 2017, 542), which makes it ‘the oldest known dated attestation of the corpus’ (De Simini 2016b, 250–251).

The Tübingen manuscript

I have not yet utilised MS Ma I 582 in the Universitätsbibliothek of Tübingen, a beautiful and nicely written MS. It seems to contain only sixteen folios that transmit the VSS, and they are from the second half of the text. Nothing appears to have been preserved from chapters 1–12.

³² I am grateful to our colleague Sushmita Das for attempting to get a copy of this MS in March 2020.

The London manuscript

(N)L₁₆ This is a paper manuscript in the Library of the Wellcome Institute for the History of Medicine under the shelf number WI δ 16 (I–VIII). It contains 406 folios and the following texts: 1) Śivadharmasāstra, 2) Śivadharmottara, 3) Śivadharmasaṃgraha, 4) Umāmaheśvarasaṃvāda, 5) Śivopaniṣad, 6) Uttarottamamahāsaṃvāda, 7) Vṛṣasārasaṃgraha, 8) Dharma-putrikā. This MS is described in Wujastyk 1985.

While collating MS L₁₆ for VSS chapter 22, I realised that it was to be a direct or close copy of K₈₂. A few examples to prove this will suffice:

K₈₂ (f. 4or) reads:

[spha]ṭikāṃ×ram [= °kāṃbaram] eva ca | daśayogāsanāsīto

L₁₆ (f. 38rv) gives:

sphaṭikāṃsatam eva ca || devayogāsanāsīto

supplying sa for the lost syllable and misreading the damaged da as de and the śa as va.

Here K₈₂ (f. 39v) reads:

[japo yogas tapo] dhyānaṃ svādhyāyaś ca daśa smṛtaḥ with dhyā and svā damaged;

L₁₆ (f. 381r) cannot read the bit that is completely lost, and it misreads the damaged dhyānaṃ as dhānaṃ, svādhyā as sādhū:

In the next example, the text is supposed to read kare grhya tapodhanam | tataḥ so 'ntarhitas tatra tenaiva.

K₈₂ (f. 39r) gives:

[kare] x x x x x dha\na tataḥ so 'ntar\hitas tatra tenaiva

L₁₆ (f. 38or) gives:

kare - - - dhatām tataḥ || sati hitas tatra tenaiva trying to make sense of the fragments. The examples above suggest that L₁₆ was copied, most probably directly, from K₈₂ when the damage had already been done to K₈₂. For this reason, I have not collated its readings for VSS chapters 1–12.

Naraharinath's edition

(N)E Much has been said of Yogi Naraharinath's pioneering but problematic edition (the editio princeps) of the Śivadharma corpus (Naraharinath 1998): see e.g. De Simini 2016a, 66, n. 190; 2017, 542, Bisschop 2018, 58–59, Bisschop, Kafle, & Lubin 2021, 55. My impression of the text of the VSS in Naraharinath's edition is that its quality is considerably inferior to those of the other texts of the corpus. It may or may not be Naraharinath's fault; others must have been involved in the process of transcription, and the number and nature of the innumerable mistakes all over the text may also suggest a general problem with the typesetting process. Nevertheless I have recorded the readings found in this publication for all twelve chapters given in my critical edition.

Editorial policies

- orthography: deviant orth, sandhi, punctuation? - avagrahas usually supplied but sometimes found in the MSS, not used by me for crasis (e.g. a+a=ā) - daṇḍas: usually 4 pādas to a verse, but I have made arbitrary decisions based on sense-units because none of the sources really indicate where a verse ends (||). - falsifications everywhere on purpose and accidentally

Invocation]

anādimadhyāntam anantapāram

susūkṣmam avyakta jagatsusāram |

harīndrabrahmādibhir āsamagraṃ

praṇamya vakṣye vṛṣasārasaṃgraham || 1:1 ||

Having bowed to the One who has no beginning, no middle part and no end, whose boundaries are limitless, who is very subtle and who is the unmanifest and fine essence of the world, to the One who is wholly complete with Hari, Indra, Brahmā and the other [gods], I shall recite [the work called] ‘A Compendium on the Essence of the Bull [of Dharma]’.

1.1 Pāda a is reminiscent of, among other famous passages, BhG 11.19: anādimadhyāntam anantavīryam anantabāhuṃ śaśisūryanetram | paśyāmi tvāṃ dīptahutāśavaktraṃ svatejasā viśvam idaṃ tapantam ||. See also BhG 10.20cd: aham ādiś ca madhyaṃ ca bhūtānām anta eva ca ||.

A faint reference to the BhG seems proper at the beginning of a work that claims to deliver a teaching based on, but also to surpass, the MBh (see following verses of the VSS). Compare also, e.g., KūrṃP 1.11.237: rūpaṃ tavāśeṣakalāvihīnam agocaraṃ nirmalam ekarūpam | anādimadhyāntam anantam ādyaṃ namāmi satyaṃ tamasaḥ parastāt ||. To say that a god has no beginning and no end in a temporal or spacial sense is natural (anādi°...°antam), but to have no ‘middle part’ (°madhya°) in these senses is slightly less so. Thus the rather commonly occurring phrase anādimadhyāntam is probably a fixed expression usually referring to a deity that is endless, eternal and immaterial. As to which deity or what form of a deity this stanza refers to, it may be Śiva, his name missing in pāda c, but the phrasing of the verse is vague enough to keep the question somewhat open: the impersonal Brahman might be another option, even more so if we look at verses 1.9–10, whose topic is brahmavidyā.

In pāda b jagat-susāram is most probably not to be interpreted as jagatsu sāram (‘the essence in the worlds’). Another way to translate avyakta jagatsusāram would be: ‘who is the fine essence of the unmanifest world.’

Strictly speaking, pāda c is unmetrical, but it is better to simply acknowledge here the phenomenon of ‘muta cum liquida’, namely that syllables followed by consonant clusters such as ra, bra, hra, kra, śra, śya, śva, sva, dva can be treated as short (laghu). (See Introduction CHECK) Thus harīndrabrahmā° can be treated as a regular beginning of an upajāti (- - -), the syllable bra not turning the previous syllable long (guru).

The reading āsamagraṃ in pāda c is suspect, although the initial ā- might convey some sort of completeness, meaning ‘all round’ (see e.g. Kale 1992, 226). The fact that we could perceive the ending of pādas a and b (pāram-sāram), as well as pādas c and d, as (in the latter case, oddly) rhyming pairs (graṃ-graham) suggests that accepting the read-

[janamejayavaiśampāyanasaṃvādaḥ —
The dialogue of Janamejaya and Vaiśampāyana]
śatasāhasrikaṃ granthaṃ sahasrādhyāyam uttamam |
parva cāsyā śataṃ pūrṇaṃ śrutvā bhāratasaṃhitām || 1:2 ||

Having listened to the Bhāratasaṃhitā [i.e. the Mahābhārata], the supreme book of a hundred thousand [verses] and a thousand chapters (adhyāya), with all its hundred sections (parvan), atrptaḥ puna papraccha vaiśampāyanam eva hi |

janamejaya yat pūrvaṃ tac chrṇu tvam atandritaḥ || 1:3 ||

Janamejaya remained unsatisfied. Listen unweariedly to what he asked Vaiśampāyana in the past.

ing āsamagram could be the right decision (as suggested by Alessandro Battistini). I translate this verse accordingly. M gives an exciting, albeit unmetrical, alternative (yat sama-graṇi), but this seems more like a guess to me than the correct reading. For some time I was considering emending āsamagram. The most tempting of all the possible options (arcyam/arhyam/arghyam/idyam/ādhyam agram, āsamastam) seemed to be āptam agram, meaning ‘appointed/received/respected [by Hari, Indra, Brahmā etc.] as the foremost one’. The fact that the akṣaras āsam and āptam look similar in most of the scripts used in our manuscripts could support this conjecture. āptam could also possibly refer to the text itself, although then the syntax becomes slightly confusing: ‘I shall recite the Vṛṣasārasaṃgraha that was first received by Hari...’ etc. Another candidate was ādhyam agram: ‘Having bowed to [Him] who contains/is rich with Hari, Indra, Brahmā etc.’ I have not emended the text because it is difficult to know if there is any need for change and if there is, which reading to chose. There was no consensus when this verse was discussed in our extended Śivadharmā reading group.

Pāda d seems hypermetrical, but it can be interpreted as a vaṃśastha line, a change from triṣṭubh to jagatī (as suggested by Dominic Goodall).

1.2 The dialogue of Janamejaya and Vaiśampāyana makes up the outermost layer of the VSS (except for the introductory stanzas 1.1–3; see Introduction CHECK), mostly containing general dharmaśāstric material. That the MBh should contain a hundred thousand verses is hinted at e.g. in line 19 of the Khoh Charter 2 of Śarvanātha, year 214 (Siddham IN00088: uktañ ca mahābhārata śatasāhasryaṃ (understand °ryāṃ) saṃhitāyāṃ... The hundred parvans of the Mahābhārata are listed in MBh 1.2.33–70.

1.3 My emendation from the unmetrical punaḥ to the unusual, or rather, Middle Indic (Edgerton 1953, vol. 2, p. 347), puna is based on the assumption that in the original the metre must have overridden morphology, similarly to what may have happened in 8.44d (Mālinī metre): na bhavati punajanma kalpakoṭyāyute 'pi, and in 12.151c (Sragdharā metre): garbhāvāsaṃ na ca tvaṃ na ca punamarāṇaṃ kleśaṃ āyāsapūrṇaṃ.

For an unsatisfaction or dissatisfaction (atrpti) with previous teachings in a somewhat similar manner to what Janamejaya experiences here, see e.g. Niśvāsa mūla 1.9: vedāntaṃ viditaṃ deva sāmikhyāṃ vai pañcaviṃśakam | na ca trptiṃ gamiṣyāmo hy ṛte śaivād

janamejaya uvāca |
bhagavan sarvadharmajña sarvaśāstraviśārada |
asti dharmam param guhyam saṃsārārṇavatāraṇam || 1:4 ||

Janamejaya spoke: O venerable sir, O knower of the entire Dharma, O you who are well-versed in all the sciences (śāstra)! There is a supreme and secret Dharma [that causes] liberation from the ocean of mundane existence (samsāra).

dvaipāyanamukhodgīrṇam dharmam vā yad dvijottama |
kathayasva hi me tṛptim kuru yatnāt tapodhana || 1:5 ||

Teach me the Dharma that emerged from [Vyāsa] Dvaipāyana's mouth, O best of Brahmins. Help me find satisfaction at all cost, O great ascetic!

vaiśampāyana uvāca |
śṛṇu rājann avahito dharmākhyānam anuttamam |
vyāsānugrahasamprāptam guhyadharmam śṛṇotu me || 1:6 ||

Vaiśampāyana spoke: Listen with great attention, O king, to this unsurpassed narration of Dharma. Hear the secret Dharma that I received by Vyāsa's favour.

anarthayajñakartāram tapovrataparāyaṇam |

anugrahāt||; and the Śivadharmasāstra.: CHECK. Vaiśampāyana, a Ṛṣi, disciple of Vyāsa, great-grandson to Arjuna, recited the Mahābhārata at the snake sacrifice of Janamejaya. This setting is an echo of the starting point of the Mahābhārata, see MBh 1.1.8ff. In fact the next few verses in the VSS make it clear that the VSS picks up where the Mahābhārata left off: Janamejaya has heard the whole Mahābhārata from Vaiśampāyana, but he is eager to hear more. Note how we are forced to emend pāda c to contain a stem form proper noun (janamejaya) to maintain the metre, and note how the manuscripts struggle with this pāda. Stem form nouns, prātipadikas, abound in the VSS: see Introduction p. CHECK.

1.4 Note dharmā as a neuter noun in pāda c and in the next verse.

1.5 The majority of the MSS consulted include a vā in pāda b, and although C₄₅'s reading seems a bit smoother, that manuscript rarely gives superior readings. Therefore I have chosen dharmam vā yad, in which vā functions probably in a weak sense. That the secret Dharma Janamejaya is seeking is the one taught by Vyāsa Dvaipāyana, and thus no real options are involved here, becomes clear in 1.6cd. The reading of M in pāda b (dharmavākyaṃ) is tempting but could be a later correction. In general, M's readings here are unique but probably secondary: hi me tṛptim in pāda c seems more attractive than M's prasādena because it echoes atrīptah in 1.3a

śīlaśaucasamācāraṃ sarvabhūta-dayāparam || 1:7 ||
jijñāsanārthaṃ praśnaikaṃ viṣṇunā prabhaviṣṇunā |
dvijarūpadharo bhūtvā papraccha vinayānvitaḥ || 1:8 ||

Viṣṇu, the great Lord, assuming the form of a twice-born [Brahmin], wanted to test [Anarthayajña, the ascetic yogin] who performed non-material sacrifices (anarthayajña), focused on his austerities and observances, whose conduct was virtuous and pure, and who was intent on compassion towards all living beings; therefore he [Viṣṇu] humbly asked him a question.

[brahmavidyā —
The knowledge of Brahman]

[vigatarāga uvāca]
brahmavidyā katham jñeyā rūpavarṇavivarjitā |
svaravyaṅjananirmuktam akṣaraṃ kimu tatparam || 1:9 ||

[Vigatarāga spoke:] How is the knowledge of the Brahman to be understood if it is devoid of form and colour? The syllable that is devoid of vowels and consonants: is there anything higher than that?

anarthayajña uvāca |
anuccāryam asandigdham avicchinnam anākulam |
nirmalaṃ sarvagaṃ sūkṣmaṃ akṣaraṃ kimu tatparam || 1:10 ||

Anarthayajña replied: That syllable is not to be pronounced, is unquestionable, non-dividable, consistent, spotless, all-pervading and subtle: what could be higher than that?

[kālapāśaḥ —
The noose of death and time]

vigatarāga uvāca |
dehī dehe kṣayaṃ yāte bhūjalāgniśivādibhiḥ |
yamadūtaiḥ kathaṃ nīto nirālambo nirañjanaḥ || 1:11 ||

1.7 Note the odd syntax here: viṣṇunā... dvijarūpadharo bhūtvā papraccha. The agent of the active verb is in the instrumental case (anacoluthic structure). On Anarthayajña, the interlocutor of VSS 1.9–10.2 and 19.1–21.22, and an important figure discussed in 22.3ff, as well as a concept (‘nonmaterial sacrifice’), see Kiss 2021 and Introduction CHECK.

1.9 The translation of this verse, and the reconstruction and interpretation of pāda d, which is echoed in 1.10d, is slightly tentative. I doubt if kimu could have the standard (Vedic) meaning ‘how much more/less’ here. Rather u is probably just an expletive. In general it seems that this verse references the syllable om.

Vigatarāga spoke: When the body disintegrates in the ground, in water, in fire or [is torn apart] by jackals and other [animals], how is the supportless and spotless soul led [to the netherworld] by Yama's messengers?

kālapāśaiḥ katham baddho nirdehaś ca katham vrajet |
svargaṃ vā sa katham yāti nirdeho bahudharmakṛt |
etan me saṃśayaṃ brūhi jñātum icchāmi tattvataḥ || 1:12 ||

How is it bound by the nooses of death/time? And if it is bodiless, how can it move? And how does the [soul of a] virtuous [person] (bahudharmakṛt) reach heaven if it has no body? This is my doubt. Teach me. I want to know the truth.

anarthayajña uvāca |
atiśaṃśayakaṣṭhaṃ te prṣṭo 'haṃ dvijasattama |
durvijñeyaṃ manuṣyais tu devadānavapannagaiḥ || 1:13 ||

Anarthayajña spoke: You are asking me about an extremely doubtful and problematic matter, O truest of the twice-born. [This is something that] is difficult to understand by humans, and [even] by gods (deva), demons (dānava) and serpents (pannaga).

karmahetuḥ śarīrasya utpattir nidhanaṃ ca yat |
sukṛtaṃ duṣkṛtaṃ caiva pāśadvayam udāhṛtaṃ || 1:14 ||

The cause of both the birth and death of the body is karma. Good and bad deeds are called the two nooses.

1.11 The word °śivā° in pāda b is slightly suspect, and could be the result of metathesis, from °viṣā° ('by poison'). Nevertheless, jackals seems appropriate in this context, for they are commonly associated with human corpses, death and the cremation ground (see e.g. Ohnuma 2019). Furthermore, pāda b lists phenomena that cause the body to disintegrate, and not causes of death; thus the reading śiva is probably correct.

1.12 The word kāla has, as usual, a double meaning here: kālapāśa is both Yama's noose, and also the limitations and bondage caused by time, as becomes clear at the discussion on the different time units in verses 1.18–31.

1.13 Note te used for tvayā in pāda a. Alternatively, taking te as genitive, the line could be translated as: 'I am being asked about a great problem of yours that originates in doubts...'

1.14 The MSS give karmahetu in pāda a overwhelmingly, which could work as a neuter bahuvrīhi compound picking up both utpattir and nidhanaṃ but karmahetuḥ is grammatically more correct, picking up the feminine utpatti. I suspect that there may have been a confusion, scribes taking karmahetuśarīrasya as one single compound; but this would make it difficult to interpret the verse.

*tenaiva saha saṃyāti narakam svargam eva vā |
sukhaduḥkham śarīreṇa bhoktavyam karmasambhavam || 1:15 ||*

[The soul] goes to hell or heaven accordingly. Happiness and suffering, both arising from karma, are to be experienced by the body.

*hetunānena viprendra dehaḥ sambhavate nṛṇām |
yam kālapāśam ity āhuḥ śṛṇu vakṣyāmi suvrata || 1:16 ||*

It is for this reason, O great Brahmin, that the human body is born. Now learn about that which they call the noose of time, I shall teach you, O you of great observances.

*na tvayā viditam kiñcij jijnāsyasi katham dvija |
kālapāśam ca viprendra sakalam vettum arhasi || 1:17 ||*

[If] you don't know anything, how could you start your investigation, O twice-born? O great Brahmin, you should know the noose of time in its entirety.

*kalākalitakālam ca kālatattvakalām śṛṇu |
truṭidvayam nimeṣas tu nimeṣadviguṇā kalā || 1:18 ||*

Learn about time (kāla) which is divided into digits (kalā), [i.e. about] the division[s] (kalā) of the entity [called] time (kālatattva). Two atomic units of time (truṭi) is one twinkling (nimeṣa). One digit (kalā, cca. 1.6 second) is twice a twinkling.

*kalādviguṇitā kāṣṭhā kāṣṭhā vai triṃsatih kalā |
triṃsatkalā muhūrtaś ca mānuṣena dvijottama || 1:19 ||*

Two digits (kalā) form one bit (kāṣṭhā, 3.2 seconds). Thirty bits (kāṣṭhā) is one digit (kalā?, 1.6 minutes). Thirty digits (kalā) make up one section (muhūrta, 48 minutes) in human terms, O great Brahmin.

*muhūrtatrimśakenaiva ahorātram vidur budhāḥ |
ahorātram punas triṃśan māsam āhur manīṣiṇaḥ || 1:20 ||*

1.17 The variant jijnāsyasi seems to be the lectio difficilior as opposed to vijñāsyasi, but the latter could also work fine here. Note how M (agreeing with E) gives a reading (vaktum arhasi) that is clearly out of context. This confirms that while M comes up with interesting readings, they are mostly to be ignored.

1.18 1.18d and 1.19a are problematic in the light of 1.19b, which redefines kalā in harmony with the traditional interpretation, see e.g. Arthaśāstra 2.20.33: triṃsatkāṣṭhāḥ kalāḥ. On divisions of time, see also, e.g., Manu 1.64ff. I have calculated 1.6 second for one kalā backwards, starting from one day (see 1.20ab).

Thirty sections (muhūrta) are known to the wise as night and day [i.e. a full day]. Thirty days and nights are taught by the wise to be one month.

and sixty thousand years by human terms is said to be the Kali age (yuga). The Dvāpara age is known to be twice as long as the Kali age.

tretā tu triguṇā jñeyā catuḥ kṛtayugaḥ smṛtaḥ |
eṣā caturyugā saṃkhyā kṛtvā vai hy ekasaptatiḥ || 1:23 ||

The Tretā age is thrice [as long], the Kṛta age four [times as long as the Kali age]. This is the figure related to the four ages (yuga). Taking it seventy-one [times], manvantarasya caikasya jñānam uktaṃ samāsataḥ |

kalpo manvantarāṇāṃ tu caturdaśa tu saṃkhyayā || 1:24 ||

the knowledge about one time-span of a Manu (manvantara) has been taught briefly. One aeon (kalpa) is fourteen manvantaras in total.

daśa kalpasahasrāṇi brahmāhaḥ parikalpitam |
rātrir etāvatī proktā munibhis tattvadarśibhiḥ || 1:25 ||

Brahmā's day (brahmāhar) is made up of ten thousand Kalpas. [Brahmā's] night is of the same [duration] according to the wise who know the truth.

1.21 Note how a verb (e.g. iti vadanti, iti prāhur) is missing in the first half-verse.

1.22 Note the stem form noun yuga metri causa, and also M's unique but confused readings.

1.23 The 'figure' mentioned in this verse is the sum of the duration of the four yugas, which makes up one mahāyuga: Kaliyuga = 360,000 years, Dvāparayuga = 720,000 years, Tretāyuga = 1,080,000 years, Dvāparayuga = 1,440,000 years; altogether 3,600,000 years. 72 mahāyugas make up a manvantara (= 259,200,000 years). One kalpa is 14 manvantaras (= 3,628,800,000 years). Ten thousand kalpas are one day of Brahmā, and his night is of the same length, which makes one full day of Brahmā 72,576,000,000,000 years. See next verses.

1.24 See 21.34ff.

1.25 M has a separator sign (|o|) at the end of pāda b, as if a section ended here.

kālasya vaśagāḥ sarve na kālavaśakṛt kvacit || 1:29 ||

Time creates living beings and time destroys them again. Everything is under the control of time. There is nothing that can bring time under control.

caturdaśaparārdhāni devarājā dvijottama |
kālena samatītāni kālo hi duratikramaḥ || 1:30 ||

Fourteen parārdha [fourteen hundred quadrillion] god kings, O Brahmin, have passed by over time, for time is difficult to overcome.

1.26 The plural form praliyante in pāda a is metri causa for praliyate, perhaps also influencing utpadyante (for utpadyate) in pāda d, which in turn is used here to avoid an iambic pattern (- - - - -).

1.27 On the definition of the numbers para and parārdha, see verses 1.32–36. Note the peculiar compound bhr̥gu-r-ādi-maharṣayaḥ.

1.28 bhramato (gen.) in pāda b seems to stand for the neuter participle bhramat. Alternatively, bhramato might mean 'erroneously' (brama-tas, abl.), but this makes the verse difficult to interpret.

1.30 Note that samatītāni (neuter) most probably picks up devarājāḥ (masculine) in this verse, or rather devarājā stands for devarājānām and samatītāni picks up °parārdhāni. It is not clear to me what devarāja ('god king') means exactly (Indra?).

ten billion (kharva), a hundred billion (nikharva), one trillion (śaṅku, 10^{12}), and ten trillion (padma), a hundred trillion (samudra), one quadrillion (madhya, 10^{15}), ten quadrillion ([an]anta), a hundred quadrillion (parārdha), and two hundred quadrillion (para).

1.32 The reading of all manuscripts consulted, vinisṛtam, may be considered metrical if we interpret it, loosely, as vinisritam. Pāda d is suspect and my translation is tentative. M’s reading in pāda d (śrotum naḥ pratidīyatām) might make sense (‘give it back/repeat it for us again’), but it sounds forced, as if the scribe tried to come up with a reading that he understood better than śrotum vaḥ pratidīpitam, which is in fact not easy to interpret. One would expect a phrase meaning ‘please tell me about these.’

1.33 See a similar teaching of numbers in BrahmāṇḍaP 3.2.9iff.

1.34 For anta meaning ananta, see 1.58cd–59ab. M’s reading in pāda d may be a result of an eyeskip to 1.35c.

*sarve daśaguṇā jñeyāḥ parārdham yāvad eva hi |

*parāt parataram nāsti iti me niścītā matiḥ |

There is no higher number than para. This is my firm conviction, which is based on my readings of the Purāṇas and the Vedas and [which I have now] taught [to you], O great Brahmin.

[brahmāṇḍam — Brahmā's Egg]

*vigatarāga uvāca |

Anarthayajña spoke: How could I enumerate [all] the eggs of Brahmā, O twice-born? Even the gods don't know [all the details], not to mention humans.

*pariyāyeṇa tu vakṣyāmi yathāśakyam dvijottama |
brahmaṇā yat purākhyāto mātariśvā yathā tathā || 1:39 ||*

1.36 Note that E, after omitting three lines, inserts this: vṛndañ caiva mahāvṛnda dviparānantam eva ca.

1.37 The use of the singular next to numerals is one of the hallmarks of the VSS (see p. CHECK). As an introduction to this phenomenon, pāda a has brahmāṇḍam in the singular where we would expect a plural form. The word prāpitam is a conjecture for cāpitam, which I find unintelligible. Another possibility could be jñāpitam. My emendation of cāṅguli-mūrdheṣu to cāṅguli-m-ūrdhveṣu (with a hiatus filler) is based on ūrdhvatas in 1.61d, which is part of the reply to the question posed in this line. In turn, aṅguli here triggered an conjecture in 1.61c.

1.38 One would expect brahmāṇḍāni in pāda a instead of brahmāṇḍānām, but we should probably understand brahmāṇḍānām viśeṣān paraṣaṃkhyātum... The structure noun in genitive + verb meaning 'telling' occurs also in 4.69a and CHECK.

I shall teach [you], as far as I can, in due order and truthfully, that, O great Brahmin, which Mātariśvan was taught by Brahmā in the past.

 [7] Dīptatejas, [8] Tejas, [9] Tejā, [10] Tejavaho: [these are] the ten [rulers]

1.39 The claim that Brahmā taught Mātariśvan is confirmed in 1.64cd, and also, e.g., in Brahmāṇḍapurāṇa 3.4.58cd (see the apparatus).

1.40 My conjecture in pāda b (bhūbhṛtām) is based on the fact that the readings transmitted in the MSS seem unintelligible and, more importantly, that these names are said to belong to nāyakas in the subsequent verses, a possible synonym of bhūbhṛt ('a king'), and also that it is a minute intervention. In pāda c, understand diśāṣṭānām as diśām aṣṭānām or diśaṣṭakānām, and note that one of the hallmarks of the language of the VSS is the use of the singular in the proximity of numbers, where a plural would be expected (daśa nāma).

1.41 Note that many of the names here and in the following verses are, in the absence of any parallel passage, rather insecure. In order to avoid the repetition of the name Saha, I take the first name here as feminine; Asabhā seems also to be a feminine ruler's name. Later on there seem to come more feminine names (Tejā, Yamunā, Naganā, etc.), therefore it may be correct to interpret some of the names as names of queens. What is clear here is that the list evokes the name Sahasrākṣa, one of the appellations of Indra, the quadrian of the eastern direction.

in the direction of Agni [SE]. Now listen to [the names for] the Yama's region, O twice-born.

[1] Nagaja, [2] Naganā, [3] Nanda, [4] Nagara, [5] Naga, [6] Nandana, [7] Nagarbha, [8] Gahana, [9] Guhyo, [10] Gūḍhaja: [these are] the ten associated with [the South-West].

West]

vāruṇena pravakṣyāmi śṛṇu vipra nibodha me |
babhrah setur bhavodbhadraḥ prabhavodbhavabhājanaḥ |
bharaṇo bhuvano bhartā daśaite varuṇālayāḥ || 1:45 ||

I shall teach you the [names] in Varuṇa's region [in the west]. Listen, O Brahmin, learn from me. [1] Babhra, [2] Setu, [3] Bhava, [4] Udbhadra, [5] Prabhava, [6] Udbhava, [7] Bhājana, [8] Bharaṇa, [9] Bhuvana, and [10] Bhartr: these ten dwell in Varuṇa's region [in the west].

1.42 Here, in the region of Agni, the names evidently evoke the image of flames.

1.43 I have choosen the variant saṃyano in pāda c only to avoid the repetition of the name saṃyama, and the variant yanoyanaḥ in pāda d because I suspect that most of the names here should begin with ya. All the name forms in this verse are to be taken as tentative. The only guiding light is the presence of ya, reinforcing a connection with Yama.

1.44 naga in pāda b is a stem form noun metri causa tatparaḥ in pāda d might be another example of a singular form next to a number (see 1.40c above). Note that the reconstruction of these names are tentative. What is clear here is that the initials should be na and ga, probably suggesting a connection with nirṛti, narakas and nāgas.

1.45 Varuṇa upholds the sky and the earth. This could be the reason why these names include bharaṇa and bhartṛ.

[vāyavye —

and [9] Vṛṣaja and [10] Vṛṣanandana: these are to be known properly as the ten leaders in Vāyu's region [in the north-west], as I taught them, O twice-born.

Sata, [8] Satya, [9] Laya, [10] Śambhu: [these are] the ten leaders in the north.

[īśāne —
North-East]

indu bindu bhuvo vajra varado vara varṣaṇaḥ |
ilano valino brahmā daśeśāneṣu nāyakāḥ || 1:49 ||

1.46 The connection between vṛṣa and the north-west or Vāyu is not evident to me.
CHECKIn a tantric context, a western position is more standard for vṛṣa, see e.g. Goodall, Rout, Sathyanarayanan et al 2005, 40.

1.47 Note how M deviates here again in a significant way.

1.48 I prefer the form sumanaḥ to the more standard sumanāḥ (K₇) in pāda a, because it suits the slightly irregular language of the VSS (see pp. CHECK), and because the solitary reading of K₇ may well only be an attempt to standardise. It is also not inconceivable that sumanaḥ stands compounded with saumyaḥ. Note how daśa nāyakam could again be an example for the use of the singular next to a number in pāda d. It seems that here the northern region is associated with Śiva, rather than the north-east, the īśāna direction, which is occupied by Brahmā: see next verse. In a tantric context, Brahmā is sometimes associated with the north-east, see, e.g., Goodall, Rout, Sathyanarayanan et al 2005, 39. CHECKI have left satya in stem form.

[1] Indu, [2] Bindu, [3] Bhuva, [4] Vajra, [5] Varada, [6] Vara, [7] Varṣaṇa, [8] Ilana, [9] Valina, [10] Brahmā: [these are] the ten rulers in the Īśāna direction [i.e. in the north-east].

[madhyame —
Center]

[parivārāḥ — Subordinates]

sarveṣāṃ daśa-m-īśānāṃ parivāraśatam śatam |
śatānāṃ prthag ekaikam sahasraiḥ parivāritam || 1:51 ||

Each of the ten rulers has a retinue of a hundred subordinates. Each one of [these] hundred is surrounded by a thousand subordinates.

sahasreṣu ca ekaikam ayutaiḥ parivāritam |
ayutam prayutair vṛndaiḥ prayutam niyutair vṛtam || 1:52 ||

Each one of the thousand is surrounded by ten thousand [subordinates], the ten thousand is surrounded by a multitude of a hundred thousand, the hundred thousand by a million,

1.49 I consider indu, bindu and vajra stem form nouns. The north-east seems to be occupied by Brahmā, and by rulers whose names should somehow evoke Brahmā's name.

1.50 Note that the last three lists above have been associated with Śiva, Brahmā and Viṣṇu, respectively, and here, in a layer of the text that can be labelled Vaṣṇava (see pp. CHECK), it is Viṣṇu that seems to occupy a central position. mana mohanah in pāda b may sound like one single name, but we are forced to separate these two words (mana being in stem form metri causa) to arrive at a list of ten names.

1.51 I take daśa-m-īśānāṃ as a disjointed CHECK compound (daśeśānāṃ). It is conceivable that each of the above ninety rulers has ten subordinates, therefore each group of ten rulers has a hundred subordinates altogether, but the original idea may have been that each one of the above ninety rulers has a hundred subordinates. Alternatively, this verse may only refer to the central group of ten rulers mentioned in 1.50, and each one of them has a hundred subordinates.

1.52 We are forced to follow E's reading in pāda c in order to make sense of this passage. My correction in pāda d is motivated by the same. Note that vṛnda is not a number in this line. Elsewhere in this chapter vṛnda is the word that signifies 'a billion'.

[that is] each one has a retinue of a million [subordinates] (niyuta).
[Then those] are surrounded by ten million (koṭi) [subordinates], [they in turn] by a hundred million (daśakoṭi).

daśakoṭiṣu ekaikaṁ vṛndavṛndabhṛtair vṛtam |
vṛndavargeṣu ekaikaṁ kharvabhiḥ parivāritam || 1:54 ||

Each one of the hundred million is surrounded by a billion (vṛnda) subordinates (bhṛta). Each one in these groupsof a billion (vṛnda) is surrounded by ten billion (kharva) [subordinates].

kharvavargeṣu ekaikaṁ daśakharvagaṇair vṛtam |
daśakharveṣu ekaikaṁ śaṅkubhiḥ parivāritam || 1:55 ||

Each in these gourps of ten billion (kharva) is surrounded by a hundred billion (daśakharva). Each of those hundred billion (daśakharva) is surrounded by a trillion (śaṅku) [deities].

śaṅkubhiḥ prthag ekaikaṁ padmena parivāritam |
padmavargeṣu ekaikaṁ samudraiḥ parivāritam || 1:56 ||

Each of those one trillion (śaṅku) is surrounded by ten trillion (padma).
Each of those ten trillion (padma) is surrounded by a hundred trillion (samudra).

samudreṣu tathaikaikaṁ madhyasaṁkhyais tu tair vṛtam |
madhyasaṁkhyeṣu ekaikaṁ anantaiḥ parivāritam || 1:57 ||

And each of those hundred trillion (samudra) is surrounded by those whose number is one quadrillion (madhya). Each of those quadrillion (madhya) is surrounded by ten quadrillion (ananta).

ananteṣu ca ekaikaṁ parārdhaparivāritam |
parārdheṣu ca ekaikaṁ pareṇa parivāritam |
eṣa vai kathito vipra śakyam sāmṁkhyam udīritam || 1:58 ||

1.53 It seems that pādas ab repeat what has been stated in 1.52cd. °koṭyena stands for °koṭyā (thematization). Note how the scribe of M gets confused at 1.53c due to an eye-skip and fully regains control only at 1.55b.

1.56 Note that śaṅkubhiḥ stands for śaṅkūṣu (instrumental for locative).

Each of those ten quadrillion (ananta) is surrounded by a hundred quadrillion (parārdha). Each of those hundred quadrillion (parārdha) is surrounded by two hundred quadrillion (para). This is how it is taught, O Brahmin. The enumeration [of the rulers of the Brahmāṇḍa] has been taught as much as it is possible.

Measurements]

pramāṇam śṛṇu me vipra saṃkṣepād bruvato mama |
candrodaye pūrṇamāsyām vapur aṇḍasya tādṛśam || 1:59 ||

Listen to me and learn about the measurements [of the universe], O Brahmin, I shall teach [you] in a concise manner. The body of the Egg is like that of [the moon] at moonrise on the day of the full moon.

koṭikoṭisahasraṃ tu yojanānām samantataḥ |
aṇḍānām ca parimāṇam brahmaṇā parikīrtitam || 1:60 ||

The whole circumference of the Eggs has been declared by Brahmā to be ten million (koṭi) times a thousand times ten million yojanas.

saptakoṭisahasrāṇi saptakoṭīśatāni ca |
viṃśakoṭīṣu ūrdhvas tapate raviḥ || 1:61 ||

The Sun shines from the height of seven thousand seven hundred and twenty koṭi finger's breath.

pramāṇam nāma saṃkhyā ca kīrtitāni samāsataḥ |
brahmāṇḍam cāprameyānām lakṣaṇam parikīrtitam || 1:62 ||

The numbers pertaining to the measurements have been taught in brief. The characteristics of the unmeasurable Brahmāṇḍa[s] have been taught.

[vyāsāḥ —
The redactors (of the Purāṇas)]

purāṇāśīśahasrāṇi śatāni dvijasattama |
brahmaṇā kathitam pūrṇam mātariśvā yathātatham || 1:63 ||

1.61 This verse is the reply to the question in 1.37cd, which contains the word aṅguli: this hints at the possibility that the unintelligible gulmeṣu transmitted in most of the witnesses might be corrupted from aṅguīṣu; hence my conjecture, resulting in a ra-vipulā.

1.62 Note the mixture of different grammatical genders and numbers in this verse. Understand pramāṇeṣu saṃkhyāḥ kīrtitāḥ samāsataḥ and brahmāṇḍānām aprameyānām...

O truest of the twice-born, the Purāṇa[s of] 8,000,000 [verses] were taught by [1] Brahmā to [2] Mātariśvan [= Vāyu] in their entirety, in their true form.

1.63 Pāda a should probably be analysed and interpreted as purāṇam (purāṇānām aṣṭi-sahasrāṇi śatāni ślokāni) brahmaṇā kathitam. Alternatively, pāda a may have originally read purāṇāni sahasrāṇi, and then the initial number of verses transmitted by Brahmā is a hundred thousand. That the number refers to the number of *śloka*s transmitted, and not, e.g., the number of lines, is confirmed in 1.66d: viṃśatślokaśahasrikam.

On the idea that initially there was only one Purāṇa, see, e.g., Rocher 1986, 41ff.

In pāda d, either understand mātariśvā (nom.) as mātariśvānam (acc.) or emend kathitam to kathitaḥ in the sense ‘Mātariśvan was taught,’ echoing 1.39cd: brahmaṇā yat purākhyāto mātariśvā yathā tathā.

Compare this list to a list of twenty-eight vedavyāsas, from Brahmā to Vyāsa Dvaipāyana, in ViṣṇuP 3.3.10–19, taught by Parāśara, the twenty-sixth vyāsa of this list and our text (in the numbering that I add here I follow the translation in Dutt 1896, 178–179): vedavyāsā vyatītā ye aṣṭaviṃśati sattama | caturdhā yaiḥ kṛto vedo dvāpareṣu punaḥ punaḥ || dvāpare prathame vyastāḥ svayaṁ vedāḥ [1] svayaṁbhuvā | dvitiye dvāpare caiva vedavyāsah [2] prajāpati || tṛtiye [3] cośanā vyāsas caturthe ca [4] brhaspatiḥ [5] savitā pañcame vyāsah [6] mrtyuḥ śaṣṭhe smṛtaḥ prabhuh || saptame ca [7] tathaivendro [8] vasiṣṭhas cāṣṭame smṛtaḥ [9] sārāsvatas ca navame [10] tridhāmā daśame smṛtaḥ || ekādaśe tu [11] trivṛṣā [12] bhāradvājas tataḥ param | trayodaśe [13] cāntarikṣo [14] varṇī cāpi caturdaśe || [15] trayyāruṇaḥ pañcadaśe ṣoḍaśe tu [16] dhanamjayaḥ | [17] kratumjayaḥ saptadaśe [18] ṛṇajyo ’ṣṭādaśe smṛtaḥ || tato vyāso [19] bharadvājo bharadvājāt tu [20] gautamaḥ | gautamād uttamo vyāso [21] haryātmā yo ’bhidhīyate || atha haryātmano [22] venaḥ smṛto vājaśravās tu yaḥ | somaḥ śuśmāyaṇas tasmāt [23] ṛṇabindur iti smṛtaḥ || [24] ṛkṣo ’bhūd bhārgavas tasmād vālmīkir yo ’bhidhīyate | tasmād asmatpitā [25] śaktir vyāsas tasmād [26] ahaṁ mune || [27] jātukarṇo ’bhavan mattaḥ kṛṣṇadvaipāyanas [28] tataḥ | aṣṭaviṃśatir ity ete vedavyāsāḥ purāṇanāḥ ||

Another relevant passage is Brahmaṇḍapurāṇa 3.4.58cd–67 (≈ Vāyupurāṇa 2.41.58–67). Note how Tṛṇabindu is, perhaps by mistake, different from Somaśuśma/Śuśmāyaṇa here, but, more importantly, note Amitabuddhi of VSS 1.76 appear at the end of this list: [1] brahmā dadau śāstram idam purāṇam [2] mātariśvane || tasmāc [3] cośanasā prāptaṁ tasmāc cāpi [4] brhaspatiḥ | brhaspatis tu provāca [5] savitre tadanantaram || savitā [6] mrtyave prāha mrtyuś [7] cendrāya vai punaḥ | indras cāpi [8] vasiṣṭāya so ’pi [9] sārāsvatāya ca || sārāsvatas [10] tridhāmne ’tha tridhāmā ca [11] śaradvate | śaradvāṇis tu [12] triviṣṭāya so [13] ’ntarikṣāya dattavān || [14] carṣiṇe cāntarikṣo vai so ’pi [15] trayyāruṇāya ca | trayyāruṇād [16] dhanamjayaḥ sa vai prādāt [17] kṛtañjaye || kṛtañjyāt [18] tṛṇajayo [19] bharadvājāya so ’py atha | [20] gautamāya bharadvājāḥ so ’pi [21] niryyantare punaḥ || niryyantaras tu provāca tathā [22] vājaśravāya vai | sa dadau [23] somaśuśmāya sa cādāt [24] tṛṇabindave || tṛṇabindus tu [25] dakṣāya dakṣaḥ provāca [26] śaktaye | śakteḥ [27] parāśaras cāpi garbhasṭhaḥ śrutavān idam || parāśarāj [28] jātukarṇyas tasmād [29] dvaipāyanaḥ prabhuh | dvaipāyanāt punaś cāpi [30] mayā prāptaṁ dvijottama || mayā caitat punaḥ proktaṁ [31] putrāyāmitabuddhaye | ity eva vākyam brahmādiguruṇām samudāhṛtam ||

The list of vedavyāsas in Līṅgapurāṇa 1.7.15–18 includes these twenty-five names:

vāyunā pāda saṃkṣīpya prāptam cośanasam purā |
tenāpi pāda saṃkṣīpya prāptavāṃś ca bṛhaspatiḥ || 1:64 ||

Vāyu abridged the verses and then gave [the Purāṇas] to [3] Uśanas. He [Uśanas] also abridged the verses, and [4] Bṛhaspati received them.

bṛhaspatis tu provāca sūryam triṃśatsahasrikam |
pañcaviṃśatsahasrāṇi mṛtyum prāha divākaraḥ || 1:65 ||

Bṛhaspati taught 30,000 [verses] to [5] Sūrya [the Sun]. Divākara [= the Sun] taught 25,000 [verses] to [6] Mṛtyu [Death].

ekaviṃśatsahasrāṇi mṛtyunendrāya kīrtitam |
indrenāha vasiṣṭhāya viṃśatślokaśahasrikam || 1:66 ||

Mṛtyu taught 21,000 [verses] to [7] Indra. Indra taught 20,000 verses to [8] Vasiṣṭha.

aṣṭādaśasahasrāṇi tena sārāsvatāya tu |
sārāsvatas tridhāmāya sahasradaśa sapta ca || 1:67 ||

And he[, Vasiṣṭha taught] 18,000 [verses] to [9] Sārāsvata. Sārāsvata [taught] 17,000 [verses] to [10] Tridhāma[n].

ṣoḍaśānām sahasrāṇi bharadvājāya vai tataḥ |
daśa pañcasahasrāṇi trivṛṣāya abhāṣata || 1:68 ||

[He taught] 16,000 verses to [11] Bharadvāja. [Bharadvāja] taught 15,000 verses to [12] Trivṛṣa.

caturdaśasahasrāṇi antarīkṣāya vai tataḥ |
trayyāruṇim sahasrāṇi trayodaśa abhāṣata || 1:69 ||

[Trivṛṣa] then [taught] 14,000 verses to [13] Antarīkṣa. [Antarīkṣa] taught 13,000 [verses] to [14] Trayyāruṇi.

trayyāruṇis tu viprendro dhanamjayam abhāṣata |
dvādaśāni sahasrāṇi saṃkṣīpya punar abravīt || 1:70 ||

Kratu, Satya, Bhārgava, Aṅgiras, Savitr, Mṛtyu, Śatakratu, Vasiṣṭha, Sārāsvata, Tridhāman, Trivṛta, Śatatejas, Tarakṣu, Āruṇi, Kṛtaṃjaya, Ṛtaṃjaya, Bharadvāja, Gautama, Vācaśravas, Trṇabindu, Rūkṣa, Śakti, Jātūkarnya, Kṛṣṇa Dvaipāyano.

1.64 Note the stem form noun pāda twice in this verse and the slightly odd grammatical structure (purāṇam) prāptam uśanasam ('the Purāṇa reached Uśanas'), as opposed to the solution in pāda d (prāptavān).

Trayyāruṇi, the great Brahmin, having abridged them again, taught 12,000 [verses] to [15] Dhanamjaya.

kṛtaṃjayāya samprāpto dhanamjayamahāmuniḥ |
kṛtaṃjayād dvijaśreṣṭha ṛṇamjayamahātmane || 1:71 ||

Dhanamjaya, the great sage, handed [them] over to [16] Kṛtaṃjaya. [That recension was transmitted] from Kṛtaṃjaya, O best of the twice-born, to [17] noble Ṛṇamjaya.

ṛṇaṃjayāt punaḥ prāpto gautamāya maharṣiṇe |
gautamāc ca bharadvājas tasmād dharyātmanāya tu || 1:72 ||

Then from Ṛṇamjaya it was given to [18] Gautama, the great sage, from Gautama to [19] Bharadvāja, from him to [20] Haryātman.

rājaśravās tataḥ prāptaḥ somaśuṣmāya vai tataḥ |
somaśuṣmāt tataḥ prāptas tṛṇabindus tu bho dvija || 1:73 ||

Then [21] Rājaśravas received it, then [22] Somaśuṣma. Then from Somaśuṣma [23] Tṛṇabindu received it, O twice-born.

tṛṇabindus tu vṛkṣāya vṛkṣaḥ śaktim abhāṣata |
śaktiḥ parāśaram prāha jatukarṇāya vai tataḥ || 1:74 ||

Tṛṇabindu taught it to [24] Vṛkṣa, Vṛkṣa to [25] Śakti [the father of Parāśara]. Śakti taught it to [26] Parāśara, then [Parāśara] to [27] Jatukarṇa.

dvaipāyanam tu provāca jatukarṇo maharṣiṇam |
romaharṣāya samprāpto dvaipāyanamahāmuniḥ || 1:75 ||

1.71 Note the odd structure in pādas ab: dhanamjayah kṛtaṃjayāya samprāptaḥ, for a more standard dhanamjayena (purāṇam) samprāpitaṃ kṛtaṃjayam ('the Purāṇa was transmitted to Kṛtaṃjaya').

1.72 The structure of pādas ab is as odd as that of 1.71ab. What was intended is probably ṛṇaṃjayena prāpitaṃ gautamāya. My emendation in pāda d of haryadvatāya to haryātmanāya (for a standard haryātmane) is based on the list of *vedavyāsa*s in ViṣṇuP 3.3.16–17 (see note to 1.63 above).

1.73 The syntax is again slightly odd here. The indention may have been prāpitaṃ rājaśavasā somaśuṣmāya... tatas tṛṇabindunā prāptam.

1.74 In other list of *vedavyāsa*s, Tṛṇabindu hands the Purāṇas down to Rkṣa, Rūkṣa or Dakṣa (see note to 1.63 above). vṛkṣa in pāda a is probably a corrupted form. The name Jatukarṇa may be a corrupted form of Jātū- or Jātukarṇa.

Jatukarṇa taught it to [28] [Vyāsa] Dvaipāyana, the great sage. Dvaipāyana, the great sage, gave it to [29] Romaharṣa.

romaharṣeṇa provāca putrāyāmitabuddhaye |
daśa dve ca sahasrāṇi purāṇaṃ samprakāśitam |
mānuṣāṇāṃ hitārthāya kiṃ bhūyaḥ śrotum icchasi || 1:76 ||

Romaharṣa taught the Purāṇa[s] of 12,000 [verses], now fully revealed, to his son, [30] Amitabuddhi, for the benefit of humankind. What else do you wish to know?

|| iti vṛṣasārasaṃgrāhe brahmāṇḍasaṃkhyā nāmādhyāyaḥ prathamah ||

Here ends the first chapter in the Vṛṣasārasaṃgraha called the Description of the Brahmāṇḍa[s].

1.75 The syntax of pādas cd echoes that of 1.73ab above.

1.76 Romaharṣa is usually considered to be the same person as Sūta, disciple of Vyāsa Dvaipāyana.

In Brahmāṇḍapurāṇa 3.4.67ab (mayā caitat punaḥ proktaṃ putrāyāmitabuddhaye, see note to 1.63 above) Amitabuddhi is clearly the name (or epithet) of Romaharṣa's son. This suggests that the form romaharṣāya in pāda a is a mistake for romaharṣaś ca, or similar. MS M is either transmitting an otherwise syntactically problematic reading (romaharṣeṇa) that is more original than that of most other witnesses or M's scribe is trying to correct the text. Supposing the former, in this case I accepted M's reading.

Manuscripts C₀₂ and M place the iti of the colophon at the end of the last śloka, before the daṇḍas, thus: icchasi || O || (C₀₂) and icchasi iti || o || (M). Note also that M gives the number of ślokas in this chapter, 77, which is almost exactly the number of verses this critical edition has produced. The scribe of M struggled with eyeskips in this chapter, therefore it seems unlikely that he himself counted the number of verses he had copied and arrived at this very figure. Rather, he copied the number from his exemplar.

[Chapter Two]

vigatarāga uvāca |
śrutaṃ mayā janāgreṇa brahmāṇḍasya tu nirṇayam |
pramāṇaṃ varṇarūpaṃ ca saṃkhyā tasya samāsataḥ || 2:1 ||

Vigatarāga spoke: I have heard the description of the Brahmāṇḍa from [you,] the best of men, its extent, colour, form and the numbers associated with it, in a concise manner.

śivāṇḍeti tvayā prokto brahmāṇḍālayakīrtitaḥ |
kīdrśaṃ lakṣaṇaṃ jñeyaṃ pramāṇaṃ tasya vā kati || 2:2 ||

You mentioned a Śivāṇḍa as taught to be the receptacle of the Brahmāṇḍa. What are its characteristics and how much is its extent?

kasya vā layanaṃ jñeyaṃ pramāṇaṃ vātra vāsinaḥ |
kā vā tatra prajā jñeyā ko vā tatra prajāpatiḥ || 2:3 ||

Whose dwelling place is it? And [what] is the scale of the one[s] who dwell there? What kind of people live there? And who is the ruler (prajāpati) there?

[śivāṇḍasaṃkhyā — Summary of the Śivāṇḍa]

anarthayajña uvāca |
śivāṇḍalakṣaṇaṃ vipra na tvaṃ praṣṭum ihārhasi |
daivatair api kā śaktir jñātum draṣṭum ca tattvataḥ || 2:4 ||

Anarthayajña spoke: Please don't ask me about the characteristics of the Śivāṇḍa, O Brahmin. How could even the gods have the power to really know and see [the Śivāṇḍa]?

2.1 It is unlikely that janāgreṇa picks up mayā ('by me, the best of men'), instead, I supposed that this instrumental stands for the ablative or should be understood as 'through the best of man.'

2.2 The location where Śivāṇḍa was mentioned is verse 1.40ab above.

2.3 vā layanaṃ in pāda a may stand for vā-ālayanaṃ, in the sense of vā-ālayam. The questions in this verse are most probably answered in verses 2.26–33, and if my interpretation is correct there, pramāṇaṃ vātra vāsinaḥ (understand vāsinaṃ) and pāda c should refer to the number of inhabitants in the five regions of Īśāna, Tatpuruṣa etc., who are referred to here in pādas a and possibly d.

agamyagamanam guhyam guhyād api samuddhṛtam |
na prabhur netaras tatra na daṇḍyo na ca daṇḍakaḥ || 2:5 ||

The path leading to it is not to be trodden, it is more secret than any secret, and it is lofty. There is no master or servant [lit. the opposite] there, nobody to be punished and no punisher.

na satyo nāṇṛtas tatra suśilo no duḥśīlavān |
nānṛjur na ca dambhitvaṃ na tṛṣṇā na ca īrṣyatā || 2:6 ||

There are no truthful or untruthful people there, no moral or immoral people, no crooked people, no hypocrisy, no thirst or envy.

na krodho na ca lobho 'sti na māno 'sti na sūyakaḥ |
īrṣyā dveṣo na tatrāsti na śaṭho na ca matsaraḥ || 2:7 ||

There is no anger or desire there, no arrogance or discontent ([a]sūyaka), no envy or hatred, no cheaters and no jealousy.

na vyādhir na jarā tatra na śoko 'sti na viklavaḥ |
nādhamaḥ puruṣas tatra nottamo na ca madhyamaḥ || 2:8 ||

There is no disease, no aging, no grief and no agitation there, there are no inferior or superior people and there is nobody in-between.

notkṛṣṭo mānavas tasmin striyaś caiva śivālaye |
na nindā na praśamsāsti matsarī piśuno na ca || 2:9 ||

There are no privileged men or women there in Śiva's abode, no reproach or praise, no selfish or treacherous people.

garvadarpaṃ na tatrāsti krūramāyādikam tathā |
yācamāno na tatrāsti dātā caiva na vidyate || 2:10 ||

There is no pride or arrogance there, no cruelty or trickery and so on. There are no beggars and no donors there.

2.5 My emendation to samuddhṛtam in pāda b is not fully satisfactory, but the readings transmitted in the witnesses are problematic. M, a MS not collated for this chapter, gives a confusing reading: saṃmurdhniḍdam. I doubt if E's saṃṛddhidam ('yielding success') is the correct reading. Perhaps samudāhṛtam ('declared, talked about as') was meant. It is not inconceivable that C₀₂'s (and M's) agamyagahanam ('it is inaccessible because of its depth') is original and it is to be contrasted with samuddhṛtam ('lofty'). One also wonders if guhād could be the right reading, and in what sense, in pāda b.

2.6 Strictly speaking duḥśīlavān in pāda b is unmetrical; understand or pronounce duśīlavān. īrṣyatā (for īrṣyā, see 2.7a) is a form rarely attested.

2.7 na sūyakaḥ in pāda b stands for na asūyaka metri causa.

anarthī vraja tatrasthaḥ kalpavṛkṣasamāśritaḥ |
na karma nāpriyas tatra na kaliḥ kalaho na ca || 2:11 ||

Go without material desires (anarthin), being there you'll be resting under a wishing tree. There is no karma there and no enemy. No Kali age is there and there is no fighting.

dvāparo na ca na tretā kṛtaṃ cāpi na vidyate |
manvantaraṃ na tatrāsti kalpaś caiva na vidyate || 2:12 ||

There is no Dvāpara age or Tretā or Kṛta. There are no manvantaras there and no kalpas.

ābhūtasamplavaṃ nāsti brahmarātridinaṃ tathā |
na janmamaraṇaṃ tatra āpadaṃ nāpnuyāt kvacit || 2:13 ||

No universal floods of destruction come, and there are no days and nights of Brahmā. There is no birth and death there and one never encounters catastrophes.

na cāśāpāśabaddho 'sti rāgamohaṃ na vidyate |
na devā nāsurās tatra na yakṣoragarākṣasāḥ || 2:14 ||

Nobody is tied to the noose of hope and there is no passion or delusion. There are no gods and demons there and no Yakṣas, Serpents and Rākṣasas.

na bhūtā na piśācāś ca gandharvā ṛṣayas tathā |
tārāgrahaṃ na tatrāsti nāgakiṃnaragāruḍam || 2:15 ||

There are no Ghosts nor Piśācas, no Gandharvas and no Ṛṣis. There are no planets there, no Nāgas, Kiṃnaras or Garuḍa-like creatures.

na japo nāhnikas tatra nāgnihotrī na yajñakṛt |
na vrataṃ na tapaś caiva na tiryannarakaṃ tathā || 2:16 ||

2.11 Note the term anartī in pāda a: it might have something to do with non-material sacrifice (anarthayajña), the topic of chapter 11. vraja in pāda a is suspect.

2.12 On manvantaras and kalpas, see 1.23–24 above.

2.13 ābhūtasamplava for the more widely attested form ābhūtasamplava occurs, e.g., in some MSS transmitting ŚDhŚ 10.77 and 81 (see Bisschop, Kafle, & Kiss forthcoming).

There are no recitations or daily rituals there, nobody performs the Agnihotra and there are no sacrificers. There are no religious observances and no austerities and no ‘animal hell’.

tasyeśānasya devasya aiśvaryaguṇavistaram |
api varṣaśatenāpi śakyaṃ vaktuṃ na kenacit || 2:17 ||

Nobody would be able to tell the extent of the qualities of the god Īśāna’s powers, not even in a hundred years.

harecchāprabhavāḥ sarve paryāyeṇa bravīmi te |
devamānuṣavarjyāni vṛkṣagulmalatādayaḥ || 2:18 ||

All are born by Hara’s wish. I shall teach [them to] you one by one, excluding gods and people, starting with the trees, the bushes and creepers.

parārdhadvigūṇotsedho vistāraś ca tathāvidhaḥ |
anekākārapuṣpāṇi phalāni ca manoharam || 2:19 ||

The height [of the Śivāṇḍa] is two parārdhas, and [its] width is the same. There are lovely flowers of different forms [there] and also lovely fruits.

2.16 The phrase of tiryāṇinaraka appears in MBh 3.181.18ab: aśubhaiḥ karmabhiḥ pāpās tiryāṇinarakagāmināḥ. Here Ganguli 1883–1896 translates tiryāṇi separately as ‘in a crooked way,’ but I suspect that in the VSS tiryāṇinaraka has more to do with tiraggati, being reduced to animal existence, being reborn as an animal or entering a hell in animal form. Cf. MBh 13.134.057 (CHECK): nṛṣu janma labhante ye karmaṇā madhyamāḥ smṛtāḥ | tiryāṇinarakagantāro hy adhamās te narādhamāḥ ||, and Umāmāheśvarasaṃvāda 6.1: avamanyanti ye viprān sarvaloke namaskṛtān | narakāṃ yānti te sarve tiryagyoniṃ vrajanti ca ||. I suspect that nātiryā° in the witnesses is only a scribal mistake for na tiryā°.

2.17 My translation of aiśvaryaguṇa° is tentative. It could be taken as a dvandva compound (e.g. ‘supremacy and qualities’). The expression sarva° or aṣṭaiśvaryaguṇopeta occurs frequently, e.g. in SivP 7.2.8.28ab and SkandaP 55.30cd, and ŚDhU 2.6, 79, 125, 127, with aiśvarya most probably referring to the eight siddhis aṇiman, laghiman etc. De Simini (2016a, 386), e.g., translates sarvaiśvaryaguṇopetaḥ in ŚDhU 2.127 as ‘endowed with all the qualities of lordship.’

2.18 Note the gender confusion in this verse, and the way I take pāda a as a separate statement to avoid a further confusion of case.

2.19 I understand pāda a as parārdhadvigūṇa utsedho, i.e. as an example of double sandhi. On the other hand, °sedho is only my conjecture, and may refer to something else than the Śivāṇḍa. Note the number confusion in pāda d, and also that two parārdhas is one para, the highest possible number according to verses 1.35–36 above. The number may refer to any unit of length, but 2.23 below suggests that it is yojanas.

anye kāñcanavṛkṣāṇi maṇivṛkṣāṇy athāpare |
pravālamaṇiṣaṇḍāś ca padmarāgaruhāṇi ca || 2:20 ||

There are also golden trees and also gem trees, coral gem thickets and ruby plants.

svādumūlaphalāḥ skandhalatāviṭapapādapāḥ |
kāmarūpās ca te sarve kāmadaḥ kāmabhāṣiṇaḥ || 2:21 ||

There are tasty roots and fruits and trees with creepers on their twigs. All are shape-shifters and they fulfill man's desires and they whisper seductively.

tatra vipra prajāḥ sarve anantaḡuṇasāgarāḥ |
tulyarūpabalāḥ sarve sūryāyutasamaprabhāḥ || 2:22 ||

There [in the Śivāṇḁa], O Brahmin, all the subjects are the oceans of endless virtues. They are all equally beautiful and strong, and they shine like millions of suns.

parārdhadvayavistāraṃ parārdhadvayam āyatam |
parārdhadvayavikṣepaṃ yojanānāṃ dvijottama || 2:23 ||

[The Śivāṇḁa] is two parārdha long and two parārdha wide, and two parārdhas is its [vertical] extension, [measured] in yojanas, O great Brahmin.

aiśvaryatvaṃ na saṃkhyāsti balaśaktiś ca bho dvija |
adhordhvo na ca saṃkhyāsti na tiryāñ caiti kaścana || 2:24 ||

[Īśāna's] powers cannot be expressed by numbers, neither can [His] powerfulness, O twice-born. [In fact, the distances in the Śivāṇḁa] downwards and upwards cannot be expressed by numbers. Nobody can traverse it horizontally.

śivāṇḁasya ca vistāram āyāmaṃ ca na vedmy aham |
bhogam akṣaya tatraiva janmamṛtyur na vidyate || 2:25 ||

2.20 Note that both anye and apare here pick up neuter nouns (gender confusion).

2.21 My conjectures in pādas ab result in a compound spanning the cæsura, which may have been the reason why the line got corrupted.

2.24 Pādas ab are an echo of 2.17b. kaścana in pāda d forces us to accept the readin in K₈₂^{pc} K₇ (caiti), as opposed to ceti in the remaining witnesses.

[In reality,] I do not know the length and width of the Śivāṇḍa. Enjoyment is undecaying there, and there is no birth or death there.

*śivāṇḍamadhyam āśritya gokṣīrasadṛśaprabhāḥ |
parārdhaparakoṭīnām īśānānām smṛtālayaḥ || 2:26 ||*

In the centre of the Śivāṇḍa, [creatures] shine like cow's milk. [It is] said to be the region (ālaya) of the one and a half para crore Īśānas.

*bālasūryaprabhāḥ sarve jñeyās tatpuruṣālaye |
parārdhaparakoṭīnām pūrvasyām diśam āśritāḥ || 2:27 ||*

They are all like the rising sun in the region of Tatpuruṣa. They are one and a half para crore [in number], living in the east.

*bhinnāñjanaprabhāḥ sarve dakṣiṇām diśam āśritāḥ |
parārdhaparakoṭīnām aghorālayam āśritāḥ || 2:28 ||*

Everybody is like collyrium in the southern direction, in the region of Aghora, one and a half para crore [in number].

*kundenduhimaśailābhāḥ paścimām diśam āśritāḥ |
parārdhaparakoṭīnām sadya-m-iṣṭālayaḥ smṛtaḥ || 2:29 ||*

2.25 Pāda c is transmitted in an unmetrical form and with a gender problem in the witnesses (bhogam akṣayas), hence my emendation using a stem form noun, a phenomenon frequently seen in this text. But note that bhoga is normally masculine; there might be a hiatus-filler in-between: bhoga-m-akṣaya.

2.26 Note the stem form smṛta in pāda d (cf. 2.29d). I understand īśānānām as aiśānānām.

Īśāna is traditionally the upward-looking face of Śiva, his region is positioned in the centre here. Note that the somewhat cryptic third pādas here and in the coming verses may or may not refer to the number of people living in the given region. They may tell us about the extent of the given region, although the numbers are much higher than what one would expect after verse 2.23.

2.27 The genitive of parārdhaparakoṭīnām is baffling here and in the coming verses, but I suspect that again the expression gives the number of subjects living in the given region. pūrvasyām is meant to mean pūrvām (cf. dakṣiṇām, paścimām, and uttarām in the next verses); note how K₁₀ tries to save the construction by reading diśi.

This verse conforms to the traditional view that Śiva's Tatpuruṣa-face is looking to the east.

2.28 Note the Aīśa form CHECK REF diśim in C₄₅, and that Aghora is indeed usually south-facing.

In the western direction, they are like jasmine, the moon, like snowy rocks. Sadyojāta's lovely region is [home] to one and a half para crore [people].

kuṅkumodakasamkāsā uttarāṃ diśam āśritāḥ |
parārdhaparakotīnām vāmadevālayaḥ smṛtaḥ || 2:30 ||

In the northern direction, they are like saffron in water. Vāmadeva's region is [home] to one and a half para crore [people].

īśānasya kalāḥ pañca vaktrasyāpi catuḥ kalāḥ |
aghorasya kalā aṣṭau vāmadevās trayodaśa || 2:31 ||

Īśāna has five parts (kalā), [his Tatpuruṣa] face has four. Aghora has eight, and there are thirteen Vāmadeva[-kalā]s.

sadyaś caṣṭau kalā jñeyāḥ saṃsārārṇavatārakāḥ |
aṣṭatrimśat kalā hy etāḥ kīrtitā dvijasattama || 2:32 ||

Sadyojāta has eight parts. These parts, altogether thirty-eight, which liberate us from the ocean of existence, have been taught, O truest Brahmin.

saṃkhyā varṇā diśaś caiva ekaikasya pṛthak pṛthak |
pūrvoktena vidhānena bodhavyās tattvacintakair || 2:33 ||

Those who explore the truth should know the numbers, the colours and directions associated with each one [of Śiva's faces] in the way taught above.

śivāṇḍagamanākṛṣṭyā śivayogaṃ sadābhyaset |
śivayogaṃ vinā vipra tatra gantum na śakyate || 2:34 ||

If one has the intention to go to the Śivāṇḍa, one should practise Śiva-yoga regularly. Without Śiva-yoga, O Brahmin, it is impossible to go there.

2.29 Note the Aiśa form diśiṃ in K₇ in pāda b. In pāda d, we may presuppose the presence of a sandhi-bridge: sadya-m-iṣṭālayaḥ. Sadyojāta is traditionally associated with the western direction.

2.30 Note the Aiśa form diśiṃ in C₉₄ in pāda b. Vāmadeva is traditionally associated with the western direction.

2.31 Note how vaktrasya should refer to Śiva's Tatpuruṣa-face, given that the text lists Śiva's five faces: Īśāna, Tatpuruṣa, Aghora, Vāmadeva, Sadyojāta.

2.32 Note sadyaś in pāda a for sadyasaś or sadyojātasya.

2.34 ākṛṣṭyā in pāda a might be corrupt.

aśvamedhādīyajñānāṃ koṭyāyutaśatāni ca |
kṛcchrāditapa sarvāṇi kṛtvā kalpaśatāni ca |
tatra gantum na śakyeta devair api tapodhana || 2:35 ||

[Even] by [performing] millions of sacrifices such as the Aśvamedha, or by performing all the difficult austerities for a hundred kalpas, it is impossible to get there even for the gods, O great ascetic.

gaṅgādisarvatīrtheṣu snātvā taptvā ca vai punaḥ |
tatra gantum na śakyeta ṛṣibhir vā mahātmabhiḥ || 2:36 ||

By [merely] bathing and performing austerities at all the sacred places such as the Gaṅgā, even the honorable Ṛṣis will not be able to get there.

saptadvīpasamudrāṇi ratnapūrṇāni bho dvija |
dattvā vā vedaviduṣe śraddhābhaktisamanvitaḥ |
tatra gantum na śakyeta vinā dhyānena niścayaḥ || 2:37 ||

Or [even] by donating the oceans of the seven islands with all their gems to a Veda expert, O Brahmin, with faith and devotion, one will not be able to go there without meditation. [This is a] certainty.

svadehān māṃsam uddhṛtya dattvārthibhyaś ca niścayāt |
svadāraputrasarvasvaṃ śīro 'rthibhyaś ca yo dadet |
na tatra gantum śakyeta anyair vāpi suduṣkaraiḥ || 2:38 ||

He who destroys his own body and gives it without hesitation to those who are in need of it, or he who gives away his wife, his son and his possessions or his own head to those in need, or he who [performs] other difficult deeds, will not be able to go there [by merely doing these].

yajñatīrthatapodānavedādhyanapāragah |
brahmāṇḍāntasya bhogāṃs tu bhuṅkte kālavaśānugah || 2:39 ||

He who has completed the sacrifices, the pilgrimages, the austerities, the donations, the study of the Vedas, will experience those enjoyments that the Brahmāṇḍa offers, still being subject to time and death.

kālena samapreṣyeṇa dharmo yāti parikṣayam |
alātacakravat sarvaṃ kālo yāti paribhraman |
traikālyakalanāt kālas tena kālaḥ prakīrtitaḥ || 2:40 ||

2.35 Understand kṛcchrāditapa sarvāṇi as kṛcchrāditapāṃsi sarvāṇi. It can be considered an instance of the use of a stem form noun.

Dharma decays tossed forward by time. Time flies moving everything round and round like a circle of burning coal. Time is called kāla because of the waves (kalana) of the three divisions of time [past, present, future].

|| iti vṛṣasārasaṃgrāhe śivāṇḍasaṃkhyā nāmādhyāyo dvitīyaḥ ||

Here ends the second chapter in the Vṛṣasārasaṃgrāha called the Description of the Śivāṇḍa.

2.40 Notice the muta cum liquida licence in pāda a: samapre° renders as short-short-long. I take samapreṣyena as if it read sampreṣito, picking up dharmo; otherwise it is difficult to make sense of it. As Kenji Takahashi pointed out to me, Fitzgerald 2012 is a good starting point to understand the implication of alātacakra, ‘a single, rapidly twirled torch creat[ing] the illusion of an apparently real, continuous circle’ (ibid., p. 777). The function of sarvaṃ in pāda a becomes clear only if we understand paribhraman in a causative sense (for paribhramayan). One cannot help noticing that this verse would be in a more fitting context after verse 1.31, at the end of a section on kāla. On the other hand, it leads us to the next topic, Dharma, smoothly.

[Chapter Three]

[dharmappravacanam —
An Exposition of Dharma]

vigatarāga uvāca |
kimarthaṃ dharmam ity āhuḥ katimūrtiś ca kīrtyate |
katipādavr̥ṣo jñeyo gatis tasya kati smṛtāḥ || 3:1 ||

Vigatarāga spoke: Why do they call it Dharma? And how many embodiments (mūrti) is he known to have? He is known as a bull: how many legs does it have? How many are his paths?

kautūhalaṃ mamotpannam saṃśayaṃ chindhi tattvataḥ |
kasya putro munisreṣṭha prajāś tasya kati smṛtāḥ || 3:2 ||

I have become curious [about these questions]. Put an end to my doubts for good. Whose son is [Dharma], O best of sages? How many children does he have?

anarthayajña uvāca |
dhṛtir ity eṣa dhātur vai paryāyaḥ parikīrtitaḥ |
ādharmaṇān mahattvāc ca dharma ity abhidhīyate || 3:3 ||

Anarthayajña spoke: Well, dhṛti ('firmness') is [of the same] verbal root [as dharma], and is said to be [its] synonym. It is called dharma because

3.1 For the correct interpretation of pāda a, namely to decide whether these questions focus on the bull of Dharma or Dharma itself/himself, see the end of the previous chapter, where dharma was mentioned (2.40b), and to which the present verse is a reaction; see also MBh 12.110.10–11: prabhāvārthāya bhūtānāṃ dharmappravacanam kṛtam | yat syād abhimsāsaṃyuktaṃ sa dharma iti niścayaḥ || dhāraṇād dharma ity āhur dharmeṇa vidhṛtāḥ prajāḥ | yat syād dhāraṇasaṃyuktaṃ sa dharma iti niścayaḥ || Note the similarities of MBh this passage with this chapter: the phrase dharma ity āhur, the fact that the present chapter from verse 18 on is actually a chapter on abimsā, and that the etimological explanation involves the word [ā] dhāraṇa in both cases. These lead me to think that in pādas ab of this verse in the VSS, it is Dharma that is the focus of the inquiry and not the bull.

Understand pāda d as gatayas tasya kati smṛtāḥ. I have accepted smṛtāḥ because this plural signals that gatis is meant to be plural, similarly to what happens in 3.6cd (tasya patnī... mahābhāgāḥ). The use of the singular in a context of numbers and quantities is one of the hallmarks of the language of the VSS, see p. CHECK.

On Dharma as a bull, see Introduction, pp. CHECK.

it supports (āDHĀRaṇa) and because it is great (MAhattva).

śrutismṛtidvayor mūrtiś catuṣpādavyṣaḥ sthitaḥ |
caturāśrama yo dharmah kīrtitāni manīṣibhiḥ || 3:4 ||

The four-legged Bull is the embodiment of both Śruti and Smṛti. It is Dharma, as made up of the four āśramas.

gatiś ca pañca vijñeyāḥ śṛṇu dharmasya bho dvija |
devamānuṣatiryam ca narakasthāvarādayaḥ || 3:5 ||

And the paths of Dharma are five. Listen, O Brahmin: [existence as] gods, men, animals, [existence in] hell and [as] immovable things [such as plants and rocks] etc.

brahmaṇo hṛdayam bhittvā jāto dharmah sanātanaḥ |
tasya patnī mahābhāgā trayodaśa sumadhyamāḥ || 3:6 ||

3.3 For similar Purāṇic passages on the etymology of dharmā, see the apparatus to this verse.

The insertion in my translation '[of the same]' solves the problem of a noun (dhṛti) seemingly being considered a verbal root (dhātu) here. I owe thanks to Judit Törzsök for this interpretation. For similar passages with nominal stems apparently being treated as dhātus, see e.g. VāyuP 3.17cd: bhāvya ity eṣa dhātur vai bhāvye kāle vibhāvvyate; VāyuP 3.19cd (= BrahmanḍaP 1.38.21ab): nātha ity eṣa dhātur vai dhātujñaiḥ pālāne smṛtaḥ; LiṅP 2.9.19: bhaja ity eṣa dhātur vai sevāyām parikīrtitaḥ.

3.4 A similar image of the legs of the Bull of Dharma being the four (and not three, at least according to Olivelle 1993, 55 and Ganguli 1883–1896, Śāntiparvan CCLXX) āśramas is hinted at MBh 12.262.19–21: dharmam ekaṃ catuṣpādam āśritās te naraṣabhāḥ | taṃ santo vidhivat prāpya gacchanti paramām gatim || grhebhya eva niṣkramya vanam anye samāśritāḥ | grham evābhisaṃśritya tato 'nye brahmacāriṇaḥ || dharmam etaṃ catuṣpādam āśramam brāhmaṇā viduḥ | ānantyaṃ brahmaṇaḥ sthānaṃ brāhmaṇā nāma niścayaḥ ||. On the more frequently quoted interpretation of the four legs, see Olivelle 1993, 235, a translation of Manu 1.81–82: 'Dharma and truth possess all four feet and are whole during the Kṛta yuga, and people did not obtain anything unrighteously (adharmeṇa). By obtaining, however, dharmā has lost one foot during each of the other yugas and righteousness (dharmā) likewise has diminished by one quarter due to theft, falsehood, and deceit. (MDh 1.81–82).' Understand pādas c and d as catvāri āśramāṇi kīrtitāni dharmo manīṣibhiḥ or yo dharmah kīrtitaḥ caturāśramāṇi manīṣibhiḥ or yo dharmas caturāśramah kīrtito manīṣibhiḥ. Judit Törzsök suggested that caturāśrama and dharmah may be interpreted as a compound here.

3.5 Note the use of the singular next to numbers in pāda a, as in 3.1d, and that vijñeyāḥ is an emendation from vijñeyah following the logic of 3.1d. tiryā seems to be an acceptable nominal stem in this text for tiryāñc. See, e.g., 4.6a: devamānuṣatiryēṣu. °ādayaḥ in pāda d seems superfluous.

Eternal Dharma was born after splitting Brahmā's heart. He has beautiful wives, thirteen in number, with nice waists.

dakṣakanyā viśālākṣī śraddhādyāḥ sumanoharāḥ |
tasya putrāś ca pautrāś ca anekāś ca babhūva ha |
eṣa dharmanisargo 'yaṃ kiṃ bhūyaḥ śrotum icchasi || 3:7 ||

They are Dakṣa's daughters, [called] Śraddhā and so on. They have huge eyes and they are beautiful. Numerous sons and grandsons were born to him. This is the emergence of Dharma. What more do you wish to hear?

vigatarāga uvāca |
dharmapatnī viśeṣeṇa putras tābhyah prthak prthak |
śrotum icchāmi tattvena kathayasva tapodhana || 3:8 ||

Vigatarāga spoke: I would like to hear about Dharma's wives truly and about each one of the sons born to them. Teach me, O great ascetic.

anarthayajña uvāca |
śraddhā lakṣmī dhṛti tuṣṭiḥ puṣṭir medhā kriyā lajjā |
buddhiḥ śāntir vapuḥ kīrtiḥ siddhiḥ prasūtisambhavāḥ || 3:9 ||

Anarthayajña spoke: [Dharma's wives are] [1] Śraddhā ('Faith'), [2] Lakṣmī ('Prosperity'), [3] Dhṛti ('Resolution'), [4] Tuṣṭi ('Satisfaction'), [5] Puṣṭi ('Growth'), [6] Medhā ('Wisdom'), [7] Kriyā ('Labour'), [8] Lajjā ('Modesty'), [9] Buddhi ('Intelligence'), [10] Śānti ('Tranquillity'), [11] Vapuḥ

3.6 Note the use of the singular in pādas cd. I have left sumadhyamāḥ as the manuscripts transmit it: it signals the presence of the plural. And consider correcting mahābhāgā to mahābhāgās. In sum, understand tasya patnyo mahābhāgās trayodaśa sumadhyamāḥ.

3.7 śraddhādyāḥ in pāda b is an attractive lectio difficilior ('they were rich in faith/devotion'), but I have finally decided to accept the easier and better-attested śraddhādyāḥ. Again, I have chosen/applied the plural forms °adyāḥ and sumanoharāḥ in pāda b to hint at the fact that the presence of the plural is to be preferred here; thus only viśālākṣī is problematic. As patnī in the previous verse, it should be treated as a plural. Note the use of the singular for the plural also in pādas cd, especially babhūva ha for babhūvuh (babhūva ha perhaps being a phonetic and metrically 'adjusted' equivalent, so to say, of babhūvuh).

3.8 I have emended tebhyah to the correct feminine form tābhyah because I suspect that it is only the result of some early confusion brought about by putras, although tebhyah might be original. Note again the use of the singular (nominative) for the plural (accusative) in pādas ab. Alternatively, emend dharmapatnī to dharmapatnīr (plural accusative) and putras to putrān to make them work with śrotum icchāmi.

(‘Beauty’), [12] Kīrti (‘Fame’), [13] Siddhi (‘Success’), [all] born to Prasūti [Dakṣa’s wife].

śraddhā kāmāḥ suto jāto darpo lakṣmīsutaḥ smṛtaḥ |
dhṛtyāḥ tu niyamaḥ putraḥ saṃtoṣaḥ tuṣṭijaḥ smṛtaḥ || 3:10 ||

Śraddhā’s son is Kāma (‘Desire’). Darpa (‘Pride’) is said to be Lakṣmī’s son. Dhṛti’s son is Niyama (‘Rule’). Saṃtoṣa (‘Satisfaction’) is Tuṣṭi’s son.

puṣṭyā lābhaḥ suto jāto medhāputraḥ śrutas tathā |
kriyāyāḥ tv abhavat putro daṇḍaḥ samaya eva ca || 3:11 ||

To Puṣṭi was born a son [called] Lābha (‘Profit’). Medhā’s son is Śruta (‘Sacred Knowledge’). Kriyā’s sons are Daṇḍa (‘Punishment’) and Samaya (‘Law’).

3.9 Note how lajjā in pāda b makes the line unmetrical.

For Dharma’s thirteen wives and their sons, see, e.g., LiñP 1.5.34–37 (note the similarity between the first line and VSS 3.6cd–7ab above): dharmasya patnyāḥ śraddhādyāḥ kīrtitā vai trayodaśa | tāsu dharmaprajāṃ vakṣye yathākramam anuttamam || kāmo darpo ’tha niyamaḥ saṃtoṣo lobha eva ca | śrutas tu daṇḍaḥ samayo bodhaś caiva mahādyutiḥ || apramādaś ca vinayo vyavasāyo dvijottamāḥ | kṣemaṃ sukhaṃ yaśaś caiva dharmaputrāś ca tāsu vai || dharmasya vai kriyāyāṃ tu daṇḍaḥ samaya eva ca | apramādaś tathā bodho buddher dharmasya tau sutau ||

prasūtisambhavāḥ in pāda d is a rather bold conjecture that can be supported by two facts: firstly, the readings of the manuscripts are difficult to make sense of and thus are probably corrupt; secondly, a corruption from the name Prasūti, traditionally the name of Dakṣa’s wife, to ābhūti is relatively easily to explain, sū and bhū being close enough in some scripts (e.g. in C₉₄) to cause confusion. Another option would be to accept Ābhūti as the name of Dakṣa’s wife. For Prasūti being Dakṣa’s wife in other sources, see, e.g., LiñP 1.5.20–21 (but also note the presence of the name Sambhūti): prasūtiḥ suṣuve dakṣāc caturviṃśatikanyakāḥ | śraddhāṃ lakṣmīm dhṛtiṃ puṣṭiṃ tuṣṭiṃ medhāṃ kriyāṃ tathā || buddhiḥ lajjāṃ vapuḥ śāntiṃ siddhiṃ kīrtiṃ mahātapāḥ | khyātiṃ śāntiś ca sambhūtiṃ smṛtiṃ prītiṃ kṣamāṃ tathā ||

3.10 Understand śraddhā as a stem form noun for śraddhāyāḥ (gen./abl., cf. 3.11a). Alternatively, take śraddhā and suto as elements of a split compound, and understand śraddhāsuto jātaḥ kāmāḥ.

3.11 I have emended abhayaḥ to abhavat in pāda c, following the relevant line in the KūrmP cited above (kriyāyāś cābhavat putro daṇḍaḥ samaya eva ca) and also LiñP 1.5.37 quoted in the apparatus to this verse, allotting only two sons to Kriyā. Thus I don’t think that Kriyā is supposed to have a son called Abhaya (‘Freedom from danger’; BhāgP 4.1.50ab claims that Dayā had a son called Abhaya: śraddhāsūta śubhaṃ maitrī prasādam abhayaṃ dayā). Nevertheless, in a number of sources Kriyā actually has three sons, see, e.g., ViṣṇuP 1.7.26ab, where they are named as Daṇḍa, Naya and Vinaya: medhā śrutaṃ kriyā daṇḍam

lajjāyā vinayaḥ putro buddhyā bodhaḥ sutaḥ smṛtaḥ |
lajjāyāḥ sudhiyaḥ putra apramādaś ca tāv ubhau || 3:12 ||

Lajjā's son is Vinaya ('Discipline'), Buddhi's son is Bodha ('Intelligence').
 Lajjā has two [more] sons: Sudhiya/[Sudhi] ('Wise') and Apramāda ('Cautiousness').

kṣemaḥ śāntisuto vindyād vyavasāyo vapoh sutaḥ |
yaśaḥ kīrtisuto jñeyaḥ sukhaṃ siddher vyajāyata |
svāyambhuve 'ntare tv āsan kīrtitā dharmasūnavaḥ || 3:13 ||

Kṣema ('Peace') is to be known as Śānti's son, Vyavasāya ('Resolution') is Vapus' son. Yaśas ('Fame') is Kīrti's son, Sukha ('Joy') was born to Siddhi. [This is how] the sons of Dharma in the [manvantara] era of Svāyambhuva [Manu] were known.

vigatarāga uvāca |
mūrtidvayaṃ kathaṃ dharmam kathayasva tapodhana |
kautūhalaṃ atīvaṃ me kartaya jñānasamśayaṃ || 3:14 ||

Vigatarāga spoke: How come Dharma has two embodiments? Tell me, O great ascetic. I am extremely intrigued. Cut my doubts concerning [this] knowledge.

anarthayajña uvāca |

nayaṃ vinayam eva ca. Perhaps read kriyāyās tu nayaḥ putro in pāda c? Compare VāyuP 1.10.34cd (kriyāyās tu nayaḥ prokto daṇḍaḥ samaya eva ca) with BrahmāṇḍaP 1.9.60ab (kriyāyās tanayau proktau damaś ca śama eva ca).

3.12 In a very similar passages in KūrmP 1.8.20 ff., Apramāda is Buddhi's son and Lajjā has only one son, Vinaya. In the above verse (VSS 3.12), sudhiyaḥ (for sudhiḥ) may only be qualifying apramāda, thus Lajjā may have two sons: Vinaya and the wise Apramāda. Alternatively, pādas cd might be a extra line inserted accidentally.

3.13 Note that sukhaṃ in pāda d is probably meant to be masculine (sukhaḥ), but e.g. in the KūrmP passage quoted above it is also neuter. For the emendation in pāda e, see MatsP 9.2cd: yāmā nāma purā devā āsan svāyambhuvāntare, and BhāgP 6.4.1: devāsuraṇṇām sargo nāgānām ṛṣgapakṣiṇām | sāmāsikas tvayā prokto yas tu svāyambhuve 'ntare||.

3.14 Note dharma as a neuter noun and the form atīvaṃ for atīva metri causa. My emendation from kirtaya ('declare') to kartaya ('cut') was influenced by the combination of chindhi and saṃśaya, often with kautūhala, elsewhere in the VSS: 3.2ab: kautūhalaṃ mamotpannaṃ saṃśayaṃ chindhi tattvataḥ; 10.10cd: kautūhalaṃ mahaj jātaṃ chindhi saṃśayakāraṇam; 15.2ab: etat kautūhalaṃ chindhi saṃśayaṃ paramesvara. The reading kirtaya may have been the result of the influence of kīrtitā in 3.13b above (De Simini's observation).

śrutismṛtidvayor mūrtir dharmasya parikīrtitā |
dārāgnihotrasambandham ijjā śrautasya lakṣaṇam |
smārto varṇāśramācāro yamais ca niyamair yutaḥ || 3:15 ||

Anarthayajña spoke: Dharma's embodiment is said to consist of Śruti and Smṛti. The characteristics of the Śrauta [tradition] are an association with a wife [i.e. marriage] and with the fire ritual, and sacrifice. The Smārta [tradition] [focuses on] the conduct (ācāra) of the classes (varṇa) and life-stages (āśrama) which is connected to rules and regulations (yama-niyama).

[yamaniyamabhedah — Yama and Niyama rules]

yamaś ca niyamaś caiva dvayor bhedam ataḥ śṛṇu |
ahiṃsā satyam asteyam ānṛśaṃsyam damo ghrṇā |
dhanyāpramādo mādhyam ārjavam ca yamā daśa || 3:16 ||

Now hear the classification of both the yama and niyama rules. Non-violence, truthfulness, not stealing, absence of hostility, self-restraint, taboos, virtue, carefulness, charm, honesty: these are the ten yamas.

ekaikasya punaḥ pañcabhedam āhur manīṣiṇaḥ |
ahiṃsādi pravakṣyāmi śṛṇuṣvāvahito dvija || 3:17 ||

3.15 The reading °dvayī in K₇ in pāda a is attractive, but as Judit Törzsök has pointed out to me, it is more likely that the slightly less convincing but widespread variant °dvayor is original.

As for Dharma being based on śruti and smṛti, see, e.g., Manu 2.10: śrutis tu vedo vijñeyo dharmasāstraṃ tu vai smṛtiḥ | te sarvārtheṣv amīmāṃsyē tābhyāṃ dharmo hi nirbabhau ||. In Olivelle's translation (Olivelle 2005, 94): “Scripture” should be recognized as “Veda,” and “tradition” as “Law Treatise.” These two should never be called into question in any matter, for it is from them that the Law shines forth.’

There may be a hiatus filler in pādas cd: °sambandha-m-ijyā for °sambandha ijjā.

To state that the Smārta tradition is connected to yamas and niyamas and the āśramas and then to discuss these at length (principally in chapters 3–8 and 11) can be seen as a clear self-identification with the Smārta tradition.

3.16 Pāda a should be understood as yamaniyamayoś caiva, but the author of this line may have tried to avoid the metrical fault of having two short syllables in second and third position. Note that this is the beginning of a long section in our text that describes the yama-niyama rules, reaching up to the end of chapter eight. The title given in the colophon of the next chapter, chapter four, namely yamavibhāga, would fit this locus better than the beginning of that chapter, which commences with a discussion on the second of the yamas, satya. Note how all witnesses read mādhūrya in pāda e instead of mādhurya. The former may have been acceptable originally in this text. Pāda e is a ma-vipulā.

The wise say that there are five subclasses to each. I shall teach you about non-violence and the other [yama-rules]. Listen carefully, O twice-born.

[yameṣv ahiṃsā (1) —
The first Yama-rule: Non-violence]
[pañcavidhā hiṃsā —
Five types of violence]

trāsanam tāḍanam bandho māraṇam vṛttināśanam |
hiṃsām pañcavidhām āhur munayas tattvadarśinaḥ || 3:18 ||

Frightening and beating [other people], tying [someone] up, killing and the destruction of [other people's] livelihood: violence is said by the wise who see the truth to be of [these] five types.

kāṣṭhaloṣṭakaśādyais tu tāḍayantiha nirdayaḥ |
tatprahāravibhinnāṅgo mṛtavadhyam avāpnuyāt || 3:19 ||

Cruel people beat [other people] with sticks, clods of earth [understand: they stone them], with whips and other [objects] in the everyday world. Their bodies broken by the same blows, they receive the capital punishment.

baddhvā pāḍau bhujoraś ca śirorukkaṇṭhapāśitāḥ |
anāhata mriyanty evaṃ vadho bandhanajaḥ smṛtaḥ || 3:20 ||

[Others,] tie up [people] at their feet and their arms and chests. [These,] hung by their hair and neck, die in this way without being wounded. This is the capital punishment for tying up [other people].

śatrucaurabhayair ghoraiḥ śimhavyāghragajoragaiḥ |
trāsanād vadham āpnoti anyair vāpi suduḥsahaiḥ || 3:21 ||

3.17 In pāda a, pañca and bheda may be typeset as two separate words since the use of the singular after numbers is one of the hallmarks of the text (see CHECK).

3.19 Note the use of the singular in pādas cd referring back to the agents of the previous sentence. Most probably, °vadhyam is to be understood as °vadham and the form vadhyam serves only to avoid two laghu syllables in pāda d.

3.20 Understand bhujoraś ca in pāda a as bhuje, urasi ca, in this case with an instance of double sandhi, and in stem form: bhuje urasi ca → bhuja urasi ca → bhujorasi ca → bhujoraś ca. Alternatively, understand it as a compound (bhujorasi). In pāda b, my emendation is only one of the possible interpretations. We might accept śiroru° as consisting of śira + ūru ('head and thigh'), or emend it to śiroraḥ° for śira + urah ('head and chest'). Also note my conjecture in pāda d, without which this pāda is difficult to interpret.

He who frightens [other people] with the terrible danger of enemies and thieves, with lions, tigers, elephants or snakes, or by other horrors, will be executed.

yasya yasya hared vittaṃ tasya tasya vadhaḥ smṛtaḥ |
ṛttiḥjīvābhibhūtānāṃ taddvārā nihataḥ smṛtaḥ || 3:22 ||

He who robs somebody's money is to be punished by the same person.
 He is [to be] struck down by those whose livelihood got damaged by him.

viṣavahniśaraśastrair māyāyogabalena vā |
hiṃsakāṇy āhu viprendra munayas tattvadarśinaḥ || 3:23 ||

[Those who kill other people] with poison, fire, arrows, swords, or by the force of magic or yoga are called murderers by the sages who see the truth, O great Brahmin.

[ahiṃsāpraśamsā — Praise of non-violence]

ahiṃsā paramaṃ dharmaṃ yas tyajet sa durātmavān |
kleśāyāsavinirmuktaṃ sarvadharmaphalapradam || 3:24 ||

Non-violence is the highest Dharma. He who abandons it is a wicked person. It is free of pain and trouble, it yields the fruits of all [other] Dharmic teachings [in itself].

nātaḥ parataro mūrkhō nātaḥ parataram tamaḥ |
nātaḥ parataram duḥkham nātaḥ parataro 'yaśaḥ || 3:25 ||

There isn't a bigger fool than he [who abandons it]. There is no bigger mental darkness [than the abandonment of non-violence]. There is no greater suffering or greater infamy.

3.22 Understand vadhaḥ in pāda b as vadhyaḥ metri causa. My translation of the second line of this verse reflects a conjecture (taddvārā) understood as connected to both pāda c and niyataḥ in pāda d.

3.23 Pāda a is unmetrical. Note how elliptical this verse is and that hiṃsakāṇi is neuter although it refers to people, perhaps implying bhūtāni. Alternatively, take y in hiṃsakāṇy as a rather unusual sandhi-bridge (hiṃsakān-y-āhu), or simply delete this y. Note also that āhu stands for āhur metri causa.

3.24 Note dharma as a neuter noun in pāda a and that vinirmuktaṃ and pradam are neuter accordingly.

3.25 Note that parataro is masculine in pāda d, picking up a neuter 'yaśaḥ. This phenomenon is probably the result of 'yaśaḥ resembling a masculine noun ending in -aḥ and also of the metrical problem with a grammatically correct nātaḥ parataram ayaśaḥ.

nātaḥ parataram pāpaṃ nātaḥ parataram viṣam |
nātaḥ paratarāvidyā nātaḥ paraṃ tapodhana || 3:26 ||

There is no greater sin or a more effective poison. There is no greater ignorance, there is nothing worse, O great ascetic.

yo hinasti na bhūtāni udbhijjādi caturvidham |
sa bhavet puruṣaḥ śreṣṭhaḥ sarvabhūtadayānvitaḥ || 3:27 ||

He who does not harm the four types of living beings beginning with plants is the best person, having compassion for all creatures.

sarvabhūtadayāṃ nityaṃ yaḥ karoti sa paṇḍitaḥ |
sa yajvā sa tapasvī ca sa dātā sa dṛḍhavrataḥ || 3:28 ||

He who always has compassion for all creatures is the [true] Pandit. He is the [true] sacrificer, the [true] ascetic, he is the donor, the one with a firm vow.

ahiṃsā paramaṃ tīrtham ahiṃsā paramaṃ tapaḥ |
ahiṃsā paramaṃ dānam ahiṃsā paramaṃ sukham || 3:29 ||

Non-violence is the supreme pilgrimage place. Non-violence is the highest austerity. Non-violence is the highest donation. Non-violence is the highest joy.

ahiṃsā paramo yajñaḥ ahiṃsā paramaṃ vrataṃ |
ahiṃsā paramaṃ jñānam ahiṃsā paramā kriyā || 3:30 ||

Non-violence is the supreme sacrifice. Non-violence is the supreme religious observance. Non-violence is supreme knowledge. Non-violence is the supreme ritual.

ahiṃsā paramaṃ śaucam ahiṃsā paramo damaḥ |
ahiṃsā paramo lābhaḥ ahiṃsā paramaṃ yaśaḥ || 3:31 ||

Non-violence is the highest purity. Non-violence is the highest self-restraint. Non-violence is the highest profit. Non-violence is the greatest fame.

3.26 Pāda d (nātaḥ paraṃ tapodhana) is slightly suspect. The vocative tapodhana usually refers to Anarthayajña in these passages, and not to Vigatarāga, as here. The text may have read nātaḥ paratamo 'dhanah ('There is no bigger loss of wealth') or possibly something starting with nātaḥ paraṃ tapo ... ('There is no greater... of austerity').

ahiṃsā paramo dharmah ahiṃsā paramā gatih |
ahiṃsā paramaṃ brahma ahiṃsā paramaḥ śivah || 3:32 ||

Non-violence is the supreme Dharma. Non-violence is the supreme path. Non-violence is the supreme Brahman. Non-violence is supreme Śiva.

[māṃsāhārah —

On meat-consumption]

māṃsāśanān nivarteta manasāpi na kāṅkṣayet |
sa mahat phalam āpnoti yas tu māṃsaṃ vivarjayet || 3:33 ||

One should refrain from meat-consumption. One should not even desire it mentally. He who abandons meat will receive a great reward.

svamāṃsaṃ paramāṃsena yo vardhayitum icchati |
anabhycarya pitṛn devān na tato 'nyo 'sti pāpakṛt || 3:34 ||

He who wishes to nourish his own flesh with the flesh of other [beings], outside of worshipping the ancestors and the gods, is the biggest sinner of all.

madhuparke ca yajñe ca pitṛdaivatakarmaṇi |
atraiva paśavo hiṃsyā nānyatra manur abravīt || 3:35 ||

During the madhuparka offering and during a sacrifice, during rituals for the ancestors and the gods: only in these cases are animals to be slaughtered and not in any other case. [This is what] Manu taught.

krītvā svayaṃ vāpy utpādya paropahṛtam eva vā |
devān pitṛṃś cārcayitvā khādan māṃsaṃ na doṣabhāk || 3:36 ||

Should he buy it or procure it himself or should it be offered by others, if he eats meat, he will not sin if he first worships the gods and the ancestors.

vedayajñatapastīrthadānaśīlakriyāvrataih |
māṃsāhāranivṛttānāṃ ṣoḍaśāṃsaṃ na pūryate || 3:37 ||

[People who perform] Vedic sacrifices and austerities, and [visit] sacred places, donate, [those who are of] good conduct, [perform] rituals and [keep] religious vows, [but eat meat] will not [be able to] enjoy even

3.34 See UUMS chapter two for a similar section on meat-consumption.

3.35 This verse is a variant of Manu 5.41.

a tiny portion of [such rewards that] [those] people [receive] who have given up meat.

mṛgāḥ parnatṛṇāhārād ajameṣagavādibhiḥ |
sukhino balavantaś ca vicaranti mahītale || 3:38 ||

Deer and goats, sheep, cows and other [animals] wander in the world happily and in great strength [just] from eating leaves and grass.

vānarāḥ phala-m-āhārā rākṣasā rudhirapriyāḥ |
nihatā rākṣasāḥ sarve vānaraiḥ phalabhojibhiḥ || 3:39 ||

Monkeys eat fruits, Rākṣasas prefer blood. The fruit-eating monkeys defeated all the Rākṣasas.

tasmān māṃsaṃ na hiheta balakāmena bho dvija |
balena ca guṇākarsāt parato bhayabhīruṇā || 3:40 ||

Therefore one should not crave meat in the hope of gaining strength, O Brahmin, in order to be able to draw a bow with force, or out of fear of the danger coming from the enemy.

ahimsakasamo nāsti dānayaññasamīhayā |
iha loke yaśaḥ kīrtiḥ paratra ca parā gatiḥ || 3:41 ||

By wishing to make donations and perform sacrifices no one will become comparable to someone who refrains from violence. [He will have] fame and glory in this world and the supreme path in the other.

3.37 As for pāda d, see a similarly phrased comparison in Manu 2.86: ye pākayajñās catvāro vidhiyajñasamanvitāḥ | sarve te japayajñasya kalām nārhanṭi ṣoḍaśīm ||

3.39 Understand phalam āhārā as phalāhārā (-m- is a sandhi-bridge). This verse clearly refers to the story of the Rāmāyaṇa.

3.40 guṇākarsāt in pāda c is difficult to interpret and guṇākarsāt is a conjecture by Judit Törzsök which fits the context well, although the polysemy of guṇa may allow for other solutions. Verses 3.40–42 may be echoing BrahmaṇḍaP 216.64–66: māṃsān miṣṭataram nāsti bhakṣyabhojyādikeṣu ca | tasmān māṃsaṃ na bhuñjīta nāsti miṣṭaiḥ sukhodayaḥ || gosahasraṃ tu yo dadyād yas tu māṃsaṃ na bhakṣayet | samāu etau purā prāha brahmā vedavidāṃ varah || sarvatīrtheṣu yat punyaṃ sarvayajñeṣu yat phalam | amāṃsabhakṣaṇe viprās tac ca tac ca tatsamam ||

3.41 Pādas ab are reminiscent of ŚDhŚ 11.92: ahimsaikā paro dharmah śaktānām parikīrtitam | śaktānām ayaṃ dharmo dānayaññādipūrvakah ||. On this verse see also Bisschop, Kafle, & Lubin 2021, 15–16.

Note the variant °dharmā° in both C₀₂ and E in pāda b.

*trailokyam maṇiratnapūrṇam akhilaṁ dattvottame brāhmaṇe koṭīyajñasahasrapadmam ayutaṁ dattvā mahīm dakṣiṇām |
tīrthānām ca sahasrakoṭīniyutaṁ snātvā sakṛn mānavaḥ
etatpunyaphalam ahimsakajanaḥ prāpnoti niḥsaṁśayaḥ || 3:42 ||*

A person who refrains from violence will gain, no doubt about it, the [same] meritorious rewards that others would get by donating the three worlds filled with jewels and gems in their entirety to an excellent Brahmin, by [performing] a thousand [times] ten trillion (padma) [times] ten thousand (ayuta) koṭīyajña sacrifices, by donating the earth [to a priest] as sacrificial fee, and by bathing [at] a thousand times ten million times a million (niyuta) sacred places at once.

|| iti vṛṣasārasaṁgrāhe ahimsāpraśaṁsā nāmādhyāyas tṛtīyaḥ ||

Here ends the third chapter in the Vṛṣasārasaṁgrāha called the Praise of Non-violence.

3.42 Metre: śārdūlavikrīḍita. On padma meaning ‘ten trillion’, and on other words for numbers, see 1.32–35.

koṭīyajña in pāda d may refer to a special kind of sacrifice, mostly known as koṭīhoma in the Purāṇas and in inscriptions (see, e.g., Fleming 2010, and 2013). It involves a hundred fire-pits and a hundred times one thousand Brahmins (hence the name ‘the ten-million sacrifice’). See, e.g., BhavP uttaraparvan 4.142.54–58: śatānāno daśamukho dvimukhaikamukhas tathā | caturvidho mahārāja koṭīhomo vidhīyate || kāryasya gurutām jñātvā naiva kuryād aparvaṇi | yathā saṁkṣepataḥ kāryaḥ koṭīhomas tathā śṛṇu || kṛtvā kuṇḍaśataṁ divyaṁ yathoktaṁ hastasaṁmitam | ekaikasmimś tataḥ kuṇḍe śataṁ viprān niyojayet || sadyaḥ pakṣe tu viprānām sahasraṁ parikīrtitam | ekasthānapraṇīte ’gnau sarvataḥ paribhāvite || homaṁ kuryur dvijāḥ sarve kuṇḍe kuṇḍe yathoditam | yathā kuṇḍabahutve ’pi rājasūye mahākratau ||

Note that the second syllable of phalam in pāda d is treated as long: this happens often at word-boundaries in this text; and note how K₇ aims to restore the metre by inserting tv after its phalam.

[caturtho 'dhyāyaḥ]
[Chapter Four]

[yameṣu satyam (2) —
The second Yama-rule: Truthfulness]

anarthayajña uvāca |
sadbhāvaḥ satyam ity āhur dṛṣṭapratyayam eva vā |
yathābhūtārthakathanam tat satyakathanam smṛtam || 4:1 ||

Anarthayajña spoke: The state of being real (sad-bhāva) is called truth (sat-ya). Alternatively, it is also a certainty (pratyaya) that originates in perception (dṛṣṭa). Relating things in a way that corresponds to reality is called ‘speaking the truth.’

ākrośatādanādīni yaḥ saḥeta suduḥsaham |
kṣamate yo jitātmā tu sa ca satyam udāhṛtam || 4:2 ||

He who endures severe abuse and beating etc. but keeps quiet, his self being conquered, is said to be [an example of] truth[fulness].

vadhārtham udyataḥ śāstram yadi prccheta karhicit |
na tatra satyam vaktavyam anṛtam satyam ucyate || 4:3 ||

If one is being interrogated at any time with a sword lifted to strike him down, in this case the truth is not to be spoken, and a lie is can be called truth.

vadhārhaḥ puruṣaḥ kaścīd vrajet pathi bhayāturaḥ |
prcchato 'pi na vaktavyam satyam tad vāpi ucyate || 4:4 ||

A person who is walking on the road and is afraid of being killed CHECK should not reply [to people who are potentially dangerous] even if they ask him. This is also called truth[fulness].

4.1 Although the rather similar line in the ŚDhŚ (II.105cd: yathābhūtārthakathanam ity etat satyalakṣaṇam) makes it tempting to emend satyakathanam to satyalakṣaṇam in pāda d, I rather take this verse to introduce two views on truth: one philosophical, and one ordinary that relates to the moral question of truthfulness.

4.2 suduḥsaham (singular) in pāda b picks up °ādīni (plural) in pāda a. The -m in satyam may be a sandhi-bridge and the phrase may refer to a masculine subject thus: sa ca satya-m-udāhṛtaḥ.

4.3 Understand udyataḥ (nom.) in an active sense (‘holding/lifting’).

*na narṁayuktam anṛtam hinasti na strīṣu rājan na vivāhakāle | prāṇātyaye sarvadhanāpahāre
pañcānṛtam satyam udāharanti || 4:5 ||*

A lie does not hurt when it is connected with joking, with women, O king, at the time of marriage, at the departure from life and when one's entire wealth is about to be taken away. They call these five kinds of lies truths.

*devamānuṣatīryeṣu satyam dharmah paro yataḥ |
satyam śreṣṭham variṣṭham ca satyam dharmah sanātanaḥ || 4:6 ||*

Since truth is the supreme Dharma in [the world of] gods, humans and animals, truth is the best, the most preferable. Truth is the eternal Dharma.

*satyam sāgaram avyaktam satyam akṣayabhogadam |
satyam potaḥ paratrārtham satyam panthāna vistaram || 4:7 ||*

Truth is an unmanifest ocean. Truth yields imperishable pleasures. Truth is the ship that carries you to the other world. Truth is the wide path.

*satyam iṣṭagatiḥ proktam satyam yajñam anuttamam |
satyam tīrtham param tīrtham satyam dānam anantakam || 4:8 ||*

Truth is said to be the desired path. Truth is the supreme sacrifice. Truth is a pilgrimage place, a supreme pilgrimage place. Truth is an endless donation.

*satyam śīlam tapo jñānam satyam śaucaḥ damaḥ śamaḥ |
satyam sopānam ūrdhvasya satyam kīrtir yaśaḥ sukham || 4:9 ||*

4.5 This upajāti verse appears in countless sources, beginning with the MBh (see the apparatus). All versions contain a vocative addressing a king, which is out of context in the VSS, the addressee being Vigatārāga, i.e. Viṣṇu disguised as a Brahmin. The redactors did not notice or did not care about this small inconsistency. Note the metrical licence that allows the last syllable of °yuktam to count as long. The same reading with anṛtam can be found in the apparatus in the MBh critical edition.

4.7 Pāda d is slightly problematic because it is difficult to ascertain if some of the MSS actually read panthāna or pasthāna (or yasthāna). I suspect that panthāna is a stem form noun formed (metri causa) to stand for an irregular nominative of pathin.

4.8 The repetition of tīrtham in pāda c is sightly suspect. Cf., e.g., MatsP 22.79ab: satyam tīrtham dayā tīrtham tīrtham indriyanigrahaḥ.

Truth is morality, austerity, knowledge. Truth is purity, self-control and tranquillity. Truth is the ladder upwards. Truth is fame and glory and happiness.

aśvamedhasahasraṃ ca satyaṃ ca tulayā dhṛtam |
aśvamedhasahasrād dhi satyam eva viśiṣyate || 4:10 ||

[When] a thousand Aśvamedha sacrifices and truth are measured on a pair of scales, truth indeed surpasses a thousand Aśvamedha sacrifices.

satyena tapate sūryaḥ satyena prthivī sthitā |
satyena vāyavo vānti satye toyaṃ ca śītaḥ || 4:11 ||

The Sun shines because of truth. The Earth stays in place by truth. The winds blow because of truth. Water is cooling through truth.

tiṣṭhanti sāgarāḥ satye samayena priyavrataḥ |
satye tiṣṭhati govindo balibandhanakāraṇāt || 4:12 ||

The oceans exist by the truthful encounter with Priyavrata. Govinda abides in truth because He [as Vāmana] stopped [Mahā]Bali [in spite of the fact that this was achieved by a trick].

agnir dahati satyena satyena śaśinā caraḥ |
satyena vindhyāḥ tiṣṭhanti vardhamāno na vardhate || 4:13 ||

Fire burns with truth. The Moon rises by truth. It is because of truth that the Vindhya mountain stands in place and that although it was 4.9 Looking at the similar line in the VarP (193.36cd, see the apparatus), one wonders if the slightly odd ūrdhvasya in pāda c is not a corrupt form of svargasya.

4.11 Here and several times below, satye is probably to be taken as standing for satyena.

4.12 Pāda b, samayena priyavrataḥ, probably stand for samayena priyavratasya although it is unclear to me what exactly samaya refers to here.

For the story of Priyavrata, Manu's son, in which he wanted to turn nights into days by circling around Mount Meru in a chariot, and by this produced the seven oceans, see, e.g., BhāṣP 5.1.30–31: yāvad avabhāsayati suragirim anuparikrāman bhagavān ādityo vasudhātalam ardhenaiva pratapaty ardhenaivacchādayati, tadā hi [priyavrataḥ] bhagavadupāsanopacitātipuruṣaprabhāvas tad anabhinandan samajavena rathena jyotirmayena rajanīm api dinaṃ kariṣyāmīti saptakṛtvā taranīm anuparyakrāmad dvitīya iva pataṅgaḥ | ye vā u ha tadrathacaraṇanemikṛtaparikhātās te sapta sindhava āsan yata eva kṛtāḥ sapta bhuvo dvīpāḥ |.

Pādas cd: for a somewhat similar reference to the story of Mahābali, see, e.g., VarP 65.66: evam purā cakradhareṇa viṣṇunā baddho balir vāmanarūpadhāriṇā | śakrapriyārthaṃ surakāryasiddhaye hitāya vipraśabhaḥ godvijānām || growing it is not growing [anymore].

lokālokaḥ sthitaḥ satye meruḥ satye pratiṣṭhitaḥ |
vedās tiṣṭhanti satyeṣu dharmāḥ satye pratiṣṭhatai || 4:14 ||

The [mythical] Lokāloka mountains are located in truth. Mount Meru stands by truth. The Vedas abide in truth. Dharma is rooted in truth.

satyaṁ gauḥ kṣarate kṣīraṁ satyaṁ kṣīre ghr̥taṁ sthitam |
satye jīvaḥ sthito dehe satyaṁ jīvaḥ sanātanaḥ || 4:15 ||

The milk a cow yields is truth. Ghee in milk is present as truth. The soul dwells in the body in truth. The eternal soul is truth.

4.13 Since śaśi (instead of śaśin) is a possible stem in this text, śaśir ācaraḥ could be acceptable here in pāda b (see K₈₂K₁₀K₇), perhaps standing for śaśinaś caranam or śaśiś carati. My conjecture (śaśinā caraḥ) could stand for śaśinā/śaśinaś cāraḥ metri causa. Other possibilities, suggested by colleagues, include śaśibhāskarāḥ, śaśigocaraḥ and śiśirāmbhasaḥ.

Pādas cd refer to the story of Agastya and the Vindhya mountain: Vindhya became jealous of the Sun's revolving around Mount Meru and when the Sun refused him the same favour, he decided to grow higher and obstruct the Sun's movement. As a solution to this situation, Agastya asked Vindhya to bend down to make it easier for him to reach the south and to remain thus until he returned. Vindhya agreed to do what Agastya asked him but Agastya never returned. See MBh 3.102.1–14 (see in the word samaya in verse 13 and compare it to VSS 4.12b): yudhiṣṭhira uvāca | kimarthaṁ sahasā vindhyaḥ pravṛddhaḥ krodhamūrchitaḥ | etad icchāmy ahaṁ śrotuṁ vistareṇa mahāmune || lomaśa uvāca | adrirājam mahāśailaṁ meruṁ kanakaparvatam | udayāstamaye bhānuḥ pradakṣiṇam avartata || taṁ tu dṛṣṭvā tathā vindhyaḥ śailaḥ sūryam athābravīt | yathā hi merur bhavatā nityaśaḥ parigamyate || pradakṣiṇam ca kriyate mām evaṁ kuru bhāskara | evam uktas tataḥ sūryaḥ śailendraṁ pratyabhāṣata || nāham ātmecchayā śaila karomy enaṁ pradakṣiṇam | eṣa mārگاḥ pradīṣṭo me yenedaṁ nirmitaṁ jagat || evam uktas tataḥ krodhāt pravṛddhaḥ sahasācalaḥ | sūryācandramasor mārگاṁ roddhum icchan paramtapa || tato devāḥ sahitāḥ sarva eva; sendrāḥ samāgamyā mahādrirājam | nivārayām āsur upāyatas taṁ; na ca sma teṣāṁ vacanaṁ cakāra || athābhijagmur munim āśramasthaṁ; tapasvinaṁ dharmabhṛtāṁ variṣṭhaṁ | agastyam atyadbhutavīryadiptaṁ; taṁ cārthaṁ ūcuḥ sahitāḥ surās te || devā ūcuḥ | sūryācandramasor mārگاṁ nakṣatrāṇāṁ gatiṁ tathā | śailarājo vṛnoty eṣa vindhyaḥ krodhavaśānugaḥ || taṁ nivārayituṁ śakto nānyaḥ kaś cid dvijottama | ṛte tvām hi mahābhāga tasmād enaṁ nivāraya || lomaśa uvāca | tac chrutvā vacanaṁ vipraḥ surāṇāṁ śailam abhyagāt | so 'bhigamyābravīt vindhyaṁ sadāraḥ samupasthitaḥ || mārگاṁ icchāmy ahaṁ dattaṁ bhavatā parvatottama | dakṣiṇāṁ abhigantāsmi diśaṁ kāryeṇa kena cit || yāvadāgamanam mahyaṁ tāvat tvam pratipālaya | nivṛtte mayi śailendra tato vardhasva kāmataḥ || evaṁ sa samayaṁ kṛtvā vindhyenāmitrakarśana | adyāpi dakṣiṇād deśād vāruṇir na nivartate || etat te sarvam ākhyātāṁ yathā vindhyo na vardhate | agastyasya prabhāvena yaṁ mām tvam paripṛcchasi ||

4.15 satye in pāda c may stand for satyaṁ: 'The soul dwells in the body as truth.'

The third Yama-rule: Refraining from stealing]

vigatarāga uvāca |
na hi tṛptiṃ vijānāmi śrutvā dharmam tavāpy aham |
upariṣṭād ato bhūyaḥ kathayasva tapodhana || 4:18 ||

Vigatarāga spoke: I can't have enough of learning about [this teaching of] your[s on] Dharma. Teach me further than this, O great ascetic.

prasthavyājāḥ tulāvyājāḥ prasahyasteya pañcamam || 4:19 ||

Anarthayajña spoke: Now listen to [my teaching about] stealing, O great Brahmin, which is taught to be of five kinds. Firstly, [listen to] theft, then bribery, cheating with weights, cheating with scales, and the fifth kind, robbery.

dhṛṣṭaduṣṭaprabhāvena paradraavyāpakarṣaṇam |
vāryamāṇāpi durbuddhir adattādānam ucyate || 4:20 ||

When somebody's wealth is taken away by an impudent and wicked person is called theft. It is a foolish thought even if suppressed.

4.16 Or: 'If truth alone (ekena) is obtained, Dharma is surely accomplished.'

4.18 It is not inconceivable that tava is meant to carry the sense of the ablative, as Kenji Takahashi has suggested to me: 'I can't have enough of learning about Dharma from you.'

4.19 'Theft' (adattādāna): literally 'taking what has not been given.'

4.20 My impression is that prabhāva in pāda a stands for bhāva, duṣṭabhāva ('vicious') being a common expression. The implications of vāryamāṇo in pāda c are unclear to me, hence my emendation to vāryamāṇā. My translation is thus tentative and still not satisfactory.

O great Brahmin, listen to bribery, which defiles Dharma. A sum of money taken in order to exempt somebody from a duty is a bribe. Therefore this [also] should be considered as such [i.e. as stealing because] it is committed out of greed for material goods.

prasthavyāja-upāyena kuṭumbaṃ trātum icchati |
taṃ ca stenaṃ vijānīyāt paradravyāpahāṛakam || 4:22 ||

[The case is similar] if somebody takes away somebody else's belongings by the method of cheating with scales. Other people, deceitful swindlers (kūṭa-kāpaṭika) share the characteristics of thieves.

durbalārjavabāleṣu cchadmanā vā balena vā |
apahr̥tya dhanam mūḍhaḥ sa cauraś cora ucyate || 4:24 ||

If someone, by deceit or by force, snatches away the wealth of weak and honest people and simpletons, that morally corrupt usurper is [simply] a thief.

nāsti steyasamam pāpam nāsty adharmaś ca tatsamaḥ |
nāsti stenasamākīrtir nāsti stenasamo 'nayaḥ || 4:25 ||

4.21 Note that mūlyam in pāda c is a conjecture for mūla. It is partly based on a relevant passage in the Mitākṣarā (ad Yājñavalkyasmṛti 2.176cd): paṇyasya kṛitadravyasya yaṃ mūlyam dattam, bhṛtir vetanam kṛtakarmaṇe dattam... utkocena kāryapratibandhanirāsārtham adhikṛtebhyo dattam... Note asau in pāda e as an accusative form (for amum or adaḥ). It is not unlikely that tena is a corruption from stena, and the pāda may have originally read stenaṃ taṃ ca vijānīyād ('he should be known as a thief'), or similar (cf. 4.22c below). M (f. 7r) reads tena steya vijānīyād here.

4.23 A line may have dropped out after pāda b, perhaps because a line similar to 4.22cd caused an eyeskip. Alternatively, this line may simply be elliptical.

4.24 It is possible that pāda d read differently, e.g. sa coraś cora ucyate, meaning 'that thief is [rightly] called a thief'.

There is no sin equal to stealing. There is no crime (adharmā) equal to it. There is no ill-fame comparable to that of being a thief. There is no bad-conduct comparable to being a thief.

nāsti steyasamāvidyā nāsti stenasamaḥ khalah |
nāsti stenasama ajño nāsti stenasamo 'lasah || 4:26 ||

There is no greater ignorance than stealing. There are no bigger rouses than thieves. There is nobody as ignorant as a thief. There is not a lazy person who is comparable to a thief.

nāsti stenasamo dveṣyo nāsti stenasamo 'priyah |
nāsti steyasamaṃ duḥkham nāsti steyasamo 'yaśah || 4:27 ||

There is nobody as detestable as a thief. There is nobody disliked as much as a thief. There is no greater suffering than stealing. There is no greater disgrace than theft.

Some [thieves] take away [other people's] wealth in disguise, some in broad daylight. Other wicked people take money from deposits, and some people steal through fraud. Some gather wealth by forging documents, others steal from stolen money[?]. Some people's wealth is from purchased [children?] (kṛita). Others take away others' inheritance[?]. These are considered the vilest.

4.26 Note the peculiar sandhi in pāda c (°sama ajño), which still leaves the pāda unmetrical.

4.27 Note how stena and steya are used interchangeably (or chaotically) in the above passages in the MSS to denote both 'thief' and 'theft/stealing'. The scribe of K₇ ends up writing stenya in 4.27e.

4.28 Metre śārdūlavikṛīḍita. It appears that hriyate in pāda a is to be taken as an active verb (harate). Note also how C₄₅ and K₇ read the same here against the other witnesses. Take °hariṇo in pāda b as singular and m in 'nya-m-adhamo as a sandhi-bridge. Alternatively, read as plural: °hariṇo 'nya adhamo... The second half of pāda c is difficult to reconstruct. The translation of pāda d is mostly guesswork. Tentatively, I take kṛita as kṛitaka ('a purchased son', see Manu 9.174). dhayahrta makes little sense to me. Florinda De Simini suggested that dhaya might stand for daya, which in turn may stand for dāya ('inheritance') metri causa. Lacking any better solution, I supplied these in my translation, marked with question marks. Note also the metrical licence that the last syllable of dhayahrta counts as long.

There isn't a bigger idiot than a thief, who is a wicked person without Dharma and Artha. As long as he lives, he trembles in fear of the king, wailing. Having received his punishment, he gets into severe and [in]tolerable difficulties, propelled by [his] karma. When his time comes, he dies and goes to hell, weeping vehemently.

*nītvā durgatikoṭikalpa nirayāt tiryatvam āyānti te

Having spent ten million æons of suffering, they emerge from hell to the state of animal existence. Thus, they roam about in animal existence for a hundred and one times ten million years. Then they reach the status of human existence on earth which is full of poverty and disease. Then abandoning all one's karmas, the causes of suffering, one seeks refuge in Śiva.

4.29 For some time I was wondering if one should accept E's reading stenastulya na mūdham asti as a metri causa version of stenatulyo na mūdho 'sti; see a similar case of a nominative ending inside of compound in pāda c below. One major concern remained: the accepted reading would be of an edition that rarely emerges as the sole transmitter of the best reading. Another possible solution could be to emend to stenaṁtulya..., meaning 'There is no bigger foolishness than theft', but then the second part of pāda a is difficult to connect. In the end, I decided to go for the most widely attested reading (stenatulya), which is unmetrical.

Understand prāptaḥśāsana tīvrasahyaviṣamaṁ in pāda c as prāptaśāsanas tīvrām asahyam ca viṣamaṁ prāpnoti. Alternatively, understand tīvrasahya° as duḥsahya° (suggested by Törzsök).

The actual reading of C₉₄, prāptaś (lost in the process of normalization and standing in contrast with that of all other MSS that read prāptaḥ) may suggest a doubling of the ś of śāsana metri causa (suggestion by Törzsök). More likely is that a licence of having a nominative ending inside of a compound is applied here, as may have been the case above in pāda a (also remarked by Törzsök).

4.30 Note the stem form °kalpa for °kalpaṁ metri causa. In pāda c, tathaivam, or tathaikam, and ekaśatikam are suspect. I understand vipule as vipulāyām, vipulā appearing in Amarakośa 2.1.7 as a synonym of dhātri, 'earth.' It is difficult to interpret it otherwise. This is still problematic because both human and animal existence takes place on earth, thus, if

The fourth Yama-rule: Absence of hostility]

aṣṭamūrtiśivadveṣṭā pitur mātus ca yo dviṣet |

gavāṃ vā atither dveṣṭā nṛsaṃsāḥ pañca eva te || 4:31 ||

The one who is hostile towards the eight-formed Śiva, he who hurts his mother or father, he who is hostile towards cows or guests: these are the five types of cruel people.

aṣṭamūrtiḥ śivaḥ sāksāt pañcavyomasamanvitaḥ |

sūryaḥ somaś ca dīkṣaś ca dūṣakaḥ sa nṛsaṃsakaḥ || 4:32 ||

Śiva in his manifest form (sāksāt) is of eight forms, with the five elements (vyoman), the Sun, the Moon, and the sacrificer. [He who] disgraces [any of these] is a hostile person.

tiryatva (i.e. tiryaktva) indeed means ‘animal existence,’ there is no contrast between pādas b and c as regards location. As for tiryaktva, see, e.g., Manu 12.40: devatvaṃ sātṭvikā yānti manuṣyatvaṃ ca rājasāḥ | tiryaktvaṃ tāmasā nityam ity eṣā trividhā gatiḥ ||. It is not unlikely that the original form of dāridryarogākulam was dāridryarogākule, picking up vipule. Note the switch from plural to singular in pāda d.

4.32 Törzsök has suggested emending sa nṛsaṃsakaḥ in pāda d to tannṛṃśakaḥ. I don’t think that it is inevitably necessary. I think that pādas a–c form a list that is meant to be in the genitive, understanding ... ity eteṣāṃ dūṣakaḥ sa nṛsaṃsakaḥ or similar. This is clumsy but in a way that is more than possible within the style of this text.

I have not been able find any other attestation of vyoman meaning the five elements. Perhaps it is meant to mean vyomādi (‘the atmosphere/sky and the other four elements’).

For Śiva of eight forms, see, e.g., Śakuntalā 1.1: yā sṛṣṭiḥ sraṣṭur ādyā [1] vahati vidhihutaṃ yā havir [2] yā ca hotri [3] ye dve kālaṃ vidhattaḥ [4, 5] śruti-viṣaya-guṇā yā [6] sthitā vyāpya viśvam | yām āhuḥ sarva-bīja-prakṛtir [7] iti yayā prāṇināḥ prāṇavantaḥ [8] pratyakṣābhīḥ prapannas tanubhir avatu vas tābhīr aṣṭābhīr īśaḥ ||. The eight mūrtis, or rather, tanus, here are: [1] jala [2] agni [3] yajamāna [4,5] sūrya + candra [6] ākāśa [7] bhūmi [8] vāyu.

For a similar interpretation of aṣṭamūrti, see, e.g., Īśānaśivagurudevapaddhati 2.29.34 (mantrapāda; note yajamāna for our dīkṣa): kṣmā-vahni-yajamānārka-jala-vāyū-indu-puṣkaraḥ | aṣṭābhīr mūrtibhiḥ śambhor dvitīyāvaraṇaṃ smṛtam ||. (For puṣkara as ‘sky, atmosphere’, see, e.g., Amarakośa 1.2.167: dyodivau dve strīyām abhram vyoma puṣkaram ambaram.)

A closely related Aṣṭamūrti-hymn appears in Niśvāsa mukha 1.30–41 (I owe thanks to Nirajan Kafle for drawing my attention to this); see Kafle 2020, 62, 63, 116, 119. Kafle notes that this hymn is closely parallel to some passages in the Prayogamañjarī (1.19–26), the Tantrasamuccaya (1.16–23), and the Īśānaśivagurudevapaddhati (kriyāpāda 26.56–63). See also TAK I s.v. aṣṭamūrti.

People who drink the five products of the cow, the five nectars, purified by the five Pavitras, will obtain the fruits of a horse sacrifice, and then reach the undecaying heavens.

4.33 It is difficult to restore pādas cd, although the general meaning of this line is predictable. Some questions remain. Is āditya a good reading or is mātṛ hidden in daivata-mādiśca? Is ānṛśaṃsa right or was it nṛśaṃsa that was meant by the author of this line? Does tamanvitaḥ (or tamānvitaḥ) has anything to do with tamas ('darkness')?

4.36 The use of karsaṇa in pāda d, most probably in the sense of 'collecting,' is slightly odd.

4.37 The five Pavitras are most probably the five brahmamantras, see, e.g., TAK III s.v. pavitra 1.

one who does not harm a guest, one who does not commit a fault towards a guest, one who keeps the guest happy, one who attends to the needs of a guest, one who makes a guest satisfied: his merits are endless.

4.38 Note that duhyanti and vāhyanti are supposed to be understood as passive, as in the similar verse in ŚDhU 12.92 (see apparatus).

4.39 Strictly speaking, pāda c is unmetrical. The second syllable of tapa counts as long (see Intro CHECK). Although the accusative with °kartā in pāda d is still not optimal, my emendation of tam to tām at least restores the metre and improves upon the meaning of the sentence. Alternatively, as suggested by Törzsök, taṃ could be understood as tad, picking up puṇyam in pāda c, but in this way any reference to cows here is only implied.

4.40 Note the peculiar active verb forms anugaccheta and anupūjyeta. On this formation, see a remark about Niśvāsa mūla 2.8 in Goodall, Sanderson, & Isaacson 2015, 247: 'We have assumed that pūjyeta is intended to mean pūjayet and is perhaps a contraction of pūjayeta.'

4.41 On the form pīḍyeta, see previous note.

4.42 My conjecture in pāda a (°pātreṇa for °pādyena) was inspired by the fact that pāda b seems to awkwardly repeat what °pādyena in pāda a signifies. Other possibilities could include taking into account bathing (snāna) or an unguent (abhyāṅga).

4.43 For the requirement that one could part with his wife or son, or his own life, for the benefit of someone else, see VSS 2.38 and the narrative in VSS chapter 12 which tells about a Brahmin giving away his own wife to a guest; these influenced my decision to emend °ātmano to °ātmanā in pāda a. Note that in fact VSS 4.44cd below echoes verse 37cd in the above mentioned chapter 12, which reads: dvijarūpadharo dharmāḥ svayam eva ihāgataḥ.

4.46 The demonstrative pronoun tasya in pāda c may refer to the guest: ‘he will obtain all his [i.e. the guest’s] merits,’ hinting at some sort of karmic exchange. Nevertheless, I think rather that tasya points to the merits one can obtain by the rituals listed in the previous verse. This is suggested by passages such as the following: MBh Supp. 13.14.379 ff.: ahany ahani yo dadyāt kapilāṃ dvādaśiḥ samāhi | māsi māsi ca satreṇa yo yajeta sadā naraḥ || gavāṃ śatasahasraṃ ca yo dadyāj jyeṣṭhapuṣkare | na taddharmaphalaṃ tulyam atithir yasya tuṣyati ||. BrahmaVP 3.44–46: atithiḥ pūjito yena pūjitāḥ sarvadevatāḥ | atithir yasya saṃtuṣṭas tasya tuṣṭo hariḥ svayam || snānena sarvatīrtheṣu sarvadānena yat phalam | sarvavratopavāsena sarvayajñeṣu dikṣayā || sarvais tapobhir vividhair nityair naimittikādibhiḥ | tad evātithisevāyāḥ kalāṃ nārhanṭi ṣoḍaśim ||.

4.47 Something has gone wrong with pādas ab and I am unable to reconstruct the meaning. The line may have begun with something like nāgatātithyavajña° (‘he who despise a guest that has arrived will not...’).

4.48 This verse is a reference to the story related by a mongoose in MBh 14.92–93: A Brahmin who practises the vow of gleaning (uñcha) and his family receive a guest. They feed the guest with the last morsels of the little food they have. In the end, the guest reveals that he is in fact Dharma (14.93.80cd) and as a reward the family departs to heaven. The noble act of the poor Brahmin and his family is depicted as yielding greater rewards than Yudhiṣṭhira’s grandiose horse-sacrifice. (See an analysis of this story in Takahashi 2021.)

We would be forced to accept the reading of E in pāda d (saśarīro) if the expression were in the masculine (divaṃ gataḥ). This would make sense and it would also echo expressions occurring, e.g., in the MBh: 3.164.33cd: paśya puṇyakṛtāṃ lokān saśarīro divaṃ vraja; 14.5.10cd: saṃjīvyā kālāṃ iṣṭam ca saśarīro divaṃ gataḥ. It is tempting to emend accordingly, but instead I have retained svaśarīraṃ divaṃ gatam, and I interpret it in a general way.

[yameṣu damaḥ (5) —

The fifth Yama-rule: Self-restraint]

dama eva manuṣyāṇāṃ dharmasārasamuccayaḥ |
damo dharmo damaḥ svargo damaḥ kīrtir damaḥ sukham || 4:50 ||

Self-restraint is in itself the collected essence of Dharma for humans.
Self-restraint is Dharma, self-restraint is heaven, self-restraint is fame, self-restraint is happiness.

damo yajño damas tīrthaṃ damaḥ puṇyaṃ damas tapaḥ |
damahīna-m-adharmaś ca damaḥ kāmakulapradāḥ || 4:51 ||

Self-restraint is sacrifice, self-restraint is a pilgrimage-place, self-restraint is merit, self-restraint is religious austerity. If one has no self-restraint, one is a sinner (adharma), [while] self-restraint yields a multitude of desired objects.

nirdamaḥ kari mīnaś ca pataṅgabhramaramrgāḥ |
tvag jihvā ca tathā ghrāṇā cakṣuḥ śravaṇam indriyāḥ || 4:52 ||

The elephant, the fish, the moth, the bee and the deer are without self-restraint. The senses are the skin, the tongue, the nose, the eye and the ear.

durjayendriyam ekaikaṃ sarve prāṇaharāḥ smṛtāḥ |
damam yo jayate 'samyag nirdamo nidhanaṃ vrajet || 4:53 ||

Each of these sense faculties are hard to conquer and all are known to be fatal [if unconquered]. If one masters self-restraint in a less than proper way, one remains unrestrained and will die .

mṛge śrotravaśān mṛtyuḥ pataṅgāś cakṣuḥ mṛtāḥ |
ghrāṇayā bhramaro naṣṭo naṣṭo mīnaś ca jihvayā || 4:54 ||

4.51 I suspect that the final m in dhamahīnam in pāda c is a hiatus filler: dhamahīna-m-adharmaś ca. kāmakulapradāḥ in pāda d is suspect, and my translation is unsatisfactory. This compound could be interpreted as ‘fullfilling desires and giving a family’ or it may have originally read sarvakāmapradāḥ (‘fullfilling all desires’) or kulakāmapradāḥ (‘fullfilling the desires of the family’). ŚDhŚ 4.28b reads sarvakāmasukhapradam, which opens up further possibilities.

4.52 Note kari for kari metri causa, and the end of pāda b (°mrgāḥ), which should be treated metrically as if it read °mrigāḥ.

4.53 The only way to make sense of pādas cd is to supply and avagraha before samyag. Otherwise some text may have dropped out here.

In the case of the deer, death comes about because of hearing [when, e.g., hunters use buck grunts]. Moths die because of their eyes [as they are attracted to the light of a lamp]. Bees perish because of their smelling [as they are attracted to smells], fish because of their tongues [when fishermen feed them].

sparsēna ca karī naṣṭo bandhanāvāsaduḥsahāḥ |
kiṃ punaḥ pañcabhuktānāṃ mṛtyus tebhyaḥ kim adbhutam || 4:55 ||

The elephant perishes because of touch, not tolerating to be kept in fetters. How much more true it is for those who enjoy all five [senses]! Why should death come as a surprise for them?

purūravo 'tilobhena atikāmena daṇḍakah |
sāgarāś cātidarpeṇa atimānena rāvaṇaḥ || 4:56 ||

Purūravas [perished] by excessive greed, Daṇḍaka by excessive desire, Sagara's sons by excessive pride, Rāvaṇa by excessive haughtiness,

4.54 My comments in square brackets in the translation are tentative.

4.55 Mātāṅgalīlā 11.1 may shed some light on elephants dying in captivity: vānyas tatra sukhōṣitā vidhivaśād grāmāvatīrṇā gajā baddhās tikṣṇakāṭūgravāgbhir atisugbhīmohab-andhādibhiḥ | udvignās ca manahśarīrajanitair duḥkhair atīvākṣamāḥ prāṇān dhārayitum ciraṃ naravaśaṃ prāptāḥ svayūthād atha || In Edgerton's translation (1931, 92): 'Forest elephants who dwell there happily and by the power of fate have been brought to town in bonds, afflicted by harsh, bitter, cruel words, by excessive grief, fear, bewilderment, bondage, etc., and by sufferings of mind and body, are quite unable for long to sustain life, when from their own herds they have come into the control of men.'

4.56 We may treat purūravo in pāda a as a stem form noun or thematised stem, or imagine that the original reading was purūravā° with double sandhi: purūravās ati° → purūravā ati° → purūravāti°.

Pāda a may refer to the following passage in the MBh (1.70.16–18, 20ab): purūravās tato vidvān ilāyāṃ samapadyata | sā vai tasyābhavan mātā pitā ceti hi naḥ śrutam || trayodaśa samudrasya dvīpān aśnan purūravāḥ | amānuṣair vṛtaḥ sattvair mānuṣaḥ san mahāyaśāḥ || vipraiḥ sa vighrahaṃ cakre vīryonmattaḥ purūravāḥ | jahāra ca sa viprāṇāṃ ratnāny utkrōśatām api || [...] tato maharṣibhiḥ kruddhaiḥ śaptaḥ sadyo vyanaśyata | "The wise Purūravas was born to Ilā. We heard that Ilā was both his mother and his father. The great Purūravas ruled over thirteen islands of the ocean and, though human, he was always surrounded by superhuman beings. Intoxicated with his power, Purūravas quarrelled with some Brahmins and robbed them of their wealth even though they were protesting. [...] Therefore, cursed by the great Ṛṣis, he perished." See also BuddhCar 11.15 (Aiḍa = Purūravas): aiḍas ca rājā tridivam vigāhya nītvāpi devīm vaśam urvaśīm tām | lobhād ṛṣibhyaḥ kanakam jibhīṣur jagāma nāśaṃ viśayeṣv atrīptaḥ ||

For Daṇḍa(ka)'s story, see Rāmāyaṇa 7.71.31 ff.: Daṇḍa meets Arajā, a beautiful girl, atikrodhena saudāsa atipānena yādavāḥ |

atitṛṣṇāc ca māndhātā nahuṣo dvijavajñayā || 4:57 ||

Saudāsa by excessive anger, the Yādavas by excessive drinking, Māndhātṛ by excessive desire, Nahuṣa by contempt for Brahmins, atidānād balir naṣṭa atisauryeṇa arjunah |

atidyūtān nalo rājā nṛgo goharaṇena tu || 4:58 ||

[Mahā]bali perished by excessive donations, Arjuna by excessive heroism, King Nala by excessive gambling, Nṛga by taking a cow.

in a forest and rapes her. As a consequence, her father, Śukra/Bhārgava, destroys Daṇḍa's kingdom, which thus becomes the desolate Daṇḍaka-forest.

For two versions of the destruction of Sagara's sons, who were chasing the sacrificial horse of their father's Aśvamedha sacrifice, and by doing so disturbed Kapila's meditation, and who in turn burnt them to ashes, see MBh 3.105.9 ff. and BrahmāṇḍaP 2.52–53.

As for Rāvaṇa's haughtiness, especially the fact that he chose to be invincible by all creatures except humans, and its consequences, one should recall the story of the Rāmāyaṇa and Rāvaṇa's destruction brought about by Rāma therein.

4.57 Saudāsa, also known as Kalmāṣapāda, hit Śakti, Vasiṣṭha's son, with a whip because the latter did not give way to him, and as a consequence Śakti cursed Saudāsa: Saudāsa had to roam the world as a Rākṣasa for twelve years. See MBh 1.166.1 ff.

As for the end of the Yādavas, see the short Mausalaparvan of the MBh (canto 16): cursed by the sages Viśvāmitra, Kaṇva and Nārada, and seeing menacing omens, the Yādavas take to drinking in Prabhāsa and destroy each other. The form māndhātō in C₄₅ stands for māndhātā (nominative of māndhātṛ). I have corrected it in spite of the fact that the authors' knowledge about his story may come from Divyāv 17, where it sometimes appears to be an a-stem noun (māndāta). dvijavajñayā in pāda d stands for dvijāvajñayā metri causa.

Māndhātṛ was born from his father's body who, being excessively thirsty once, had drank some decoction prepared for ritual purposes and as a result become pregnant with him. Nevertheless, BuddhCar 11.13 suggests that Māndhātṛ himself was still unsatisfied with worldly objects even after he had obtained half of Indra's throne: devena vṛṣṭe 'pi hiraṇyavarṣe dvīpān samagrāṃś caturō 'pi jītvā | śakrasya cārdhāsanam apy avāpya māndhātur āsīd viṣayeṣv atrptih ||. In fact, as Monika Zin points out (Zin 2021, 149), Māndhātṛ/Māndhātā's rise and fall is a very popular theme in the 'Narrative Art of the Amaravati School': 'Statistics show that in the Amaravati School the most frequently represented narrative is the story of King Māndhātā, which appears 47 times.'

Nahuṣa was elevated to the position of Indra for a period of time and he also wanted to take Śacī, Indra's wife. Indra instructed Śacī to tell Nahuṣa to harness some Ṛsis to a vehicle and use this vehicle to take Śacī. Agastya, one of the Ṛsis, was insulted even further by Nahuṣa, therefore he cursed Nahuṣa, who then fell from the vehicle. See MBh 12.329.35 ff. and a verse in the BuddhCar (11.14) that follows the one about Māndhātṛ: bhuktvāpi rājyaṃ divi devatānām śatakratau vṛtrabhayāt pranaṣṭe | darpān maharṣīn api vāhayitvā kāmeṣv atrpto nahuṣaḥ papāta ||.

4.58 Pāda a is most probably a reference to Mahābali's promises made to Vāmana that damena hīnaḥ puruṣo dvijendra

svargaṃ ca mokṣaṃ ca sukhaṃ ca nāsti |

vijñānadharmakulakīrtināśa

bhavanti vipra damayā vihīnāḥ || 4:59 ||

[For] a person who is without self-restraint, O great Brahmin, there is no heaven, liberation or happiness. O Brahmin, people without self-restraint are the destruction of knowledge, Dharma, family and fame.

[yameṣu ghrṇā (6) —

The sixth Yama-rule: Taboos]

nirghṛṇo na paratrāsti nirghṛṇo na ihāsti vai |

nirghṛṇe na ca dharmo 'sti nirghṛṇe na tapo 'sti vai || 4:60 ||

A person without taboos does not exist either in this or the other world. In a person without taboos there is no Dharma or religious austerity.

parastrīṣu parārtheṣu paraḥjīvāpakarṣaṇe |

paranindāparānneṣu ghrṇām pañcasu kārayet || 4:61 ||

caused his own fall. The ultimate cause of Arjuna's death while the Pāṇḍavas were on the way to the underworld was summarised by Yudhiṣṭhira thus (MBh 17.2.21ab): ekāhnā nirdaheyaṃ vai śatrūn ity arjuno 'bravīt | na ca tat kṛtavān eṣa śūramānī tato 'patat || ('Arjuna claimed that he could destroy the enemy in one single day. He failed to do so. He was a boaster, that is why he fell.')

King Nala was an expert in the game of dice but once he lost his kingdom to Puṣkara. See, e.g., MBh 3.56.1 ff.

As for Nṛga, see MBh 14.93.74: gopradānasahasrāṇi dvijebhyo 'dān nṛgo nṛpaḥ | ekāṃ dattvā sa pāraḥkṛtāṃ narakāṃ samavāptavān || ('King Nṛga had made gifts of thousands of cows for the twice-born. By giving away one single cow that belonged to someone else, he fell into hell.')

4.59 Note how flexible the gender of most nouns is in pāda b: svarga, mokṣa and dama are usually masculine in standard Sanskrit. The majority of the witnesses suggest that pāda c ends in a stem form noun (°nāśa), although a singular masculine nominative (as in E) may work. This pāda is unmetrical, or rather it applies the licence of a word-final short syllable being counted as potentially long (°dharma). Note how viprā in pāda d is probably an attempt in some MSS to restore the metre. This pāda is also unmetrical, or rather the licence of a word-final short syllable being counted as potentially long is again applied (viPRA).

4.60 The implications of pādas ab are not crystal clear to me. Perhaps: such a person has no right for existence in society and has no place in heaven.

parastrī śṛṇu viprendra ghrṇīkāryā sadā budhaiḥ |
rājñī viprī parivrājā svayoniparayoniṣu || 4:62 ||

Listen, O great Brahmin, the wise should always treat women who are not dependent on oneself as taboo, [be she] a queen, a Brahmin's wife, a wandering religious mendicant, a relative or of another caste.

jīvāpakarṣaṇe vipra ghrṇīkurvīta paṇḍitaiḥ |
vanajāvanajā jīvā vilagāś caraṇācarāḥ || 4:64 ||

O Brahmin, the wise should regard the taking away [of others'] lives as taboo. Wild and domesticated animals, serpents, [in general,] plants and animals [are examples of life forms not to destroy].

paranindā ca kā vipra śṛṇu vaksye samāsataḥ |

As regards other people's food, eating together with people whose food is not to be accepted (abhojyeṣu) is taboo, [e.g.] after birth or death [in 4.62 The translation of parayoni in pāda d is tentative.

4.63 Although 'nya in pāda a could be interpreted several ways (e.g. anye for anyasmin, or taken to be the first element of a compound: anya-anyāyārtha-), I think that bhūyo 'nyat is a fixed expression meaning 'something/anything more.' See, e.g., BhG 7.2cd: yaj jñātvā neha bhūyo 'nyaj jñātvayam avaśiṣyate.

4.64 In pāda d, I take caraṇācarāḥ as standing for carācarāḥ (cara-acarāḥ) metri causa. Alternatively, one may understand it as caraṇacarāḥ (metri causa), meaning 'those who move on their feet,' perhaps as opposed to snakes (bilaga or bilamga). Neither solution is fully satisfactory. Note that this pāda also involves a small correction.

4.65 Note mātā as a stem form in pāda d.

Those people who stick to the five kinds of taboo [and thus] seek heaven, wealth and liberation, will reach eternal faultlessness in this world, embellished with fame and glory. [A person like that] will obtain wisdom, intelligence, [knowledge of] the Śruti and Smṛti traditions, and honour forever. Kindness will arise and he will obtain an extra long life, no doubt.

The seventh Yama-rule: The five methods of virtue?]

*caturmaunam catuṣśatruś caturāyatanam tathā |
caturdhyānam catuṣpādam pañcadhanyavidhocyate || 4:68 ||*

The four cases of observing silence, [victory over] the four enemies, the

4.66 One should probably understand śauṇḍe in pāda c as śauṇḍike, ‘a distiller,’ or, alternatively, it may be corrupted from śaṇḍhe, ‘a eunuch’; see both in Vāsiṣṭhadharmaśāstra 14.1–3: athāto bhojyābhojyaṃ ca varṇayiṣyāmaḥ | cikitsaka-mrgayupumścali-ḍaṇḍika-stenābhiśastar-śaṇḍha-patitānām annam abhojyam | kadarya-dikṣita-baddhātura-somavikrayi-takṣa-rajaka-śauṇḍika-sūcaka-vārdhuṣika-carmāvakraṇtānām || etc. Translated in Olivelle 1999, 285 as: ‘Next we will describe food that is fit and food that is unfit to be eaten [...] The following are unfit to be eaten: food given by a physician, a hunter, a harlot, a law enforcement agent, a thief, a heinous sinner [...] a eunuch, or an outcaste; as also that given by a miser, a man consecrated for a sacrifice, a prisoner, a sick person, a man who sells Soma, a carpenter, a washerman, a liquor dealer, a spy, an usurer, a leather worker...’ In support of reading śaṇḍhe, one might consult Manu 3.239: cāṇḍālaś ca varāhaś ca kukkuṭaḥ śvā tathaiva ca | rajasvalā ca śaṇḍhaś ca nekṣerann aśnato dvijān ||. Translated in Olivelle 1999, 120 as: ‘A Cāṇḍāla, a pig, a cock, a dog, a menstruating woman, or a eunuch must not look at the Brahmins while they are eating.’

4.67 Understand kīrtir-yaśo° as kīrtiyaśo° (‘r’ being an intrusive consonant here metri causa), as in 5.20 below. Alternatively, as suggested by Francesco Sferra, emend to kīrtim yaśo'lamkṛtām. My emendation of °kṛtam to °kṛtāḥ is influenced by 5.20b. In pāda c, note the muta cum liquida licence that allows °bodhaśrutim° to scan as - - -, the consonant cluster śr not turning the previous syllable long. Pāda d has several problems. I take sabhavet as standing for sambhavet metri causa, and I had to emend samāyusa to sa āyusa to make sense of it. Understand āyusa as āyuh (metri causa), otherwise emend to sa mānuṣya. Also consider correcting niḥsaṃśayaḥ to niḥsaṃśayam.

four sanctuariess, the four meditations, and the four legged [Dharma] are called the five ways of being virtuous.

caturmaunasya vakṣyāmi śṛṇuṣvāvahito bhava |
pāruṣyapiśunāmithyāsambhinnāni ca varjayet || 4:69 ||

I shall tell you about the four cases of observing silence. Listen, be attentive. One should avoid violent and slanderous [words], lies, and idle [talk].

kāmaḥ krodhaś ca lobhaś ca mohaś caiva caturvidhaḥ |
catuḥśatruṇi nihantavyaḥ so 'rihā vītakalmaṣaḥ || 4:70 ||

The fourfold enemy [made up of] desire, anger, greed and delusion is to be destroyed. He who destroys [these] enemies will become sinless.

caturāyatanam vipra kathayiṣyāmi tac chṛṇu |
karuṇā muditopekṣā maitrī cāyatanam smṛtam || 4:71 ||

I shall teach you the four sanctuaries. Listen, O Brahmin. Compassion, sympathy in joy, indifference, and benevolence are the four sanctuaries.

caturdhyānādhunā vakṣye saṃsārārṇavatāraṇam |
ātmaavidyābhavaḥ sūkṣmaṃ dhyānam uktaṃ caturvidham || 4:72 ||

I shall now teach you the four meditations, which will liberate you from transmigration. Meditation is taught to be fourfold: of the Self, vidyā, bhava [= Śiva] and the subtle one (sūkṣma).

4.68 Understand pāda d as pañcavidho dhanya ucyate.

4.69 Note the genitive with a verb meaning ‘to tell’ in pāda a, similarly to 1.38a and CHECK. Similar teachings on mauna in DharmP 1.31cd–32ab and Divyāv 186.21 are quoted in the apparatus.

4.70 Possible direct sources for the idea that kāma is an enemy to be defeated or avoided include BuddhCar 11.17: cīrāmbārā mūlaphalāmbubhakṣā jaṭā vahanto 'pi bhujam- gadirghāḥ | yair nānyakāryā munayo 'pi bhagnāḥ kaḥ kāmasaṃjñān mṛgayeta śatrūn ||
see also BhG 3.43: evam buddheḥ param buddhvā saṃstabhyātmānam ātmanā | jahi śatruṃ
mahābāho kāmarūpaṃ durāsadam ||. As for arihā in pāda d, the notion that a saint is a ‘destroyer of the enemies’ [that are evil states of mind] (arihanta/arahanta) in Jainism, but less so in Buddhism, is discussed in Gombrich 2013, 57–58.

4.71 This verse teaches the four Buddhist brahmavihāras under the label caturāyatana.
Therefore the word āyatana seems to be a synonym of vihāra here, and its use a simple method of appropriating it, turning the list into a Brahmanical one.

4.72 Note the stem form dhyāna in °dhyānādhunā (for °dhyānam adhunā) in pāda
a. For contrast, but also for similarities, see the dhyānayajña section in VSS 6.7ff, in which five types of related meditations are taught. See analysis on pp. Intro CHECK.

*ātmatattvaḥ smṛto dharmo vidyā pañcasu pañcadhā |
ṣaṭtriṃśākṣaram ityāhuḥ sūkṣmatattvam alakṣaṇam || 4:73 ||*

The tattva of the Self is Dharma. Vidyā is in the five in a fivefold way[?]. They call the thirty-sixth the imperishable one, [and] the subtle tattva has no attributes.

*catuṣpādaḥ smṛto dharmas caturāśramam āśritaḥ |
grhastho brahmacārī ca vānaprastho 'tha bhaikṣukaḥ || 4:74 ||*

The four-legged one is said to be Dharma [as] it rests on the four āśramas, [those of] the householder, the chaste one, the forest-dweller and the mendicant.

*dhanyās te yair idaṃ vetti nikhilena dvijottama |
pāvanam sarvapāpānām puṇyānām ca pravardhanam || 4:75 ||*

Virtuous are those who know these thoroughly, O great Brahmin. [They will experience] the purification of all sins and the growth of merits.

*āyusḥ kīrtir yaśaḥ saukhyaṃ dhanyād eva pravardhate |
śāntiḥ puṣṭiḥ smṛtir medhā jāyate dhanyamānave || 4:76 ||*

One's life-span, fame and glory and happiness grow only through virtue (dhanya). In a virtuous person piece, prosperity, tradition (smṛti) and intelligence will arise.

[yameṣu apramādaḥ (8) —

The eighth Yama-rule: Lack of negligence]

*pramādashāna pañcaiva kīrtayiṣyāmi tac chrṇu |
brahmahatyā surāpānam steyo gurvaṅganāgamam |
mahāpātakam ity āhuḥ tatsaṃyogī ca pañcamah || 4:77 ||*

4.73 This verse is difficult to interpret. Pādas a to d should define ātman, vidyā, bhava, and sūkṣma, objects of meditation, respectively. In pāda a, dharmo is suspect: it may be the result of an eye-skip to pāda a of the next verse. Pāda b might refer to tattvas in an ontological system of 25, 26 or 36 tattvas. If pāda c is in fact a reference to a 36-tattva philosophical system, it is in striking contrast with the 25-tattva system described in VSS chapter 20. I take ṣaṭtriṃśa as being in stem form.

4.75 Note the plural instrumental (yair) with a singular active verb (vetti; anacoluthic structure).

4.76 Emending °mānavah to °mānave might err by overcorrection, and °mānavah may have originally been felt like a genitive ('for a person...').

There are five areas of negligence. I shall teach them to you, listen. Murdering a Brahmin, drinking alcohol, stealing, having sex with the guru's wife: they call these grievous sins. The fifth is when one is connected with them [i.e. with these sins or with people involved in these sinful acts].

anṛtaṃ ca samutkarṣe rājagāmī ca paśūnaḥ |
guroś cālīkanirbandhaḥ samāni brahmahatyayā || 4:78 ||

A lie concerning one's superiority, a slander that reaches the king's ear, and false accusations against an elder are equal to killing a Brahmin.

brahmojjhaṃ vedanindā ca kūṭasākṣī suhṛdvadhaḥ |
garhitānādyayor jagdhiḥ surāpānasamāni ṣaṭ || 4:79 ||

Abandoning the Vedas, reviling the Vedas, being a false witness, murdering a friend, eating unfit or forbidden food are six [deeds that are] equal to drinking alcohol.

retotsekaḥ svayonyāsu kumārīṣv antyajāsu ca |
sakhyuḥ putrasya ca strīṣu gurutalpasamaḥ smṛtaḥ || 4:80 ||

Sexual intercourse with a female relative, with an unmarried girl, with women of the lowest castes, with the wife of a friend or of one's own son are said to be equal to violating the guru's bed.

nikṣepasyāpaharaṇaṃ narāśvarajatasya ca |
bhūmivajramaṇīnāṃ ca rukmasteyasamaḥ smṛtaḥ || 4:81 ||

4.77 Note the stem form noun in pāda a (sthāna) metri causa, and also that this stem form noun may function as a singular noun next to a number (pañca), a frequently seen phenomenon in this text. See the apparatus to the Sanskrit text for very similar verses in the MBh, Manu and the YājñS, and note how pāda f slightly deviates from Manu 11.55, which is translated in Olivelle 2005, 217–218 as: 'Killing a Brahmin, drinking liquor, stealing, and having sex with an elder's wife—they call these "grievous sins causing loss of caste"; and so is establishing any links with such individuals.'

4.78 This verse being a quotation of Manu 11.56, my translation is based on Olivelle 2005, 218.

4.79 This verse continues quoting Manu. Pāda a in the witnesses may actually be no more than the result of misreading of the syllable jjha in Manu 11.57. Note the variant brahmojjhaṃ vedanindā ca in both the 'Northern' and 'Southern' transmissions in Olivelle's critical edition of Manu (Olivelle 2005, 847).

4.80 The text, and my emendation in pāda c, still follow Manu (11.59).

Stealing deposits, people, horses, silver, land, diamonds, or gems are said to be equal to stealing gold.

catvāra ete sambhūya yat pāpaṃ kurute naraḥ |
mahāpātakapañcaitat tena sarvaṃ prakāśitam |
pañcapramādam etāni varjanīyaṃ dvijottama || 4:82 ||

If a man is associated with [any of these] four [i.e. brahmahatyā, surāpāna, stena, gurvaṅganāgama], he commits sin. By this all the five grievous sins have been explained. These five kinds of negligence are to be avoided, O great Brahmin.

[yameṣu mādhyam (9) —
 The ninth Yama-rule: Charm]

kāyavānmanamādhuryaś cakṣur buddhiś ca pañcamah |
saumyadrṣṭipradānaṃ ca krūrabuddhiṃ ca varjayet || 4:83 ||

[Charm has five types:] bodily, verbal and mental charm, [charm of] the eyes and [of one's] thoughts as fifth. Giving [others] a friendly glance [is commendable] and one should avoid cruel thoughts.

prasannamanasā dhyāyet priyavākyaṃ udīrayet |
yathāśaktipradānaṃ ca svāśramābhyāgato guruḥ || 4:84 ||

One should meditate with a tranquil mind and should speak [to other people using] gentle words. [When] respectable people arrive at one's own hermitage, [one should] present them with as many gifts as one can,

4.81 This is Manu II.58. I have emended rugma° to rukma° in pāda d, although rugma° is attested in a great number of Southern MSS and one Śāradā MS in Olivelle 2005, 847.

4.82 Perhaps understand pāda c as etan mahāpātakapañcakaṃ. Note the confusion of number and gender: understand pañca pramādāḥ etā varjanīyāḥ or pañca prāmādāny etāni varjanīyāni.

4.83 My emendation from °manasā dhūryaś to °mana-mādhuryaś is based on the fact that following the list of yamas in 3.16cd–17ab, we need some reference to mādhurya here and that it is easy to see how this corruption came about: °mano-mādhurya° would be unmetrical, hence the form °mana-mādhurya; °mana-mā° is easily corrupted to °manasā° (not to mention the fact that manasā comes up in the next verse). In addition, we need five items in this line because of pañcamah. As always, I correct mādhūrya to mādhurya, although it seems that the former is acceptable in this text. I did not correct mādhuryaś to mādhuryaṃ because of the corresponding pañcamah.

4.84 Pādas cd of the previous verse, and pādas ab of the present one cover four categories of the above: cakṣurmādhurya, buddhimādhurya, drṣṭimādhurya and vāgmādhurya. This suggests that what follows is on kāyamādhurya. Emending pāda d to svāśramābhyāgate gurau would make the line smoother, as suggested by Kengo Harimoto.

indhanodakadānaṃ ca jātavedam athāpi vā |
sulabhāni na dattāni indhanāgnyudakāni ca |
kṣute jīveti vā noktaṃ tasya kiṃ parataḥ phalam || 4:85 ||

with gifts of fire-wood, water and fire. [If] fire-wood, fire and water are easily available [but] are not given [as gift] or [if the phrase] ‘Live [for a hundred years]!’ is not uttered when [somebody] sneezes, what reward could there be for such a person in the afterlife?

[yameṣv ārjavam (10) —
 The tenth Yama-rule: Sincerity]

pañcārjavāḥ praśaṃsanti munayas tattvadarśinaḥ |
karmavṛttyābhivṛddhiṃ ca pāratoṣikam eva ca |
strīdhanotkocavittaṃ ca ārjavo nābhinandati || 4:86 ||

The sages who see the truth praise five types of sincerity. A sincere person does not rejoice in prosperity arising from the operation of karma or by a reward, in riches from women, from property, and bribery.

ārjavo na vṛthā yajña ārjavo na vṛthā tapaḥ |
ārjavo na vṛthā dānam ārjavo na vṛthāgnayaḥ || 4:87 ||

If one is not sincere, sacrifice is in vain. If one is not sincere, austerity is in vain. If one is not sincere, donation is in vain. If one is not sincere, [sacrificial] fires are in vain.

ārjavasyendriyagrāmaḥ suprasanno 'pi tiṣṭhati |
ārjavasya sadā devāḥ kāye tasya caranti te || 4:88 ||

The sense faculties of a sincere person are firm even when he is delighted. The gods are always present in the body of a sincere person.

4.85 Understand jātavedam in pāda b as jātavedasam or jātavedāḥ, or rather as belonging to the compound °dānaṃ: jātavedodānaṃ. For pāda e, see an Āryāgīti verse in the MahāSubhS (2558): amṛtāyatām iti vadet pīte bhukte kṣute ca śataṃ jīva | choṭikayā saha jṛmbhāsamaye syātām cirāyurānandau || (‘When eating or drinking, one should say: “May it turn into nectar!”; and after sneezing: “Live for a hundred years!” By snapping the thumb and forefinger when yawning, there will be long life and happiness.’)

4.86 °ārjavāḥ should be in the accusative, therefore it is to be taken as feminine (rather than neuter) or as an irregular form for °ārjavāni. I have emended pāratoṣikam to pārītoṣikam. My translation of the categories listed here is tentative, the only guiding light being that, if the first line is right, there should be five of them. In addition, I have tried to find categories that seem to be, more or less, in conflict with ‘sincerity’ or ‘straightness.’

4.87 I thank Nirajan Kafle for helping me interpret this verse.

*iti yamaprabhāgaḥ kīrtito 'yaṃ dvijendra
iha parata sukhārthaṃ kārayet taṃ manuṣyaḥ | duritamalapahārī śaṅkarasyājñāyāste
bhavati prthivibhartā hy ekachatrapravartā || 4:89 ||*

Thus has been taught this section on the yama-rules, O great Brahmin. Humans should follow them to reach happiness here and in the other world. One will stand removing one's filth of sins, and shall by Śaṅkara's command become a ruler of the world [that he subjugates] under one royal umbrella.

|| iti vṛṣasārasaṃgrāhe yamavibhāgo nāmādhyāyaś caturthaḥ ||

Here ends the fourth chapter in the Vṛṣasārasaṃgraha called the Section on the Yama-rules.

4.89 In pāda a °pra° does not make the previous syllable long: this is the phenomenon of 'muta cum liquida,' one of the hallmarks of the VSS, that is, syllables such as tra, pra, bra, dra do not necessarily make the previous syllable long. In pāda b, parata most probably stands for paratra or parataḥ metri causa. We may correct it to paratra, presupposing the presence of the licence 'muta cum liquida.' °malapahārī in the MSS stands either for °malāpahārī or °malaprahārī metri causa. I could have chosen to emend it to °malaprahārī (again applying the licence 'muta cum liquida'), but I decided not to because apahārīn, apahāra, apahāraka are used in the text very frequently. See also 8.44c, which contains a very similar expression: sakalamalapahāre dharmapañcāśad etat.

[Chapter Five]

[niyamāḥ —
The Niyama-rules]

vigatarāga uvāca |
kathaya niyamatattvaṃ sāmpratam tuvaṃ viśeṣād
amṛtavacanatulyaṃ śrotukāmo gato 'smi | prakṛtidahanadagdhāṃ jñānatoyair niṣiktam
apara vada-m-atajjñāṃ nāsti dharmeṣu tṛptiḥ || 5:1 ||

Vigatarāga spoke: Now teach me the true nature of the Niyama-rules in detail. I have become desirous to hear [your] teaching that is comparable to ambrosia. Tell me more (apara vada), [to the one who had been] burnt by the fire of materiality (prakṛti), [but is now] sprinkled with the water of knowledge, and is ignorant of [the topic]. One can't have enough of the [teaching on] Dharmas (nāsti dharmeṣu tṛptiḥ).

anarthayajña uvāca |
śravaṇasukham ato 'nyat kīrtayiṣye dvijendra
niyamakalaviśeṣaḥ pañca pañca prakāraḥ |
hariharamunibhīṣṭaṃ dharmasāraṃ dvijendra
kalikaluṣavināśaṃ prāyamokṣaprasiddham || 5:2 ||

Anarthayajña spoke: I shall teach you something more that is nice to hear, O best of the twice-born. The specific sections of the Niyamas are of five types [each]. It is the essence of Dharma, dear to Hari, Hara and the sages, O great Brahmin, the destruction of the impurity of the Kali age, generally known as liberation.

5.1 Most witnesses read °vadana° in pāda b. This is slightly odd in the sense of 'speech,' the meaning required here, therefore I follow M here. One wonders if it is not amṛtasvādāna or °svadana° ('tasting nectar') what was meant originally. I translate the phrase in question as if it read amṛtatulyavacanam. The first half of pāda d is difficult to interpret safely. apara vada ('tell me more') might be original, with apara in stem form. The phrase matajjñā is now emended to -m-atajjñāṃ, containing a hiatus breaker but making the line metrical. Otherwise it could be emended to matajjñā (with the last syllable taken as long) and translated as a vocative ('O knower of [my] thoughts'). Note M's reading for the end of the line (me dharmatṛptiḥ).

5.2 My suspicion is that °kala° in pāda b stands for kalā metri causa. Similarly, °munibhīṣṭaṃ is metri causa, for °munyabhīṣṭaṃ ('dear the the sages'). In pāda d, prāya° is suspect. Compare with 6.1c: dharmamokṣaprasiddhyartham.

śaucam ijjā tapo dānaṃ svādhyāyopasthanigrahaḥ |
vratopavāsamaunaṃ ca snānaṃ ca niyamā daśa || 5:3 ||

Purification, sacrifice, penance, donation, Vedic study and the restraint of sexual desire, religious observances, fasting, observing silence, and bathing: these are the ten Niyamas.

[niyameṣu śaucam (1) —

The first Niyama-rule: Purity]

tatra śaucādinirdeśaṃ vakṣyāmiha dvijottama |
śārīraśaucam āhāro mātṛā bhāvaś ca pañcamah || 5:4 ||

From among these, now I shall tell you the particulars of purification [first], and [then] the others. [1] Bodily purity, [2] [purity of] food, [3] [purity of] property[?] (mātṛā), [4] [purity of] character[?] (bhāva), and the fifth, [5]...?

[śārīraśaucam —

Purity of the Body]

tādayen na ca bandheta na ca prāṇair viyojayet |
parastrīparadravyeṣu śaucam kāyikam ucyate || 5:5 ||

He should not beat, tie or kill [any living being]. [This and] purity concerning others' wives and property is called bodily purity.

śrotraśaucam dvijaśreṣṭha gudopasthamukhādayaḥ |
mukhasyācāmanam śaucam āhāravacaneṣu ca || 5:6 ||

The cleanliness of the ears, O great Brahmin, and of the anus, the loins, the mouth etc. [also contributes to bodily purity]. The purity of the mouth [comes from] sipping water before eating, speaking.

mūtraviṣṭāsamutsarge devatārādhaneṣu ca |
mṛttoyais tu gudopastham śaucayīta vicakṣaṇaḥ || 5:7 ||

5.4 The chapter deals with śārīraśauca (5.5–9) and āhāraśauca (5.10–16), therefore pāda c is probably correct, and M's reading (śārīrasrotam āhāra) is wrong. Even if we could interpret pāda d with any certainty, there is one missing element of this list of allegedly five items. Something must have dropped out here. Oddly enough, the chapter stops after teaching the second type of purity, āhāraśauca, so we are left without a clue. MBh Indices 14.4.3229–3230 is not very helpful: manaśśaucam karmaśaucam kulaśaucam ca bhārata | śārīraśaucam vākśaucam śaucam pañcavidham smṛtam ||.

5.5 Note the application of the licence muta cum liquida in pāda c: the first syllable of dravyeṣu does not make the previous syllable heavy.

After the emission of urine and faeces, and before the worship of gods, the wise one should clean his anus and his loins with clay and water.

ekopasthe gude pañca tathaikatra kare daśa |
ubhayoḥ sapta dātavyā mṛdaḥ śuddhiṃ samīhatā || 5:8 ||

One [portion of clay] for the loins, five for the anus, ten for one hand, [then] seven [portions] of clay are to be applied for both [hands] by him who wishes cleanliness.

etac chaucam grhasthānām dviguṇam brahmacāriṇām |
vānaprasthasya triguṇam yatīnām tu caturguṇam || 5:9 ||

This is the purification for the householder (grhastha). It is twice as much for the chaste one (brahmacārin), three times as much for the forest-dweller (vānaprastha), four times as much for the ascetic (yati).

[āhāraśaucam — Purity of the food]

āhāraśaucam vakṣyāmi śṛṇuṣvāvahito bhava |
bhāgadvayaṃ tu bhuñjīta bhāgam ekaṃ jalam pibet |
vāyusaṃcāradānārthaṃ caturtham avaśeṣayet || 5:10 ||

I shall teach you the rules of purity concerning food. Listen, pay great attention. One should eat [as much] food [that fills] two quarters [of the stomach] and drink water [that fills] one quarter. In order to give passage to the air, one should save the remaining quarter.

5.7 Note the peculiar verb form śaucayīta (for a more standard śocayeta). M's śaucaye[c] ca may be close to an original reading.

5.8 In essence, this verse is Manu 5.136. Olivelle's notes on this verse read: 'on one hand:
within the context the meaning is clear: "one hand" refers to the left hand, with which the person applied the earth and water to the penis and anus. All purifications below the navel are carried out using the left hand. Variant reading: "on the left hand."' (Olivelle 2005, 287.)

5.9 This verse corresponds to Manu 5.137. Note the muta cum liquida licence in pāda c:
tr does not turn the previous syllable heavy and the pāda becomes a na-vipulā.

5.10 Śaṅkara quotes a similar verse in his commentary ad BhG 6.16 (see apparatus). It translates as: 'Half is for saucy food, the third part for water, but in order to be able to move the air, one should leave the fourth part [empty].' This verse and one in the SannyāsUp (see apparatus) have saṃcaraṇārthaṃ tu and saṃcaraṇārthāya, respectively, where our verse in the VSS has saṃcāradānārthaṃ. It would be tempting to emend but the VSS version more or less works fine, therefore there is no need to alter the text.

snigdhasvādurasaiḥ ṣaḍbhir āhāraṣaḍrasair budhaḥ |
dhātuvaiṣamyānāśo 'sti na ca rogāḥ sudāruṇāḥ || 5:11 ||

[By] the wise one[’s applying] the six soft and sweet juices, [which are] the six flavours in food, the disturbances of the dhātus will disappear and the terrible illnesses will not arise.

abhakṣyaṃ na bhakṣeta apeyaṃ na ca pāyayet |
agamyāṃ na ca gamyeta avācyaṃ na ca bhāṣayet || 5:12 ||

He should not eat what is forbidden and he should not drink what is forbidden. He should not go where he is not allowed to and he should not say what is improper.

laṣuṇaṃ ca palāṇḍuṃ ca grñjanaṃ kavakāni ca |
gaurāṃ ca sūkaraṃ māṃsaṃ varjayec ca vidhānataḥ || 5:13 ||

He should avoid garlic, onion, grñjana onion, mushrooms, buffalo meat and pork, following the rules.

chattrākaṃ viḍvarāhaṃ ca gomāṃsaṃ na bhakṣayet |
caṭakaṃ ca kapotaṃ ca jālapādāṃś ca varjayet || 5:14 ||

He should not eat chattrāka mushrooms, village hog, and cow flesh. He should also avoid sparrows, pigeons, and water-birds.

haṃsasārasacakrāhvakukkuṭān śukaśyenakān |
kākolūkaṃ balākaṃ ca matsyādīṃś cāpi varjayet || 5:15 ||

5.11 The readings may suggest that pāda b contains sadrava or maybe sudrava, but it is difficult to make sense of the sentence. We are lacking a verb; āhāra might be wrong for āharet (see M). The Āyurvedic implications of this clumsy verse are obscure to me. What is clear is that traditionally there are six basic flavours or ‘juices’ in food. See, e.g. Bhe-laS 1.28.1: yad bhakṣayati bhukte vā vidhivac cāpi mānavaḥ | anyac ca kiñcit pibati tat sarvaṃ ṣaḍrasānvitam ||. (‘All that a human eats or enjoys according to the rules, and furthermore all that he or she drinks, is endowed with the six flavours.’) To repair pādas ab, one should perhaps imagine that the intended meaning was that the six flavours/juices should be present in a harmonious proportion in a wise man’s food. Cf. Bhe-laS 3.1.1: śarīraṃ dhārayan-tīha ṣaḍrasāḥ samam āhṛtāḥ | ato 'nyathā vikārāṃś tu janayanti śarīriṇām ||. (‘The six flavours will support the body in this world when brought to a balanced state. Otherwise they will produce defects to people.’) On dhātuvaiṣamya, see, e.g., Caraka 1.9.4: vikāro dhātu-vaiṣamyam sāmyam prakṛtir ucyate | sukhamaññakam ārogyam vikāro duḥkham eva ca || (‘The imbalance of the dhātus means defects. Balance is said to be natural. Health is happiness, defects are suffering.’)

5.12 Understand the causative pāyayet as simplex.

He should also avoid [eating] geese, cranes, cakravāka birds, cocks, parrots and hawks, crows, owls, balāka cranes, fish etc.

amedhyāṁś cāpavitrāṁś ca sarvān eva vivarjayet |
śākamūlaphalānāṁ ca abhakṣyaṁ parivarjayet || 5:16 ||

He should avoid everything that is ritually impure or polluted. He should also completely avoid those vegetables, roots and fruits, that are prohibited.

mānaveṣu purāṇeṣu śaivabhāratasaṁhite |
kīrtitāni viśeṣeṇa śaucācāram aśeṣataḥ |
tvayā jijnāsito 'smy adya saṁkṣiptaḥ kathito mayā || 5:17 ||

In the books of Manu, in the Purāṇas, in Śaiva texts, and in the Bhāratasaṁhitā (i.e. the Mahābhārata), the practice of purity is definitely expanded in great detail. Now you have asked me [about it], and I taught it [to you] in a condensed form.

satyavādī śucir nityaṁ dhyānayogarataḥ śuciḥ |
ahiṁsakaḥ śucir dānto dayābhūtakṣamā śuciḥ || 5:18 ||

He who speaks the truth is pure. He who engages in yogic meditation is pure. He who avoids violence and is restrained is pure. Compassion towards living beings and patience is purity.

sarveṣāṁ eva śaucānāṁ arthaśaucaṁ paraṁ smṛtam |
yo 'rthe hi śuciḥ sa śucir na mṛdvāriśuciḥ śuciḥ |
kāyavānmanasāṁ śaucaṁ sa śuciḥ sarvavastuḥ || 5:19 ||

Of all the [ways of] purification, material purification is taught to be the highest. For he who is pure with regards to material things is truly pure, and not the one who [only] uses clay and water [i.e. the one who

5.15 Note that in pāda b the first syllable of śyenakān does not turn the previous syllable, śu, heavy. This is an extension of the muta cum liquida licence.

5.17 In pāda b, since °saṁhite is not a correct locative of °saṁhitā, instead of emending to śaive bhāratasaṁhite, we may take the compound as a samāhāradvandasamāsa in the neuter locative. Note the gender and number confusion between kīrtitāni and °ācāram in pādas cd. This and the next verse sound as if the author had been aware of the fact that he left the remaining three categories of purity (see 5.4) unexplained.

5.18 My impression is that dayābhūtakṣamā in pāda d may stand for bhūtadayā kṣamā (bhūtadayā occurring in 1.7 and 3.27–28), and I translate accordingly.

performs only ordinary baths]. When purification pertains to the body, to speech and to the mind, he is pure in all respects.

*śaucāśaucavidhijña mānava yadi kālakṣaye niścayaḥ saubhāgyatvam avāpnuvanti satataṃ kīrtir yaśo'laṅkṛtāḥ |
prāptaṃ tena ihaiva puṇyasakalaṃ saddharmaśāstreritaṃ
jīvānte ca paratra-m-ihitagatim prāpnoti niḥsaṃśayam || 5:20 ||*

If a person knows the rules of purity and impurity, he will surely gain happiness at the end of time, eternally embellished with glory and fame. He has reached here in this world all the merits that the books on true Dharma teach, and at the end of his life he will undoubtedly reach the desired path in the other world.

|| iti vṛṣasārasaṃgrāhe śaucācāraavidhir nāmādhyāyaḥ pañcamah ||
Here ends the fifth chapter in the Vṛṣasārasaṃgraha called the Method of Purification.

5.19 Pādas a-d are quoting Manu 5.106 (in most witnesses, unmetrically); it is translated in Olivelle 2005, 144 as: 'Purifying oneself with respect to wealth, tradition tells us, is the highest of all purifications; for the truly pure man is the one who is pure with respect to wealth, not the one who becomes pure by using earth and water.'

5.20 Note the stem form adjective °jña and noun °mānava metri causal and the second syllable of yadi as a long syllable at the cæsura in pāda a (see M's reading), the plural āpnuvanti where one would expect a verb in the singular and kīrtir metri causa for a compounded stem form (kīrti°) in pāda b, and the sandhi-bridge -m- in paratra-m-ihita° in pāda d. Compare with 4.67b above.

[niyameṣv ijjā (2) —

The second Niyama-rule: Sacrifice]

atha pañcavidhām ijjāṃ pravakṣyāmi dvijottama |
dharmamokṣaprasiddhyartham śṛṇuṣvāvahito dviḥ || 6:1 ||

[Anarthayajña continued:] Now I shall teach you the five types of sacrifice (ijjā), O excellent Brahmin, for success in Dharma and liberation. Listen carefully, O Brahmin.

arthayajñāḥ kriyāyajño japayajñas tathaiva ca |
jñānam dhyānam ca pañcaitat pravakṣyāmi prthak prthak || 6:2 ||
Material sacrifice, sacrifice through work, sacrifice through recitation, knowledge and meditation: I shall teach you these five one by one.

[arthayajñāḥ — Material sacrifice]

agnyupāsana-karmādi agnihotrakratukriyā |
aṣṭakā pārvaṇī śrāddham dravyayajñāḥ sa ucyate || 6:3 ||

Material sacrifice includes the following: the domestic ritual fire worship etc., the public performance of the ritual of Agnihotra, [and the so-called pākayajñas such as] the Aṣṭakā oblation, the Pārvaṇī oblation, and the ancestral ritual (śrāddha).

6.2 Note the singular etat after a number (see Intro CHECK).

Compare this list of five to the somewhat similar BhG 4.28: dravyayajñās tapoyajñā yogayajñās tathāpare | svādhyāyajñānāyajñās ca yatayah saṁśīta-vratāḥ ||. ŚDhU chapter 3 can be also relevant since it uses the terms japayajña, jñānayajña, and dhyānayajña. See also ŚDhU 1.10 (C₉₄ f. 42v 14): karmayajñas tapoyajñāḥ svādhyāyo dhyānam eva ca | jñānayajñās ca pañcaite mahāyajñāḥ prakīrtitāḥ ||. Note how this definition of the five mahāyajñas in the ŚDhU is different from the one, e.g., in Manu 3.69–71 (brahma°, pitṛ°, daiva°, bhauta°, and nṛyajña).

6.3 By somewhat overtranslating the items in this list, I want to emphasise that the text introduces three categories of sacrificial rituals well-known from the time of the Gṛhyasūtras and Śrautasūtras: those of the domestic or aupāsana fire (grhyakarman), the Śrauta rituals such as the Agnihotra, and the Smārta pākayajñas, such as the aṣṭakā, the pārvaṇī and the śrāddha. For a mention of the pākayajñas in a manner similar to our pādas cd here, see, e.g. the Dikṣottara quoted in Goodall, Sanderson, & Isaacson 2015, 275: aṣṭakāḥ pārvaṇī śrāddham śrāvany āgrāyaṇī tathā | caitrī cāśvayujī caiva pākayajñāḥ prakīrtitāḥ ||. For an earlier list of pākayajñas, see GautDhS 1.8.19: aṣṭakā pārvaṇāḥ śrāddham śrāvany-āgrahāyanīcaitryāśvayujīti sapta pākayajñasamsthāḥ.

Sacrifice through work]

ārāmodyānavāpīṣu devatāyataneṣu ca |

Sacrifice through work is taking care of/cleaning/embellishing (samskāra) a grove, a park, a pond or a temple with one's own hands.

[japayajñah —

Sacrifice through recitation]

japayajñam tato vakṣye svargamokṣaphalapradam |
vedādhyayana kartavyam śivasamhitam eva ca |
itihāsapurāṇam ca japayajñah sa ucyate || 6:5 ||

Next I shall teach you the sacrifice through recitation, the bestower of the fruits of heaven and liberation. One should recite the Vedas, Śaiva texts or the Mahābhārata, the epics and the Purāṇas: this is called sacrifice with recitation.

[jñānayajñah —

Sacrifice through knowledge]

idaṃ karma akarmedam ūhāpohaviśāradaḥ |
śāstracakṣuḥ samālokya jñānayajñah sa ucyate || 6:6 ||

[He who can decide if] 'this is [proper] action; the other is improper action' because he is knowledgeable about reasoning pro and contra, and investigates with his eyes on the Śāstras, is called [a person performing] sacrifice through knowledge.

[dhyānayajñah —

6.5 Note the stem form vedādhyayana in pāda c metri causa. As for the interpretation of śivasamhitam in pāda d, see 5.17b above: śaivabhāratasamhite. The proximity of these two phrases, and the fact that both give instructions on using texts, suggest that we should interpret them similarly. It is then a samāhāradvandvasamāsa again, in the neuter. Both śivasamhitam and itihāsapurāṇam should be interpreted as being part of the compound in pāda c: śivasamhitādhyayanam and itihāsapurāṇādhyayanam.

See japayajña mentioned, e.g., in BhG 10.25c (yajñānām japayajño 'smi) and Manu 2.86 (vidhiyajñāḥ japayajño viśiṣṭo daśabhir guṇaiḥ).

6.6 For the expression śāstracakṣuḥ, see, e.g., BrahmaP 24.21: tena yajñān yathāproktān mānavāḥ śāstracakṣuḥ | kurvate 'harahaś caiva devān āpyāyanti te||. In G. P. Bhatt's translation (Bhatt 1955, 126): 'Day by day men with the sacred scriptures as their guides perform sacrifices in the manner they have been laid down and thereby nourish the gods.'

Sacrifice through meditation]

dhyānayaajñam samāsenā kathayisyāmi te śṛṇu |
dhyānam pañcavidham caiva kīrtitam hariṇā purā |
sūryaḥ somo 'gni sphaṭikaḥ sūkṣmam tattvam ca pañcamam || 6:7 ||

I shall teach you concisely about sacrifice through meditation. Listen to me. Meditation was taught by Hari in the past as of five kinds. [Meditation on] the Sun, the Moon, Fire, Crystal and the subtle tattva as fifth.

sūryamaṇḍalam ādau tu tattvam prakṛtir ucyate |
tasya madhye śasiṃ dhyāyet tattvam puruṣa ucyate || 6:8 ||

First it is the Sun [that should be meditated upon], which is said to be prakṛti-tattva. He should visualize the Moon in its centre: that tattva is said to be puruṣa.

candramaṇḍalamadhye tu jvālām agniṃ vicintayet |
prabhutattvaḥ sa vijñeyo janmamṛtyuvināśanaḥ || 6:9 ||

In the centre of the Moon's disk, he should visualise a flame, a fire. That is said to be prabhu-tattva, the destroyer of [the circle of] birth and death.

agnimaṇḍalamadhye tu dhyāyet sphaṭika nirmalam |
vidyātattvaḥ sa vijñeyaḥ kāraṇam ajam avyayam || 6:10 ||

In the centre of the ring of Fire, he should visualize a spottless crystal. That is said to be vidyā-tattva, the never-born, imperishable cause.

vidyāmaṇḍalamadhye tu dhyāyet tattvam anuttamam |
akīrtitam anaupamyam śivam akṣayam avyayam |
pañcamam dhyānayaajñasya tattvam uktam samāsataḥ || 6:11 ||

In the centre of the disk of vidyā, he should visualize the highest tattva, never-heard, unparalleled, undecaying and imperishable Śiva. The fifth tattva of the sacrifice through meditation has been taught in short.

6.7 For an analysis of this fivefold method of meditation, and this ancient-looking tattva-system, see Intro CHECK, and for different versions of the same teaching of meditation, see VSS 22.19–28 and DharmP 4.5–14.

6.8 Note the form śasiṃ for śasiṇam.

6.10 Note the stem form sphaṭika in pāda b metri causa.

*vigatarāga uvāca |
ekaikasya tu tattvasya phalaṃ kīrtaya kīdṛśam |
kāni lokāḥ prapadyante kālaṃ vāsya tapodhana || 6:12 ||*

Vigatarāga spoke: Teach me, what are the fruits of [reaching] each tattva?
Which worlds can be attained and how much time [can one spend there], O great ascetic?

*anarthayajña uvāca |
brahmalokaṃ tu prathamam tattvapraṛticintayā |
kalpakoṭisahasrāṇi śivavan modate sukhī || 6:13 ||*

Anarthayajña spoke: Through meditation on the first tattva, prakṛti, [one reaches] Brahmaloaka. He will rejoice [there] happily like Śiva for millions of æons.

*dvitīyaṃ tattva puruṣaṃ dhyāyamāno mṛto yadi |
viṣṇulokaṃ ito yāti kalpakoṭyayutam sukhī || 6:14 ||*

If one dies while meditating on the second tattva, puruṣa, one goes to Viṣṇuloka from this world, [and will live there] happily for billions of æons.

*prabhutattvaṃ tṛtīyaṃ tu dhyāyamāno mariṣyati |
śivaloke vasen nityaṃ kalpakoṭyayutam śatam || 6:15 ||*

Should one die while meditating on the third, the prabhu-tattva, one can live in Śivaloka continuously for a hundred billion æons.

*vidyātattvāmṛtaṃ dhyāyet sadāśivam anāmayam |
akṣayaṃ lokam āpnoti kalpānāntaparam tathā || 6:16 ||*

6.12 The reading tritattvasya in pāda a in the MSS is a problem because we have just finished a section mentioning five tattvas. (This was probably noticed by E, hence printing hi for tri°.) My conjecture (tu) is based on the assumption that tri is often written as tṛ in Nepalese MSS (e.g. in M at this point) and that tṛ may then easily get corrupted to tu.

6.13 Understand pādas ab as brahmalokaṃ prathamam tattvacintayā prakṛtitattvacin-tayā. One might take prathamam adverbially ('firstly': prathamam brahmalokaṃ prakṛti-tattvacintayā), but in the next verses, the ordinal numbers (dvitīyaṃ, tṛtīyaṃ, pañcamam) always refer to the tattvas.

6.14 Note the stem form tattva in pāda a metri causa.

6.15 E changes śivaloka to rudraloka, probably for more contrast with sadāśiva in 6.16 and śivatattva in 6.17. CHECK

If he visualizes the nectar of vidyā-tattva, [i.e.] Sadāśiva, he can reach [His] diseaseless, imperishable world [and can live there] well beyond endless æons.

pañcamam śivatattvaṃ tu sūkṣmaṃ cātmani saṁsthitam |
na kālasamkhyā tatrāsti śivena saha modate || 6:17 ||

The fifth one, the subtle śiva-tattva dwells in the Self. There is no counting of time there and he will be rejoicing [there] together with Śiva.

pañcadhyānābhīyukto bhavati ca na punarjanmasaṁskārabandhaḥ
jijñāsyantām dvijendra bhavadahanakaraḥ prārthanākālpavṛkṣaḥ |
janmenaikena muktir bhavati kimu na vā mānavāḥ sādhayantu pratyakṣān nānumānaṃ sakalamalaharaṃ svātmasaṁvedanīyaṃ
|| 6:18 ||

[If] he practises the five meditations, there is no rebirth and no more fetters of transmigration. O excellent Brahmin, [the Lord] should be sought, a wishing tree of desires, [as] he burns away existence. Liberation comes within one single birth! People, why should you not strive [for it]! [It is known] as the destroyer of all impurity. [It's ascertainable] by direct perception. It is not inference. It is to be experienced by one's own Self.

[niyameṣu tapaḥ (3) —

The third Niyama-rule: Penance]

mānasaṃ tapa ādau tu dvitīyaṃ vācikaṃ tapaḥ |
kāyikaṃ ca tṛtīyaṃ tu manovākkarma tatparam |
kāyikaṃ vācikaṃ caiva tapo miśraka pañcamam || 6:19 ||

6.16 In pāda a, amṛta is suspect. It may refer to the world of Sadāśiva and then vidyā-tattva is in stem form. Alternatively, since this verse is the only one in this list of worlds (6.13–17) without an ordinal number, amṛtaṃ may mean ‘four’ or possibly ‘fourth,’ as suggested by Monier-Williams and Apte in their dictionaries. This meaning would fit in nicely. In addition, dying has been mentioned above, thus amṛtaṃ might be a corrupted form of a participle from the verbal root mṛ (mṛyan or maran?): e.g., vidyātattvaṃ mṛyan dhyāyet... (‘should he meditation upon Vidyātattva while dying...’).

6.18 Note how a plural passive imperative form (jijñāsyantām) stands for the singular (jijñāsyatām) metri causa. Note also that the last syllable of dvijendra (at the cæsura) counts here as long: this phenomenon of a word-ending syllable becoming long by position is common in the VSS. The non-standard janmena in pāda d seems superior to janmanā for it preserves the metre.

The first type of penance is mental penance, the second is verbal penance, the third is the bodily one, the next one is the one which is [characterised by] both mental and verbal action. The fifth type of penance is a mixture of the bodily and the verbal ones.

manahsaumyaṃ prasādaś ca ātmanigrahaṃ eva ca |
maunaṃ bhāvaviśuddhiś ca pañcāitat tapa mānasam || 6:20 ||

Gentleness of the mind, calmness, self-control, observing silence, and the purification of one's state of mind: mental penance comprises these five.

anudvegakarā vāṇī priyaṃ satyaṃ hitaṃ ca yat |
svādhyāyābhyasanam caiva vācikaṃ tapa ucyate || 6:21 ||

Verbal penance is taught as speech that causes no anxiety, which is kind, true and useful, and it includes also the practice of recitation.

ārjavaṃ ca ahimsā ca brahmacaryaṃ surārcanam |
śaucaṃ pañcamam ity etat kāyikaṃ tapa ucyate || 6:22 ||

Bodily penance is taught as the following: honesty, harmlessness, chastity, the worship of gods, and purity as the fifth.

iṣṭaṃ kalyāṇabhāvaṃ ca dhanyaṃ pathyaṃ hitaṃ vadet |
manomiśraka pañcāitat tapa uktaṃ maharṣibhiḥ || 6:23 ||

[Penance] which is a mixture of the mental [and the verbal] is taught by the great sages to be these five: he should speak [about things that are] agreeable, of a virtuous character, auspicious, salutary and useful.

svasti maṅgalam āśīrbhir atithigurupūjanam |
kāyamiśraka pañcāitat tapa uktaṃ mahātmabhiḥ || 6:24 ||

6.19 Note the stem form miśraka in pāda f metri causa.

6.20 Again, we can see the use of the singular (etat) next to numbers; note also the stem form tapa in pāda d metri causa. This verse is a paraphrase of MBh 3.39.16 (BhG 17.16; see text in the apparatus).

6.21 This verse is a version of MBh 6.39.15 (BhG 17.15; see it in the apparatus).

6.22 This verse seems to be a paraphrase of MBh 6.39.14 (BhG 17.14; see it in the apparatus).

6.23 Note the use of the singular (etat) next to a number and the stem form noun in pāda c.

[Penance] in which bodily [and verbal actions] mix is taught by the great-souled ones to be these five: the worship of the guest and the guru, benediction, greetings, and blessings.

maṇḍūkayogī hemante grīṣme pañcatapās tathā |
abhrāvakāśo varṣāsu tapaḥ sādhanam ucyate || 6:25 ||

[Being] a [so-called] frog-yogin in the winter, or one with the five fires in the summer, or one who has the clouds [i.e. the open sky] for shelter in the rainy season: these kinds of penance is called sādhana.

svamāmsoddhṛtya dānaṃ ca hastapādaśiras tathā |
puṣpam utpādya dānaṃ ca sarve te tapasāadhanāḥ || 6:26 ||

Carving out his own flesh as a donation, or [offering his own] hand, feet and head, or drawing [his own] blood (puṣpa) as a donation: all these are sādhana-penances, kṛcchrātikṛcchraṃ naktam ca taptakṛcchram ayācitam |

cāndrāyaṇam parākam ca tapaḥ sāṃtapanādayaḥ || 6:27 ||

[as also] the ‘painful penance’ and the ‘extremely painful one’, [eating only] at night, the ‘hot and painful’ and [the one in which only

6.24 See ŚDhŚ 11.73–79 (and Bisschop, Kafle, & Lubin 2021, 91–93 and 120–121) for a somewhat similar discussion on ‘kind speech.’

6.25 Manu 6.23 mentions three kinds of penance that corresponds to three seasons: grīṣme pañcatapās tu syād varṣāsu abhrāvakāśikaḥ | ādravās tu hemante kramaśo vardhayaṃs tapaḥ ||. Translated in Olivelle 2005, 149 as: ‘[He should] surround himself with the five fires in the summer; live in the open air during the rainy season; and wear wet clothes in the winter—gradually intensifying his ascetic toil.’ This and ŚDhSaṃgr 9.32ab (quoted in the apparatus) may suggest that being a ‘frog-yogin’ could be the same as wearing wet clothes or standing in water for a long time. A footnote to verse MBh 12.309.9 in the Kumbakonam edition of the MBh (Krishnacharya & Vyasacharya 1906–1914) suggests otherwise: maṇḍūkavat pāṇipādaṃ saṅkocya nyubjaḥ śete iti maṇḍūkāśāyī. (‘The word ‘frog-sleeper’ means somebody who sleeps like a frog, with his hands and feet withdrawn and with his back humped.’)

6.26 Note the stem form svamāmsa in pāda a for the accusative. The translation of pāda c is tentative, but taking puṣpa as ‘blood’ is not only normal e.g. in tantric texts (see e.g. CHECK), but VSS 17.38–39 suggest the same in a similar context: devī uvāca | svamāmsarudhiraṃ dānaṃ dānaṃ putrakalatrayoḥ | kiṃ praśasyaṃ mahādeva tattvaṃ vaktum ihārhasi || mahēśvara uvāca | svamāmsarudhiraṃ dānaṃ praśaṃsanti maṇiṣiṇaḥ | śrūyatāṃ pūrvavṛttāni saṃkṣīpya kathayāmy aham ||. (‘Devī spoke: Why are one’s own flesh and blood and one’s son and wife praised as donation, O Mahādeva? Tell me the truth please. Mahēśvara spoke: The wise praise one’s own flesh and blood as donation. Let’s hear the old legends, I shall tell you briefly.’) food obtained] without solicitation [can be eaten], the cāndrāyaṇa and parāka penances, the ‘sāṃtapana,’ etc.

yenedaṃ tapa tapyate sumanasā saṃsāraduḥkhacchidam

āśāpāśa vimucya nirmalamatis tyaktvā jaghanyaṃ phalam |

svargākāṅkṣyanṛpatvabhogaviśayaṃ sarvāntikaṃ tatphalaṃ

jantuḥ śāśvatajanmamṛtyubhavane tanniṣṭhasādhyam vahet || 6:28 ||

He who performs with a well-disposed mind this penance that puts an end to the suffering caused by transmigration (saṃsāra), abandoning the trap of hope, with a spotless mind, giving up the lowest rewards [such as] wishing for heaven, being a king and having enjoyments for the senses, will have an ultimate (sarvāntika) reward. In this home of eternal births and deaths, man can bring about an accomplishment that puts an end to them.

|| iti vṛṣasārasaṃgrāhe ṣaṣṭho 'dhyāyah ||

Here ends the sixth chapter in the Vṛṣasārasaṃgraha.

6.27 For short descriptions and the loci classici of these penances, see, e.g., Kane 1941–1962, v. 4, 130–152. For nakta/naktāṇna see VSS 8.22 below and, e.g., ŚDhŚ chapter 10, and for ayācita, VSS 8.23 below.

6.28 Note my emendation in pāda a (sumanasā from sumanasah) and that in order to restore the metre, I accepted E’s stem form tapa. Note the stem form °pāśa in pāda b metri causa.

[saptamo 'dhyāyaḥ]
[Chapter Seven]

[niyameṣu dānam (4) —

The fourth Niyama-rule: Donation]

dānāni ca tathety āhuḥ pañcadhā munibhiḥ purā |

annaṃ vastraṃ hiraṇyaṃ ca bhūmi godāna pañcamam || 7:1 ||

In the past the wise declared that, again, there were five kinds of donation. Donation of food, clothes, gold, land and the fifth, donation of cows.

[annadānam —

Donation of food]

annāt tejaḥ smṛtiḥ prāṇaḥ annāt puṣtir vapuḥ sukham |

annāc chrīḥ kānti vīryaṃ ca annāt sattvaṃ ca jāyate || 7:2 ||

From food [comes] energy, memory, the vital breath, growth, body, happiness. From food arise grace and beauty, heroism, strength.

annāj jīvanti bhūtāni annaṃ tuṣṭikaraṃ sadā |

ānnāt kāmo mado darpaḥ annāc chauryaṃ ca jāyate || 7:3 ||

Living beings live on food. Food always satisfies. From food arise desire, rapture, pride and valour.

annaṃ kṣudhātṛṣāvyādhīn sadya eva vināśayet |

annadānāc ca saubhāgyaṃ khyātiḥ kīrtiś ca jāyate || 7:4 ||

Food drives away hunger and thirst and disease instantly. From donations of food arise happiness, fame and glory.

annadaḥ prāṇadaś caiva prāṇadaś cāpi sarvadaḥ |

tasmād annasamaṃ dānaṃ na bhūtaṃ na bhaviṣyati || 7:5 ||

He who donates food donates life. He who donates life donates everything. Therefore nothing is equal to the donation of food, nothing was, nothing will be.

7.1 tathety in pāda a is suspicious and my translation of it ('again') is tentative and is supposed to refer back to the fact that all yamas so far have been divided into five types. Note how annaṃ, vastraṃ, hiraṇyaṃ and bhūmi (the latter treated as neuter, or given in stem form) are all meant to go with °dāna (again, in stem form, metri causa).

7.2 Note the stem form noun kānti metri causa in pāda c.

[vastradānam — Donation of clothes]

vastrābhāvān manuṣyasya śriyād api parityajet |
vastrahīno na pūjyeta bhāryāputrasakhādibhiḥ || 7:6 ||

In the absence of [proper] clothes, a man will also lose his fortunes. A person without clothes may not be respected by his wife, son, friends etc.

vidyāvān sukulīno 'pi jñānavān guṇavān api |
vastrahīnaḥ parādhīnaḥ paribhūtaḥ pade pade || 7:7 ||

Be it a learned person from a good family or an intelligent and virtuous person, anybody without clothes is subdued and humiliated on every occasion

apamānam avajñāṃ ca vastrahīno hy avāpnuyāt |
jugupsati mahātmāpi sabhāstrijanasamsadi || 7:8 ||

because a man without clothes receives contempt and disrespect. Even a great soul will despise [him] at the court, among women, in an assembly.

tasmād vastrapradānāni praśaṃsanti manīṣiṇaḥ |
na jīrṇaṃ sphuṭitaṃ dadyād vastraṃ kutsitam eva vā || 7:9 ||

Therefore the wise praise donations of clothes. One should not give away old, torn or dirty clothes.

navam purāṇarahitam mṛdu sūkṣmaṃ suśobhanam |
susaṃskṛtya pradātavyaṃ śraddhābhaktisamanvitam || 7:10 ||

[Clothes] should be donated [only if they are] new, not worn, soft, delicate and beautiful, ornamented, and accompanied by willingness and devotion.

śraddhāsattvaviśeṣeṇa deśakālavidhena ca |
pātradravyaviśeṣeṇa phalam āhuḥ pṛthak pṛthak || 7:11 ||

7.6 Pāda b is difficult to interpret securely. I translate it as if reading śrīs tam api parityajet. Consider also BrahmaP 220.139: vastrābhāve kriyā nāsti yajñā vedās tapāṃsi ca | tasmād vāsāṃsi deyaṇi śrāddhakāle viśeṣataḥ ||

7.8 The intention originally may have been this: “Even if he is a great soul, he will be avoided...”

They say that the reward [of donation/generosity] is in every case dependent on the particular [donor's] willingness and character, the choice of place and time, and on the particular recipient and material.

yādṛśaṃ dīyate vastraṃ tādṛśaṃ prāpyate phalam |
jīṛṇavastrapradānena jīṛṇavastraṃ avāpnuyāt |
śobhanaṃ dīyate vastraṃ śobhanaṃ vastraṃ āpnuyāt || 7:12 ||

The reward received will similar to the clothes donated. By donating old clothes, one would receive old clothes [as a reward]. By donating beautiful clothes, one would receive beautiful clothes [as a reward].

dadyād vastra suśobhanaṃ dvijavare kāle śubhe sādaram saubhāgyam atulaṃ labheta sa naro rūpaṃ tathā śobhanaṃ |
tasmin yāti suvastrakoṭi śataśaḥ prāpnoti niḥsaṃśayam
tasmāt tvaṃ kuru vastradānam asakṛt pāratrikotkarṣaṇam || 7:13 ||

Should one bestow very beautiful clothes on a Brahmin at an auspicious time, respectfully, he [i.e. the donor] will receive unequalled happiness and a beautiful appearance. When he departs, he will be given hundreds of millions of items of nice clothes, no doubt about that. Therefore do donate clothes often. It is the way up to the other world.

[suvarṇadānam — Donation of gold]

suvarṇadānaṃ viprendra saṃkṣīpya kathayāmy aham |
pavitraṃ maṅgalaṃ puṇyaṃ sarvapātakanāśanam || 7:14 ||

O great Brahmin, now I shall teach you about the donation of gold in a concise manner. It is a pure, auspicious and meritorious [act] and it washes off all sins.

dhārayet satataṃ vipra suvarṇakāṭakāṅgulim |
mucyate sarvapāpebhyo rāhuṇā candramā yathā || 7:15 ||

7.11 It seems that vidhena ca stands for vidhinā ca or rather vidhānena metri causa in pāda b. CHECK also ŚDhU, and Florinda's article, etc.

7.13 Note the stem form vastra in pāda a metri causa. 'on a Brahmin' (in pāda a): literally, 'on a person who is first among the twice-born' (dvijavare). The final syllable of saubhāgyam in pāda b counts as long by licence; see, e.g., 5.20 and 6.18b. This time the cæsura is not involved. In pāda c, °koṭi is treated as neuter or as a stem form (metri causa).

Should one hand over [to someone] a golden bracelet or ring, O Brahmin, he will be freed of all sins, just as the moon is freed from [the demon] Rāhu [after an eclipse].

dattvā suvarṇaṃ viprebhyaś devebhyaś ca dvijaṛṣabha |
tuṭimātre 'pi yo dadyāt sarvapāpaiḥ pramucyate || 7:16 ||

If a person donates gold to Brahmins or gods, O excellent Brahmin, even if it is only in a minute quantity, he will be freed of all sins.

raktimāṣakakarṣaṃ vā palārdhaṃ palam eva vā |
evam eva phalaṃvṛddhir jñeyā dānaviśeṣataḥ || 7:17 ||

[The amount can be just] one rakti, a māṣaka, a karṣa, half a pala or a pala: this is exactly how the increase in the [size of the corresponding] reward will be, in proportion to the properties [i.e. amount] of the donation.

[bhūmidānam — Donation of land]

sarvādhāraṃ mahidānaṃ praśamsanti manīṣiṇaḥ |
annavastrahiranyādi sarvaṃ vai bhūmisambhavam || 7:18 ||

The wise praise the donation of land as the basis of everything [else]. Food, clothes, gold etc., all these originate in the land.

bhūmidānena viprendra sarvadānaphalaṃ labhet |
bhūmidānasamaṃ vipra yady asti vada tattvataḥ || 7:19 ||

O Brahmin, one can obtain all the rewards of donation by donating land. If there is anything that equals the donation of land, O Brahmin, you should definitely tell me.

mātrīkukṣivimuktas tu dharaṇīśaraṇo bhavet |
carācarāṇāṃ sarveṣāṃ bhūmiḥ sādharmaṇā smṛtā || 7:20 ||

[Humans] have the earth as their abode as soon as they get out of their mother's womb. Land is said to be common to all that are mobile and immobile.

7.15 I suspect that aṅguli is used in pāda b in the sense of aṅgulīya ('finger-ring').

7.16 The form tuṭi as a widespread variant of truṭi, see e.g. CHECK.

7.17 I suspect that phalaṃ vṛddhir, or phalaṃvṛddhir, stands for phalavṛddhir (phalasya vṛddhiḥ) metri causa, meaning 'the increase of the reward.' rakti, māṣaka, karṣa, and pala are units of weight.

7.20 I take sādhāraṇā as one word, but it is possible that the intention of the author was sā dhāraṇā in two words, in fact meaning sādhāraṇaḥ (sā ādhāraḥ, 'it is the basis').

ekahastam dvihastam vā pañcāśac chatam eva vā |

sahasrāyutalakṣam vā bhūmidānam praśasyate || 7:21 ||

Be it [only a land of] one forearm, two forearms, fifty or a hundred, a thousand, ten thousand, a hundred thousand, donations of land are held in great esteem.

ekahastam ca yo bhūmiṃ dadyād dvijavarāya tu |

varṣakoṣīsatam divyam svargaloke mahīyate || 7:22 ||

Should he donate a piece of land of [only] one forearm to a Brahmin, he will enjoy a billion divine years in heaven.

evam bahuṣu hasteṣu guṇāguṇi phalam smṛtam |

śraddhādhikam phalam dānam kathitam te dvijottama || 7:23 ||

Thus in case of [donating] many forearms [of land], the reward is said to be proportional to the properties [of the land]. O Brahmin, I have taught you about the rewards of donation that is made willingly.

jāmadagnyena rāmeṇa bhūmiṃ dattvā dvijāya vai |

āyur akṣayam āptam tu ihaiva ca dvijottama || 7:24 ||

[Paraśu]rāma, the son of Jamadagni, having donated land to the Brahmin [Kaśyapa], obtained eternal life in this very world, O excellent Brahmin.

7.23 I think that guṇāguṇi, or perhaps guṇagunī (which would be unmetrical, containing two laghus in both the second and third syllables of the pāda), should refer to the idea that, e.g., the donation of a piece of land of 2×2 hastas would result in 2 or $4 \times$ koṣīśata years in heaven, guṇa generally meaning ‘times.’ I take guṇā° as referring to the size of the land donated, and ‘guṇi[n]’ as ‘amounting to that many times,’ but this is only a guess, and it would need to be supported by some similar passage, other than 7.17 above.

I suspect that pāda c is an awkward attempt at saying śraddhādhikadāna(sya) phalam.

7.24 See a summary of the corresponding episode CHECK in the MBh in Mani 1975, 570–571, s.v. Paraśurāma: ‘To atone for the sin of slaughtering even innocent Kṣatriyas, Paraśurāma gave away all his riches as gifts to brahmins. He invited all the brahmins to Samantapañcaka and conducted a great Yāga there. The chief Ṛtvik (officiating priest) of the Yāga was the sage Kaśyapa and Paraśurāma gave all the lands he conquered till that time to Kaśyapa. Then a platform of gold ten yards long and nine yards wide was made and Kaśyapa was installed there and worshipped. After the worship was over according to the instructions from Kaśyapa the gold platform was cut into pieces and the gold pieces were offered to brahmins.

When Kaśyapa got all the lands from Paraśurāma he said thus:—“Oh Rāma, you have given me all your land and it is not now proper for you to live in my soil. You can go to the south and live somewhere on the shores of the ocean there.” Paraśurāma walked south and requested the ocean to give him some land to live.’ Note that without applying the muta cum liquida licence (ca dvi°), pāda d would be iambic and thus metrically problematic.

Always rejoicing in the practice of giving, ..., as far as one's capacities go, one should give food, clothes, gold and silver, water, cows, sesame seeds, land, sandals, parasols, seats, jars, cups or anything else. Making the [deed of] giving willingly (śraddhādāna) something done with an unconditioned affection (rāga) and reverence (vadana), one's mind [becomes] spotless.

dānād eva yaśaḥ śriyaḥ sukhakarāḥ khyātim atulyāṃ labhet

Glory and fortune that makes us happy come about only by donations, and one can gain unequalled fame. Only from donations will reproach [exercised by] the enemy [turn into] pleasure and happiness. Vigour and unequalled graciousness come from donation. One can reach happiness through donations. Endless enjoyments surely come only from donations, and heaven is [reached] also because of it.

7.26 I am unable to interpret pravartanabhavāṃ in pāda a and I suspect that śakyānurūpaṃ in the same pāda stands for śaktyānurūpaṃ metri causa.

7.27 I suspect that khyātis ca tulyam in the MSS stands for khyātim atulyāṃ ('and unequalled fame') and that it is not a clumsy attempt to restore the metre, but rather a later correction gone wrong. I have emended the phrase believing that the second (last) syllable of khyātim may be treated as guru. See the same licence applied in non-anuṣṭubh verses

dānād eva ca śakralokasakalaṃ dānāj janānandanam

The whole world of Śakra [i.e. Indra can be taken as one's possession] by donations only. Donations make people happy. Supreme ruler[s] enjoyed all the land in the world only because of donations. Skanda (candrānana) appears as handsome and fortunate, with a [good] family[? CHECK] only because of donations. One can reach happiness that lasts countless births only through donations, there is no doubt about that.

|| iti vṛṣasārasaṃgrāhe dānapraśaṃsādhyaḥ saptamaḥ ||

Here ends the seventh chapter in the Vṛṣasārasaṃgraha called Praise of Donations.

above, e.g., in 5.20a, 6.18b, 7.13b (just before atula). I doubt if E's reading in pāda c, durjayatā ('invincibility') were better than ūrjayatā transmitted in all the MSS consulted. While ūrjayatā is still problematic, it is not inconceivable that it stands for ūrjatā meaning most probably 'being powerful, strength, vigour.' Also, note here the stem form noun saubhāgya metri causa. Note svargaṃ as a neuter noun, and the stem form °bhoga metri causa in pāda d. The lack of sandhi between eva and ananta^o helps restore the metre.

7.28 °lokasakalaṃ in pāda a is suspect and E's silent emendation (°lokaṃ atulaṃ) is not without reason. I translate pāda b as a general statement although samrāṭ may refer to a specific figure and story in mythology. The perfect form bubhujē, and the next pāda, at least point to this direction.

[Chapter Eight]

[niyameṣu svādhyāyaḥ (s) —
The fifth Niyama-rule: Study]

pañcasvādhyāyanam kāryam ihāmutra sukhārthinā |
śaivam sāmṁkhyam purāṇam ca smārtam bhāratasaṁhitām || 8:1 ||

Five kinds of study are to be pursued by those who wish to be happy in this life and in the other: [one has to study the] Śaiva [teachings], Sāmṁkhya [philosophy], the Purāṇa[s], the Smārta [tradition] and the Bhāratasaṁhitā [i.e. the Mahābhārata].

śaivatattvam vicinteta śaivapāśupatadvaye |
atra vistarataḥ proktaṁ tattvasārasamuccayam || 8:2 ||

He should reflect on the Śaiva truth in both Śaiva and Pāśupata [teachings]. In those teachings the whole essence of truth is taught extensively.

sāmṁkhyātattvam tu sāmṁkhyeṣu boddhavyam tattvacintakaiḥ |
pañcatattvavibhāgena kīrtitāni maharṣibhiḥ || 8:3 ||

Those who reflect on the truth (tattva) can grasp the truth of enumeration [of ontological principles/reality levels] (sāmṁkhyātattva) from Sāmṁkhya [texts]. The great sages taught [those twenty-five] tattvas [of Sāmṁkhya] as being in groups of five.

purāṇeṣu mahikoṣo vistareṇa prakīrtitaḥ |
adhordhvamadhyatiryam ca yatnataḥ sampraveśayet || 8:4 ||

In the Purāṇas it is the sheath[s] of the world that are described extensively. One can definitely enter [the realm] of the lower [world, i.e.

8.1 Note the accusative ending of °saṁhitām after a list consisting of words probably in the nominative. One may correct it to °saṁhitā or rather supply an active verb such as adhigacchet ('he should study').

8.2 Note that śaivatattvam in pāda a is the result of a conjecture and that the reading śaivapāśupatadvaye in pāda b is based on one single manuscript (P₅₇). In spite of these uncertainties, I think that this form of the current half-verse is the only one that yields the appropriate meaning.

8.3 In pāda d, kīrtitāni picks up an implied tattvāni.

hell], the upper [world, i.e. heaven], and middle [world, i.e. the human world], and the horizontal [world, i.e. of animals, by studying the Purāṇas].

śiṣṭācāro 'vikalpena grāhyas tatra aśaṅkitaḥ || 8:5 ||

The Smārta [tradition] deals with the conduct of the social classes (varṇa) and disciplines (āśrama), and with the procedures of Dharma and law-suits. Good conduct is to be gathered from that [source] without hesitation, with certainty.

itihāsam adhīyānaḥ sarvajñaḥ sa naro bhavet |
dharmārthakāmamokṣeṣu saṁśayas tena chidyate || 8:6 ||

A man who studies the epics (itihāsa) will become omniscient. [All his] doubts about Dharma, Artha, Kāma and Mokṣa will be eliminated.

[niyameṣv upasthanigrahaḥ (6) —

The sixth Niyama-rule: Sexual restraint]

śṛṇuṣvāvahito vipra pañcopasthavinigraham |
striyo vā garhitotsargaḥ svayaṁmuktiś ca kīrtiyate |
svapnopathātāṃ viprendra divāsvapnaṃ ca pañcamah || 8:7 ||

Listen with great attention, O Brahmin, to the five [spheres of] sexual restraint. Women, forbidden ejaculation, and masturbation are mentioned [in this context, as well as] offence while sleeping, O Brahmin, and sleeping by day as the fifth.

[striyaḥ —
Women]

agamyā strī divā parve dharmapatny api vā bhavet |
viruddhastrīm na seveta varṇabhraṣṭādhikāsu ca || 8:8 ||

A woman is not to be approached sexually in daytime and on the four days of the changes of the Moon (parvan), even if she is one's lawful wife. One should not have sex with a woman who is taboo or with one of those who have lost their class (varṇa) or are [of a] superior [varṇa than oneself].

8.4 Note that tirya seems to be an acceptable nominal stem in this text for tiryañc. I understand the causative form sampraveśayet as non-causative, and I interpret °madhya° as the 'human world' tentatively. E's silent emendation to samprabodhayet is understandable since to 'enter' these worlds (especially the hells and the human world) through the study of the Purāṇas makes little sense, at least when taken literally.

8.5 Compare pāda a with 3.15c.

[garhitotsargaḥ — Forbidden ejaculation]

ajameṣagavādīnām vadavāmaḥiṣiṣu ca |

garhitotsargam ity etad yatnena parivarjayet || 8:9 ||

Intercourse with goats, sheep, cows, mares, buffalo-cows is called forbidden ejaculation, which is to be avoided at all cost.

[svayaṃmukṭiḥ — Masturbation]

ayonyakaṣaṇā vāpi apānakaṣaṇāpi vā |

svayaṃmuktir iyaṃ jñeyā tasmāt tāṃ parivarjayet || 8:10 ||

Rubbing himself against something else than a female sexual organ or rubbing his anus, are called masturbation, therefore these are to be avoided.

[svapnaghātam — Offence while sleeping]

svapnaghātaṃ dvijaśreṣṭha aniṣṭaṃ paṇḍitaiḥ sadā |

svapne strīṣu ramante ca retaḥ prakṣarate tataḥ || 8:11 ||

Offence while sleeping, O best of Brahmins, has always been [considered] undesirable by the learned. [If] one enjoys women while sleeping, his semen will issue.

[divāsvapnam — Sleeping by day]

divāśayaṃ na kartavyaṃ nityaṃ dharmapareṇa tu |

svargamārgārgalā hy etāḥ striyo nāma prakīrtitāḥ || 8:12 ||

8.8 Understand parve as parvani (thematization of the stem in -an). The nominative °strī in pāda c, now corrected to the accusative, may be the result of an eyeskip to strī in pāda a.

8.9 Understand °ādīnām in pāda a as standing for the locative case. Understand °sargam as neuter nominative (instead of °sargaḥ) or alternatively understand pāda c with a hiatus bridge: garhitotsarga-m-ity etad.

8.10 The conjecture that changes anyonya° to ayonya° in pāda a involves minimal intervention and makes the sentence much more meaningful than the version transmitted. Also consider ayoni°. The variant strī for tām in pāda d in the E may be one example of the numerous silent intervention made by Naraharināth in his edition.

Sleeping by day should always be avoided by those who are intent on Dharma. These women are called ‘the bolts [that block the gate to] the path to heaven.’

[niyameṣu vratapañcakam (7) —

The seventh Niyama-rule: religious observances]

mārjārabakaśvānagomahīvratapañcakam |

[mārjārakavratam —

The Cat Vow]

svaviṣṭhamūtram bhūmiṣu chādayed dvijasattama |

sūryasomānumodanti mārjāravratikeṣu ca || 8:13 ||

[Hear about] the five religious observances [called] the cat, the crane, the dog, the cow, and the earth. He buries his own urine and faeces in the ground, O truest Brahmin. He rejoices [seeing] the sun and the moon when performing the cat observance.

[bakavratam —

The Crane Vow]

bakavac cendriyagrāmam suniyamya tapodhana |

sādhayec ca manastuṣṭim mokṣasāadhanatatparaḥ || 8:14 ||

O great ascetic, one should suppress all his senses like a crane, and should cultivate the peace of the mind, focusing on achieving liberation.

[śvānavratam —

The Dog Vow]

mūtraviṣṭhe na bhūmiṣu kurute śvānadaḥ sadā |

tuṣyate bhagavān śarvaḥ śvānavratacarō yadi || 8:15 ||

8.12 It is not crystal clear why ‘sleeping by day’ should count as one of the offences against sexual restraint. Even if we translated divāsvapna and divāśaya as ‘daydreaming,’ this category would still seem out of context. Pādas cd are clumsy and out of context. They would fit verse 8.8 better.

8.13 Note °viṣṭha° for viṣṭhā metri causa in pāda c (ma-vipulā). Alternatively, read svaviṣṭhāmūtra bhūmiṣu (pathyā). Note the stem form sūryasoma for sūryasomau in pāda e. It is not entirely clear why cats would rejoice seeing the Sun and the Moon. Perhaps this remark refers to the fact that cats can be active both in the daytime and at night.

8.14 Cranes are compared to ascetics here probably because of the similarity of their posture when relaxing standing on one leg to ascetics performing penance standing on one leg (such as the ascetic, and a cat, depicted on the famous relief in Mahabalipuram).

He does not bury his urine and faeces in the ground, and he barks constantly. Lord Śarva [i.e. Śiva] is satisfied when one practises the dog observance.

[govratam —

The Cow Vow]

mūtravarco na rudhyeta sadā govratiko narah |

bhīmas tuṣṭikarāś caiva purāṇeṣu nigadyate || 8:16 ||

A person practising the Cow Vow should never hold back his urine and faeces. This is a terrifying [observance] that gives satisfaction, [as] stated in the Purāṇas.

[mahīvrataṃ —

The Earth Vow]

kuddālair dārayanto 'pi kīlakoṭṣataiś citah |

8.15 A possible explanation for Śiva being satisfied with an ascetic practising this observance is that Śiva's Bhairava form often has a dog as his mount. See, e.g., Bakker 2014, 232–233 on a 5–6th-century image of Bhairava and a dog carved in rock at Muṇḍeśvarī Hill not far from Vārāṇasī, and Mirnig 2013, 334. ?CHECK This observance has ancient roots. Its practitioner, the kukkuravatika appears in Majjhimanikāya 2.1.7, in the Kukkuravatiya-sutta, alongside with a practitioner of the govrata (govatika), an observance that comes up in the next verse in the VSS: evaṃ me sutam. ekaṃ samayaṃ bhagavā kolīyesu viharati haliddavasanaṃ nāma kolīyānaṃ nigamo. atha kho puṇṇo ca kolīyaputto govatiko, acelo ca seniyo kukkuravatiko yena bhagavā tenupasaṅkamimsu... See Acharya 2013, 127–128. Acharya summarises the Kukkuravatiyasutta thus: ‘The Kukkuravatiyasutta from the Majjhimanikāya (II.1.7) presents a govatika together with a kukkuravatika. They are observing their vows, and have adopted the behaviour of a bull and a dog respectively. The Buddha tells them that as they are cultivating bullness and dogness, the state of mind of these animals, they will go to hell or become reborn as animal. They are alarmed at this and take refuge in the Buddha.’

8.16 I prefer reading bhīma and tuṣṭi^o as two separate words, the first one either in stem form (C₉₄C₄₅K₈₂K₇P₅₇.) or as bhīmas (C₀₂K₁₀E) or bhīmaṃ (em.), to reading these two words as a compound because of the following caiva. I suspect that both bhīma and tuṣṭikara refer to the vrata, rather than its practitioner, but I have not emended bhīmas tuṣṭikarāś to bhīmaṃ tuṣṭikaraṃ because vrata appears as a masculine noun, e.g., in 8.17d below.

Acharya 2013 gives a number of significant clues about the origins of this observance. After exploring its links to Pāśupatas, Acharya 2013, 116–118, quotes Jaiminiyabrāhmaṇa 2.113, which contains the phrase yatra yatraīnaṃ viṣṭhā vindet tat tad vitiṣṭheta, in Acharya's translation: ‘Wherever he feels the urge to evacuate faeces, right there he should evacuate.’ This is an instruction in a Vedic text that is close to what the VSS teaches above. Incidentally, the Jaiminiyabrāhmaṇa adds: tena haitenottaravayasy e [va] yajeta (translated in Acharya 2013, 118 as: ‘One should perform this [sacrifice] in the final years of one's life’).

kṣamate prthivī devī evam eva mahīvrataḥ || 8:17 ||

Splitting [the earth] with spades and laid on hundreds of pointed wedges:
Goddess Earth bears [this] patiently. This is exactly how one can practise the earth vow.

vratapañcakam ity etad yaś careta jitendriyaḥ |

sa cottamam idaṃ lokam prāpnoti na ca saṃśayaḥ || 8:18 ||

He who practises these five religious observances with his senses subdued will, without doubt, reach this superior world [i.e. heaven?].

[niyameṣv upavāsaḥ (8) —

8.17 While dārayanto as an active participle in the masculine nominative is acceptable as an irregular form, the precise interpretation of pādas a and b is still problematic therefore my translation of this verse is tentative and the description seems too condensed to be intelligible. Kengo Harimoto suggested that C₀₂ and E might be transmitting the correct reading, and then the reference would be to soil piled up by millions of insects (kīṭakoṭi°), instead of points of wedges (kīlakoṭi°). Nevertheless, now I think that the reference point could be Bhīṣma's dying scene in the MBh, where the great warrior is lying on a bed of hundreds of arrows: sa śete śaratalpastho medinīm asprśaṃs tadā: 'Then he lay there on his bed of arrows, without touching the ground' (MBh 6.115.8ab). The word cita is used in the same context in MBh 12.47.4ab: vikīrṇāṃśur ivādityo bhīṣmaḥ śaraśataiś citaḥ: 'Bhīṣma, laid on a hundred arrows, was like the Sun with its scattered rays of light.' If this interpretation of VSS 8.17 is correct, the observance described here may require one to dig the ground, install wedges, and lie on them, in the manner of fakirs. The reference to the Earth in pāda c may have been inspired by lines such as MBh 6.115.11cd: rarāsa prthivī caiva bhīṣme śāmtanave hate: 'The Earth cried out when Bhīṣma, the son of Śāmtanu, was killed.'

In BhavP 4.121, called 'The Description of eighty-five observances' (vratapañcāṣṭi-varṇana), we find this on mahīvrata: dadyāt triṃśatpalād ūrdhvaṃ mahīm kṛtvā tu kām-canīm | kulācalādrisahitām tilavastrasamanvitām || 152 || tiladroṇopari gatām brāhmaṇāya kuṭumbine | dinam payovratas tiṣṭhed rudraloke mahīyate || 153 || etan mahīvrataṃ proktaṃ saptakalpānuvartakam |.

A tentative translation of this passage would go as follows: 'One should donate a golden [model of] Earth that weighs more than thirty palas (appr. one kilogram), showing the chief mountain-ranges, together with [donations of] sesamum seeds and clothes, the sesamum seeds [weighing] more than a droṇa (appr. ten kilograms), to a householder Brāhmin. One should keep the milk-observance [i.e. subsisting on nothing but milk] for one day, and one will have fun in Rudraloka. This is called the Earth Observance whose range is seven æons.' (I take the values for weights from Olivelle 2005, 997.) The descriptions of the dharāvṛata and the śubhadvādaśī observance in Kane 1941–1962, v. 5, 321 and 429 are similar. The VSS's mahīvrata seems different, and more in line with the somewhat transgressive and wild, perhaps Pāśupata-oriented, nature of the four preceding observances.

8.18 Note the neuter idaṃ picking up the normally masculine lokaṃ in pāda c, and that the same idaṃ would make more sense if the interlocutor were a deity, e.g., Śiva, referring to his abode, and not Anarthayajña, the ascetic.

The eighth Niyama-rule: Eating restrictions]

śeṣānnaṃ antarānnaṃ ca naktāyācitam eva ca |
upavāsaṃ ca pañcāitat kathayiṣyāmi tac chṛṇu || 8:19 ||

Eating leftovers, [not] eating in-between [breakfast and dinner], eating [only] at night, eating food obtained without solicitation, and fasting: listen, I shall teach you these five.

[śeṣānnaṃ — Eating leftovers]

vaiśvadevātithiśeṣaṃ pitṛśeṣaṃ ca yad bhavet |
bhṛtyaputrakalatrebhyaḥ śeṣāśi vighasāśanaḥ || 8:20 ||

[He who eats] the leftovers belonging to all the gods, to guests, and to the ancestors, he who eats the leftovers (śeṣāśin) of servants, sons and wives, is [called in general] the one who consumes the remains of food (vighasāśana).

[antarānnaṃ —

[Not] eating in-between breakfast and dinner]

antarā prātarāśi ca sāyamāśi tathaiva ca |
sadopavāśi bhavati yo na bhuṅkte kadācana || 8:21 ||

He will be regarded as one that is always fasting if he never eats between breakfast and dinner.

[naktānnaṃ —

Eating [only] at night]

na divā bhojanaṃ kāryaṃ rātrau naiva ca bhojayet |
naktavele ca bhoktavyaṃ naktadharmaṃ samīhatā || 8:22 ||

One should eat neither in the daytime nor in the evening, and should eat [only] at midnight if he wishes to follow the practice of [eating only at] night (naktadharma).

8.19 Note how this category of niyama-rules was called upavāsa (‘fasting’) in 5.3c above but how in fact upavāsa is just the fifth subcategory withing this group of eating restrictions.

8.21 My translation here follows the parallel verse in the MBh and is based on that of Kisari Mohan Ganguli (Ganguli 1883–1896). The syntax of the version here in the VSS is less smooth than that in the MBh, and the VSS’s reading prāntarāśi definitely required an emendation.

8.22 Note °vele for °velāyām in pāda c.

[ayācitānnam —

Eating food obtained without solicitation]

anārambhya ya āhāraṃ kuryān nityam ayācitam |

parair dattaṃ tu yo bhuñkte tam ayācitam ucyate || 8:23 ||

He who consumes food only without initiating [the donation], without asking for it, and eats [only] that which has been given by others is called [one who eats] unsolicited [food].

[upavāsaḥ —

Fasting]

bhakṣyaṃ bhojyaṃ ca lehyaṃ ca coṣyaṃ peyaṃ ca pañcamam |

na kāñkṣen nopayuñjīta upavāsaḥ sa ucyate || 8:24 ||

Chewable and unchewable food, food to be sipped or sucked or drunk, as the fifth [category]: if one does not long for and does not consume [any of the above], that is called fasting (upavāsa).

[niyameṣu maunavrataṃ (9) —

The ninth Niyama-rule: Silence]

mithyāpiśunapāruṣyatikṣṇavāg apralāpanam |

maunapañcakam ity etad dhārayen niyatavrataḥ || 8:25 ||

One who is disciplined in religious observances should observe silence in [i.e. should avoid] these five: deceitful speech, envious speech, insult, harsh speech and bragging.

[mithyāvacanam —

Deceitful speech]

asambhūtam adṛṣṭaṃ ca dharmāc cāpi bahiṣkṛtam |

anarthāpriyavākyaṃ yat tan mithyāvacanam smṛtam || 8:26 ||

8.23 anārambhasya ('of someone who has not yet started/initiated') in pāda a seems suspect, hence my conjecture (anārambhya ya) that involves minimal intervention and yields better sense. I take ayācitam in pāda b adverbially.

8.24 For a detailed discussion of the categories bhakṣya, bhojya, lehya and coṣya, see Kafle 2020, 245, n. 534. See also ŚDhU 8.13: bhakṣyaṃ bhojyaṃ ca peyaṃ ca lehyaṃ coṣyaṃ ca picchilam | iti bhedaḥ śaḍannasya madhurādyās ca śaḍguṇāḥ ||

8.25 pāruṣya seems to be the good reading in pāda a, as opposed to C₀₂'s sambhinnā, because in the following a short section on the category of pāruṣya is coming up (in 8.28). As far as the readings prṣṭavāg and prṣṭavāg are concerned, I suppose prṣṭavāg is not inconceivable (as suggested by Judit Törzsök), for in 8.29 it is, in a way, questions that are given as relevant examples. Nevertheless I conjectured tikṣṇavāg here, relying on the same verse, 8.29.

Fictitious [speech], [speech about] unknown [things], [speech about things] outside the range of Dharma, meaningless and unfriendly speech: these are called deceitful speech.

[piśunah —
Envy]

paraśrīṃ nābhinandanti parasyaiśvaryaṃ eva ca |
aniṣṭadarśanākāṅkṣī piśunah samudāhṛtaḥ || 8:27 ||

One who does not rejoice in others' fortune or in others' power, one who would like to see something disadvantageous [for others] is called envious.

[pāruṣyam — Insult]

mṛtā mātā pitā caiva hānisthānaṃ kathaṃ bhavet |
bhūṅkṣva kāmam amṛṣṭānāṃ pāruṣyaṃ samudāhṛtaṃ || 8:28 ||

‘[Your] mother and father are dead. How can this be a condition for deficit? Enjoy the love of unclean women!’ [These are] called insult.

Verbal abuse]

hṛdi na sphuṭase mūḍha śiro vā na vidāryase |
evamādīny anekāni tikṣṇavādī sa ucyate || 8:29 ||

‘Won’t you burst in your heart, stupid? [Why] don’t you break your head?’ [If one utters] these or similar [curses], he is said to be using verbal abuse.

[asatpralāpaḥ —
Bragging]

dyūtabhojanayuddhaṃ ca madyastrikathaṃ eva ca |
asatpralāpaḥ pañcāitat kīrtitaṃ me dvijottama || 8:30 ||

Relating fancy stories about gambling, enjoyments, fights, drinking and women are the five types of bragging. [Thus] have I taught [reasons for observing silence], O excellent Brahmin.

8.28 My translation of pāda b, or rather of the whole verse, is tentative, and to make sense of pāda a, I have chosen a reading (mṛtā) that is not well attested. I am not at all certain that I understand what these abusive words imply.

8.30 I take °kathaṃ in pāda b as an alternative nominative form of °kathā metri causa

maunam eva sadā kāryaṃ vākyaśaubhāgyam icchatā |
apāruṣyam asambhinnaṃ vākyaṃ satyam udīrayet || 8:31 ||

Those who long for speech eloquent speech should always observe silence. One should speak true words without insult and idle talk.

yaś tu maunasya no kartā dūṣitaḥ sa kulādhamah |
janme janme ca durgandho mūkaś caivopajāyate || 8:32 ||

He who does not observe silence is defiled and he is the black sheep of the family. For a number of rebirths, [his mouth] will stink and he will become mute.

tasman maunavratam sadaiva sudṛḍham kurvīta yo niścitam
vācā tasya alaṅghyatā ca bhavati sarvāṃ sabhāṃ nandati | vaktrāc cōtpalagandham asya satatam vāyanti gandhotkaṭāḥ
śāstrānekaśaśraśo giri naraḥ proccāryate nirmalam || 8:33 ||

Therefore the speech of a person who always observes silence firmly, with resolution, will be impossible to ignore and it will make the community rejoice. The fragrance of lotuses and [other kinds of] rich fragrances will blow from his mouth. Thousands of faultless śāstras will be declared in the words of this person.

[niyameṣu snānam (10) —

The tenth Niyama-rule: Bathing]

snānam pañcavidham caiva pravakṣyāmi yathātatham |
āgneyam vāruṇam brāhmyam vāyavyam divyam eva ca || 8:34 ||

I shall teach you the five kinds of bathing as they really are: fire bath, water bath, Vedic bath, wind bath and divine bath.

and as belonging to all the categories here thus: dyūtakathā, bhojanakathā, yuddhakathā, madyakathā, strīkathā. Note the use of the singular next to a number in pāda c and understand me in pāda d as mayā. The latter usage appears in the epics, see Oberlies 2003, 102–103 (4.1.3).

8.32 The form janme for janmani often occurs in Śaiva tantras as a typically Aīśa phenomenon. See, e.g., NiśvNaya 1.86a (janme janme vimūḍhātmā, see Goodall, Sanderson, & Isaacson 2015, 114 and 191) and BraYā 45.8b, 452a, 559a (the last reads janme janme tu yā jātim, see Kiss 2015, 83 and 128ff). Thematisation of stems in -an occurs in the epics, see Oberlies 2003, 88 (3.10).

8.33 To make sense of pāda d, we are forced to take śāstra as a stem form noun and naraḥ as a (regular) genitive from nṛ. (I thank Judit Törzsök for this interpretation.) Another way of understanding the beginning of this sentence would be to separate śāstrāneka° as śāstrān eka°, treating the word śāstra as masculine.

[āgneyaṃ snānam —

Fire bath]

āgneyaṃ bhasmanā snānaṃ toyāc chataguṇaṃ phalam |
bhasmapūtaṃ pavitraṃ ca bhasma pāpaprāṇāśanam || 8:35 ||

Fire bath is [performed] with ashes. Its fruits are a hundred times bigger than [those of] a water [bath]. [Things] purified with ashes are holy. Ashes destroy sin.

tasmād bhasma prayuñjīta dehināṃ tu malāpaham |
sarvaśāntikaraṃ bhasma bhasma rakṣakam uttamam || 8:36 ||

Therefore one should use ash for it purifies humans of their defilement. Ashes yield appeasement for everyone. Ash is the ultimate protector.

bhasmanā tryāyusaṃ kṛtvā brahmacaryavrate sthitam |
bhasmanā ṛṣayaḥ sarve pavitrikṛtam ātmanaḥ || 8:37 ||

Drawing [the sectarian marks on their foreheads while reciting] the Tryāyusa [mantra], observing chastity, all the sages purified themselves with ashes.

8.37 Note tryāyusa in the sense of the three puṇḍra-lines on the forehead and compare with 11.28c. Understand sthitam as sthitat or rather sthitāt if we are to connect this line to the next (8.37cd). Understand pavitrikṛtam as pavitrikṛtvantaḥ.

The reference here may be a story in which Kaśyapa and other Ṛṣis are burnt to ashes, to be later reanimated by Virabhadra, in the Śokara forest. See PadmaP 5.107.1–14ff: śucis-mitovāca | kaśyapaṃ jamadagniṃ ca devānāṃ ca purā katham | rarakṣa bhasma tad brahman samācakṣva mune mama || 1 || dadhīca uvāca | kaśyapādiyutā devāḥ pūrvam abhyāgaman girim | śokaraṃ nāma vikhyātaṃ girimadhye suśobhanam || 2 || nānāviham-gasaṃkīrṇaṃ nānāmunigaṇāśrayam | vāsudevāśrayaṃ ramyaṃ apsarogaṇasevitam || 3 || vicitravṛkṣasaṃvītaṃ sarvartukusumojjvalam | tathāvidhaṃ praviśyaite girim vāyam athāpare || 4 || stuvantaḥ keśavaṃ tatra gatāḥ sma giriśeṣvaram | dṛṣtvā tatra mahājvalāṃ praviṣṭāś ca vāyam ca tām || 5 || māmekaṃ tu tiraskṛtya hy adahad devatā munin | māṃ dadāha tataḥ paścād bhasmībhūtā vāyam śubhe || 6 || asmān etādṛśān dṛṣtvā vīrabhadraḥ pratāpavān | kenāpi kāraṇenāsau gatavān parvataṃ ca tam || 7 || bhasmoddhūlitasarvāṅgo mastakasthaśivaḥ śuciḥ | ekākī niḥspṛhaḥ śānto hāhāśabdān athāśṛṇot || 8 || atha cintāparaś cāsin mriyamāṇa śavadhvaniḥ | śavānām iva gandhaś ca dṛśyate tannirikṣaṇe || 9 || iti nīscitya manasā jagāmāgnim atiprabham | sa vahnir vīrabhadraṃ ca dagdhum ārabdhavān atha || 10 || tṛṇāgnir iva śānto 'bhūd āsādya salilaṃ yathā | tato 'parāṃ mahājvalāṃ vīrabhadraḥ tu dṛṣṭavān || 11 || khaṃ gacchantiṃ mahākālo jvalāṃ nipatitām api | manasā cintayac cāpi vīrabhadraḥ pratāpavān || 12 || sarveṣāṃ nāśinī jvalā prāṇināṃ śatakoṭīśaḥ | tat sarvaṃ rakṣaṇārthaṃ hi pipāsus cāpy ahaṃ tv imām || 13 || prāśnāmi mahatiṃ jvalāṃ salilaṃ tṛṣito yathā | etasminn antare vīraṃ vāg āha cāśarīriṇī || 14 ||.

bhasmanā vibudhā muktā vīrabhadrabhayārditāḥ |
bhasmānuśaṃsaṃ dr̥ṣṭvaiva brahmaṇānumatiḥ kṛtā || 8:38 ||

The gods, afflicted by their fear of Vīrabhadra, were set free with the help of ashes. Seeing the glory of ashes, Brahmā consented [to the use of this otherwise impure substance].

caturāśramato 'dhikyam vratam pāśupatam kṛtam |
tasmāt pāśupatam śreṣṭham bhasmadhāraṇahetutaḥ || 8:39 ||

[Thus] the Pāśupata observance was created, which is above [the system of] the four āśramas. Therefore the Pāśupata [observance] is the best because it involves carrying ashes [on one's body].

[vāruṇam snānam —
 Water bath]

vāruṇam salilam snānam kartavyam vividham naraiḥ |
nadītoyataḍāgeṣu prasraveṣu hradeṣu ca || 8:40 ||

A water bath (vāruṇa) is to be performed with water in different ways by [different] people: in the water of rivers, water tanks, streams and ponds.

[brāhmyam snānam —
 Vedic bath]

brahmasnānam ca viprendra āpohiṣṭham vidur budhāḥ |
trisaṃdhyam eva kartavyam brahmasnānam tad ucyate || 8:41 ||

The wise know the Vedic bath as [the one performed with the Vedic mantra beginning] āpo hi ṣṭhā, O excellent Brahmin. It is to be performed at the three junctures of the day [dawn, noon, evening]. It is called the Vedic bath.

8.38 The verse may refer to the destruction of Dakṣa's sacrifice, after which the gods were relieved. See old SkandaP 180.1–4ab (in which our pāda b is echoed): sanatkumāra uvāca | brahmādyā devatā vyāsa dakṣayajñavadhe purā | śaṅkaram śaraṇam jagmur vīrabhadrabhayārditāḥ || 1 || gaṇendrenābhiyuktās tu bhasmakūṭāni bhejire | yadā bhasma praviṣṭās te tejah śaṅkaram uttamam || 2 || abhavan te tadā raudrāḥ paśavo dikṣitā iva | bhasmābhasitaḡātrāṇām śaṅkaravratācāriṇām || 3 || svam yogaṃ pradadau teṣām tadā deva umāpatiḥ |

8.39 One could simply accept the reading of C₀₂ (hetunā) in pāda d, but all other rejected readings hint at an original hetutaḥ (as remarked by Judit Törzsök).

8.40 The reading vividham in pāda b seems to be the lectio difficilior as opposed to the rejected vidhivat.

[vāyavyaṃ snānam —
Wind bath]

goṣu saṃcāramārgeṣu yatra godhūlisambhavaḥ |
tatra gatvāvasīdeta snānam uktaṃ maṇiṣibhiḥ || 8:42 ||

He should go where, on the paths where cows roam, dust is rising, and he should sit down there. This is called [a kind of] bath, [namely the vāyavya or wind-bath].

[divyaṃ snānam —
Heavenly bath]

varṣatoyāmbudhārābhiḥ plāvayitvā svakāṃ tanum |
snānaṃ divyaṃ vadaty eva jagadādimaheśvaraḥ || 8:43 ||

One should immerse one's own body in the water-showers of rain water. The one and only great Lord (maheśvara) of the universe calls it heavenly bath.

iti niyamavibhāgaḥ pañcabhedena vipra
nigadita tava prṣṭaḥ sarvalokānukampya |
sakalamalapahārī dharmapañcāśad etan
na bhavati punajanma kalpakotyaṃyute 'pi || 8:44 ||

Thus have I taught you the section on the Niyama-rules in divisions of five [sub-categories to each] because you asked me to, favouring the whole world. These fifty Dharmic [teachings], wipe off all the defilement. There will not be rebirth [for one who keeps these rules], not even in millions of æons.

8.41 The Ṛgvedic mantra starting with āpo hi sthā (RV 10.9.1–3) is traditionally associated with mārjana ('cleaning, wiping'). According to Kane 1941–1962, v. 4, 120, a Brahmin "should bathe thrice in the day, should perform mārjana (splashing or sprinkling water on the head and other limbs by means of kuśas dipped in water after repeating sacred mantras) with the three verses 'apo hi sthā' [sic] (Rg. X.9.1–3) [...]" This suggests a method of bathing that is more of a ritual than an actual bath.

8.42 Understand goṣu in pāda a as gavām (genitive). This version of bathing seems to be a way of taking a shower in the holy dust raising from under the hooves of cows.

8.44 This verse marks not only the end of a long section on the Niyama rules, but also the end of a major part of the text that discusses the ten Yama and ten Niyama rules, spanning 3.16–8.44.

There are two stem form nouns in pāda b: I suspect that E is right assuming that in order to restore the metre, we must have nigadita and not nigaditas, which is transmitted in all the witnesses; also understand sarvalokānukampya in pāda b as sarvalokān anukampya. Understand sakalamalapahārī in pāda c as sakala-mala-apahārī, which would be unmetrical, and compare it with duritamalapahārī in 4.89c. Take etan/etad as either picking up °pahārī or rather a plural corresponding to °pañcāśad. The latter phenomenon, namely the use of the singular after numbers, is one of the hallmarks of the text.

|| iti vṛṣasārasaṃgrāhe niyama-praśaṃsā nāmādhyaḃyo 'ṣṭamaḥ ||

Here ends the eighth chapter in the Vṛṣasārasaṃgrāha called the Praise of the Niyama-rules

By 'fifty Dharmas,' the text refers to the ten main Niyama-rules × five subcategories.

The licence of an word-ultimate short syllable treated as long (°janma in pāda d) is also frequently seen here. Note also puna for punar metri causa.

[navamo 'dhyāyaḥ]
[Chapter Nine]

[traiguṇyam —

The system of three qualities]

trikālaguṇabhedena bhinnam sarvacarācaram |

tasmāt triguṇabandhena veṣṭitam nikhilam jagat || 9:1 ||

The whole universe with its moving and unmoving elements is divided by the three subdivisions (guṇa) of time. Therefore the whole world is bound by the fetters of three qualities (guṇa).

vigatarāga uvāca |

traikālyam iti kiṃ jñeyam traidhātukaśarīriṇaḥ |

kimcid vistaram eveha kathayasva tapodhana || 9:2 ||

Vigatarāga spoke: What does the term ‘the three times’ mean for an embodied creature that is made up of three constituents (dhātuka)? Teach me about this in a somewhat more extended manner, O great ascetic.

9.1 It is only M, a MS not collated for this chapter, that inserts, post correctionem, anarthayañña uvāca at the beginning of this chapter. It is not really needed: Anarthayañña’s teaching continues without interruption here. Another possibility is that this verse was originally the continuation of the end of chapter two (2:40ef: traikālyakalanāt kālas tena kālaḥ prakīrtitaḥ). At least it seems to directly connect there topic-wise. My translation of guṇa in pāda a is tentative.

9.2 I have included the element trai^o in the lemma in pādas ab only because C₀₂ has a slightly unusual ligature there (mtrai).

As for the interpretation of traidhātuka in pāda b, an intelligent guess would be a reference to the three so-called ‘humours’ of the body, namely pitta, vāyu/anila/vāta, and śleṣman. These are discussed later in, e.g., VSS 23:31–32ab, in the context of types of sleep: śleṣmapittānilasthāne trīṇi pakṣāṇi vāsināḥ | tamaḥ śleṣmāśrayā nidrā rajonidrā tu vātikā || pittāśrayam smṛtām nidrām sāttvikām viddhi bhūpate |

MBh 12.330.21–22ab clearly states that the three dhātus, pitta, śleṣma and vāyu, keep the body alive: trayo hi dhātavaḥ khyātāḥ karmajā iti ca smṛtāḥ | pittaṃ śleṣmā ca vāyus ca eṣa saṃghāta ucyaṭe || etaiś ca dhāryate jantur etaiḥ kṣīṇaiś ca kṣīyate |

The present verse in the VSS contains the only occurrence of the term traidhātuka in the text. In 5.11cd, dhātu is probably used in the same Ayurvedic sense that I am proposing here (dhātuvaīṣamyanāśo ’sti na ca rogāḥ sudāruṇāḥ). Elsewhere dhātu means ‘verbal root’ (3.3), ‘metal’ (16.6: yathā vai sarvadhātūnām doṣā dahyanti dhāmyatām | tathā pāpāḥ pradahyante dhruvam prāṇasya nigrhāt ||), and ‘gross element’ (for Sāṃkhya-style mahābhūtas in chapter 20). To slightly complicate things, chapter thirteen claims that the human body is made up of two dhātus, somadhātu and agnidhātu. Semen contains somadhātu, men-

anarthayajña uvāca |
traikālyam triguṇam jñeyam vyāpī prakṛtisambhavaḥ |
anyonyam upajīvanti anyonyam anuvartinaḥ || 9:3 ||

Anarthayajña spoke: The three times are the three qualities (guṇa). They are [all-]pervading and are born from Prakṛti. They support each other, they follow each other.

sattvaṃ rajas tamaś caiva rajāḥ sattvaṃ tamas tathā |
tamaḥ sattvaṃ rajas caiva anyonyamithunāḥ smṛtāḥ || 9:4 ||

Sattva, Rajas and Tamas; Rajas, Sattva and Tamas; Tamas, Sattva and Rajas; they are mutually each other's pairs.

sātviko bhagavān viṣṇu rājasah kamalodbhavaḥ |
tāmaso bhagavān īśah sakalamvikaleśvaraḥ || 9:5 ||

Lord Viṣṇu is Sattvic. [Brahmā], the one who was born on a lotus, is Rājasa. Lord Īśa is Tāmasa, [both in his] complete (sakala) [form] and [as] formless (vikala) Īśvara.

sattvaṃ kundenduvarṇābhaṃ padmarāganibhaṃ rajāḥ |
tamaś cāñjanaśailābhaṃ kīrtitāni manīṣibhiḥ || 9:6 ||

Sattva is of the colour of jasmine and the moon. Rajas is of the colour of ruby. Tamas is of the colour of lamp-black and colliryum. [This is how the colours of the qualities] are taught by the wise.

sattvaṃ jalam rajo 'ṅgāraṃ tamo dhūmasamākulam |
etadguṇamayair baddhāḥ pacyante sarvadehinaḥ || 9:7 ||

Sattva is water, Rajas is charcoal, Tamas is filled with smoke. All living creature are being burnt away by [the fire] of these qualities (guṇa).

strual blood agnidhātu, and the new-born baby is thus made up of both. See e.g. 13.20cd–13.21: śukraśoṇitasamīyogād garbhotpattis tataḥ smṛtāḥ || agnisomātmakam devi śarīradvayadhātutataḥ | somadhātu smṛtam śukram agnidhātu rajāḥ smṛtam | agnisomāśrayam devi śarīram iti samjñitam ||

9.3 Understand pāda b as referring to the neuter traikālyam or rather triguṇam (gender confusion).

9.5 My altering the reading viṣṇu to viṣṇu in pāda a against all witnesses may be regarded as an overcorrection and the stem form could be original. My translation of pādas cd is tentative. I suspect that pāda d is one single compound, the anusvāra is only inserted to avoid the metric fault of two laghu syllables at the second and third position. I understand vikala as a synonym of niṣkala. For the tantric connotations of the pair sakala-niṣkala see, e.g., TAK III s.v. niṣkala.

vigatarāga uvāca |
kena kena prakāreṇa guṇapāśena badhyate |
cihnam eṣāṃ prthaktvena kathayasva tapodhana || 9:8 ||

Vigatarāga spoke: By what sort of nooses of the qualities (guṇa) is [a person] bound? Teach me the signs connected to them one by one, O great ascetic.

anarthayajña uvāca |
anekākārabhāvena badhyante guṇabandhanaiḥ |
mohitā nābhijānanti jānanti śivayoginaiḥ || 9:9 ||

Anarthayajña spoke: [Creatures] are bound in many ways and by many conditions by the fetters of the qualities (guṇa). Those who are deluded do not know. The Śivayogins do know.

ūrdhvaṃgo nityasattvastho madhyago rajasāvṛtaḥ |
adhogatis tamo'vasthā bhavanti puruṣādhamāḥ || 9:10 ||

He who is always established in Sattva goes upwards. He who is covered with Rajas goes in the middle. Those lowest of men in the state of Tamas go downward.

svarge 'pi hi trayo vaite bhāvanīyās tapodhana |
mānuṣeṣu ca tīryeṣu guṇabhedās trayas trayāḥ || 9:11 ||

These three kinds of [guṇas] are to be acknowledged even in heaven, O great ascetic, and among humans and also among animals.

[sāttvikottamāḥ — Superior Sattva-type]

brahmā viṣṇuś ca rudraś ca dharma indraḥ prajāpatiḥ |
soma 'gnir varuṇaḥ sūryo daśa sattvottamāḥ smṛtāḥ || 9:12 ||

The ten superior Sattva [beings] are: Brahmā, Viṣṇu, Rudra, Dharma, Indra, Prajāpati, Soma, Agni, Varuṇa and Sūrya.

[sāttvikamadhyamāḥ — Middle Sattva-type]

rudrādityā vasusādhyā viśveśamaruto dhruvaḥ |
ṛṣayaḥ pitaraś caiva daśaite sattvamadhyamāḥ || 9:13 ||

The ten middle-ranking Sattva [beings] are: Rudra[s], Ādityas, Vasus, Sādhyas, Viśveśa [or the Viśvedevas and Īśa?], the Maruts, Dhruva, the sages, and the ancestors.

[sāttvikādhamāḥ — Low Sattva-type]

tārā grahāḥ surā yakṣā gandharvāḥ kiṃnaroragāḥ |
rakṣobhūtapīśācāś ca daśaite sāttvikādhamāḥ || 9:14 ||

The ten low-ranking Sattva [beings] are the stars, the planets, the Suras, the Yakṣas, the Gandharvas, the Kiṃnaras, the Serpents, the Rakṣases, the Ghosts, and the Pīśācas.

9.10 Understand adhogatis in pāda c as a bahuvrihi in the plural (adhogatayas).

9.12 Note that Brahmā was labelled as Rajas-type in 9.5b above.

9.13 Note that there seems to be only nine names/categories listed here unless we try to interpret viśveśa as viśvedevāḥ and īśaḥ.

[rājasottamāḥ —

Superior Rajas-type]

ṛtvik purohitācāryayajvāno 'tithi vijñanāḥ |

rājā mantrī vratī vedī daśaite rājasottamāḥ || 9:15 ||

The ten superior Rājasa [categories] are Ṛtvij priests, domestic Purohita chaplains, teachers, sacrificers, guests, the wise, kings, ministers, people engaged in religious observances, and learned [Brahmins].

[rājasamadhyamāḥ —

Middle Rajas-type]

sūto 'mbaṣṭhavaṇiś cograh śilpikārukamāgadhāḥ |

veṇavaidehakāmātyā daśaite rajamadhyamāḥ || 9:16 ||

The ten middle-ranking Rājasa [categories] are [the following castes and professions]: Sūta [coachman/bard], Ambaṣṭha [doctor], Vaṇij [merchant caste], Ugra [combatant?], Śilpin and Kāruka [both artisans], Māgadha [bard] Veṇa [musician], Vaidehaka [guard], and Āmātya [counsellor].

[rājasādhamāḥ —

Low Rajas-type]

carmakṛt kumbhakṛt kolī lohakṛttrapunīlikāḥ |

naṭamuṣṭikacaṇḍālā daśaite rajasādhamāḥ || 9:17 ||

The low-ranking Rājasa [professions] are: leathersmith, potter, Kolī, blacksmith, tinsmith, dyer, dancer, goldsmith, Caṇḍāla.

[tāmasottamāḥ —

Superior Tamas-type]

gogajagavayā āsvamṛgacāmarakiṃnarāḥ |

siṃhavyāghravārāhās ca daśaite tāmasottamāḥ || 9:18 ||

9.15 I take 'tithi as a stem form noun and vijñanāḥ as vijñānāḥ, both metri causa. rājamantrī as 'minister' makes sense, but by emendating rāja^o to rājā in pāda c I aim to arrive at a list of ten categories instead of nine.

9.16 Since all the witnesses consulted treat vaṇi as an acceptable stem in pāda a, I have refrained from correcting it to vaṇij/vaṇik. The English equivalents that I give in square brackets are in some cases not more than traditionally accepted guesses.

9.17 Problems with this verse include the following. There are only nine professions/castes listed here instead of the expected ten. kolī is difficult to interpret; later texts of the Jātiviveka genre such as Gopinātha's Jātiviveka (see O'Hanlon, Hidas, & Kiss 2015) mention kolī as a regional name for the caste Niṣāda (sometimes: a falconer). I take trapu tentatively as trapukṛt although I can't see any attestation of that form. And taking nīlikā as a (female) dyer is again tentative.

These are the ten superior Tāmasa [creatures]: cows, elephants, Gayal oxen, horses, deer, Yaks, Kiṃnaras, lions, tigers, wild boar.

[tāmasamadhyamāḥ — Middle Tamas-type]

ajameṣamahīṣyāś ca mūṣikānakulādayaḥ |
uṣṭraraṅkuśaśagaṇḍā daśaite tamamadhyamāḥ || 9:19 ||

The ten middle-ranking Tāmasa [animals] are: goats, sheep, buffaloes, mice, mongooses etc., camels, Raṅku deer, hares, rhinoceroses.

[tāmasādhamāḥ —

Low Tamas-type]

ṛkṣagodhāmṛgaśṛṅgibakavānaragardabhāḥ |

sūkaraśvānagomāyur daśaite tāmasādhamāḥ || 9:20 ||

The ten low-ranking Tāmasa [beings] are: bears, alligators, deer, sheat-fish, cranes, apes, donkeys, boar, dogs and frogs.

[tamasāttvikāḥ —

The Tamas-Sattva category]

krauñcahaṃsaśukaśyenabhāsabāruṇḍasārasāḥ |

cakrāhvāśukamāyūrā daśaite tamasāttvikāḥ || 9:21 ||

The ten Tāmasa-Sāttvika [beings] are: curlews, geese, parrots, falcons, vultures, B[h]āruṇḍa birds, cranes, Cakra[vāka] birds, parrots, and peacocks.

[tamarājasāḥ —

The Tamas-Rajas category]

balākāḥ kukkuṭāḥ kākās cillalāvakatittirāḥ |

grdhrakaṇkabakaśyena daśaite tamarājasāḥ || 9:22 ||

The ten Tāmasa-Rājasa [beings] are: Balāka-cranes, cocks, crows, Bengal kites, painted quails, partridges, vultures, herons, Bakas and hawks.

[tāmasādhamādi —

Low Tamas-type etc.]

kokilolūkakañjalyakapotāḥ pañca eva ca |

śārikās ca kulingās ca daśaite tamasādhamāḥ || 9:23 ||

9.19 °mahiṣyās seems to be an equivalent of °mahiṣās metri causa. Again, we expect ten items in this list but we find only nine.

9.20 Translating śṛṅgi, śṛṅgin, or perhaps śṛṅgī as ‘sheat-fish’ is not much more than a guess. Other possibilities such as ‘elephants’ or ‘bulls’ are less likely because we have had them above in other categories, although repetitions do occur across, and sometimes within, these lists: see, e.g. mṛga mentioned both in 9.18 and 20, śyena in both 9.21 and 22, and śuka repeated in 9.21.

9.21 Although all the manuscripts consulted read kroñca° in pāda a, I have decided to accept E’s standard spelling in this case. In pāda b, I left °bāruṇḍa° thus, although what is really meant is probably bhāraṇḍa, bhāruṇḍa or bhurunḍa. Note the repetition of śuka in this stanza.

9.22 It would be easy to correct the stem form °śyena in pāda c to śyeno but I suspect that the form could be original, possibly because it was confused with an instrumental.

The ten lowest Tāmasa [beings also include]: cuckoos, owls, Kañjala-birds, doves, and the five[?], Śārika birds and sparrows.

makaragohanakrās ca ṛkṣās ca tamasāttvikāḥ |
kacchapaśiśukumbhīramandūkās tamarājasāḥ |
śaṅkhaśuktikaśambūkāḥ kavayyas tamatāmasāḥ || 9:24 ||

Makara crocodiles, cow-killing alligators and bears are of Tamas-Sattva. Tortoises, porpoises, crocodiles of the Ganges and frogs are of Tamas-Rajas. Conch-shells, pearl-oysters, shells, and Kavayī fish are Tamas-Tāmasa.

candanāgarupadmaṃ ca plakṣodumbarapippalāḥ |
vaṭadāruśamībilvā daśaite tamasāttvikāḥ || 9:25 ||

Sandal tree, Aloe wood, lotus, waved-leaf fig-tree, Ficus Glomerata, holy fig-tree, Banyan, Devadāru tree, Śamī tree, wood-apple tree: these ten are Tamas-Sattva.

jāmbīralakucāmrātadādimākolavetasāḥ |
nīmbanīpo †dhravāvaś ca† daśaite tamarājasāḥ || 9:26 ||

9.23 My impression is that the reading °kiñjalka° (usually: ‘the filament of a lotus’) in pāda a is either a mistake for, or rather an altered form metri causa, maybe a regional form, of kañjala (a kind of bird). C₉₄C₀₂K₈₂ (kiñjala) may be slightly closer to the required form (kañjalaka/kañjalka?). My emendation is a compromise. Note that there are only six items in this list and that pāda b is difficult to make sense of in this context. Something must have gone wrong here.

9.24 Note that the reading that yields ‘and bears’ (ṛkṣās ca) is my conjecture for a problematic ṛṣā ca. It is far from satisfactory since bears have already appeared in verse 9.20 above. My emendation of the word śūśu to śisu (‘porpoise,’ for śiśuka or śiśumāra, lit. ‘child-killer’) in pāda c is based on the fact that, most probably, we need an aquatic animal here, rather than a hare (śāśa). The readings kabandhyās and kabanas in pāda f make no sense. I conjecture kavayyas (the plural of kavayī), which is a type of fish. See them mentioned in MahāSubhS 388: ajājījambāle rajasi maricānām ca luṭhitāḥ kaṭutvād uṣṇatvāj janitarasanauṣṭhavyatikarāḥ | anīrvāṇotthena prabalataratailāktatanavo mayā sadyo bhrṣṭāḥ katipayakavayyaḥ kavalitāḥ || See a translation of this verse in the MahāSubhS (ed. Sternbach, vol. 1, p. 67): ‘I rolled them in a cumin swamp /and in a heap of pepper dust /till they were spiced and hot enough /to twist your tongue and mouth. /When they were basted well with oil, /I didn’t wait to wash or sit ; /I gobbled that mess of koji fish /as soon as they were fried. (D.H.H. Ingalls’s translation).’

9.25 In pāda d, tamas° or tamaḥ° are unmetrical and might be the result of scribal correction. The original may have been the metrical tama°, here transmitted only in E. Cf. 9.27d.

The ten Tamas-Rajas [trees] are: Citron trees, bread-fruit trees, hog-plum trees, pomegranate trees, jujube trees, rattan trees, Neemb trees, Kadamba trees and ...

vrkṣavallilatāveṇutvaksārātṛṇabhūruhāḥ |
mīrajāś ca śilāśasyā daśaite tamasāttvikāḥ || 9:27 ||

Trees, creepers, winding plants, cane, bamboo, grass, plants, seaweed, rocks, grains are the ten Tamas-Sattva ones.

bhramarādipataṅgāś ca krimikīṭajalaukaśaḥ |
yūkoddamaśamaśānām ca viṣṭhājās tamasāttvikāḥ || 9:28 ||

Bees, butterflies etc., worms, insects, aquatic animals, lice, bugs, mosquitoes, creatures in faeces are Tamas-Sattva ones.

dayā satyaṃ damaḥ śaucaṃ jñānaṃ maunaṃ tapaḥ kṣamā |
śīlaṃ ca nābhimānaṃ ca sāttvikāś cottamā janāḥ || 9:29 ||

[These ten words describe] the people who are the best among the Sāttvika [type]: compassion, truthfulness, self-control, purity, knowledge, observing silence, penance, patience, integrity, lack of self-conceit.

kāmatṛṣṇārati dyūtamāno yuddhaṃ madaḥ sprhā |
nirghṛṇāḥ kalikartāro rājaseṣūttamā janāḥ || 9:30 ||

[These ten words describe] the people who are the best among the Rājasa [type]: desire, thirst, pleasure, gambling, arrogance, fight, intoxication, delight, cruel, quarrelling.

himsāsūyāghṛṇāmūḍhanidrātandrībhayālasāḥ |
krodho matsaramāyī ca tāmaseṣūttamā janāḥ || 9:31 ||

[These words describe] people who are the best among the Tāmasa [type]: violence, envy, incompassionate, stupid, sleepy, lazy, cowardly, idle, anger, greedy, cheating.

laghupṛītiprakāśī ca dhyānayoge sadotsukaḥ |
prajñābuddhivirāgī ca sāttvikāṃ guṇalakṣaṇam || 9:32 ||

9.26 There seems to be only nine items here instead of the expected ten. I have not been able to interpret the last one, dhṛavāvaś.

9.28 ādi in pāda a is misplaced, in order to avoid the metrical fault of two laghu syllables in the second and third syllables; understand bhramarapataṅgādayaś ca.

The Sāttvika can be characterised as follows: light, joyful, bright, always eager for yoga meditation, wise, intelligent and dispassionate.

bālako nipuṇo rāgī māno darpaś ca lobhakaḥ |
spṛhā īrṣā pralāpī ca rājasam guṇalakṣaṇam || 9:33 ||

The Rājas can be characterised as follows: childish, skilful, passionate, proud, arrogant, greedy, desirous, jealous, and chattering.

udvega ālaso mohaḥ krūras taskaranirdayaḥ |
krodhaḥ piśuna nidrā ca tāmasam guṇalakṣaṇam || 9:34 ||

The Tāmasa can be characterised as follows: anxious, lazy, delusion, cruel, a thief, pitiless, angry, wicked and sleepy.

[āhāras traiguṇye —
Food and the three qualities]

vigatarāga uvāca |
kena cihnena vijñeya āhāraḥ sarvadehinām |
traiguṇasya pṛthaktvena kathayasva tapodhana || 9:35 ||

Vigatarāga spoke: By what signs can the food of each [category of] humans be characterised? Teach me with regards to the three qualities (guṇa), O great ascetic.

anarthayajña uvāca |
āyuh kīrtiḥ sukham prītiḥ balārogyavivardhanam |
hr̥dyasvādurasam snigdha āhāraḥ sātत्वikapriyaḥ || 9:36 ||

Anarthayajña spoke: The Sāttvikas prefer food that yields [long] life, fame, happiness, joy, which increases strength and health, which is savoury and which tastes nice, and which is soft.

atyuşṇam āmlalavaṇam rūkṣam tīkṣṇam vidāhi ca |
rājasasreṣṭha-āhāro duḥkhaśokāmayapradah || 9:37 ||

The best food for the Rājasas is rather warm, acidic, salty, hard, hot and pungent. It gives you pain, a burning sensation and indigestion.

9.34 In pāda a, piśuno might be the right choice: it is a ra-vipulā if dr in nidrā does not make the previous syllable long, a licence often occurring in this text ('muta cum liquida').

9.37 Note the lack of sandhi within what was meant to be a compound in pāda c (understand rājasreṣṭha-āhāro), and the total lack of gender agreement between the adjectives in pādas ab, and āhāro and pradah.

abhakṣyāmedhyapūti ca pūti paryuṣitaṃ ca yat |

āmayārasavisvāda āhāras tāmasapriyaḥ || 9:38 ||

Tāmasas prefer food that is prohibited, impure and foul-smelling, stinky and stale. It causes indigestion, is sapless and tasteless.

[guṇātītaṃ —

Beyond the qualities]

vigatarāga uvāca |

guṇātītaṃ kathaṃ jñeyaṃ saṃsārāparapāragam |

guṇapāśanibaddhānām mokṣaṃ kathaya tattvataḥ || 9:39 ||

Vigatarāga spoke: How can one recognize [the state of getting] beyond the guṇas, which leads one to the other shore of [the ocean] of mundane existence? Tell me truly about the liberation of those who are bound by the noose of the guṇas.

anarthayajña uvāca |

ātmaavat sarvabhūtāni samyak paśyeta bho dvija |

guṇātītaḥ sa vijñeyaḥ saṃsārāparapāragah || 9:40 ||

Anarthayajña spoke: Well, he who looks at all living beings in the correct way, as his own Self, O Brahmin, is to be known as one beyond the qualities (guṇa), as one who has departed to the other shore of [the ocean of] mundane existence.

īrṣādveśasamo yas tu sukhaduḥkhasamāś ca ye |

stutinindāsamā ye ca guṇātītaḥ sa ucyate || 9:41 ||

He who is indifferent to envy and hate, treats happiness and sorrow as equal, treats praise and reproach as equal, is called ‘one who is beyond the qualities (guṇa)’.

tulyapriyāpriyo yaś ca arimitrasamas tathā |

mānāpamānayos tulyo guṇātītaḥ sa ucyate || 9:42 ||

He who treats pleasant and unpleasant things, enemy and friend, respect and contempt equally, is called ‘one who is beyond the qualities (guṇa)’.

9.38 Understand °pūti in pāda a as standing for °pūti metri causa (which is oddly repeated in pāda b), and note that °āmedhya° in the same pāda is an emendation (correcting K₇’s reading). I have conjectured āmayārasa° for āyāmarasa° in pāda c because the transmitted readings make little sense and because āmaya appeared in 9.37d above.

9.40 Note passages in the BhG (6.32, 12.13, 14.24–25) quoted in the apparatus to the critical edition, of which VSS 9.40–42 seem to be echoes of.

eṣa te kathito vipra guṇasadbhāvanirṇayaḥ |
guṇayuktas tu saṃsāri guṇātītaḥ parāṅgatiḥ || 9:43 ||

O Brahmin, thus has the exposition of the essence of the qualities (guṇa) been taught to you. Those who are connected with the qualities (guṇa) are mundane (saṃsārin), those beyond the qualities (guṇa) are on the supreme path.

The description of the pilgrimage places in the body]

vigatarāga uvāca |

katamaṃ sarvatīrthānāṃ śreṣṭhaṃ āhur manīṣinaḥ |

kathayasva muniśreṣṭha yady asti bhuvī kāmadaṃ || 10:1 ||

Vigatarāga spoke: Which pilgrimage place (tīrtha) do the wise consider the best of all? Tell me, O best of sages, if there is one in the world that fulfills [all] desires.

anarthayajña uvāca |

atiguhyaṃ idaṃ praśnaṃ prṣṭaḥ snehād dvijottama |

bravāmi vaḥ purāvṛttaṃ nandinā kathito 'smy ahaṃ || 10:2 ||

Anarthayajña spoke: This question [that I have been] asked is an extremely deep secret. Out of fondness, O excellent Brahmin, I'll teach you an ancient legend that Nandi told me.

nandikeśvara uvāca |

kailāsaśikhare ramye siddhacāraṇasevite |

tatrāśinaṃ śivaṃ sākṣād devī vacanaṃ abravīt || 10:3 ||

Nandikeśvara spoke: On the beautiful peak of Mount Kailāsa, which is frequented by Siddhas and celestial singers (cāraṇa), Devī asked Śiva, who was sitting there in his manifest form.

devy uvāca |

bhagavan devadeveśa sarvabhūtajagatpate |

praṣṭum icchāmy ahaṃ tv ekaṃ dharmaguhyam sanātanaṃ || 10:4 ||

Devī spoke: O Lord, Lord of the chiefs of the gods, O ruler of all beings and of all the world, I would like to ask you about an eternal secret concerning Dharma, 10.3 Note the change of speaker here: Nandikeśvara is also the main interlocutor of the ŚDhŚ and the ŚDhSamgr. This verse marks the beginning of the layer that can be labelled Śaiva. On Nandi/Nandin/Nandikeśvara not being Śiva's bull, see Bhattacharya 1977 and p. xiii above.

10.4 It is not unlikely that in pāda d, sanātanaṃ was intended to refer to dharmā^o ('eternal Dharma'), or that dharmaguhyam should be corrected to dharmam guhyam ('...ask you about a secret and eternal Dharma').

atitīrtham param guhyam saṁsārād yena mucyate |
manuṣyānām hitārthāya brūhi tattvam maheśvara || 10:5 ||

about the transcendental and highly secret pilgrimage place at which one can be liberated from mundane existence (saṁsāra). O Maheśvara, teach me the truth for the benefit of mankind.

maheśvara uvāca |
ko mām prcchati tam praśnam muktṛtvā tvām eva sundarī |

Maheśvara spoke: Who else could ask me that question except for you, O Sundarī? Listen, I shall expound that question which is difficult to grasp even for the gods.

If one gets to know Kurukṣetra, Prayāga, Vārāṇasī, Gaṅgā, Agni[tīrtha], Somatīrtha, Sūrya[tīrtha], Puṣkara, Mānasa, naiṁṣam bindusāram ca setubandham suradraham |

ghaṇṭikeśvaravāgīśam jñātvā niścayapāpahā || 10:8 ||

Naiṁṣa, Bindusaras, Setubandha, Suradraha, Ghaṇṭikeśvara, and Vāgīśa, one will certainly be able to destroy one's sins.

umovāca |
evamādi mahādeva pūrvavat kathitāsmi aham |
svargabhogapradam tīrtham eteṣām suranāyaka || 10:9 ||

Umā spoke: I have been taught this previously, O Mahādeva. [Which is] the pilgrimage place that yields all kinds of enjoyment, O Suranāyaka?

10.6 Although most witnesses consulted treat praśna as neuter, and it can be original, it could as well be just a minor error transmitted widely. This is why I have chosen K₇'s reading (tam praśnam).

10.8 Note bindusāram for bindusaras/^o*saram*/^o*sarasam* metri causa. Although some of these toponyms are difficult to identify and some may refer to southern locations (e.g. Setubandha), in general they suggest a North Indian focus. See details on pp. CHECK

10.9 I take pūrvavat in pāda b as if used in the sense of pūrvam ('previously'), and eteṣām in pāda d as eteṣu. It would also be possible to take eteṣām in 10.9d and jñānamātreṇa in 10.10b as connected ('by the mere knowledge of them') but the former solution seems to work better with 10.14, where again a genitive (teṣām) may stand for a locative (teṣu).

kathaṃ mucyeta saṃsārāj jñānamātreṇa īśvara |
kautūhalaṃ mahaj jātaṃ chindhi saṃśayakāraṇam || 10:10 ||

[And] how is one liberated from mundane existence by merely knowing [the pilgrimage places], O Īśvara? Cut [this] great curiosity arising [in me] that causes doubt.

rudra uvāca |
kiṃ na jñāmi tat tīrthaṃ sulabhaṃ durlabhaṃ ca yat |
sulabhaṃ gurusevīnāṃ durlabhaṃ tad vivarjayet || 10:11 ||

Rudra spoke: How could I not know [the difference between] that pilgrimage place that is easy to reach and that which is difficult to reach? It is easy to reach for those who serve their guru. One can abandon the one that is difficult to reach.

[kurukṣetram — Kurukṣetra]
kurukṣetram puruṣa vijñeyah śarīraṃ kṣetra ucyate |
śarīrasthaṃ kurukṣetram sarvatīrthaphalapradaṃ || 10:12 ||

sarvayajñaphalāvāptiḥ sarvadānaphalāni ca |
sarvavratatapaś cīrṇaṃ tatphalaṃ sakalaṃ bhavet || 10:13 ||

evam eva phalaṃ teṣāṃ tīrthapañcadaśeṣu ca |
anaghānaṃ mahāpuṇyaṃ mahātīrthaṃ mahāsukhaṃ || 10:14 ||

10.10 We are forced to agree with E's printing °kāraṇam in pāda d because all the other readings seem out of context, whether they refer to Śiva as a vocative or a nominative.

10.11 My translation here is slightly tentative and is fashioned to make sense in light of what is coming: the praise of internalised pilgrimage places, contrasting them with real, external pilgrimage places.

10.12 In pāda b, one could apply K₈₂'s reading that has the standard neuter nominative form kṣetram as opposed to the form transmitted in all other witnesses (kṣetra) but the latter might be original, influenced by the stem form puruṣa in pāda a.

This is how the fruits [are said to be also] in the case of those fifteen pilgrimage places [from Kurukṣetra to Vāgīśa]. [Kurukṣetra,] the great and faultless pilgrimage place is extremely auspicious and pleasant.

devy uvāca |
atīva romaharṣo me jāto 'sti tridaśeśvara |
sulabham sukaram sūkṣmam śrutvā tuṣṭiś ca me gatā || 10:15 ||

Devī spoke: I am extremely thrilled, O Tridaśeśvara. Hearing about that which is easy to obtain, easy to perform and is subtle, my contentment has left me [that is, I want to hear more].

caturdaśa paro bhūyaḥ kathayasva manoharam |
prayāgādi prthaktvena tattvatas tu sureśvara || 10:16 ||

Teach me further about the remaining fourteen pleasant [pilgrimage places], Prayāga and the others, one by one, as they really are, O Sureśvara.

[prayāgo vārāṇasī ca —
Prayāga and Vārāṇasī]

rudra uvāca |
suṣumnā bhagavatī gaṅgā idā ca yamunā nadī |
etāḥ srotovahā nadyaḥ prayāgaḥ sa vidhīyate || 10:17 ||

The Suṣumnā[-tube] is the Honourable Gaṅgā, Idā[-tube] is the river Yamunā. [At the confluence of] these rivers is [the pilgrimage place] called Prayāga.

10.14 anaghānam in pāda c is problematic. It may simply stand for anagham ('faultless'). That is how I translate it. Originally it may have involved a stem form adjective: anaghaitan (anagha + etad).

10.16 Note again the use of the singular next to numbers (caturdaśa... manoharam prayāgādi), a frequent phenomenon in this text.

10.17 There seems to be only two yogic tubes mentioned here (and in 10.20–21): Suṣumnā and Idā, instead of the more usual triad of Idā, Piṅgalā, and Suṣumnā. This is strikingly similar to what we see in the archaic yoga of the NīśvNaya, see Goodall, Sanderson, & Isaacson 2015, 33–34. According to Barois 2020, 23 and 46 the case is similar in the DharmP. This is slightly doubtful because a third tube, called Turyā, is mentioned immediately after Idā and Suṣumnā in DharmP 4.57: idā vāmā suṣumnā ca dve nāḍī nāsikāśrite | bhruvor madhye parā nāḍī tajjñais turyeti kīrtitā ||. It is also possible that the third tube is there, as Prayāga, in our obscure VSS 10.17cd, which may want to say that at the confluence of the Gaṅgā/Suṣumnā and the Yamunā/Idā, there is the internalised pilgrimage place, or tube, dakṣiṇā vāruṇī nāsā vāmanāsā asi smṛtā |

vāruṇā-asimadhyena tena vārāṇasī smṛtā || 10:18 ||

The right nostril is [the river] Vāruṇī, the left nostril is known as [the river] Asi. Because [it is] at the confluence of Vāruṇā and Asi, [the city/internalised pilgrimage place there] is known as Vārāṇasī.

[gaṅgā —
 The Gaṅgā]
ākāśagaṅgā vikhyātā tasyāḥ sravati cāmṛtam |
ahorātram avicchinnam gaṅgā sā tena ucyate || 10:19 ||

She is called the ethereal Gaṅgā, and the nectar of immortality issues from her day and night uninterruptedly. That's why [this internalised pilgrimage place] is called Gaṅgā.

[somatīrtham — Somatīrtha]
somatīrtham idā nādī kiṅkiṇīravacihnitā |
taṃ tu śrutvā na saṃdehaḥ sarvapāpakṣayo bhavet || 10:20 ||

Somatīrtha is the tube Idā. It is characterised by the ringing of small bells. Upon hearing that [ringing], all of one's sins will be destroyed.

[sūryatīrtham — Sūryatīrtha]
sūryatīrtham suṣumnā ca nīravārasaṃyutā |
śrutimātrād vimucyeta pāparāśir mahān api || 10:21 ||

called Prayāga. Compare MBh Indices 6.3A.41–44: idā bhagavatī gaṅgā piṅgalā yamunā nādī | tayor madhye tṛtīyā tu tat prayāgam anusmaret || idā vai vaiṣṇavī nādī brahmanādī tu piṅgalā | suṣumnā caīśvarī nādī tridhā prāṇavahā smṛtā ||. Note that Yamunā has not been mentioned as a tīrtha in the VSS. See also HYP 3.110: idā bhagavatī gaṅgā piṅgalā yamunā nādī | idāpiṅgalayor madhye bālaraṇḍā ca kuṇḍalī ||.

Note also E's attempt to make pāda a metrical.

10.18 This verse most probably describes the spot between the eyebrows as an internalised pilgrimage place.

10.19 This verse may describe a bodily location such as the soft palate as an internalised pilgrimage place. The word gaṅgā is interpreted here as an intensive form from the root \sqrt{gam} , related to the better-attested intensive stems jaṅgam and ganigam (see the latter two, e.g., in Whitney 1989 [1924], §1003).

10.20 Note that Idā has already been identified as the Yamunā in 10.17b.

Sūryatīrtha is the [tube] Suṣumnā, the one that has a soundless thundering. By merely hearing about it one is liberated, even if one has a huge heap of sins.

[agnitīrtham — Agnitīrtha]

agnitīrthārjunā nādī brahmaghoṣamanoramā |
tat tad akṣaram ākarṇya amṛtatvāya kalpate || 10:22 ||

Agnitīrtha is the Arjuna tube. It is charming because of the hum of Veda recitation. Upon hearing this or that syllable, one will become immortal.

[puṣkaram — Puṣkara]

puṣkaram hr̥dī madhyastham aṣṭapaṭtram sakarṇikam |
cintayet sūkṣma tanmadhye janmamṛtyuvināśanam || 10:23 ||

Puṣkara is a lotus with eight petals and a pericarp in the centre of the heart. One should visualize the Subtle One in its centre [and] it'll destroy birth and death.

[mānasam — Mānasa]

mānasasaramadhyastham sa haṁsaḥ kamalopari |
salilo lilayācārī parataḥ parapāragah || 10:24 ||

That goose on a lotus in the middle of the Mānasa lake is playful, acting gracefully, rising far beyond the other shore.

10.21 Suṣumnā has already been identified as the Gaṅgā in 10.17a. nīravā-rava in pāda b probably stands for nīrava-rava metri causa.

10.22 CHECK Arjunā nādī

10.23 hr̥dī might be meant to be a nominative, as in 12.17, here potentially compounded with madhyastham. On sūkṣma (here in stem form metri causa), see CHECK.

10.24 Understand mānasasara° in pāda a as mānasasaro° (metri causa). To make sense of this verse, especially the masculine nominatives in pādas cd, I have conjectured sa haṁsaḥ for what seems to a compound: sahaṁsakamalopari. I suspect pāda a to qualify, clumsily, kamala in pāda b. Other possibilities include sahaṁsa° meaning ‘with the syllables HAM and SA on it.’

The association of Lake Mānasa on Mount Kailāsa with lotuses, and especially with geese or swans, is well-known. See, e.g., MBh 6.114.90ff: Gaṅgā sends the great sages, who inhabit Lake Mānasa in the form of geese, to visit the dying Bhīṣma. Although the interpretation of this verse, which obviously refers to an internalised form of this pilgrimage place, is still problematic, the goose/swan most probably signifies to the soul.

[naimiṣam —
Naimiṣa]

naimiṣam śṛṇu deveśi nimiṣā pratyayo bhavet |
samyag chāyām nirīkṣeta ātmāno vā parasya vā || 10:25 ||

Listen to Naimiṣa, O Deveśī. It yields assurance in a moment. One can observe the shadow of one's own and others' soul properly.

āyatam aṅgulīmātram nimiṣākṣiḥ sa paśyati |
drṣṭvā pratyayam evaṃ hi naimiṣajñāḥ sa ucyate || 10:26 ||

He will see [the soul's] length with his eyes shut as one finger-breath. When one has seen the proof thus, one is called the knower of Naimiṣa.

[bindusaraḥ — Bindusaras]

tīrthaṃ bindusaraṃ nāma śṛṇu vakṣyāmi sundari |
dehamadhye hṛdi jñeyaṃ hṛdimadhye tu pañkajam || 10:27 ||

Listen O Sundarī, I shall teach you the pilgrimage place called Bindusaras. The heart is to be known to be located in the centre of the body. In the centre of the heart, there is a lotus.

karṇikā padmamadhye tu binduḥ karṇikamadhyataḥ | bindumadhye sthito nādaḥ sa nādaḥ kena bhidyate || 10:28 ||

There is a pericarp in the centre of the lotus, and the subtle sonic matter (bindu) in the centre of the pericarp. In the centre of the subtle sonic

10.25 This obscure verse (coupled with the next one) might have something to do with a type of meditation, chāyādhyāna, mentioned in NīśvUttara 5.6: tattvadhyānaṃ prathamakaṃ chāyādhyānaṃ dvitīyakam | ghoṣadhyānan tṛtīyan tu lakṣadhyānaṃ caturthakam ||. Later on in the same text (5.12 and 16), this meditation on 'the shadow of the soul/puruṣa' is mentioned again. NīśvUttara 5.16 states that 'Focussing on[?] one's awareness on [one's] "shadow" (chāyācittam), one will see the soul (pumān = pumāṃsam?) in the sky (viyatstham). Practising in this way, one attains success and becomes Śiva.' (tr. in Goodall, Sanderson, & Isaacson 2015, 391; chāyācittam samālambya viyatstham paśyate pumān | evaṃ abhyasyamānas tu siddhyate ca śivo bhavet ||. But as the editors of the Nīśv put it with reference to the four elements of meditation given there: 'Very little of this is clear and almost nothing is certain' (Goodall, Sanderson, & Isaacson 2015, 389).

10.26 Pādas ab involve an emendation and a conjecture, without which it is difficult to understand this line.

10.27 Understand °saram in pāda a as °saro (thematization). Take hṛdi as a nominative in pāda c and possibly also in pāda d (and see 10.23a).

matter (bindu), there is the subtle sound (nāda). How is that subtle sound (nāda) divided?

ukāraṃ ca makāraṃ ca bhittvā nādo vinirgataḥ |
taṃ viditvā viśālākṣi so 'mṛtatvaṃ labheta ca || 10:29 ||

The subtle sound (nāda) departs divided by the sounds U and M. Realizing that [subtle sound], O Viśālākṣi, one can obtain immortality.

kumbhīrāghoṣamīnā daśagaṇamakārā bhīmanakrā visargā
sānusrvāre gabhīre madasukharasanaṃ setubandhaṃ vrajasva || 10:30 ||

I shall teach you Setubandha, which sports a current whose water of subtle sound (nāda) cleanses you of the dirt of your sins. [It is a river whose] banks are the tongue, the throat, and the chest, and its sandbanks are the group of vowels (svara). It is wavy because its whirlpools are the voiced consonants (ghoṣa). Voiceless consonants (aghoṣa) are its crocodiles and fish, the ten verbal classes (gaṇa) are its sea-monsters, visargas are its terrifying alligators. It is in the deep-sounding anusvāra (sā-anusrvāre). Go to Setubandha, have a taste of the pleasure of intoxication.

10.28 For a general discussion on nāda and bindu, see, e.g., TAK III s.v. nāda. Our text considers the internalised manifestation of the pilgrimage place Bindusaras to be bindu, or subtle sonic matter.

10.29 VSS 10.27–29ab seem to paraphrase NīśvK 5.55–57ab.

10.30 Note that °kaṇṭhora° is a conjecture based on the context: this line talks about sounds and the production of sounds. For this urah/ura (‘chest’) seems better than ūru (‘thigh’). It is not evident at first sight why pādas b and c stick to feminine endings. I take this as qualifying an implied nadī, partly because the similarly structured 10.33 below explicitly mentions nadī. Some of the compounds here are inverted or split: understand āvartaghoṣā taraṅgā as ghoṣāvartataraṅgā, kumbhīrāghoṣamīnā as aghoṣakumbhīramīnā, and bhīmanakrā visargā as visargabhīmanakrā. Nevertheless, the general idea seems to be clear: the internalised version of the pilgrimage place Setubandha, externally usually understood as Rameśvara in the South, is now the sounds of recitation.

īśānenābhijūṣṭaṃ hṛdi hrada vimalaṃ nādaśītāmbupūrṇaṃ |
tatraikaṃ jātapaḍmaṃ prakṛtidalayutaṃ keśaraṃ śaktibhinnaṃ pañcavyomaprasastaṃ gatiparamapadaṃ prāptukāmena sevyaṃ
 || 10:31 ||

O Moon-faced goddess, listen to [the description of Suradraha], the way to the cessation of all sorrow, in the centre of the seven islands. It is frequented by Īśāna, a spotless lake in the heart full of the cool water of sound (nāda). There is a lotus arising there whose petals are Prakṛti and whose filaments are split between Śaktis, praised as the five gross elements (vyoman). It is to be honoured if one wishes to obtain the path to the supreme abode.

[ghaṇṭikeśvaram — deveśaṃ ghaṇṭikeśāmarabhavam abhavaṃ tīrtham ākāśabindum

 || 10:32 ||

The tubes join[?]. The nectar of immortality (amṛta) has descended by the Saviour Ghaṇṭikā. Those whose inner selves have become Sthāṇu [i.e. Śiva] are continuously delighted in Him, as he is embraced by the lotus in their hearts. [He is the one] whom Īśa's devotees can behold, who drives off the impurity of the Kali age, who is all-pervading (vyāpin) and non-manifest (niṣprapañca), the lord of gods, Ghaṇṭikeśa of undying existence. The ærial bindu is a non-mundane (abhava) pilgrimage place.

[vāgīśvaratīrtham —

10.31 The first syllable of hrada in pāda b does not make the previous syllable long ('muta cum liquida' licence), otherwise the line would be unmetrical. Understand the same hrada as a stem form metri causa standing for the accusative. keśaraṃ śaktibhinnaṃ in pāda c should probably be understood as a bahuvrīhi compound thus: śaktibhinna-keśaraṃ. For vyoman as 'gross element,' see notes to VSS 4.32 above, but note that the expression 'fifty voids' (pañcāśadvoman) also comes up in VSS 20.7 and also in 10.33 below. It is not clear why this internalised pilgrimage place, or the filaments of the lotus mentioned, would be praised as the five elements.

10.32 The interpretation of this verse is not without problems. The cruxed expression in pāda a is difficult to repair; it may involve nāḍi or nāḍyā, ekā, and saṃgata. These suggest that it may hint at a point of confluence where the bodily tubes (nāḍi) join. (Possibly understand nāḍya ekasamgatāḥ.) In pāda b, sthānu is my conjecture for sthānu, and I understand °ātmā as standing for the plural nominative. I take ghaṇṭikeśa in pāda d as a stem form noun in sandhi with amara°, notwithstanding the reading ghaṇṭikeśamara° in C₉₄C₄₅K₁₀K₇.

The banks [of Vāgīśvaratīrtha] are the gems of Mīmāṃsā, its sandbanks the [Vedic] kramapadas, its water the meaning of the Śaiva manuals. Its flock of fish is the Pañcarātra [tradition], its winding path is the Śruti [tradition], its rapid waves the Smārta [tradition]. It is beautiful with its whirlpools of yoga. Its currents are the Upaniṣads. The foam made by its whirlpools is the Mahābhārata. This river, whose form is the fifty voids (vyoman), is the abode of the elixir. [This is the description of] the pilgrimage place Vāgīśvara.

The external pilgrimage place related to Ghaṇṭikeśvara the VSS has in mind here may or may not be ‘Virajā, modern Jajpur in the Cuttack District of Orissa’ presided over by Ghaṇṭīśa, Mahāghaṇṭeśvara or Mahāghaṇṭa Bhairava (Sanderson 2009, 113, n. 241). See Introduction CHECK.

As for the yogic interpretation of this verse, it seems plausible that ghaṇṭikā is taken here as the uvula, from which amṛta is said to be dripping down the throat. See TAK II s.v. ghaṇṭikā and Mallinson 2007.

10.33 kramapada (better known as padakrama) is a particular method of reciting Vedic texts. CHECK REF Note the split compounds in pāda b. Understand mīnaughā pañcarātram as pañcarātramīnaughā, and smārtavegā taraṅgā as smārtavegataraṅgā. Note the form upaniṣadi for a stem form of upaniṣad in upaniṣadi-vahā in pāda c. This phenomenon is similar to what we see in 10:23 and 27 above with hr̥di. The lack of sandhi between °śobhā and upaniṣadi° is also notable. tīrtha in pāda d is a stem form noun metri causa. The exact meaning of pañcāśadvyma° is not clear to me. Could it be the fifty sounds of Sanskrit? All in all, Vāgīśvaratīrtha here represents the religious traditions and scriptures.

[Chapter Eleven]

[caturāśramadharmavidhānaḥ —

The regulations on the Dharma of the four āśramas]

devy uvāca |

sarvayajñāḥ paraśreṣṭha asti anyāḥ surottama |

alpakleśa-m-anāyāsa arthaprāyaṃ vineśvara || 11:1 ||

The Goddess spoke: O Paraśreṣṭha, O Surottama! Is there another [form of] sacrifice that is for all (sarvayajña), which is free of pain, is easy, and which does not require an abundance of materials, O Īśvara?

sarvayajñaphalāvāpti daivatais cāpi pūjitam |

kathayasva suraśreṣṭha mānuṣāṇāṃ hitāya vai || 11:2 ||

For the benefit of mankind, teach me, O Suraśreṣṭha, how one obtains the fruits of [this] universal sacrifice, [a sacrifice] praised even by the gods.

maheśvara uvāca |

na tulyaṃ tava paśyāmi dayā bhūteṣu bhāmini |

kim anyat kathayiṣyāmi dayā yatra na vidyate || 11:3 ||

Maheśvara spoke: I cannot see anything comparable to your compassion towards living beings, O Bhāminī. What else could I teach [you] with respect to which [your] compassion is not evident?

11.1 I understand pāda c as containing a sandhi bridge thus: alpakleśa-m-anāyāsa. The sandhi between *pāda*s c and d is irregular, understand °anāyāsaḥ artha°, or rather °anāyāso 'rtha°.

11.2 The beginning of the ŚDhŚ (ŚDhŚ 1.7–11) expresses a similar sentiment, using the word āyāsa, similarly to VSS 11.1c above, but giving a somewhat clearer reason for asking for a new form of devotion, namely that twice-born members of society with limited financial resources struggle to perform expensive Vedic rituals (na śakyante yataḥ kartim alpavittair dvijātibhiḥ): sanatkumāra uvāca | bhagavan sarvadharmajña śivadharmaparāyaṇaḥ | śrotukāmāḥ paraṃ dharmam imaṃ sarve samāgatāḥ || agniṣṭomādayo yajñā bahuvidhānāḥ | nātyantaphalabhūyiṣṭhā bahvāyāśasamanvitāḥ || na śakyante yataḥ kartum alpavittair dvijātibhiḥ | sukhopāyaṃ ato brūhi sarvakāmārthasādhakam || hitāya sarvasatvānāṃ śivadharmam sanātanam | nandikeśvara uvāca | śrūyatām abhidhāsyāmi sukhopāyamahatphalam || paramasarvadharmāṇāṃ śivadharmam śivātmakam | śivena kathitam pūrvam pārvatyaḥ ṣaṇmukhasya ca ||.

11.3 I understand dayā in pāda b as instrumental: tava dayayā bhūteṣu na tulyaṃ

sadāśivamukhāt pūrvam śrutam me varasundari |
śṛṇu devi pravakṣyāmi dharmasāram anuttamam || 11:4 ||

I heard [the following] previously from Sadāśiva's mouth, O Varasundarī. Listen, O Goddess, I shall teach you the ultimate essence of Dharma.

[*gr̥hastha*h(?) —
 The householder(?)]
vinārthena tu yo yajñah sa yajñah sārvaśāntikah |
akṣayaś cāvyaś caiva sarvapātakanāśanaḥ || 11:5 ||

Sacrifice which [is performed] without materials satisfies all desires. It is undecaying and imperishable, and it removes all sins.

bahuvighnakaro hy artho bahvāyāsakaras tathā |
brahmahatyā ivendrasya pravibhāgaḥ smṛtā || 11:6 ||

Material things (artha) present many kinds of obstacle and [their acquisition causes] great fatigue, similarly to Indra's murder of the Brahmin [Viśvarūpa], which yielded results [i.e. sins] that were distributed [among trees, lands etc.].

paśyāmi. Alternatively, as suggested by Csaba Dezső, pādas ab could be interpreted as two sentences: 'I cannot see anything comparable to you. [You have great] compassion towards living beings, O Bhāmini.'

11.4 Note me for mayā in pāda b, and the evident distinction here between Maheśvara, the interlocutor, and Sadāśiva, who, in this context seems to be superior, being the ultimate source here of the following teaching. This might hint at a familiarity with the Tantric sequence of tattvas, on which see, e.g., Goodall, Sanderson, & Isaacson 2015, 45.

11.5 I put a question mark after the subchapter heading here because in this chapter the category of the gr̥hastha never gets mentioned. It is simply labelled āśramah prathamah in 11.25a. Nevertheless, the category gr̥hastha is most probably implied and elsewhere mentioned (see 4.74c, 5.9a, and 15.17a, which reads āśramāṇāṃ gr̥hī śreṣṭho). The teaching on sacrifice without materials (vinārthena yajñah or anarthayajñah), which is fundamentally internalised sacrifice, is a central teaching of the VSS: in addition to the present chapter, the expression appears as the main interlocutor's name (Anarthayajña) in chapters 1–9 and 19–21, and his life is discussed in chapter 22. Thus the name Anarthayajña or the concept of anarthayajña appears in each major layer of the text. On this see p. CHECK, and Kiss 2021.

11.6 The context of pādas cd is this: Viśvarūpa was a son of Tvastṛ. Viśvarūpa's heads were struck off by Indra and Indra's sin were distributed among the ground, water, trees and women. See e.g. BhāṣP 6.9.6: brahmahatyām añjalinaḥ jagrāha yad apīśvaraḥ | samvatsarānte tad agham bhūtānāṃ sa viśuddhaye | bhūmyambudrumayośidbhyaś caturdhā vyabhajad dhariḥ ||. ('Even though [Indra was] the Lord, he took on himself, with folded hands, the sin of killing a Brāhmaṇa. At the end of the year, [he,] Hari distributed that sin in four parts to the earth, water, trees and women for the self-purification of living beings.')

pañcaśodhyena śodhyeta arthayajño varānane |
śodhite tu phalaṃ śuddham aśuddhe niṣphalaṃ bhavet || 11:7 ||

Material sacrifice can be purified with the five purifications, O Varānanā. When it is purified, the fruits are also pure. If it is not purified, there is no fruit.

devy uvāca |
pañcaśodhye suraśreṣṭha saṃśayo 'tra bhaven mama |
kathayaśva vibhāgena śrotum icchāmi tattvataḥ || 11:8 ||

The Goddess spoke: I am not sure about the five purifications, O Surāśreṣṭha. Please teach [them to] me one by one, I want to hear [them] as [they] really [are].

rudra uvāca |
manaśuddhis tu prathamam dravyaśuddhir ataḥ param |
mantraśuddhis tṛtīyā tu karmaśuddhir ataḥ param |
pañcamī sattvaśuddhis tu kratuśuddhiś ca pañcadhā || 11:9 ||

Rudra spoke: First [there is] the purification of the mind, then [comes] the purification of the substances. The third is the purification of mantras, then the purification of the ritual. The fifth is the purification of Sattva. The purification of the sacrifice is [thus] fivefold.

manaśuddhir nāma aviparītabhāvanayā |
dravyaśuddhir nāma ananyāyopārjitadravyena || 11:10 ||

The purification of the mind is [achieved] by mentally creating what is not against [the rules]. The purification of the substances is [achieved] by [using] substances that were not obtained by unlawful means.

mantraśuddhir nāma svaravyaṅjanayuktatayā |
kriyāśuddhir nāma yathākramāviparītatayā |
sattvaśuddhir nāma rajastama-apradhānatayā || 11:11 ||

11.9 Pāda a is unmetrical unless the so-called muta cum liquida licence is applied for the first syllable of prathamam, turning the line into a na-vipulā.

Sets of five types of purification are a commonplace in Tantric Śaivism, but they are usually somewhat different from what we see here. They usually include ātmaśuddhi, sthānaśuddhi, dravyaśuddhi, mantraśuddhi and liṅgaśuddhi. See Goodall's article on this in TAK III s.v. dravyaśuddhi.

11.10 The passage 11.10-11 is in fact prose.

Purification of the mantras is [achived] by properly applying (yuktatayā) vowels to consonants. Purification of the ritual is [achived] by not altering the proper sequence [of the elements of ritual]. The purification of Sattva is [achived] by the non-prevalence of Rajas and Tamas.

vidhim evaṃ yadā śudhyed yadi yajñam karoti hi |
tasya yajñaphalāvāptir janmamṛtyuś ca no bhavet || 11:12 ||

When he has purified the ritual (vidhi) thus and performs the sacrifice, he will obtain the fruits of the sacrifice, and will not undergo births and deaths [any more].

vinārthena tu yo yajñam karoti varasundari |
na tasya tatphalāvāptiḥ sarvayajñeṣv aśeṣataḥ || 11:13 ||

But he who performs sacrifice without materials, O Varasundarī, will not [only] obtain its fruits, [but] of all sacrifices, without exception.

yajñavāta kurukṣetraṃ sattvāvāsakṛtālayaḥ |
pratyāhāra mahāvedī kuśaprastara saṃyamaḥ || 11:14 ||

The sacrificial ground is [the internal] Kurukṣetra, he has made his abode in the house of Truth (sattva). The great altar is the withdrawal of the senses (pratyāhāra). The seat made of kuśa grass is constraint (saṃyama).

11.12 An alternative to my conjecture in pāda a (yadā śudhyed for yadā śūyed, sūryed, pūrya, and pūyed) has been suggested by Dominic Goodall. One could apply the reading of C₄₅ thus: yadāpūrya ('when having completed').

11.13 I tentatively interpret sarvayajñeṣu in pāda d as a locative for genitive, and in a sense that does not reflect the meaning in which I took sarvayajñāḥ in 11.1a above. Compare the conclusion of this section, 11.24cd: āsahasrasya yajñānām phalaṃ prāpnoti nityaśaḥ.

11.14 It would be easy to correct yajñavāta in pāda a to yajñavātaḥ, and to normalise all the similarly positioned stem form nouns in the following verses because there are no metrical constraints that would prevent us from doing it, but it seems to me that there is a pattern here and these stem forms give the impression of being emphasised, highlighted, or being items in a list (see 11.14c and d, 15a, 16a and b, 17a, 18d, etc.). Nevertheless, some of the expression in the upcoming verses should be interpreted as bahuvrīhis qualifying the sacrificer/yogin. In fact, we could read yajñavātakurukṣetraḥ and pratyāhāramahāvedīḥ as bahuvrīhis here.

Kurukṣetra was defined as an internalised pilgrimage place in 10.12, which fits well the presently introduced teaching of internalised sacrifice. Both are summarised, together with bodily penance, in 13.2 as: svaśarīrasthito yajñāḥ svaśarīre sthitaṃ tapaḥ | svaśarīre sthitaṃ tīrthaṃ śruto vistarato mayā ||. The term sattvāvāsa has elsewhere, but probably vidhi niyamavistāro dhyānavahniḥ pradīpitaḥ |

yogendhanasamijjvālatapodhūmasamākulaḥ || 11:15 ||

Vedic injunction (vidhi) is the enumeration of Niyama-rules. [For the Vedic ritual fire it is now] the fire of meditation (dhyāna) [that] is lighted. which is flaring up by the fuel of the firewood of yoga and is abounding in the smoke of penance.

pātranyāsa śivajñānaṃ sthālīpāka śivātmakaḥ |
ājyāhutim avicchinnāṃ lambakasruvapātitaḥ || 11:16 ||

The placing down of the chalice is knowledge of Śiva. [The oblation of] boiled rice is [now the process of] be[com]ing Śiva. The continuous oblation of clarified butter (ājyāhuti) is poured with the ritual ladle (sruva) of the uvula (lambaka).

dhāraṇādhvaryuvat kṛtvā prāṇāyāmaś ca ṛtvijaḥ |
tarkayuktaḥ savistāraḥ samādhir vayatāpanaḥ || 11:17 ||

Transforming concentration into an Adhvaryu [priest, the phases of] breath control will be the [other Vedic] priests[, the Hotṛ, the Brahman, and the Udgātṛ]. Samādhi which involves reflection (tarka) and which is extensive is the [Vedic ritual of] burning the oblation (vayatāpana?).

not here, a distinctively Buddhist flavour, denoting the seven or nine ‘abodes of beings,’ see, e.g. Edgerton 1953, vol. 2, s.v. sattvāvāsa, and Sferra 2022, 1155. Note that if pāda c followed the pattern of pāda a, namely that ‘X in Vedic ritual is now Y in this internalised sacrifice,’ we would need to read mahāvedi pratyāhāra, but that would be unmetrical.

saṃyama is mentioned only a few times in the VSS (e.g., in a similar context, in 22.12), and is never explained, in contrast with the niyama-rules mentioned in the next verse, which are expounded in detail in 5.1–8.4.4. saṃyama may perhaps be used here in the sense in which it appears in the YS: the yogic application, or appearance, of dhāraṇā, dhyāna, and samādhi at the same time (see YS 3.ff).

11.15 I have chosen the reading of pāda b that is the easiest to interpret. Alternatively, the intended expression may have been dhyānena vahniḥ pradīpitaḥ. Instead of taking °samijjvāla° as a tatpuruṣa compound in pāda c (°samidh-jvāla°), consider emending it to °samujjvāla°, which would stand metri causa for °samujjvāla°.

11.16 The interpretation of pāda b is tentative. Ignoring the problems concerning grammatical gender and case, we may presume that the intended meaning in pādas cd could be expressed thus: ājyāhutir avicchinnā lambikāsruvena pātitaḥ. I suspect that lambaka simply stands for lambikā (‘uvula’), which fits the internalised nature of this ritual. See also ghaṇṭikā possibly as ‘uvula’ in 10.32d.

11.17 Understand pādas a as dhāraṇām adhvaryuvat kṛtvā (dhāraṇā in the MSS being in brahmavidyāmāyo yūpaḥ paśubandho manonmanah |

śraddhā patnī viśālākṣi saṃkalpa pada śāśvatam || 11:18 ||

The sacrificial post is made up of the knowledge about the Brahman. The tying of the sacrificial animal is [the mental state called] Manonmanas. [The householder's] wife is Faith, O Viśālākṣī. [His] ritual intention (saṃkalpa) is [reaching] the eternal abode.

pañcendriyajayotpannaḥ puroḍāśo 'mṛtāśanaḥ |
brahmanādo mahāmantraḥ prāyaścittānilo jayaḥ || 11:19 ||

Rice oblation is the consumption of the nectar of immortality that arises from the victory over the five senses. The great [Vedic] mantra is [now] Brahmā's sound. Expiation is victory over the breath.

somapāna pariññānam upākarma caturyamah |
itihāsa jalasnānam purāṇakṛta-m-ambaraḥ || 11:20 ||

The consumption of Soma is [substituted now with] complete knowledge. The commencement [of the Vedic ritual] is the four Yama-rules. The ritual water-bath is [the study of] the epics. His garment is made of [his study of] the Purāṇas.

stem form). Note how taking 11.14c and 15b together with the present verse, all six auxiliaries of the śaḍaṅgayoga of VSS chapter 16 have now been mentioned in this chapter. See 16.18: pratyāhāras tathā dhyānam prāñyāmas ca dhāraṇā | tarkaś caiva samādhiś ca śaḍaṅgo yoga ucyate || My interpretation of vayatāpana in pāda d as 'burning of oblation' (vaya possibly standing for vayas metri causa) is tentative.

11.18 The final section of VSS chapter 20, a chapter on the tattvas of Sāṃkhya, discusses the mental state of unmanas: unmanastvaṃ gate vipra nibodha daśalakṣaṇam | na śabdaṃ śṛṇute śrotraṃ śāṅkhabherīśvanād api ||, etc. Verse 11.50 below mentions manonmanas in a similar context. In pāda d, understand saṃkalpaḥ padaṃ śāśvatam (both saṃkalpa and pada are stem form nouns in the verse, the latter metri causa).

11.19 The term brahmanāda in pāda c may refer to the same concept as brahmabilasvara does in 11.29d. It may be the same as the (haṭha)yogic concept of mahānāda ('great sound' or 'unstruck sound'), on which see Mallinson 2007, 225, nn. 359 and 361. My translation tentatively presupposes that mantra in mahāmatra refers to Vedic mantras, now contrasted with a yogic experience. (See mahāmantra referring to Vedic/Śrauta mantras in SkandaP 13.132cd: śrutigītair mahāmantrair mūrtimadbhir upasthitaiḥ.)

Understand pāda d as prāyaścitto 'nilajayaḥ. It would be possible to correct °cittānilo to °citto 'nilo, but since 'nilajayaḥ would be unmetrical and since stem form nouns abound in this chapter, I believe that prāyaścittānilo could be original.

11.20 caturyamah in pāda b is baffling. The VSS teaches ten Yama-rules in 3.16–4.89. Dominic Goodall has suggested that caturyamah could stand for ca tu yamāḥ metri causa.

iḍāsuṣumnāsaṃvedye snānam ācamanam sakṛt |
saṃtoṣātithim ādr̥tya dayābhūtadvijārcitaḥ || 11:21 ||

Ritual bathing and sipping water once are [to be performed] at the confluence of the Iḍā and the Suṣumnā. Having honoured Contentment as a guest, he salutes the Brahmin that is [now] Compassion.

brahmakūrca guṇātīta havirgandha nirañjanaḥ |
brahmasūtram trayas tattvaṃ bodhanā munḍitaṃ śiraḥ || 11:22 ||

The Brahmakūrca [observance] is the [state of mind called] ‘beyond the Qualities’ (guṇātīta), the scent of the sacrifice is the ‘spotless’ (nirañjana) [state of mind]. [His] sacred thread is the three truths (tattva). The shaven head [of the snātaka] is [now] enlightenment.

Another possibility would be to interpret catur as caturtha (‘fourth’) and then the phrase may refer to the fourth Yama-rule, absence of hostility (ānṛśaṃsya, 4.31–49). Note the stem form itihāsa in pāda c, and the hiatus-filler -m- in pāda c in °kr̥ta-m-ambaraḥ which is a metrical solution for °kr̥to ’mbaraḥ.

11.21 For the teaching on the internalised pilgrimage places Gaṅgā, i.e. Suṣumnā, and Yamunā, i.e. Iḍā, and their internalised confluence, Prayāga, see 10.17. Note that Iḍā and Suṣumnā are then reinterpreted as Somatīrtha and Sūryatīrtha, respectively, in 10.20–21. saṃtoṣa° is either meant to be compounded with °atithim in pāda c or is in stem form for saṃtoṣam atithim; for the latter possibility cf. e.g. 11.17a above. Similarly, °dvija° may be in stem form in pāda d, for °dvijo ’rcitaḥ, or simply correct it to °dvijo ’rcitaḥ.

11.22 Note the stem form nouns in pādas ab.

On the brahmakūrca observance, see, e.g., Kane 1941–1962, vol. 4, 146, where the references given include Mitākṣarā ad YājñS 3.314: yadā punaḥ pūrvedyur upoṣyāparedyuh samantrakam saṃyujya samantrakam eva pañcagavyaṃ pīyate tadā brahmakūrca ity ākhyāyate; ‘And when one fasts one day, and on the next day mixes the five products of the cow together while reciting mantras, and drinks [the mixture] while reciting mantras again, that is called brahmakūrca.’

On the guṇātīta state of mind, see 9.39–43. See the term nirañjana mentioned as a quality of the soul (jīva) in 1.11 and 15.4, of the puruṣa in 20.3, as a state of mind in 11.49, and as one of ten meditative states in 22.30.

It is difficult to know what are the three tattvas mentioned in pāda c. (Understand trayas tattvaṃ as tattvatrayaṃ, trīṇi tattvāni, tritattvāni, or tritattvaṃ.) VSS chapter 4 teaches four tattvas as objects of meditation: ātman, vidyā, bhava, and sūkṣma (see, e.g., 4.73). VSS chapter 6 discusses five tattvas: sūrya, soma, agni, sphaṭika, and sūkṣma (see, e.g., 6.7). VSS chapter 20 enumerates the 25 tattvas of Sāṃkhya. One possibility would be to interpret the set of three tattvas as the three padārthas of the Śaivasiddhānta, pati, paśu, and pāśa; see, e.g., TAK III, s.v. patipaśupāśa. Dominic Goodall has tentatively suggested reading here in 11.22c, with K₈₂, brahmasūtratrayaṃ tattvaṃ (‘the three strands of the sacred thread is truth’). The problem is firstly that we have trayas tattvaṃ repeated in 11.29c below, and secondly that what we need here is three entities compared to the three strands of the sacred

[brahmacārī —
 The chaste one]

dvitīyam āśramaṃ devi sarvapāpavināśanam || 11:26 ||

thread. What is clear here is that even the investiture of the sacred thread (upanayana) is supposed to be internalised in this teaching of non-material sacrifice.

11.23 My assumption is that pāda a here hints at those four, later five, categories, called kalās, that are well-known from Tantric Śaivism: nivṛtti, pratiṣṭhā, vidyā, śānti, and śānti- atīta. For this, I had to emend the reading found in all witnesses consulted, nivṛtyā^o. I consider nivṛti for nivṛtti a common and plausible error. As Dominic Goodall has suggested, here the four kalās, originally possibly the four Śaktis of the Lord, may be reinterpreted as yogic states. The fact that the VSS is aware of only four kalās here may hint at a relatively early date of composition of this section (see Introduction pp. CHECK). On the history and interpretation of these kalās, see TAK II s.v. kalā 6.

catuḥprakaraṇāśanaḥ may be taken as catuḥprakaraṇāṇy āsanam, or, as I take it in my translation, a bahuvrīhi compound qualifying the practitioner. As to what the four prakaraṇas ('chapters?') refer to here, I am without a clue. Perhaps the phrase was meaningful in a context where this section was taken out. (The Mokṣopāya, a text of Kashmiri origin from the tenth century and made up of prakaraṇas would be an interesting candidate for being a point of reference. Unfortunately from this point of view, there are six prakaraṇas in the Mokṣopāya, and not four. See, e.g., Slaje 1996.

11.25 sadāśivena in pāda c could also be interpreted as the agent of pūjitam in pāda d
 ('it is revered by Sadāśiva'), but Sadāśiva was mentioned as the original teacher of this ritual in 11.4 above, which makes it probable that he is being referred to in a similar manner here.
 Cf. also 11.30 below.

[Now] learn about this, about the practice of chastity (brahmacarya).
Listen with attentively, O Śubhā. [It is] the second life-stage (āśrama), O Devī, the destroyer of all sins.

vrataṃ brahmaparaṃ dhyānaṃ sāvitṛī prakṛti-r-layam |
brahmasūtrākṣaraṃ sūkṣmaṃ triguṇālaya mekhalam || 11:27 ||

Religious observances are [now] meditation focussed on the Brahman.
The Sāvitṛī [hymn] is absorption in Prakṛti. The Brahmanical cord (brahmasūtra) is the subtle syllable. His girdle is now the abode of the three Qualities (guṇa).

dama daṇḍa dayā pātraṃ bhikṣā saṃsāramocanam |
tryāyuṣaṃ dvyaḥṣarātītaṃ jñānabhasma-alanikṛtam || 11:28 ||

His staff is self-restraint, his bowl compassion. Alms are liberation from transmigration (saṃsāra). The Tryāyuṣa is the one beyond the two syllables. [The three lines are] prepared with the ashes of knowledge.

11.26 idaṃ in nibodhedam in pāda a sounds clumsy with brahmacaryaṃ (lit. ‘listen to this practice of chastity’) but in fact the MBh and the Purāṇas contain countless similar, albeit smoother, expressions, e.g., MBh 5.145.15ab (duryodhana nibodhedam kulārthe yad bravīmi te), BrahmaP 133.10ab (bharadvāja nibodhedam vākyaṃ mama samāsataḥ), etc. See some remarks on the life-stages, or social order of disciplines (āśrama), and especially on their order, in the VSS in Kiss 2021 and above on p. CHECK

11.27 One could emend prakṛtir layam in pāda b to the expected prakṛtau layaḥ (see, e.g., AgniP 379.1d: vairāgyāt prakṛtau layam). Nevertheless, I retained the reading of C₉₄K₈₂K₇E because it may have been the way in which the compound prakṛtilaya was originally made metrical. In other words, I suspect the -r- to be only a link between the two elements of this compound. I also retained the neuter ending. Compare 16.8d, where the same expression is transmitted in all the witnesses so far consulted as prakṛtālayam.

Note the stem form nouns in pādas cd (°sūtra and °ālaya). The ‘subtle syllable’ may be om (cf. 1.9–10), traditionally analysed as made up of three sounds, here corresponding to the three strands of the sacred thread. In pāda d, triguṇālaya might rather mean ‘absorption in the three Qualities’ (triguṇeṣu layaḥ) although in my translation I translate it as triguṇālayaḥ.

11.28 The Tryāyuṣa is a Vedic mantra, see, e.g., Rgveda-khila 5.3.6: tryāyuṣam jamadagneḥ kaśyapasya tryāyuṣam | agastyasya tryāyuṣam yad devānām tryāyuṣam tan no astu tryāyuṣam; ‘The threefold vitality of [the sage] Jamadagni, that of [the sage] Kaśyapa, that which is that of the gods—may it be ours!’ (translation based on Bisschop, Kafle, & Lubin 2021, 28). ‘In the Vedic domestic ritual codes, this is the mantra to be recited over the razor or over the student who is about to be shaven before bathing at the end of his studies’ (ibid.). In ŚivaUp 5.20ab, this mantra is prescribed to accompany the application of the three lines on the forehead. Thus here in VSS 11:28cd, tryāyuṣa and the mention of ashes make it

snānavratam sadāsatyaṃ śīlaśaucasamanvitam |
agnihotra trayas tattvaṃ japa brahmabilasvaraḥ || 11:29 ||

The bath-vow is life-long truthfulness, accompanied by the purity of moral conduct. The Agnihotra sacrifice is the three tattvas. Recitation is the sound at the aperture of Brahmā.

The second life-stage has [now] been taught also to you as Lord Śiva taught it, O Devī, to me. It is the destruction of birth and death.

[vānaprasthaḥ —
 The forest-dweller]
vānaprasthavidhiṃ vakṣye śṛṇuṣvāyatalocane |
yathāśrutam yathātathyam ṛṣidaivatapūjitam || 11:31 ||

Listen, O Long-eyed goddess, I shall teach you the forest-dweller's way of life, which is revered by the sages and the gods, as I heard it, as it [really] is.

vairāgyavanam āśritya niyamāśramam āharet |
śīlaśailadṛḍhadvāre prākāre vijitendriyaḥ || 11:32 ||

Having taken to the forest of indifference, he should take residence in the ashram of Niyama-rules, within walls that have the stone-strong gate of moral conduct, with his sense faculties conquered.

adhibhūtaḥ smṛto mātā adhyātmaś ca pitā tathā |
adhidaivikam ācāryo vyavasāyāś ca bhrātaraḥ || 11:33 ||

clear that the next element of the ritual life of the brahmacārin to be internalised is the application of the tripuṇḍra. As for the dyakṣarātīta, which should be a mantra, it perhaps means a three-syllable mantra, possibly a-u-m or śivāya.

11.29 On the problem of understanding what the three tattvas are in this text, and on the phrase trayas tattvaṃ, see notes on verse 11.22 above. Perhaps brahmabilasvara in pāda d refers to the same concept as brahmanāda does in 11.19c.

11.30 One may consider correcting mamā° to maya° ('it has been taught by me'), but mama, linked to the first hemistich, may be original, and api, then slightly unusually placed in the sense of 'too/also' (as, e.g., in Raghuvamśa 5.44 and 9.8c), starting a new clause.

11.32 āharet ('should take away, get, use') in pāda b is suspect; āvaset ('should settle') or āśrayet ('should take refuge') would make more sense in this context.

One's mother is the material realm, one's father the Self, one's guru the divine. Resolutions are one's brothers.

śrutīḥ smṛtīḥ smṛtā bhāryā prajñā putraḥ kṣamānujaḥ |
maitrī bandhur jaṭā cāpaṁ karuṇā supavitrakam |
muditā mauna catvāraḥ sarvakāryam upekṣakā || 11:34 ||

Śruti and Smṛti are his wives, Wisdom his son, Patience his little brother. Benevolence is his kinsman, his twisted hair [and] his bow. Compassion his sacred thread. Sympathy is the four ways of observing silence. All his religious duties are equanimity.

yamavalkalasaṁvitas tapaḥkṛṣṇājīnādharah |
uttarāsaṅgam āsīno yogapaṭṭadṛḍhavrataḥ || 11:35 ||

He is clothed in the Yama-rules instead of a garment made of bark, and he wears penance instead of the skin of a black antelope. He is seated on the highest level of non-attachment, and a firm observance is his yoga-belt.

11.33 I have accepted Dominic Goodall's suggestion to emend adhibhautika in pāda c to adhidaivika. In this way, we arrive at the well-known triad of adhibhūta, adhyātma, and adhidaivika (or more often: ādhibhautika, ādhyātmika, and ādhidāivika; see, e.g. YBh ad YS 1.31 and 3.22, and SāṃkhyK 1.1 in most commentators' interpretation). adhibhautika in pāda c may be the result of an eye-skip to pāda a, and the final -m of adhidaivika could be interpreted as a hiatus-filler. The triad in question usually qualify three types of suffering or bad omen: pertaining to the material world, one's own self or body, and to the world of gods, respectively. Here in the VSS, they seem to refer to realms of knowledge, or as Bhagavadgītā 8.1–4, a possible source for the present verse, define them, adhibhūta is mundane existence, adhyātma is the eternal Brahman that is one's true nature, and adhidaivata is the puruṣa.

11.34 bhāryā in pāda a is probably meant to be in the dual (bhārye) but the use of the singular could be original. Note how notions expressed by feminine nouns are associated with male relatives (prajñā is a son, kṣamā a brother).

In pāda c, jaṭā cāpaṁ is problematic. One would expect here an abstract notion corresponding to a real-life element of the forest-dweller life, as in the above verses. jaṭā and cāpa are either still identified with maitrī (that is how I translate the pāda) or there is a need to emend, e.g. to jaṭācāraḥ ('good conduct is his twisted hair'). I prefer the former solution because in this way the four Buddhist brahmavihāras, maitrī-karuṇā-muditā-upekṣā, appear in one uninterrupted sequence. These may seem as being out of context in a Brahmanical text but the source for them may have been YS 1.33: maitrīkaruṇāmuditopekṣāṇām sukhaduḥkha-puṇyāpuṇyaviṣayāṇām bhāvanātaḥ cittaprasādanam. See them mentioned also in verse 4.72 above, and in 11.56 below.

Note mauna in pāda e in stem form, and upekṣakā for upekṣā, both metri causa.

11.35 I think that K₇'s jīnādharah in pāda b may be the original reading: it lengthens vedaghoṣeṇa ghoṣeṇa prāṇāyāmo 'gnihāvanam |

jītaprāṇa mṛgākūlo dhṛti yajñah kriyā japah || 11:36 ||

Fire sacrifice accompanied by the sound of murmuring the Vedas is breath-control accompanied by [its] hissing. The herd of deer [in the forest where the forest-dweller normally lives] is [now his] conquered breaths. [Now] sacrifice is resolution, ritual is mantra-recitation.

His treasures are in the śāstras, his companions are self-control, compassion, etc. He should perform sacrifice to Śiva [as] the worship of the eight [yogic] practices (sādhana).

the final a of jina^o metri causa, and that the remaining sources try to restore the standard form of ajina and thus ruin the metre. Cf., e.g., MBh 1.123.18: sa kṛṣṇam maladigdhāṅgam kṛṣṇājīnadharam vane | naiṣādiṃ śvā samālakṣya bhaṣaṃ tathau tadantike||. The accusative uttarāsaṅgam in pāda c is acceptable, but one may understand the final -m as a hiatus filler after a locative (^o*saṅga āsīno*), or in the middle of a compound (^o*saṅgāsīno*).

11.36 havana in pāda b stands for havana metri causa. I suspect that ^o*mṛgākūlo* in pāda c stands for an unmetrical mṛgakulo. Incidentally, even by inverting the order of the two elements in this pāda, there would remain the metrical error of two laghus: mṛgakulo jītaprāṇo. Also, note ^o*prāṇa* and dhṛti in pādas cd as nouns in stem form.

11.37 See the word saṃgraha (here in stem form) used probably in a similar sense in 11.46 below. See a reference to eight *sādhana*s in DharmP 2.1 (quoted in the apparatus to the present verse in the critical edition). These may or may not reference the same set of practices.

11.38 The reading of the witnesses in pāda d, upāsayet, might be acceptable, but I consider my emendation, upāsayet, better, especially because that is the verb used in 11.59d below, in a similar context.

vānaprastham ayaṃ dharmam gadita yat pūrvam avadhāritam
saṃsāroddharaṇam anityaharaṇam ajñānanirmūlanam |

11.39 Pāda b may allow for various interpretations. The one I have chosen seems to be the simplest. It involves a stem form noun, japa, and śāntam in the sense of śāntiḥ. Understand the middle of pādas cd as containing a hiatus filler to bridge the vowels in a standard °pūrṇa itihāsa°.

11.40 My translation of this verse is tentative. Note that utkrānti (usually in similar contexts: 'yogic suicide') is a yogāṅga in chapter 16. I take japa tentatively as a stem form noun, and pañcavidhaḥ as if it read pañcavidham. The BodhisattvaBh 1.3.4 teaches five kinds of sukha: hetusukham veditasukham duḥkhaprātipakṣikam sukham veditopacchedasukham avyabādhyāṇ ca pañcamam sukham. This would not be the first occasion in this chapter to see Buddhist categories introduced, see 11.34 above.

I think that E's silent correction of °pradah to °pradam, making pāda d qualifying sādhanaṃ in pāda c, is reasonable, but since this form is not attested in any of the witnesses consulted, I hesitate to follow it. Nevertheless, I understand the sentence thus: that which is normally the śivasamkalpa is now, in this internalised version of the forest-dweller's life, (yogic) practice that yields siddhis. I suppose that the reference is to Vājasaneyisaṃhitā 34.1–6, usually called Śivasamkalpa: yaj jāgrato dūram udaiti daivam tad u suptasya tathāivaiti | dūramgamam jyotiṣāṃ jyotir ekaṃ tan me manaḥ śivasamkalpam astu ||, etc. See this hymn referred to in Manu 11.251 in a context of expiation: sakṛj japtvāsyavāmīyam śivasamkalpam eva ca | apahrtya suvarṇam tu kṣaṇād bhavati nirmalaḥ ||. In Olivelle's translation: 'A man who has stolen gold, on the other hand, becomes instantly stainless by reciting softly[?] rather: once] the Asyavāmīya hymn and the Śivasamkalpa formulas.' Other texts that reference the Śivasamkalpa include NiśvGuhya 2.77, AgniP 259.74, and LiñP 1.64.76. See more on the Śivasamkalpa in Scheftelowitz 1906 and 1921.

11.41 Cf. 11.23 above on giving abhaya to guests.

11.42 In some MSS, pāda a gives a first impression of being an anuṣṭubh line with metrical problems. But, as Dominic Goodall remarked, the variants suggest that it may belong to the upcoming Śārdūlavikrīḍita verse. This is all the more so because that verse would otherwise contain only three pādas. My reconstruction of the now pāda a is still highly problematic; gadita is in stem form, and the final syllable of pūrvam scans as heavy. While these are acceptable in the language of the VSS, some elements remain questionable, namely the first syllable of dharmam as a short syllable, and the second syllable of avadhāritam as long. The pāda may have gone through some heavy corruption. It is also unclear if the first half of the pāda is to be interpreted as vānaprastham ayaṃ, vānaprastho 'yaṃ [sevet], vānaprastham idaṃ, or vānaprasthamayaṃ. I translate the first of these options, taking both ayaṃ and dharmam as neuter nominative. Word final syllables treated as heavy also appear in pādas bcd: °haraṇam (twice), °karam, and °haram.

11.45 See the term arthasaṃgraha in 11.37c, probably in the same meaning as saṃgraha here in pāda c.

susūḁṣmaṃ manasā dhyātvā drśau pādaṃ vinikṣipet |
na kupyeta anālābhe lābhe vāpi na harṣayet || 11:46 ||

Meditating on the subtle one, he should cast his eyes on his feet [when begging]. He should not get angry when he does not receive anything, and when he does, he should not rejoice.

arthatṛṣṇāsv anudvigno roṣe vāpi sudāruṇe |
stutinindā samam kṛtvā priyam vāpriyam eva vā || 11:47 ||

niyamās tu paridhānaṃ saṃyamāvṛtamekhalah |
nirālambaṃ manaḥ kṛtvā buddhiṃ kṛtvā nirañjanām || 11:48 ||

His garment is the Niyama-rules, and he is girded by the girdle of constraint (saṃyama). He makes his mind supportless, his intellect spotless, ātmānaṃ prthivīm kṛtvā khaṃ ca kṛtvā manonmanam |

tridaṇḍam triguṇam kṛtvā pātram kṛtvākṣaro 'vyayaḥ || 11:49 ||

11.46 On meditation on the subtle one (susūḁṣma), see Intro CHECK.

Pāda b is suspect as it is transmitted in the MSS (in most sources: śucau pādaṃ vinikṣipet: ‘he should place his foot in the pure’?). My conjecture (drśau) results in something close to the early Buddhist rule given in the Pāli Pātimokkha on begging that says that the monk should not make eye-contact with the donor. See Pātimokkha Sekhiyā 7–8 and 28: okkhattacakkhu antaraghare gamissāmiti sikkhā karaṇīyā. okkhattacakkhu antaraghare nisīdissāmiti sikkhā karaṇīyā. [...] pattasaññī piṇḍapātaṃ paṭiggahessāmiti sikkhā karaṇīyā. In Bhikkhu Ñāṇatusita’s translation (Ñāṇatusita 2014, 294 and 303): ‘“I shall go with the eyes cast down inside an inhabited area,” thus the training is to be done. “I shall sit with the eyes cast down inside an inhabited area,” thus the training is to be done. [...] “I shall accept alms-food paying attention to the bowl,” thus the training is to be done.’ The last of these sentences opens up another possibility for emending the text of the VSS: pādaṃ might perhaps be considered as a corruption from pātram (‘on his bowl’). I am not aware of similar Dharmaśāstric teachings on avoiding eye-contact. The closest could be BaudhDhS 1.5.11 on observing silence while begging (vāgyatas tiṣṭhet). Not even Manu 5.50–60, a longer section on begging, prohibits eye-contact. If there are indeed no Brahmanical rules on this topic, the verse above in the VSS could be another piece of evidence for Buddhist influence.

11.47 In pāda c, understand stutinindā as a dual (or singular) accusative.

11.48 On saṃyama, see notes on 11.14 above.

the ground his self, the sky the manonmana [state of mind], the three staffs [of the parivrājaka] the three qualities (guṇa), the bowl the imperishable syllable.

nyased dharmam adharmam ca irṣyādvēṣam parityajet |
nirdvandvo nityasatyastho nirmamo nirahaṃkṛtaḥ || 11:50 ||

He should throw away Dharma and Adharma, and should give up envy and hatred. He should be indifferent to opposites, always dwell in truthfulness, being unselfish, humble.

divasasyāṣṭame bhāge bhikṣām sapta-grhaṃ caret |
na cāṣīta na tiṣṭheta na ca dehīti vā vadet || 11:51 ||

He should go on his alms round visiting seven houses at the eighth part of the day. He should not sit down, he should not stay, and he should not say ‘Give me!’

yathālābhena varteta aṣṭau piṇḍān dine dine |
vastrabhojanaśayyāsu na prasajyeta vistaram || 11:52 ||

He should live on what is available, on eight bites a day. He should not stick to items of clothes, food, or a bed, for long.

nābhinandeta maraṇam nābhinandeta jīvitam |
indriyāṇi vaśaṃkṛtvā kāmam hatvā yatavrataḥ || 11:53 ||

He should nor rejoice in death, he should not rejoice in life. Having conquered his senses, and having killed his desire, firm in his observances, atītam ca bhaviṣyam ca na bhikṣuś cintayet sadā |

krodhamānamadadarpān parivrād varjayet sadā || 11:54 ||

the mendicant (bhikṣu) should never think about the past or the future. The wandering mendicant should always avoid anger, self-conceit, intoxication, and pride.

virāgam tu dhanuḥ kṛtvā prāṇāyāmaguṇair yutam |
dhāraṇāśaratikṣṇena mṛgam hatvā manendriyam || 11:55 ||

11.49 °kṣaram avyayam in pāda d would be hypermetrical, that is probably why the nominative appears here.

11.54 Pāda c is a sa-vipulā, which is rare and is usually treated as unmetrical.

Making indifference a bow which is strung with the strings of breath-control, he should kill the beast that is the mind and the sense-faculties, with the sharp-pointed arrow of concentration.

maitrīkhaḍgasutikṣṇena saṃsārāriṃ nikṛntayet |
karuṇāvartacakreṇa krodhamattagajam jayet |
muditāvarmabaddhāṅgas tūṇam pūrṇam upekṣayā || 11:56 ||

He should stab the enemy that is transmigration with the extremely sharp knife of friendliness. He should defeat the rutting elephant of anger with the whirling discus of compassion. His body is clad in the armour of sympathy, his quiver is full of equanimity.

anākṣaram param brahma cintayet satatam dvija |
brahmaṇo hṛdayam viṣṇur viṣṇoś ca hṛdayam śivah |
śivasya hṛdayam saṃdhyā tasmāt saṃdhyām upāsayet || 11:57 ||

He should constantly recall the unutterable syllable which is the supreme Brahman, O Brahmin. Brahmā's heart is Viṣṇu. Viṣṇu's heart is Śiva. Śiva's heart is the junctures of the day. Therefore he should worship the junctures.

saṃsārārṇavatāraṇam śubhagatiḥ sa brahma saṃdhyākṣaram dhyāyen nityam atandrito hy anupamam vyaktātmavedyam śivam |
rūpair varṇaguṇādibhiś ca vihitam durlakṣyalakṣyottamam
yatnoddhṛtya samāśrayet suragurum sarvārthihartā haram || 11:58 ||

[Śiva] is deliverance from the ocean of mundane existence, the path to happiness, the Brahman, the junctures, the [sacred] syllable. One should always, unweariedly, meditate on matchless Śiva, who is to be recognized as the manifest soul. He should take refuge in Hara, who is devoid of form, colour, qualities etc., who is the supreme aim which is difficult to discern, honouring the divine guru with effort, who removes all pain.

11.55 Understand pāda c as dhāraṇātikṣṇasareṇa.

11.56 Understand pāda a as maitrīsutikṣṇakhaḍgena, which is even metrical. Note the four Buddhist brahmavihāras, maitrī, karuṇā, muditā, and upekṣā, mentioned in this verse. They appear also in verses 4.72 and 11.56 above.

11.58 Note vihitā in pāda c probably in the sense of 'devoid of.' I take yatnoddhṛtya in pāda d as yatnoddhṛtya, yatna being in stem form, and °hartā as nominative for accusative.

|| iti vṛṣasārasaṃgrāhe caturāśramadharmavidhāno nāmādhyāya
ekādaśamaḥ ||

Here ends the eleventh chapter in the Vṛṣasārasaṃgraha called the Regulations concerning the four life-stages.

[dvādaśamo 'dhyāyah]
[Chapter Twelve]

[ātithyadharmah —
The rules of hospitality]

devy uvāca |

ahiṃsā paramo dharmah satataṃ parikīrtyate |

ātithyakānāṃ dharmam ca kathayasva yad uttamam || 12:1 ||

The Goddess spoke: Non-violence is always praised as the highest Dharma.
Also, teach me the ultimate Dharma of the hospitable ones.

maheśvara uvāca |

ahiṃsātithyakānāṃ ca śṛṇu dharmam yad uttamam |

trailokyam akhilaṃ devi ratnapūrṇam sulocane || 12:2 ||

Maheśvara spoke: Hear the ultimate Dharma of non-violence and that of hospitality. O beautiful-eyed goddess, [if] all the three worlds, full of wealth,

caturvedavide dānam na tattulyam ahiṃsakah |

śṛṇu dharmam atithyānāṃ kīrtayiṣyāmi sundari || 12:3 ||

[were handed over as] a gift to [a Brahmin who] knows the four Vedas, [that gift] cannot be compared to somebody who avoids doing harm.
Hear the Dharma of the hospitable ones. I shall teach it [to you], O beautiful one.

[vipulopākhyānam —
The Story of Vipula]

āsīd vṛttaṃ purākhyānam nagare kusumāhvaye |

kapilasya suto vidvān vipulo nāma viśrutaḥ || 12:4 ||

This is an old story of what happened once in a city called Kusuma.
There was a famous and wise man called Vipula, Kapila's son.

12.2 Understand ahiṃsātithyakānāṃ as ahiṃsakānāṃ ātithyakānāṃ ca or ahiṃsāyā ātithyakānāṃ ca.

12.3 Note that this verse seems to be all that Maheśvara teaches in this chapter on ahiṃsā, and that tattulyam ahiṃsakah may either contain a sandhi bridge (tattulya-m-ahiṃsakah) or be interpreted as dānam na tat tulyam ahiṃsakena ('that gift is not comparable to a non-violent person'). atithyānāṃ in pāda c stands for ātithyānāṃ or ātithyakānāṃ metri causa.

12.4 Kusumapura is Pāṭaliputra, or modern Patna. This is confirmed in verse 12.12, where dharmanityo jitakrodhaḥ satyavādī jitendriyaḥ |

brahmaṇyaś ca kṛtajñaś ca madbhaktaḥ kṛtaniścayaḥ || 12:5 ||

He always followed Dharma, he conquered anger, he spoke only the truth, and he conquered his senses. He was pious and grateful, and he was my determined devotee.

dhanādhyo 'tithipūjyaś ca dātā dānto dayālukhaḥ |
nyāyārjitadhano nityam anyāyaparivarjitaḥ || 12:6 ||

He was rich and he worshipped his guests. He was generous, restrained, and kind. His wealth always came through just means. He always stayed away from illegal transactions.

bhāryā ca rūpiṇī tasya candrabimbaśubhānanā |
pīnottuṅgastanī kāntā sakalānandakārīṇī |
pativrataḥ patiratā patiśuśrūṣaṇe ratā || 12:7 ||

He had a pretty wife whose face was as beautiful as the disk of the moon. Her breasts were round and elevated, she was lovely, a source of all pleasures. She was faithful, devoted to her husband and his needs.

atha kenāpi kālena sūryarāga-m-abhūt tataḥ |
grastabhāgatrayas tv āsit kṛṣṇamādhavamāsike || 12:8 ||

Now, once there was an eclipse of the sun. Three quarters [of the sun] were eclipsed, and it was in the dark half of the month of Mādhava [April-May].

snātukāmāvatīryante sarve paurāṇīyapādayaḥ |
devāś ca pitaraś caiva tarpyante vidhivat tathā || 12:9 ||

the confluence of the Gaṇḍakī and the Gaṅgā is mentioned as a local spot. The dramatis personæ in the following story are the following: Vipula—a merchant, Kapila's son; Vipula's wife; a Brahmin guest (Dharma in disguise?); a monkey; Bhīmabala—a traveller; Puṇḍaka—the foreman of the guild; King Siṃhajata; Queen Kekayī; Caṇḍa and Vicaṇḍa—two envoys of the king; Citraratha—the king of the Gandharvas; Sūrya, Soma, Indra, Viṣṇu, Brahmā—gods.

12.5 Pāda d implies that Vipula is a Śaiva devotee, but there is little indication in this story of Vipula's affiliation, except for 11.44, where Maheśvara is mentioned. The story as we have it here ends with a praise of Brahmā.

12.6 While one would normally translate atithipūjya (in pāda a) as 'to be worshipped by guests,' in the light of the story I suspect that the intended meaning is that he worshipped his guests.

12.8 In pāda b, understand sūryarāgam as sūryoparāgaḥ ('eclipse of the sun'). I take °rāga-m-abhūt an example of irregular sandhi for °rāgo 'bhūt.

Eager to take a ritual bath, the king and all the citizens the went down [to the riverbank]. Then they worshipped the gods and the deceased ancestors according to the rules.

keciḥ juhvati tatrāgniṃ kecid viprāṃś ca tarpayet |
kecid dānopatiṣṭhanti kecit stuvanti devatām || 12:10 ||

Some sacrificed in the fire, some fed the Brahmins, some were of service with donations, others praised the deity.

dhyanayogarataḥ kecit kecit pañcatape rataḥ |
evam pravartamāṇeṣu rājanādiṣu sarvaśaḥ || 12:11 ||

Some people practised yoga meditation, others were engrossed in five-fire penance. While the ritual waving of lamps etc. were being performed all around the place, vipulo 'pi hi tatraiva gaṅgāgaṇḍakisaṃgame |

bhāryayā saha tatraiva snātvā kṣomavibhūṣaṇaḥ || 12:12 ||

Vipula also, there at the confluence of the Gaṅgā and the Gaṇḍakī, attired in linen clothes, performing a bath, together with his wife,

devatāguruviprāṇām anyeṣāṃ tarpaṇe rataḥ |
tatrāvasarasamprāpto brāhmaṇo 'tithir āgataḥ || 12:13 ||

was engrossed in satiating the deities, the gurus, the Brahmins and others. Then, jumping on the possibility, a Brahmin came up [to them] as a guest.

bhāryā tasyātirūpeṇa mohitā brahmaṇas tadā |
brāhmaṇo 'pi tathaiveha rūpeṇāpratimo bhavet || 12:14 ||

12.9 Understand pāda a as snātukāmā avatīryante. It is an instance of double sandhi or of a stem form noun in sandhi with the following verb.

12.10 Understand agniṃ in pāda a as locative, and tarpayet in pāda b as plural. Note dāna in pāda c in stem form (for the instrumental).

12.11 rājanādiṣu in pāda d is suspect. The intended meaning may be 'the royals and other people,' but I prefer now the option to take it as a shortened form of nīrājanādiṣu, and that is how I translate it. Cf., e.g., SivP 7.30.81cd: nīrājanādikaṃ kṛtvā pūjāśeṣaṃ samāpayet.

12.12 Note gaṇḍaki metri causa for gaṇḍakī in pāda b.

The wife got infatuated with that Brahmin's extreme beauty. The Brahmin [felt] the same. His beauty was unparalleled.

*anyonyadṛṣṭisaṃsaktau jātau tau tu parasparam |
vipulenañjalim kṛtvā brāhmaṇa saṃśītavrata || 12:15 ||*

Their gaze got fixed on each other mutually. Vipula joined his hands [and said:] 'O virtuous Brahmin, *ājñāpaya dvijaśreṣṭha adya me 'nugrahaṃ kuru |

bhāryābhṛtyapaśugrāma ratnāni vividhāni ca || 12:16 ||*

I am at your service, be gracious to me now, O great Brahmin. [My] wife, servants, cattle, village and all kinds of jewels [are all at your service].'

*vipulenaivam uktas tu grhīto brāhmaṇo 'bravīt |
yadi satyaṃ pradātāsi suprasannaṃ manas tava || 12:17 ||*

Having been addressed and greeted thus, in a hospitable way, by Vipula, the Brahmin spoke: 'If you really mean to give, your heart is very generous.'

*vipula uvāca |
suprasannaṃ mano me 'dya suprasannaṃ tapaḥphalam |
śighram ājñāpaya vipra yac cābhilaṣitaṃ tava |
adeyaṃ nāsti viprasya svaśiraḥprabhṛti dvija || 12:18 ||*

Vipula spoke: 'My heart is generous today, generosity is the fruit of austerity. Just command me quickly, O Brahmin. What is your desire? There is nothing that should not be donated to a Brahmin, including one's own head, O Brahmin.'

12.14 Pāda d is suspect and the translation of pādas cd is tentative. The expression rūpeṇāpratimo/pratimā bhuvi ('his/her beauty is unparalleled in the world') is common in the MBh and in the Purāṇas. Is that what was meant here? May a dual have been intended? An alternative reading, albeit requiring substantial emendations, could be: brāhmaṇo 'pi tathaivāha rūpeṇāpratimā bhuvi; 'The Brahmin [felt the same] and said [to himself,] her figure is unparalleled in the world.' Nevertheless, I retained the reading found in the MSS, and I interpret pāda d as an indication that this Brahmin was extraordinary, in fact a manifestation of Dharma.

12.16 °grāma in pāda c is in stem form, although it would be unproblematic to correct it to the neuter singular (to form a saṃhārasamāsa).

12.17 Note that C₀₂'s omission of pādas cd here could be due to an eye-skip from suprasannaṃ in 12.17d to suprasannaṃ in 12.18a, although this would have also led to an omission of the next vipula uvāca.

brāhmaṇa uvāca |

yady evaṃ vadase bhadra bhāryāṃ me dehi rūpiṇīm |

svasti bhavatu bhadraṃ vaḥ kalyāṇaṃ bhava śāśvatam || 12:19 ||

The Brahmin spoke: ‘If you talk like this, dear Sir, give me your beautiful wife. May there be happiness, may you be fortunate, and may you prosper eternally!’

vipula uvāca |

praticcha bhāryāṃ suśroṇīm rūpayauvanaśālinīm |

akutsitāṃ viśālākṣīm pūrṇacandranibhānanām || 12:20 ||

Vipula spoke: ‘Accept my nice-buttocked, young and beautiful wife, who is blameless, large-eyed and whose face resembles the full-moon.’

bhāryovāca |

parityājyā kathāṃ nātha apāpāṃ tyajase kathāṃ |

atīva hi priyāṃ bhāryāṃ nirdoṣāṃ ca kathāṃ tyajeh || 12:21 ||

The wife spoke: ‘How can you abandon me, my lord? How can you dismiss a woman who is sinless? How can you abandon a wife who is extremely kind and faultless?’

sakhā bhāryā manuṣyāṇām iha loke paratra ca |

dānaṃ vā sumahad dattvā yajño vā subahuḥ kṛtaḥ || 12:22 ||

A wife is a man’s friend in this world and in the other world. [Even if] a man gives enormous donations or performs numerous sacrifices, aputro nāpnuyāt svargaṃ tapobhir vā suduṣkaraiḥ |

śruto me pitṛbhiḥ prokto brāhmaṇaiś ca mamāntike || 12:23 ||

or performs hard penance, he cannot reach heaven without having a son. I have heard this as taught by my father and my uncles, and by Brahmins in my presence.

12.19 Pāda c has the metrical fault of two laghus in the second and third position.

In pāda d, bhava is less than satisfactory. One would normally expect bhavate/bhavatām/bhavatu in this context. Alternatively, it is possible that kalyāṇo bhava (‘be happy’) was meant, or E’s reading (tava) could be accepted as a conjecture.

12.21 All witnesses consulted read sa instead of my conjectured ca in pāda d. sa might work if we read tyajet (C₄₅ C₀₂) instead of tyajeh (C₉₄ K₈₂ K₇), but even this version sounds a bit out of context (‘how can he abandon...’).

12.23 Note me as instrumental in pāda c. I translate pitṛbhiḥ in the same pāda as ‘father and uncles,’ and not as ‘ancestors’ because the former fits the context better.

mandapālo dvijaśreṣṭho gataḥ svargaṃ tapobalāt || 12:24 ||

A sonless man cannot reach heaven. I have heard this so many times!
 Mandapāla, the great Brahmin, went to heaven as a reward of his austerities,

dānāni ca bahūn dattvā yajñāṃś ca vividhāṃś tathā |
vedāṃś ca japayajñāṃś ca kṛtvā sa dvijasattamaḥ || 12:25 ||

having made numerous donations, having performed various sacrifices, Vedic sacrifices and sacrifices of recitation, that great Brahmin.

prāptadvāro 'pi yasyāpi devadūtair nivāritaḥ |
aputro nāpnuyāt svargaṃ yadi yajñāśatair api || 12:26 ||

But even he, even when he reached the gate [of heaven], was stopped by the celestial messengers [saying:] “The sonless cannot enter heaven, not even by hundreds of sacrifices.”

ity uktas tu cyutaḥ svargān mandapālo mahān ṛṣiḥ |
putrān utpādayām āsa śāraṅgāṃś caturo dvijaḥ || 12:27 ||

Mandapāla, the great sage, having been thus informed fell from heaven.
 The Brahmin begot four sons with a Śāraṅga-bird.

tena puṇyaprabhāveṇa svargaṃ prāpto hy avāritaḥ |
kulatrāṇāt kalatrāsmi bharaṇād bhārya eva ca || 12:28 ||

By the virtue of this, he reached heaven unobstructed. I am a wife (kala- tra) [because] I protect the family (kulatrāṇa), and I am a wife to be supported (bhārya) because I bear [sons] (bharaṇa).

12.24 See details of Mandapāla's story, here summarised, in MBh 1.220.5ff.

12.25 On japayajña, see VSS 6.1–2 and 5 above, as well as, e.g., BhG 10.25c (yajñānām japayajño 'smi) and Manu 2.86 (vidhiyajñāj japayajño viśiṣṭo daśabhir guṇaiḥ). Understand pāda c as vedayajñāṇ japayajñāṃś ca kṛtvā. (See vedayajña mentioned in VSS 3.37a above.)

12.26 Pādas ab are not perfectly smooth syntactically, yasyāpi is difficult to fit in. Perhaps understand prāptadvāre 'pi yasmin sa devatūtair nivāritaḥ. Alternatively, yasya might reference svargaḥ.

12.28 Note that pāda c is the result of emendations (the majority of the MSS read kulatrāṇām kalatrāsmi), and that bhārya in pāda d is to be understood as bhāryā metri causa. I added ‘to be supported’ in the translation to convey the general meaning of the word bhārya, which seemed to fit the context well.

dārasaṃgraha putrārthe kriyate śāstradarśanāt |
yāni santi grhe dravyaṃ grāmaghoṣagrāhāni ca || 12:29 ||

Taking a wife is for the sake of having sons according to the Śāstras.
Please give that Brahmin all the wealth at home, the village, the stations of herdsmen, and the houses,

dātum arhasi viprāya na mām dātum ihārhasi |
bhāryāyā vacanaṃ śrutvā vipulaḥ punar abravīt || 12:30 ||

but please don't give me away this time!' Having heard his wife's speech, Vipula spoke again.

sādhu bhāmini jānāmi sādhu sādhu pativrate |
jito 'smy anena vākyena anenāsmi hi toṣitaḥ || 12:31 ||

'Alright, my beautiful wife, I know! Good, good, my faithful wife! I am beaten by this speech and I am satisfied with it.

adya grahaṇakāle ca dviḥ āgatya yācate |
dadāmi pratijñāya adattvā narakam vraje || 12:32 ||

Today the Brahmin came up to me at the time of eclipse, and he asked me. I promised him that I would give [you away]. If I didn't give [you to him], I would go to hell.

narakam yadi gacchāmi kulena saha sundari |
kalpakotoṣahasre 'pi narakastho yaśasvini |
muktim eva na paśyāmi janmakotoṣatair api || 12:33 ||

If I go to hell along with my family, I will be in hell, O brilliant woman, for millions of æons, and will not see release for millions of births.

adānāc cāśubham devi paśyāmi varavarṇini |
dānena tu śubham paśye svargaloke yad akṣayam || 12:34 ||

12.29 Note the stem form °saṃgraha metri causa in pāda a. Note the number discrepancy between yāni santi and dravyaṃ in pāda c, which is repeated in 12:42a.

12.30 I have not included C₀₂^{pc}'s vipula uvāca (echoed in E) because after punar abravīt it seems secondary and unnecessary. Note that the correction in C₀₂ is in a second hand.

12.33 The reading narakastho in pāda b (K₇E) might not be the original one but it is definitely the simplest solution. narakasthād may be original, possibly meaning narakasthānād.

I can see something bad, my Princess, from not giving, O woman with a nice complexion, but from giving I can see something good in heaven that is eternal.

noktaṃ mayānṛtaṃ pūrvam nityaṃ satyavrate sthitaḥ |
satyadharmam atikramya nānyadharmam samācare || 12:35 ||

I have never ever lied, I always observe the vow of truthfulness. If I transgressed the Dharma of truthfulness, [by this] I would stop following all other Dharmas [too].

bhāryā dharmasakhety evaṃ tvayā pūrvam udāhṛtam |
yadi dharmasakhāyāsi so 'dya kāla ihāgataḥ || 12:36 ||

You mentioned earlier that the wife is one's Dharmic friend. If you are indeed Dharma's friend, it was actually the perfect time for him to come up to us today.

dvijarūpadharo dharmah svayam eva ihāgataḥ |
jijñāsārtham ahaṃ bhadre na vighnaṃ kartum arhasi || 12:37 ||

[For] Dharma himself visited us, disguised as a Brahmin. I am being tested. My dear, please don't cause me trouble.

mātavyaktaḥ pitā brahmā buddhir bhāryā damaḥ sakhā |
putro dharmah kriyācārya ity ete mama bāndhavāḥ || 12:38 ||

The Unmanifest (avyakta) is my mother, Brahmā is my father, intelligence is my wife, self-control is my friend. Dharma is my son, ritual is my teacher. These are my relatives.

kālāśreṣṭho grahaḥ sūryo gaṅgā śreṣṭhā nadīṣu ca |
candrakṣaye dinaṃ śreṣṭham naraśreṣṭho dvijottamaḥ || 12:39 ||

The best time is the time of the eclipse of the Sun. The best one among the rivers is the Gaṅgā. The best day is at new moon, the best man is the Brahmin.

12.36 I have emended tvayi in pāda d to tvayā because it seems an early random scribal mistake, rather than some linguistic peculiarity. Note the form sakhāyā for a feminine sakhī or sahāyā. I sense a touch of humour or sarcasm in Vipulā's spin on his wife's claim in 12.22a that 'a wife is a man's friend': now he suggests that his wife, his 'Dharmic friend,' is actually friends with Dharma.

12.39 I understand grahaḥ sūryo in pāda a as sūryagrahaḥ (or sūryagrahaṇam): the eclipse of the Sun, which appears to be an auspicious day. See, e.g., Āgamakalpalatā 3.128: sūryagrahaṇakālasya samānā nāsti bhūtale | atra yad yat kṛtaṃ karma anantaphaladam bhavet || This short list of 'best of' items anticipates VSS 15.16–29, a longer list of what is best in every possible category, not entirely differently from the manner of BhG 10.21–38.

*śuśrūṣaṇārthaṃ viprasya mayā dattāsi sundari |

Śaṅkara spoke: The wife remained silent, her bewildered eyes filled with tears. [Vipula] took her by the hand and the long-eyed woman was presented to the Brahmin.

*yāni santi gr̥he dravyaṃ hiraṇyaṃ paśavas tathā |

*rudra uvāca |
vipulasya vacaḥ śrutvā brāhmaṇena tapasvinā |
āśīḥ suvipulaṃ dattvā vipulāya mahātmane || 12:45 ||*

12.40 Pāda d may give a hint at the connection between this chapter and the end of the previous one: this story is partly a propagation of the life of the vānaprastha.

12.44 Note Śivadharmasāstra 10.11cd, in a similar context of donations: bhojayitvā tato brūyāt prīyatām bhagavān śivaḥ Understand sukṛtaṃ phalam as sukṛtaphalam (metri causa).

Rudra spoke: Having heard Vipula's speech, the ascetic Brahmin blessed the good-souled Vipula a good number of times,

vaset tatra grhe ramye bhāryām ādāya tasya ca |
vipulas tu namaskṛtvā kṛtvā cāpi pradakṣiṇam || 12:46 ||

and then went off to live in a nice house, taking Vipula's wife with him. As for Vipula, he said good-bye and circumbulated him.

brāhmaṇam abhivādyaivaṃ gataḥ śighraṃ vanāntaram |
vane mūlaphalāhāro vicareta mahītale || 12:47 ||

Thus saluting the Brahmin, he departed quickly into the forest. In the forest, he lived off roots and fruits, and roamed the world.

ekākī vijane śūnye cintayā ca pariplutaḥ |
kva gacchāmi kva bhokṣyāmi kutra vā kiṃ karomy aham || 12:48 ||

But being alone in an abandoned and deserted place, he got overwhelmed with worry. 'Where should I go? Where could I find food? From whom? What shall I do?

I don't know these roads, this country, these villages and these cities, towns, mountain settlements. I don't know anybody here.

I can see a nice mountain yonder with large cavities and caves. I'll climb it and try to figure out if there is a village, town or city [nearby].'

evam ukṭvā tu vipulaḥ śanaiḥ parvatam āruhat |
vṛkṣacchāyāṃ samālokyā niśasāda śramānvitaḥ || 12:51 ||

12.45 There are several ways to explain the form āśiḥ in pāda c. The easiest is to treat it as a singular accusative neuter. Alternatively, it could be a plural accusative feminine from āśi and then suvipulaṃ is either to be understood adverbially or as suvipulā[h]. Another way to treat āśiḥ would be to take it as a nominative standing for the accusative.

12.47 Note the metrical problem in pāda a (two laghus).

12.49 In pāda c, I accepted E's reading (°kharvaṭa°, 'a mountain village') against all witnesses consulted. The MSS transmit a reading that is difficult to make sense of (°kharpaṭa, 'ragged garment'). In pāda d, the reading of all the witnesses, kaścana, seems to be an early scribal mistake for kañcana. But note that the same happens at 12.55d.

Having said this, Vipula climbed the mountain slowly. He caught sight of the shades of a tree, and, being exhausted, sat down [there].

*etasminn eva kāle tu vrkṣaśākhāvatārya ca |
apūrvam ca surūpaṃ ca sugandhatvam ca śobhanam || 12:52 ||*

In the same moment, descending from among the branches of the tree, [a monkey appeared and] carrying an extraordinary, beautiful, fragrant, exquisite,

*phalaṃ grhya vicitraṃ ca hṛdayānandanam śubham |
vipulasyāgrataḥ kṛtvā punar vrkṣaṃ samāruhat || 12:53 ||*

lovely, delightful and pleasant-looking fruit, it put it in front of Vipula, and then climbed back onto the tree.

*vipulaś citravad dṛṣtvā vismayam paramaṃ gataḥ |
aho vā svapnabhūto 'smi aho vā tapasaḥ phalam || 12:54 ||*

Vipula, looking [at it] as if seeing a miracle, was perplexed. Wow, am I sleeping? Or is this the fruit of my penance?

*na paśyāmi na jighrāmi na ca svādaṃ ca vedmy aham |
vārttāpi na ca me śrotā pratijānāmi kaṃcana || 12:55 ||*

I have never seen, smelt, tasted anything like this. I have not even heard of anything like this. I shall let somebody know about it.

*evam uktvā hy anekāni phalaṃ grhya manoramam |
sunirīkṣya punar jighran punar jighran nirīkṣya ca || 12:56 ||*

12.51 I have accepted the reading (emendation?) of E in pāda d (āruhat) because I think that āruhet is an early scribal mistake that is easy to make, and because °āruhat comes up again in 12.53d.

12.52 Note the stem form noun °śākhā in pāda b. Understand °śākhād avatārya. From this point on, the story might be interpreted as a dream.

12.53 Note how the agent of this sentence is omitted here. That it was a monkey that gave Vipula the fruit becomes clear in 12.94 below.

12.54 See notes on 12.52 above on how most of the story could be interpreted as a dream.

12.55 Note the use of the (non-historical) present tense in pādas ab clearly pointing to past events. I suspect that śrotā in pāda c is meant to be feminine participle śrutā, but the metre required the first vowel to be lengthened; understand me as mayā. In pāda d, the reading of all the witnesses, kaṃcana, seems to be an early scribal mistake for kañcana. Note that the same happens at 12.49d.

Having repeated this several times, taking that nice fruit, he kept observing it smelling it again and again.

phalaṃ cātra nirūpyanto deśaṃ vāpy avalokayan |
pātheyarahitaś cāsmi devadattaṃ phalaṃ mama || 12:57 ||

‘While gazing at this fruit, and observing the countryside, I have run out of provisions. This fruit is godsent.

tat phalaṃ pratigrhyaiva nagaraṃ praviśāmy aham |
prārthayitvā tu yat kimcij jīvanārthaṃ carāmy aham || 12:58 ||

Therefore I shall take this fruit and enter that city, and I shall go and seek something to live on.’

tataḥ śailam atikramya nagaraṃ praviveśa ha |
pathi kaścij janaḥ prṣṭhaḥ kiṃnāma nagaraṃ tv idam || 12:59 ||

Then crossing that mountain, he entered the city. He asked a man on the road: ‘What is the name of this city?’

sa hovāca pathikena kim apūrvam ihāgataḥ |
dakṣiṇāpathadeśo ’yaṃ naravīrapuraṃ tv adaḥ || 12:60 ||

The traveller replied: ‘Have you never been here before? This is the Deccan region, and this is the city of Naravīra.

12.56 Since one of the main points, and a source of conflict, in the story is that there was only one single fruit, we have to interpret anekāni in pāda a as a shortened form of anekavāram (‘repeatedly’). Most sources consulted read jighra or jighraṃ in both pāda c and d, i.e. most of them do not suggest the participle jighran, which seems to be the correct reading. I have altered this part of the text silently.

12.57 Understand nirūpyanto in pāda a as a thematised present participle in the nominative (nirūpayan). This is also suggested by the standard avalokayan in pāda b.

12.60 I understand pathikena as standing for pathikena metri causa (see 12.64b) and not as two words, pathi kena. This means that we are forced to accept an instrumental as the agent of the finite verb uvāca. I suspect that K₇’s reading (pathiko na) is an attempt to correct the syntax, but in this way na... apūrvam becomes problematic. ayam as the end of this verse may have been the original reading and C₄₅ may have corrected it to adaḥ. Another possibility is that an original adaḥ is preserved in C₄₅, and it got corrupted to ayaḥ (C₉₄), and then to ayam (C₀₂K₈₂). In any case, in this case I have chosen the not-so-well attested reading adaḥ simply because it works better. Another possibility would be to echo 12.59d and correct to idam.

Since I am not aware of any attestation of Naravīrapura as a city, I suspect that this name is either a mistake for or a pun on Karavīrapura, possibly modern Kolhapur in Maharashtra. See more in Intro CHECK.

vipula uvāca |
atra śreṣṭhim upāsyāmi nāma vā tasya kiṃ vada |
katamo deśa tadvāsaḥ kathayasva na saṃśayaḥ || 12:63 ||

Vipula spoke: ‘As a matter of fact, I am seeking audience with the foreman of the guild (śreṣṭhi). What is his name? Tell me. In which district is his dwelling? Tell me without any hesitation.’

vipulenaivam uktas tu pathikovāca taṃ punaḥ |
mama bhīmabalo nāma śreṣṭhikasya grhāgataḥ || 12:64 ||

Having been addressed by Vipula thus, the traveller replied: ‘My name is Bhīmabala and I have come to visit the house of the foreman of the guild.

śreṣṭhikaḥ puṇḍako nāma khyātaḥ śreṣṭhika ucyate |
kautukam tava yady asti tad āgaccha mayā saha || 12:65 ||

The foreman of the guild is called Puṇḍaka and he is said to be a famous foreman. If you are eager [to see him], come with me.’

12.62 Oddly, I had to accept E’s reading in pāda a (°kalā as opposed to °kala) because it is the only one that makes sense. A faint possibility would be correcting the text to sarvakāla-jñas (‘knowing all the times’), but that sounds out of context, being usually the epithet of gods and Buddhas.

12.63 Note the thematised stem śreṣṭhi from śreṣṭhin in pāda a. I have chosen a variant containing a stem form in pāda c (deśa) for metrical reasons. One may even read katamodeśa in a similar sense, or as containing uddeśa (for uddiśa) as an imperative: ‘Where is his house, give me directions!’

12.64 Note the stem form pathika in pathikovāca in pāda b. Alternatively, it is an instance of double sandhi (pathika uvāca → pathikovāca).

evam astv iti tenokto vipulena mahātmanā |

‘Alright, let it be,’ replied to him great-souled Vipula, and they set off to visit the foreman’s house together.

devalokika suvyaktaṃ na martya-m-upajāyate || 12:69 ||

This fruit did not grow on earth, not even on Mount Meru or Mount Mandara. It is clearly from the world of gods, it does not grow in the world of humans.

aho ’smi sa phalaṃ bhoktā rājārhaṃ ca na saṃśayaḥ |

ḍhaukayitvā phalaṃ divyaṃ rājānaṃ toṣayāmy aham || 12:70 ||

Alas! Is it me who will enjoy this fruit? No doubt, [only] a king is worthy of it. Offering this divine fruit to the king, I shall please him.’

12.67 Understand the construction in pāda d as tasmai tena tat phalaṃ niveditam, or read (partly with K₈₂K₇) tat phalaṃ saṃniveditam.

12.68 Note ihānitam for ihānītam in pāda b for metrical reasons. I consider the -m- between gandha and aho in pādas cd a hiatus filler.

12.69 kandare (‘in a cave’) in pāda b must be an early mistake in the MSS for mandare (‘on Mount Mandara’), a location that appears frequently in the epics and the Purāṇas next to Mount Meru, see, e.g., MBh 3.187.10: catuḥsamudraparyantāṃ merumandarabhūṣaṇām | śeṣo bhūtvāham evaitāṃ dhārayāmi vasuṃdharām ||. This is why I conjecture mandare here. Understand devalokika in pāda c as being in stem form (metri causa) for a more standard devalaukikaṃ. Understand martya-m-upajāyate in pāda d as martya upajāyate (i.e. martye...) with -m- as a sandhi bridge.

12.70 Pāda a is slightly suspect. It is possible that originally it contained a negation: aho ’smi na phalaṃ bhoktā (‘Ah! I will not eat this fruit’). I have chosen to translate this pāda as a question, interpreting sa as giving emphasis to the grammatical subject. Nevertheless, the slightly odd reoccurrence of the phrase sa phalaṃ in 12.71 and 72 might suggest that sometimes we could interpret it, somewhat surprisingly, as tat phalaṃ.

tatas tvarita gatvaiva phalaṃ grhya manoharam |
ādareṇopasṛtyaiva rājānaṃ sa phalaṃ dadau || 12:71 ||

Then grabbing that pleasant fruit, he left hastily [together with Bhīma-bala]. He approached the king respectfully, and gave him the fruit.

rājā ca sa phalaṃ dṛṣtvā vismayam paramam gataḥ |
kutaḥ śreṣṭhi tvayā nītaṃ phalaṃ pūrvaṃ manoharam || 12:72 ||

And seeing the fruit, the king was highly amazed. ‘O foreman, from where have you brought this charming fruit previously?’

svādumūlaṃ phalaṃ kandaṃ dṛṣṭam pūrvaṃ na tādṛśam |
rūpagandhaguṇopetaṃ hrdayānandakāraṇam || 12:73 ||

I have never seen such a palatable root or fruit or bulb, one with such beauty, fragrance, and qualities, one that gladdens the heart.

sadya evopayuñjāmi tvayā dattam idaṃ phalaṃ |
kīdṛśam svāda vijñānam icchāmi kuru māciraṃ || 12:74 ||

I shall eat this fruit that you have given me instantly. What does it taste like? I want to know. Give it to me quickly.’

tataḥ sa bhakṣayām āsa phalaṃ cāmṛtasam nibham |
amṛtopamasusvādaṃ sarvaṃ ca bubhuje nṛpaḥ || 12:75 ||

Then he ate the fruit that looked like the ambrosia. The king devoured all of it, and its taste was like that of nectar.

sadyaḥ ṣoḍaśavarṣasya yauvanam samapadyata |
na valīpalitaṃ sadyo na jarā na ca durbalaḥ || 12:76 ||

In an instant, he obtained the youthfulness of a sixteen-year-old boy. In a moment, there were no wrinkles or grey hair, no illness, no weakness.

12.71 In pāda a, tvarita, for the adverb tvaritaṃ, is in stem form metri causa.

12.72 On the possibility that saphala is a form in this text simply signifying phala, see notes on 12.70 and 72. pūrva[m] in pāda d is suspect and E is probably trying to silently emend it. One possibility is that the pāda originally contained a stem form noun: phalāpūrvaṃ manoharam (‘an unparalleled and charming fruit’). Alternatively, pūrva is an eye-skip to 12.73b.

12.74 I take svāda in pāda c as a stem form noun that stands for the accusative metri causa.

12.76 I have corrected sadya in pāda a to sadyaḥ because there is no metrical reason to retain this thematised stem form here (cf. sadyo in pāda c).

keśadantanakhasnigdho dṛḍhadanto dṛḍhendriyaḥ |

The king, who was selfish and cruel, spoke to that foreman of the guild: 'Tell Bhīmabala to bring another fruit today.

punar me yauvanaprāptis tvatprasādān narottama |
kekayīṃ durbalāṃ vṛddhāṃ punaḥ prāpaya yauvanam || 12:81 ||

I have regained my youthfulness by your kindness, O excellent man. Help Kekayī, who is weak and old, regain her youthfulness.'

sa rājñā evaṃ uktas tu śreṣṭhī bhīmabalas tathā |
pratyuvāca ha rājānaṃ prāñjaliḥ praṇataḥ sthitaḥ || 12:82 ||

12.77 I have corrected sadya to sadyaḥ in pāda d, similarly to what I did in 12.76a.

12.78 Note the singular paurastrī in pāda c clearly for a plural.

12.80 Note the thematised śreṣṭhiṃ in pāda a (for śreṣṭhinam). The syntax of pāda c is confusing. I translate it as if it carried a causative meaning (e.g. kāraya bhīmabalaṃ tv evaṃ: 'make Bhīmabala act like this'). On the other hand, an instrumental (bhīmabalena) would be better ('act like this, together with Bhīmabala').

This is how the king addressed the foreman. Bhīmabala replied to the king, joining his hands reverentially, and remaining standing with his head bowed down.

na vanena vane rājan na vāṇijyakṛṣṇa vā |
kenāpi kulaputrena tava darśanakāṃkṣayā || 12:83 ||

‘Your majesty, one cannot obtain [such a fruit by wondering] from forest to forest. It cannot be obtained through merchants or by cultivating the land. Some noble man, seeking your audience, datto ’smi tena rājendra mayā datto ’si bhūpate |

na te śaknomy ahaṃ rājan vaktuṃ vaideśinaṃ naram || 12:84 || gave it to me, and, O supreme king, I gave it to you, your majesty. Your majesty, I cannot tell you who this foreigner is.’

śrutvā bhīmabalavākyaṃ pratyuvāca tataḥ punaḥ |
amātyakulaputras tvaṃ brūhi madvacanaṃ punaḥ || 12:85 ||

Having heard Bhīmabala’s reply, [the king] said: ‘You are the son of a noble family of ministers. Repeat my words [to Vipula]:

yadi nāsti kiṃ me dattaṃ mayā vā mārḡito bhavān |
yatra hy eko bahavo ’tra jāyante nātra saṃśayaḥ || 12:86 ||

If there are no more [fruits], why did you give me one? This is what I request from you, sir. Where there is one, there will be many, that is for sure.

12.82 I accepted the reading śreṣṭhī (C₀₂) in pāda b although it may be a correction of śreṣṭhi (C₉₄ C₄₅ K₈₂ K₇), an original prātipadika of the thematised form of śreṣṭhin (see 1.63a). All in all, the latter reading is more likely to be the result of a bit of confusion about the two nominatives śreṣṭhī and bhīmabalas, referring to two different persons. That it is Bhīmabala that replies to the king, and not Puṇḍaka the foreman, becomes clear in 12.85a (śrutvā bhīmabalavākyaṃ).

12.83 Pāda a could be construed as na vane na vane rājan (‘Your majesty, there is no [such fruit] in any forest’), but a similar expression, vanena vanam, occurs, e.g., in MBh 1.144.1 meaning ‘from forest to forest’ (te vanena vanam vīrā ghnanto mṛgagaṇān bahūn | apakramya jayū rājāṃs tvaramāṇā mahārathāḥ ||), and this made me choose another option (na vanena vane rājan). E’s variant (na phaledaṃ vane rājan) is likely an attempt to ‘correct’ the text.

12.84 Note the form vaideśin for the better-attested videśin or vaideśika in pāda d.

12.85 Pāda a, as transmitted in C₉₄ C₄₅, is a rare sa-vipulā. Some MSS (C₀₂ K₈₂ K₁₀ K₇) read ’balam to avoid this.

12.86 Pāda c is a rare sa-vipulā (cf. 12.85a above), as transmitted in C₉₄ K₈₂ K₁₀ K₇. It seems that C₄₅ and C₀₂ try to ‘correct’ it in different ways.

āgamopāyamārgaṃ ca tenaiva sa tu gamyatām |

chedyaś caṇḍavicaṇḍābhyāṃ rakṣa bhīmabalādhamah || 12:88 ||

If you are unable to provide another [fruit], I'll have your head cut off, you fool. [Vipula] will be slain by Caṇḍa and Vicaṇḍa. Beware, Bhīmabala, he is a vile person!

tato bhīmabalaḥ kruddhaḥ khadgaṃ grhya śaśiprabham |
alaṅghya vacanaṃ rājñāḥ kulaputra vraja tvaram || 12:89 ||

Then Bhīmabala got angry and drew his sword that looked like the [crescent] moon. [He spoke to Vipula:] 'Obeying the king's orders, O son of a noble family, go hastily!

mā ruṣa kulaputra tvaṃ mayā vadhya bhaviṣyasi |
sadyo 'sti phalam anyad vā dehi rājānam adya vai || 12:90 ||

O son of a noble family, don't take it as an offence, but I have a licence to kill you, unless you have more of this fruit. Give another one to the king before the end of the day!

yatra prāptaṃ phalaṃ divyaṃ tatra vādeśaya tvaram |
tatphalena vinā bhadra durlabhaṃ tava jīvitam || 12:91 ||

Reveal to me quickly where you found that exquisite fruit. Without that fruit, my friend, your life is in danger.'

12.88 Understand chedyāmi in pāda b as chedayāmi. It is difficult to see how the readings chedye and chede appeared in C₉₄K₁₀ and C₄₅K₇, respectively. The only MS transmitting chedyaś is K₈₂, but I suppose that this phrase should refer to Vipula being potentially slain by Caṇḍa and Vicaṇḍa, could be the two royal envoys mentioned in verse 12.126 (rājadūtad-vayam), sent along with Bhīmabala to make sure he obeys the king's command. Compare with ŚDhU 7.101, where Yama's attendants are called Caṇḍa and Mahācaṇḍa.

12.89 The reconstruction of pāda d is tentative.

12.91 I have conjectured tvaram for tava in pāda b because tava is both unmetrical and meaningless in this context. tava might have been the result of an eyeskip to pāda d, or rather to pāda b of 12.92.

but there is no other fruit. Nobody can provide any. Up on the rocky peak of Mount Sahya, I sat down, disheartened.

Hey, let's go to that place, O foreman, to see if the monkey is still there. When we get there together, we can ask the monkey king [for more fruit].'

śreṣṭhinā ca tathety āha gacchāmaḥ sahitā vayam |

yatra prāptam phalam tubhyaṃ mokṣayāmo na saṃśayaḥ || 12:96 ||

The foreman said: 'Alright, let us all go together to the place where you found that fruit. We shall be saved, no doubt.'

rudra uvāca |

tam āruhya giriṃ sahyam mārgamānaḥ samantataḥ |

vipulena tato dṛṣṭo vānaraḥ plavagādhipaḥ || 12:97 ||

12.92 I emended vaideśibhavanam in pāda b to vaideśi bhavanam to arrive at a much smoother interpretation.

12.95 I have accepted C₄₅'s reading in pāda d against all other witnesses. The dual seems to nicely follow gacchāva in pāda a, and the verb $\sqrt{yāc}$ also appears in 12.105d (yācasva). Nevertheless, C₄₅ may only be trying to correct the problematic reading found in all the other witnesses. yo vāsaḥ plavagādhipaḥ could be just an awkward way of saying yatra plavagādhipasya vāsaḥ or yatra vasati plavagādhipaḥ.

12.96 Bhīmabala switches to the plural in his reply, possibly referring to Vipula, Puṇḍaka, and himself, and also perhaps to the two envoys of the king, Caṇḍa and Vicāṇḍa (see 12.126cd). Note also tubhyaṃ in pāda c as instrumental.

Rudra spoke: Climbing that mountain, Mount Sahya, searching the place all over, Vipula then caught glimpse of that monkey, the monkey king.

The monkey spoke: ‘It was a Gandharva that had given me the fruit that I gave you. How could I give you another one? Go there [where Gandharvas live] if you wish.

vipula uvāca |

Vipula spoke: ‘If you cannot give me another fruit, [my] staying alive is doubtful. Another alternative is that we go where Citraratha himself dwells.’

The monkey replied: ‘Let’s do it.’ Then, upon reaching Citraratha’s dwelling place, and having gone up to him, he said this:

12.99 Note the two laghu syllables in pāda a in second and third position.

12.101 Note tubhyaṃ in pāda a again in the sense of tvayā. Citraratha is the king of the Gandharvas.

 The king of the Gandharvas spoke: “I went to the world of Sūrya, and it was him who gave me that extraordinary fruit. I gave that fruit to you [because] you are my very best friend.

 Having been addressed thus by the Gandharva, the monkey consented.
 They reached the world of Sūrya all together, the Gandharva and the others.

 The Gandharva spoke: I have come back to you with a request, O Skygoer lord. Give me another of that fruit you gave me and spare a life.

sūrya uvāca |
somalokagataś cāsmi tena dattaṃ phalottamam |
sa phalaṃ dattam evāsi suhṛdatvān mayā tava || 12:108 ||
 Sūrya spoke: I went to Soma’s world, and it was he who gave me the magical fruit. I gave you that fruit out of my friendship for you.

12.104 Understand suhṛdo in pāda d as a singular nominative of the rare suhṛda.

12.106 I have emended the correct but unmetrical °ādayaḥ in pāda d to ādaya to restore the metre.

12.108 Note the odd syntax of pādas cd. sa phalaṃ may have been influenced by 12.71d and 72a. Here tat phalaṃ would work better but see sa phalaṃ in a similarly odd position in 12.113d. dattam evāsi is also problematic although similar structures do appear in this text, e.g. in 12.113c. The original may have read tat phalam datta evāsi; or take dattam evāsi as datta-m-evāsi, with a hiatus breaker -m-.

*anyad dātum na śaknomi gaccha somapurādya vai |
taṃ prārthayāvikalpena atriputram graheśvaram || 12:109 ||*

I cannot give you another one. Go now to Soma's city. Ask him, the son of Atri, the lord of planets, without hesitation.

*rudra uvāca |

*soma uvāca |

Soma spoke: For what purpose have you returned? O Sun, there will be a solution for that. Except for giving another fruit, I shall do anything.

*sūrya uvāca |
yadi śakyaṃ phalaṃ dehi anyan na prārthayāmy aham |

Sūrya spoke: "If you can, give me a fruit, I am not asking for anything else. If you do not give me another fruit, I'll kill you."

*soma uvāca |
āgamaṃ tasya vakṣyāmi śṛṇuṣvāvahito bhava |

Soma spoke: "I shall tell you how it arrived. Listen carefully. It was Indra who gave me the fruit and I gave that fruit to you.

*gatvaivendrasadas tv anyat prārthayāmaḥ sahaiva tu |
evaṃ kurma iti prāha gatvendrasadanam prati || 12:114 ||*

Let's go to Indra's palace and ask for another one together. Let's go!" he said and left for Indra's dwelling residence.

12.109 Understand purādya as puram adya (stem form metri causa)

12.110 Understand sūryāgrataḥ in pāda a as sūryam agrataḥ (stem form noun). Note the form śaśim for śaśinam.

12.113 Note sa phalaṃ for tat phalaṃ again, as in 12.108c. The syntax of pādas cd is rather confused and datta in pāda d is a stem form participle metri causa.

soma indram uvācedaṃ phalakāmā ihāgatāḥ |

Some said this to Indra: “We have come here seeking a fruit.” Give me another of the fruit now that you gave me before, O Śakra.

Viṣṇu spoke: “You all have come here for the fruit that I donated previously. I cannot give you the fruit. Otherwise, what else can I do for you?”

12.115 soma indram in pāda a in K₇ may be a correction of the reading in all the other sources. On the other hand, it can be original, and the hiatus may have confused an early scribe.

12.119 Note that pāda a is unmetrical. Emend to tato (irregular sandhi)?.

12.120 The function of tac ca in pāda b is unclear. Perhaps understand atra (‘here’). Understand sarvam ihāgatāḥ as sarva-m-ihāgatāḥ, with a hiatus filler -m- for sarva (i.e. sarve) ihāgatāḥ. The non-standard form anyam transmitted in all witnesses consulted might be original but I have not found any more instances of it in this text. That is why I have corrected it to the standard anyat.

12.124 For the expression parameṣṭhiprajāpati see MBh 6.15.35ab: sarvalokeśvarasyeva parameṣṭhiprajāpateḥ

 inlaid with cat's-eye gems,

 the coral-gem pillars and the diamond and golden altar, the coral-gem and crystalline lattice-windows and sapphire windows,

 Vipula [also] saw [that there were] various charming trees there, with their tops bent down with [the burden of] the blossom and the fruits, vṛkṣagulmalatāvalli kadamūlaphalāni ca || 12:131 ||

 all the trees made of gems and the water[?] made of gems, the trees, bushes, creepers, winding plants and bulbous roots and fruits:

sarve ratnamayā dṛṣṭā vipulo vipulekṣaṇaḥ |
anekabhaumaṃ prāsādaṃ muktādāma vibhūṣitam || 12:132 ||
 Vipula saw all these consisting of jewels with his eyes open wide. [There was] a multi-storeyed palace decorated with garlands of pearls, apsarogaṇakoṭibhiḥ sarvābharaṇabhūṣitam |

vimānakoṭikoṭināṃ sarvakāmasamanvitam || 12:133 || embellished with millions of groups of Apsarases wearing all kinds of ornaments, and millions and millions of floating aerial palaces possessing everything wished for.

12.130 Note °vṛkṣa in pāda b as a stem form noun for °vṛkṣā or °vṛkṣān (manoramāḥ/-ān). One could simply correct the pāda to nānāvṛkṣān manoramān, but then the next line should also be altered.

12.132 Note the odd syntax of pādas ab. Pāda b should be understood as a phrase in the instrumental case.

12.133 I understand pādas ab as if it read apsarogaṇakoṭibhiḥ sarvābharaṇabhūṣitair bhūṣitam Perhaps understand vimānakoṭikoṭināṃ as vimānakoṭināṃ koṭiḥ and °samanvitam as °samanvitānām.

with his four embodiments, four heads, four arms and four hands. The god who is the governor of the four social disciplines (āśrama) was holding the four Vedas.

gāyatrī vedamātā ca sāvitṛī ca surūpiṇī || 12:136 ||

Gāyatrī, who is the mother of the Vedas, and beautiful Sāvitṛī were there, around the Vedas, attending [upon him] in their embodied form,

vyāhṛtiḥ praṇavaś caiva mūrtimān samupāsate |

vauṣaṭkāro vaṣaṭkāro namaskāraḥ sa mūrtimān || 12:137 ||

Also Vyāhṛti[s] (Bhur, Bhuvah, Svar) and Praṇava (Om) were serving [him] in their embodied forms, as well as the syllables Vauṣaṭ, Vaṣaṭ and Namaḥ in their embodied forms, śrutiḥ smṛtiś ca nītiś ca dharmasāstraṃ samūrtimat |

itihāsaḥ purāṇaṃ ca sāmṁkhyayogaḥ patañjalam || 12:138 ||

and Śruti and Smṛti and Nīti and Dharmaśāstra in their embodied forms, as well as Itihāsa, Purāṇa and Pātañjala Sāmṁkhyayoga, āyurvedo dhanurvedo vedo gāndharva-m-eva ca |

arthavedo 'nyavedāś ca mūrtimān samupāsate || 12:139 ||

Āyurveda, Dhanurveda, and Gāndharvaveda, Arthaveda, and other Vedas, in their embodied forms.

12.138 It is difficult to say if sāmṁkhyā-yoga in pāda d signifies one or two things. I could have chosen to separate them, interpreting sāmṁkhyā as a stem form noun, because in other parts of the text, sāmṁkhyā and yoga are usually treated as two different traditions. See 8.1-3, 16.36-37, and 23.5c. Nevertheless, perhaps understand patañjalam as pātañjalah (metri causa and gender confusion). Another, less likely, possibility is that here sāmṁkhyayoga and pātañjalayoga are somehow contrasted here.

12.139 Understand mūrtimān in pāda d as mūrtimantah. Note also C₄₅ and C₀₂'s attempt to include the Atharvaveda. I find it more likely that by arthaveda Kauṭilya's Arthaśāstra is being referred to here.

12.143 Understand °śriya as the singular vocative masculine of °śrī.

12.145 iyam (f.) in pāda a stands for either ayam (m.) or idaṁ (n.), agreeing with the gender of vimāna. Alternatively, the sentence wants, rather clumsily, to convey the meaning ‘all these millions of aerial palaces...’. Note that here, as often in this text, nouns stand in the singular after numbers such as a thousand.

results]”.

bowing down his head, prostrating himself on the ground again and again, delivered a sweet speech to [Brahmā,] the Grandfather of Brah-maloka:

svapnabhūtaṃ ivāścaryaṃ paśyāmi tridaśeśvara |

smṛtibhramśaś ca me jāto buddhir jātāndhacetanā || 12:149 ||

Vipula spoke: “Venerable sir, lord of all the worlds, Grandfather of all people, I can see a dream-like wonder, O lord of the thirty[-three] gods.
My memory abandons me, my mind’s intelligence is darkened.

tubhyaṃ trailokyabandho bhava mama śaraṇaṃ trāhi saṃsāraghorāt

bhūto ’haṃ garbhavāsāj jaramaraṇabhayāt trāhi mām mohabandhāt |

12.146 Understand tavārthīyopasarpanti as tavārthīyā upasarpanti (double sandhi).
tavārthāyo° may work as well (C₄₅ and K₈₂) but I consider tavārthīyo° the lectio difficilior, thus potentially the original reading.

12.147 We are forced to accept E’s reading of bhayatrasta here because it is far superior to the readings of all other witnesses. The rejected reading (bhayas tatra) may have been the result of a simple metathesis (tra-sta to sta-tra).

12.148 The compound brahmalokapitāmahaḥ may sound tautological as an epithet of Brahmā but it does occur in the MBh (12.336.30b) and in other texts (Padmasaṃhitā 3.193d, Jayadrathayāmala 3.14.198b). Otherwise, the word brahma may stand for the accusative here (brahmānaṃ), or may be corrupted from sarva° (see next verse).

12.149 Note that E adds a line here (see the apparatus; translation: ‘I am a fool, how could I praise you? You are beyond knowledge, beyond the ultimate.’). I have not been able to locate this line in any of the available sources.

Hearing [this] Brahmā spoke to [Vipula] of huge intellect, honouring [him] as follows. You will live until the universal floods of destruction. You will not have any longing for being reborn any more. There will be no dwelling in a womb for you, no rebirth, no anguish full of weariness. Killing the enemy who is the darkness of illusions, and you will reach the ultimate, the absorption into the Brahman.”

indreṇa raviṇā caiva somena ca punaḥ punaḥ |
sādhyādityair marudrudrair viśvebhir vasavaḥ tathā || 12:153 ||

12.151 The stem form noun °mati of the bahuvrīhi compound in pāda a may stand for matiḥ (see the unmetrical reading of C₉₄ C₄₅ K₈₂), and then it should refer to Brahmā himself (‘Brahmā, the one with a huge intellect...’). I have chosen to take mati as a stem form noun standing for the accusative, referring to Vipula. This works better because mānayitvā (and śrutvā) requires an object. Note āhūtasamplava instead of the more common ābhūtasamplava (see also 2.13). me in pāda b is difficult to interpret. I take tvan na in pāda c as an ablative of tvad used as a genitive plus na.

[Then] Indra, Ravi and Soma, the Sādhyas, the Ādityas, the Maruts, the Rudras, the Viśve[śas] and the Vasus[?] [spoke:]

aho tapaḥphalaṃ divyaṃ vipulasya mahātmanaḥ |
svaśarīraṃ divaṃ prāptaḥ śraddhayātithipūjayā || 12:154 ||

“Wow, what a divine reward for great-souled Vipula’s penance! He has reached heaven in his own [mortal] body by virtue of his worshipping a guest in good faith.”
