Acknowledgements

I am grateful to Alexis Sanderson, Dominic Goodall and Harunaga Isaacson for initiating me into the philological study of Śaivism, and to Florinda De Simini for encouraging me to apply for a position in her ŚIVADHARMA PROJECT (ERC no. 803624), for sharing with me all the relevant manuscript material and in general leading the project in the most friendly and generous way through difficult Covid-affected years. While working on the Vṛṣasārasaṃgraha, I have also been affiliated with another ERC project, the DHARMA PROJECT (ERC no. 809994), and I'm grateful to all my colleagues involved in that enterprise, including Arlo Griffith, Emmanuel Francis, Annette Schmiedchen, and Dániel Balogh.

During my visit to the National Archives in Kathmandu, the staff were helpful and professional. I wish to express my thanks to Jyoti Neupane, Manita Neupane, Saubhagya Pradhananga, Rubin Shrestha, Sahan Ranjitkar, and all other members. Sushmita Das made great efforts to acquire the manuscripts in Calcutta.

My colleagues and friends working in Naples or visiting Naples for shorter periods have helped me on a daily basis, during our regular reading sessions and in every other possible way, and I am thankful to them: to Florinda De Simini, Nirajan Kafle, Kengo Harimoto, Giulia Buriola, Alessandro Battistini, Lucas den Boer, Torsten Gerloff, Kenji Takahashi, Francesco Sferra, Dorotea Operato, Daniela Cappello, Michael Bluett, Marco Franceschini, Martina Dello Buono, Chiara Livio, Margherita Trento, Nina Mirnig, Timothy Lubin, SAS Sarma, R. Sathyanarayanan, and others.

Colleagues I have known for countless years, such as Judit Törzsök, Dominic Goodall, Harunaga Isaacson, Csaba Dezső and Gergely Hidas, are always the first to help my work and support me in every possible way.

I am infinitely grateful to my family for always supporting me unwaveringly.

The present publication is a result of the project Dharma 'The Domestication of "Hindu" Asceticism and the Religious Making of South and Southeast Asia'. This project has received funding from the European Research Council (ERC) under the European Union's Horizon 2020 research and innovation programme (grant agreement no. 809994). Preface

Aims and problems

What is this edition? It is not much more than a new copy, and carefully prepared new version of a text called Vṛṣasārasaṃgraha, based on a number of witnesses, augmented with an analysis of the contents, with contextualisation, and with an English translation. As for the critical edition, while I went to great lengths to understand the textual history behind the manuscripts used, it is obviously a deeply contaminated version of a text transmitted through contaminated witnesses. Nevertheless, it is hopefully a version that is as close to the authors' and redactors' original intention around the time they assembled these chapters together, approximately in the seventh to tenth centuries, as possible. Of course we do not know if there was a single moment when the intention to compose a new text on Dharma under the title Vṛṣasārasaṃgraha was born or if there was one single 'original copy', but it is hopefully the most meaningful and most readable among all available copies. Still, the present book is just a version of a text that surely has never existed exactly in this very form, inevitably showing signs of being an eclectic edition. Furthermore, it may show unintentional characteristics of the 21th century (ones that go beyond the modern Devanāgarī font face or occasional choices based on our modern understandings and misunderstandings) mixed with characteristics of the first millenium. We know that '[a]ll editing is an act of interpretation.²² And many of the editorial decisions I made were based on opinions expressed by colleagues during our regular reading sessions. Thus this edition is a result of the interpretative efforts of a group of scholars, and this may sometimes, but hopefully rarely, have caused contradictions.

And as to complicate things, we are publishing this long text in two volumes, and the second volume is still in the making when the first comes out. This may produce various problems: of interpretation, of internal references, of repetition, and most importantly of presenting a text of embedded and recurring layers cut in half. To counteract some of these problems, I had finished editing and studying some of the most significant passages in the second part of the text by the time I let the first one out of my hands; some of these the reader can find in the Appendices. A further minor problem arises when I discuss topics that I have already touched upon in Kiss 2021: some overlaps are inevitable.

Find a hard copy of McGann's Textual Condition.

¹ This reminds one of James McLaverty's question (as quoted in McGann 1991, ??): "If the Mona Lisa is in the Louvre in Paris, where is Hamlet?"

And what is the purpose of this edition? The main objective of the ŚIVADHARMA PROJECT has been to understand better the function of individual texts within the so-called Śivadharma corpus, and thus the raison d'être of the corpus itself. My attempt is rather simplistic: it is to understand what the Vṛṣasārasaṃgraha tried to convey when when it was composed and to try to see why this text got inserted in those multi-text manuscripts that usually transmit the so-called Śivadharma corpus. But even without this ideal to fully understand the purpose and function of the Vṛṣasārasaṃgraha, to make a pre-eleventh-century Sanskrit text easily available in the twenty-first century is, I believe, a noble aspiration.

Introduction

The Śivadharma corpus

In general...

Reading the Vṛṣasārasaṃgraha

The title

The title Vṛṣasārasaṃgraha can be translated as: 'A Compendium on the Essence of the Bull [of Dharma].' The last two elements (sāra-saṃgraha) need little explanation: this work is a 'compendium' on, a 'collection' or 'summary' of (saṃgraha) the 'essence' (sāra) of its topic. The words 'compendium' and 'collection' reflect the composite nature of the Vṛṣasārasaṃgraha well; see sections on the structure of the text and on the its possible sources on pp. ??ff and pp. ??ff. The remaining question is weather the bull in the title is only a reference to a representation of Dharma or also a hint at Śiva's bull, his vehicle or mount, sometimes called Nandi or Nandin in other works.³

Dharma is frequently referred to as a (four-legged) bull in Sanskrit literature from at least the time of the Mahābhārata. See, e.g., this passage (MBh 3.188.10–13):

kṛte catuṣpāt sakalo nirvyājopādhivarjitaḥ |
vṛṣaḥ pratiṣṭhito dharmo manuṣyeṣv abhavat purā || 10 ||
adharmapādaviddhas tu tribhir aṃśaiḥ pratiṣṭhitaḥ |

caturthāṃśena dharmas tu manuṣyān upatiṣṭhati || 12 ||
āyur vīryam atho buddhir balaṃ tejaś ca pāṇḍava |

³ There is no trace of Nandi/Nandin as identified with the bull in the Vṛṣasārasaṃgraha. On the possible time after which Nandi or Nandin, originally a gaṇa was considered a bull, see Bhattacharya 1977 and Goodall, Rout, Sathyanarayanan et al 2005, 100–108 and 171–172.

Manusmṛti also confirms this (8.16a): vṛṣo hi bhagavān dharma.

Mahākṣapaṇaka's koṣa (CHECK date), the Anekārthadhvanimañjarī, places the meaning 'dharma' as first when defining the word 'vṛṣa':

The ŚDhU also mentions the 'Dharma bull':

Sanderson 2015 (210 n. 136), in general, on vṛṣa being Dharma, and on the bull appearing on the coins of the Hephthalite Hun Mihirakula in particular says the following:

To laud the bull (vṛṣa) would be surprising if the intended meaning were the bull that is Śiva's mount, but not if the word is intended in its figurative meaning, namely dharmaḥ, or sukṛtam 'the virtuous actions [prescribed by the Veda].' For this meaning of vṛṣaḥ see, for example, Amarasiṃha, Nāmalingānuśāsana 1.4.25b (sukṛtam vṛṣaḥ), 3.3.220 (sukṛte vṛṣaḥbe vṛṣaḥ); Halāyudha, Abhidhānaratnamālā 1.125cd

Introduction

(dharmaḥ puṇyam vṛṣaḥ śreyaḥ sukṛtam ca samam smṛtam); Manusmṛti 8[.]16a (vṛṣo hi bhagavān dharmas...); and the Gwalior Museum Stone Inscription of Pataṅ-gaśambhu (Mirashi 1962), l. 15, vṛṣaikaniṣṭho 'pi jitasmaro 'pi yaḥ śaṅkaro 'bhūd bhuvi ko 'py apūrvvaḥ, concerning the Śaiva ascetic Vyomaśambhu: 'He was in the world an extraordinary new Śiva, since he too was vṛṣaikaniṣṭhaḥ ('devoted solely to pious observance'; in Śiva's case 'riding only on the Bull') and he too was jitasmaraḥ ('one who had defeated sensual urges'; in Śiva's case 'the defeater of the Love god Kāmadeva'). This is also the meaning of vṛṣaḥ in the title Vṛṣasārasaṃgraha, one of the works of the Śivadharma corpus (see, e.g., Sanderson 2014, p. 2), i.e., 'Summary of the Essentials of the [Śiva]dharma'.

In his last sentence here, Sanderson implies that the Vṛṣasārasaṃgraha is organically part of the teachings that we call the Śivadharma corpus, and thus he adds Śiva in square brackets when translating the title Vṛṣasārasaṃgraha. A closer examination of the VSS reveals no direct references to either Śiva's bull or to the bull as embodying the Śivadharma. Instead, the bull in the VSS is repeatedly associated with the Dharma that is the four āśramas (see p. ??). My conclusion is that while the word *vṛṣa*n the title may well carry a reference to Śiva's bull, it is always only implied and never explicitely taught, while the bull as the personification of Dharma as the four āśramas explicitely appears. Thus the title actually lacks any explicit hint to Śaivism, which fits in well with the rather blurred and multi-layered affiliation of the text to Dharmaśāstra, Vaiṣṇavism and Śaivism.

Bhattacharya (1977, 1552) suggests that

In the Purāṇas the bull (Vṛṣabha or Vṛṣa) of Śiva is identified with Dharma, "virtue personified". This is a new development to sanctify the animal vehicle of the god. This new situation took place with the religious rite when an offering of a bull to a Brahmin deemed to be of a high religious merit.

Is he ignoring the fact that Dharma as a bull appears already in the Mahābhārata? He comes to the conclusion (Bhattacharya 1977, 1555) that one of the earliest sources to fuse the figures of Nandin and the bull is the relatively early Matsyapurāṇa.

Vṛṣadeva's commission? As a fanciful experiment, and if one supposes that the VSS originated in Nepal, one could wonder if the title Vṛṣasārasaṃgraha has anything to do with the Licchavi king Vṛṣadeva. Sanderson (2009, 74) mentions that Vṛṣadeva is 'described in an inscription of his eighth-century descendant Jayadeva as having inclined towards Buddhism;' (Vajrācārya 1973, 148, l. 9: sugataśāsana-pakṣapātī) 'a view confirmed by a local chronicle, which attributes to him the establishing of Buddhist images,' and that this king established 'the Caitya of the Sīnagu-vihāra (the Svayambhūnāth Caitya).' More importantly, Sanderson summarises the information to be found in the Changu Narayana Pillar Inscription (east shaft), 'namely that Vṛṣadeva was the great-grandfather of Mānadeva, whose 'dated inscriptions range in date from 459 to 505/6 [CE]' (Sanderson 2009, 75). This would place the reign of Vṛṣadeva around 400 CE. The early fifth century may look too early for the date of composition of the Vṛṣasārasaṃgraha, and any connection between this king and the text is impossible to prove at the moment, but it is equally impossible to reject any connection, and if there were one, it would give some explanation for the slightly unusual nature of the title.

⁴ See also Bakker 2014, 69, who while discussing a seal of Śarvavarman that features a beautifully carved bull representing Dharma, remarks: 'The reader may also see in the image the thriving Śaiva religion, represented by the Bull, the vāhana of Śiva [...]'

The genre

Is the VSS a Purāṇa? There are at least two reasons to think so. One is the section VSS 1.63–76, a list of so-called vedavyāsas, transmitters of Purāṇas, from Brahmā, to Vyāsa Dvaipāyana, Romaharṣa and his son. Why should a text include in its first chapter such a list if the implication is not that it is about its own origin?

Another argument is that the topics dealt with in the VSS are exactly what we expect from a Purāṇa. The famous purāṇapañcalakṣaṇa includes, following Wilson's translation (in Rocher 1986, 26), the following: (1) primary creation, cosmogony and chronology (sarga); (2) creation, destruction of the world (pratisarga); (3) geneologies (vaṇṣáa); (4) Manu eras (manvantaras); (5) history (vaṇṣánucarita). Arguably all these are present in the VSS, most of them already in chapter one, and later in twenty-one and twenty-four, plus narratives of the deeds of gods (e.g. in chapter twenty-three), and much more that one normally sees in Purāṇas.

Contents of chapters 1–12

Adhyāya 1 After a mangala-verse that addresses a deity whose identity is obscure (is it Siva or the impersonal Brahman?, verse 1.1), we enter the first layer of the text, which comprises a dialogue between Janamejaya and Vaisampāyana and could be labelled Dharmaśāstric. Janamejaya wishes to hear the essence, the ultimate Dharmic teaching, of the Mahābhārata. In response, Vaiśampāyana starts relating a dialogue in which Viṣṇu, diguised as a Brahmin, is testing an ascetic called Anarthayajña, reknown for performing non-material sacrifice (anarthayajña, the topic of adhyāya eleven), and a devotee of Viṣṇu (which becomes clear in adhyāya twenty-one). This is the beginning of the layer one could label Vaiṣṇava. The first topic they discuss is $brahmavidy\bar{a}$ (1.9–10), and ambiguous definition of the impersonal Brahman and/or the syllable om. The next topic is kāla ('death, time'), the origin of the body, karma (1.11-17), and the divisions of time (from truti, nimesa up to kalpas, 1.18–31), which leads to a teaching on numbers, from one up to two hundred quadrillion (para, 1.32–36). Verses 1.37–40 introduce a list of the rulers of the eight regions of the Brahmanda (1.41–49). In addition, Viṣṇu features as the ruler of the centre of the Brahmāṇḍa (1.50), reconfirming the general Vaiṣṇava character of this layer. 1.51-58 give the number of subordinates to each ruler mentioned above. 1.59-62 teaches the measurments of the Brahmāṇḍa. Finally, verses 1.63-76 list the redactors and transmitters of the Purāṇas, from Brahmā to Vyāsa Dvaipāyana and Romaharşa.

Notes on the language

The language of the VSS goes beyond the idiosyncrasies of epic Sanskrit. It exhibits strong similarities to Śaiva Aiśa Sanskrit, and it applies particular metrical licences and uses a special vocabulary, morphology and syntax. The analysis of this language, ideally, could lead us to the author(s) or redactors of the text and to its place of composition. Here I only give a brief overview of the most important phenomena. For details see the observatoins on the constitution of the Sanskrit text in the footnotes to the translation (pp. ??), as well as the Index.

Metre

As regards metrical licences, the first striking feature is the generous use of the poetic licence sometimes labelled 'muta cum liquida,'10 namely that some consonant clusters that would normally turn the previous short (laghu) syllable long (guru) may in some cases do not do so. The syllables pra, bra, hra, kra, especially at the beginning of words CHECK, are well-known candidates for this licence.¹¹ In the VSS, tra, vra, śra, pra, and also śya, śva, sva, dva, all involving conjunct consonants with a liquid sounds or semi-vowels in second position, and possibly also rpa,CHECK! seem additional ones.

The well-known author on prosody, Kedārabhaṭṭa (11-12th centuries), ¹² frequently quoted by Mallinātha, gives the following definition in his Vṛṭṭaratnākara (here given together with Sulhaṇa's Sukavihṛḍayanandinī commentary):

padādāv iha varņasya saṃyogaḥ kramasaṃjñikaḥ | puraḥsthitena tena syāl laghutā 'pi kvacid guroḥ || 1.10 ||

vibhaktyantam padam tasya padasyādau vartamāno yo varnas tasya saṃyogaḥ | sa iha śāstre kramasaṃjño jñeyaḥ | tena krameṇa purovartinā prākpadānte vartamānasya prāptagurubhāvasyāpi laghutā syāt | kvacil lakṣānurodhena | nanu ka eṣaḥ kramo nāma saṃyoga ucyate | pūrvācāryāṇāṃ piṅgalanāgaprabhṛtīnām kālidāsādīnām ca kavīnām samayaḥ parigrhītaḥ | saṃyogaḥ kramasaṃyogaḥ || 10 || tatra grasaṃyogena yathā | idam asyodāharaṇam |

taruṇaṃ sarṣapaśākaṃ navaudanaṃ picchalāni ca dadhīni | alpavyayena sundari grāmyajano miṣṭam aśnāti || 1.11 ||

⁹ See Goodall, Törzsök, Hatley, Kiss, Meyr?

¹⁰ For recent contributions on this phenomenon, see e.g. Ranjan Sen 2006 (discussing it as appearing in Latin) and Balogh 2018, note 6 (discussing Sanskrit metre).

¹¹ See e.g. Apte' XXX Dictionary Appendix A p. 1. ADD real life examples.

TRANSLATE the whole passage!

In this [work], a consonant cluster at the beginning of a word is called krama. A [preceding] long syllable can sometimes be turned short by that initial [syllable].

... TRANSLATE

Tender mustard seed, fresh porridge, and slimy curds: village people eat this kind of dishes, O beautiful goddess, due to lack of money.

To sum this example up: the verse given above (1.11) is in āryā, and the metric pattern of the second half-verse is the following: ----- This yields 28 morae, instead of the expected 27. By treating the final syllable of sundari short, in spite of the following grā, the pattern conforms to the expected pattern: ----

The commentator gives several more examples (involving the syllables gra, hra, bhra), including this Śārdūla line:

nidravyo hriyam eti hrīparigataḥ prabhraśyate tejasaḥ

In this line, the last syllable of eti should count as short, in spite of the fact that the beginning of the next word ($hr\bar{i}^{\circ}$) would normally turn it long.

The VSS abounds in this phenomenon of 'muta cum liquida'. EXAMPLES from the VSS and from my emendations. CHECK

- only beginning of words in the VSS?
- final -am etc. counts as long (reverse of muta cum liquida)
- In Kannada and Telugu prosody, under the name of śithila-dvitva, the exception is that sometimes in a consonant cluster of the form [consonant + "r"], the "r" (repha) can be ignored, so that it is not a conjunct consonant anymore.
- The exception is not accepted by purists: Shatavadhani Ganesh says that the Sanskrit masters like Kālidāsa, Bhāravi, Māgha, Śrīharṣa, and Viśākhadatta have not freely used this exception (though the masters in Kannada and other languages have). Being more of a "poetic licence" and a violation of the standard rule (only found in later poetry), it is extremely unlikely that any sane poet would have indulged in that exception in all four pāda-s of a verse. Thus it is very unlikely that the program will miss identifying a verse that indulges in this

A Critical Edition of Vṛṣasārasaṃgraha 1–12

Witnesses

In the pre-modern era, the VSS has been transmitted exclusively in multiple-text manuscripts that were produced in Nepal. Even when a manuscript of the VSS seems to be a single-text MS, chances are high that it originally belonged to a multiple-text manuscript. In the manuscript descriptions below, in addition to some general remarks, I will mainly focus on information relevant to the VSS. For much more detail on the overall features of these manuscripts, see De Simini 2016b and the catalogues I mention at some of the individual manuscript. In manuscript in the vertical section of the individual manuscript. In manuscript in the vertical section is set to be a single-text MS, chances are high that it originally belonged to a multiple-text manuscript in a multiple-text manuscript in a multiple-text manuscript in a multiple-text manuscript in the vertical section in the vertical secti

In recently published and forthcoming critical editions of and articles on the Sivadharma corpus (e.g. Bisschop 2018 and Bisschop, Kafle, & Lubin 2021), the sigla of the manuscripts used are made up of a letter signifying the script (e.g. 'N' for Nepālākṣara/Newari), a superscript letter for the current location where the manuscript is deposited (e.g. 'C' for Cambridge), and two (sometimes only one or even three) subscript digits echoing the last digit(s), if any, of the reference number of the manuscript in the library where it is located or, in the case of NGMPP reel numbers, the last two digits of the first part of the reel number. For details of this system and for the underlying reasons, see Bisschop 2018, 50–51. Since in the case of the VSS all available manuscripts use some variant of the Nepālākṣara script, in this publication I omit the first letter, making the letter for the current ¹³ As I remarked elsewhere (Kiss 2021, 185, n. 9): 'Asiatic Society (Calcutta), Manuscript G 4076, cat. no. 4083, may seem to be an independent manuscript of the Vṛṣasārasaṃgraha, but as De Simini has already remarked (2016b, 240 n. 19) [= De Simini 2016b], it is probably from a multiple text manuscript. In fact, from what can be gathered from its description in Shastri 1928, 716ff, it seems likely that this manuscript was originally part of manuscript Asiatic Society (Calcutta) G 3852, cat. no. 4085. See for example the folio numbering in these two manuscripts: ASC G 3852 contains 210 folios, and ASC G 4076 starts on folio 210.'

The Cambridge manuscripts

(N)C₉₄ Cambridge University Library, Add. 1694.1. This MS has been fully collated for chapters 1–12 of the critical edition in this volume. See a detailed description of this manuscript in the CUDL online catalogue. According to this catalogue, the date of creation of this manuscript is the 12th century, its dimensions are 5 × ca. 53.5 cm. The script is Nepālākṣara. It is a palm-leaf multiple-text manuscript containing 258 folios and transmitting eight texts: 1) Śivadharmaśāstra, 2) Śivadharmottara, 3) Śivadharmasaṃgraha, 4) Umāmaheśvarasaṃvāda, 5) Uttarottamamahāsaṃvāda, 6) Vṛṣasārasaṃgraha, 7) Dharmaputrikā, 8) Śivopaniṣad.

The VSS occupies 45 folios: it starts on f. 193 (the recto side, onlineimage no. 381, is an empty folio side, the text itself starts on the verso side); it ends on f. 239r (online image no. 473). The text of the VSS is transmitted fully, without any folios or major sections of the text missing. The leaves transmitting the VSS are well-preserved. Some folio sides are faded and most folios are somewhat damaged on the right side, sometimes at other parts, and it seems from the images that some opaque-looking tape has been applied to protect these damaged sections. In my critical edition the broken off, completely lost, akṣaras are represented by \times , the illegible akṣaras under the tape by \times ('illegible'). The quality of the readings of this manuscript is one of the best among the available witnesses, comparable only to K_{82} and P_{57} , making it one of the most important sources for the VSS.

(N)C₄₅ Cambridge University Library, Add. 1645. This MS has been fully collated for chapters 1–12 of the critical edition in this volume. See a detailed description of this manuscript in the CUDL online catalogue. According to this catalogue, the dimensions of the manuscript are 4.4×61.7 cm. The manuscript is dated to (Nepala) 'samvat 259 śrāvaṇa śukla dvādaśiyādi(?) < trayodaśyām,' which converts to July 10/11 Monday/Tuesday, 1139 CE. The script is Nepālākṣara. It is a palm-leaf multiple-text manuscript containing 247 folios. Eight texts are transmitted in this manuscript: 1) Śivadharmaśāstra, 2) Śivadharmottara, 3) Śivadharmasaṃgraha, 4) Śivopaniṣad. 5) Umāmaheśvarasaṃvāda, 6) Uttarottamamahāsaṃvāda, 7) Vṛṣasārasaṃgraha, 8) Dharmaputrikā.

¹⁷ F. 247r line 6. The CUDL website transcribes this colophon as: saṃvat 259 śrāvaṇaśuklad-vādaśi[pyaḍi 8 trayodaśyām (retrived 8 Dec 2021). The element dvādaśipyaḍi might be read as dvādaśiyā di, perhaps a mistake for dvādaśyām di (di for a misplaced diva/divā?), and the symbol that does look like a figure '8' of a slightly later period than the manuscript itself (resembling the mathematical symbol <) might also be a kākapada. Another faint kākapada is perhaps to be seen under daśi, therefore it is possible that the scribe's intention was to delete dvādaśi° and correct it to trayodaśyām, and then the date becomes the 11th of July. Kengo Harimoto has suggested that the unclear element (yādi/pyaḍi) is in fact ghaṭi, and after comparing these two syllables to other

The VSS occupies 37 folios plus one folio side: it starts on f. 201v line 4 (online image no. 404), and it ends on f. 238v line 3 (online image no. 478). The readings of this manuscript seem to follow those of K_{82} remarkably closely while transmitting the Śivadharmottara (as observed by De Simini and Harimoto). This is more difficult to see in the case of the VSS, but indeed, they seem closely related.

(N)C₀₂ Cambridge University Library, Add. 2102. All available folios of this MS have been collated for chapters 1–12 of the critical edition in this volume. See a detailed description of this manuscript in the CUDL online catalogue. According to this catalogue, the date of creation is the 12th century, and the dimensions of the manuscript are 4.8 × ca. 52.5cm. The script is Nepālākṣara. It is a palm-leaf multiple-text manuscript containing 96 folios. Six texts are transmitted in this manuscript: 1) Śivadharmottara, , 2) Śivadharmasamgraha, 3) Umāmaheśvarasamvāda, 4) Śivopaniṣad, 5) Vṛṣasārasamgraha, 6) Dharmaputrikā (only f. 322v). Note that the Śivadharmottara starts on f. 51r, thus the part that most probably contained the Śivadharmaśāstra is lost.

The Vṛṣasārasaṃgraha starts on f. 267r line 1 (online image no. 181). The online description labels this image as f. 237r. This first folio in fact has no visible foliation. The previous text, the Śivopaniṣad, ended on f. 236v, with pāda b of verse 7.122, 20 which is not the end of the Śivopaniṣad: about eighteen verses, probably transmitted in one single folio, are lost. This means that, if the foliation and the order of the folios are presented correctly, and if the portion containing the VSS indeed belongs to the same manuscript, folios 237-266, i.e. thirty folios, are missing. They must have transmitted the Uttarottamamahāsaṃvāda, which takes up twenty-three folios in C_{94} , and twenty folios in C_{45} . Thus this MS did most probably transmit all eight texts of the Śivadharma corpus. 21 instances of gha and ta, one cannot but agree. In this case this should be an indication of the exact time (ghaṭikā) the scribe finished copying the text. It is still not clear if we should take dvādaśi or trayodaśyām as the date. For help on the conversion of the date and for a detailed discussion on the colophon I am indebted to Kengo Harimoto.

This first folio of the VSS is in a hand which is different from the rest of the manuscript, but the hand changes back in the next folio.²²

In this multiple-text manuscript, the VSS is trasmitted in an incomplete form, that is to say, a number of folios are missing (most notably chapters 15–17). The first partially visible folio number is in image 184: the numeral characters 200+60 are visible (268v, according to the CUDL online catalogue). In image 186, the folio number 269 is clearly visible (f. 269v). In folio 270v, the continuous text is broken at verse 2.21c (kāmarū°), ff. 271 and 272 are missing, and the text resumes on f. 273r with verse 3.30b ([ahiṃsā pa]ramaṃ sukham). Folio 291 is missing (verses 12.87cd–12.113). In folio 296v (image no. 234) the text breaks off again at vātaśūlair upadrutā | śukro (verse 14.22b), the next folio being 306r (carmatāś ca dvijasundarīṣu, verse 18.27b; nine folios and chapters 15–17 are completely missing).

Again, there are two missing folios after bandhus sarvva° in verse 18.47c in f. 306v. The text resumes in f. 309r (image 237) with °neṣu ca sarvveṣu vidvān sreṣṭha sa ucyate (verse 19.52cd). Another folio is missing between iṣṭāniṣṭadvaya° (verse 20.22, f. 309v) and snāyu majjā sirā tathā (verse 20.51d, f. 311r). The VSS ends on f. 322v (image no. 262) with the concluding colophon vṛṣasārasaṅgraha samāpta iti. This folio also contains the beginning of the Dharmaputrikā, but this multipletext manuscript contains no more folios.

In the apparatus, the siglum C^{Σ} signifies all three Cambridge MSS described above.

The Kathmandu manuscripts

(N) K_{82} NGMPP A 1082/3, NAK 3/393. This MS has been fully collated for chapters 1–12 of the critical edition in this volume. See a brief description of this MS in the NGMCP online catalogue. According to this catalogue, the dimensions of the manuscript are 55.6 × 5.5cm. It is dated to Nepāla Samvat 189 (1068–69 CE). The script is Nepālākṣara. It is a palm-leaf multiple-text manuscript containing 274 folios. Eight texts are transmitted in this manuscript: 1) Śivadharmaśāstra, 2) Śivadharmottara, 3) Śivadharmasamgraha, 4) Umāmaheśvarasaṃvāda, at the top of the first folio side (f. 267r, 'mode..... supply beg of Vṛṣasāra-saṃgr.'). I am not sure how 'modern' this supplement is, but it seems indeed likely that a lost first folio was supplemented with a later copy. To match the end of this new copy with the beginning of the next, older, folio, a scribe more or less erased the beginning of the first line in the old folio, rather than the other way round. This slightly illogical decision may mean that the younger copy was not tailor-made for the old portion, but rather that it was taken from a younger manuscript which was perhaps considered more legible. Otherwise it would have been more practical to stop copying the first folio at the point where the next begins.

5) Śivopaniṣad. 6) Vṛṣasārasaṃgraha, 7) Dharmaputrikā, 8) Uttarottamamahā-saṃvāda.

As for each text in this collection, the foliation for the VSS restarts from f. 1v (f. 1r is a cover) and the text spans ff. 1v–46r. This is a beautifully written and well-preserved manuscript which gives very useful readings and has proved to be essential for the reconstruction of the Vṛṣasārasamgraha. 25

(N) K_{10} NGMPP A 10/5, NAK 1/1261. This MS has been fully collated for chapters 1–12 of the critical edition in this volume. See a brief description of this MS in the NGMCP online catalogue. According to this catalogue, the dimensions of the manuscript are 55 x 5.5cm. It is an undated palm-leaf multiple-text manuscript containing 74 folios. Four text are transmitted in this manuscript: 1) $\dot{S}i$ vadharmottara, 2) $Um\bar{a}mahe\acute{s}varasamv\bar{a}da$, 3) $\dot{S}ivopani\dot{s}ad$, 4) $Vr\ddot{s}as\bar{a}rasamgraha$.

Some folios feature monochrome drawings. A great number of the leaves that transmit the VSS are damaged and, at least judging from the microfilm images, faded and slightly disordered. The folio numbers are rarely visible. The VSS starts on exp. 44 (upper leaf, no folio number is visible here). The text continues on the lower leaf and then on the upper leaf on exp. 43 (going backwards, so to say) up to 1.62 (vimśakoţisu gulmesu ūrdhva°). Verses 1.62cd-2.22 seem to be missing. The lower leaf on exp. 43 contains verses 2.23–2.39. The single leaf in exp. 42 contains verses 2.40–3.16a. Exp. 41 contains a single leaf of the *Umāma*heśvarasamvāda, ending in a colophon for its chapter twenty-two, and still going backwards, the preceding folios continue transmitting the Umāmaheśvarasaṃvāda. Exploring the presence of the VSS in this manuscript further, one should look at the expositions after no. 44. Exp. 45 contains the end of the Sivopanisad. The single leaf on exp. 46 is almost illegible but most probably contains a fragment of the Gautamadharmasūtra. The second line just above the string hole on the left reads ... vīrud vanaspatīnām ca puṣpāṇi svavad ādadīte..., which is a fragment of Gautamadharmasūtra 2.3.25 (12.28). The remaining parts of the VSS are to be found on exp. 47ff. The upper leaf on exp. 47 continues with VSS 3.16b-36ab, while the lower leaf contains a text that I have not been able to identify. The lower leaf in exp. 48 transmits 3.36cd-4.11ab, the upper one 4.11b-30a. The lower leaf in exp. 49 contains 4.30ab-47ab, the upper one 47d-68a, and so on so forth. Thus when reading the text from these images, after exp. 48, one has to start with the lower leaf and continue with the upper one.

the dimensions of the manuscript are 58 × 6cm. The script is Nepālākṣara. Dated to Nepāla Samvat 290 (1169–70 ce). It is a palm-leaf multiple-text manuscript containing 289 folios. Eight texts are transmitted in this manuscript: 1) Śivadharmaśāstra, 2) Śivadharmottara, 3) Śivadharmasaṃgraha, 4) Umāmaheśvarasaṃvāda, 5) Śivopaniṣad, 6) Vṛṣasārasaṃgraha, 7) Uttarottamamahāsaṃvāda, 8) Dharmaputrikā. Ff. 209v–264v contain the VSS.

This is a nicely written manuscript, giving generally useful and convincing readings.

(N)K₃ NGMPP A 3/3 (= A 1081/5), NAK 5-737. I have collated this MS only for verses 1.1–15ab to test it. See a brief description of this MS in the NGMCP online catalogue.²⁸ According to this catalogue, the dimensions of the manuscript are 58.5 x 5.5cm. The script is Nepālākṣara and the MS is dated to Nepāla Samvat 321 (1200–01 cE). It is a palm-leaf multiple-text manuscript containing 215 folios. Eight texts are transmitted in this manuscript: 1) Śivadharmaśāstra, 2) Śivadharmottara, 3) Śivadharmasaṃgraha, missing (only a few folios are extant, e.g. ff. 124 and 143), 4) Umāmaheśvarasaṃvāda, 5) Śivopaniṣad, 6) Uttarottamamahāsaṃvāda, 7) Vṛṣasārasaṃgraha, 8) Dharmaputrikā.

The VSS starts in f. 227 (image no. 177) and seems to end after it begins transmitting chapter 23 in f. 264 (image no. 218), but the last image (no. 253) also contains a fraction of VSS chapter 13. The microfilm images are somewhat blurred and the readings do not seem promising.

Other palm-leaf MSS preserved in Kathmandu, but not used for this critical edition include the following:

NAK 5–738 (NGMPP A 11/3)²⁹—the microfilm images of the folios containing the VSS are unfortunately extremely blurred to an extent that make them impossible to use.

NGMPP C 25/1 (Kesar Library 218)—this multiple-text manuscript preserves only a few disordered folios of the VSS.

²⁹ http://catalogue.ngmcp.uni-hamburg.de/wiki/A_11-3_Śivadharmottara

16, 2021. This MS contains the following texts: 1) Śivadharmaśāstra, 2) Śivadharmottara, 3) Umāmaheśvarasaṃvāda, 4) Śivopaniṣad, 5) Vṛṣasārasaṃgraha, 6) Uttarottamamahāsaṃvāda, 7) Dharmaputrikā. The section that must have contained the Śivadharmasaṃgraha, ff. 82–121, is lost. The portion that contains the VSS and the Dharmaputrikā is dated (f. 50r line 5): || iti vṛṣasārasaṅgrahe caturviṃśatimo dhyāyaḥ samāptaḥ | samvat 192 māghakṛṣṇadivāpañcamyām || postakalikhitam iti ||. The year 192 in Nepāla Samvat converts to 1071–1072 CE. The part of the MS the precedes the VSS looks considerably earlier and is potentially an important witness for other texts of the Śivadharma corpus. An interesting feature of this MS is that it gives the number of verses contained in each chapter in the colophons. Ten folios that transmitted the VSS are missing: f. 5 (VSS 3.4-3.33), ff. 11–13 (VSS 6.20–8.45), ff. 24 (VSS 13.9–13.36), and ff. 39–43 (VSS 20.38–22.35).

The foliation for the VSS restarts and the hand in which the VSS and the Dharmaputrikā are written are different from, and most probably later than that of the texts that come before them in this bundle.

The MS rarely gives interesting readings for the reconstruction of the VSS, and in general does not seem to be superior to any of the MSS described above.

The Paris manuscript

This is a multiple-text palm-leaf manuscript written in Nepālākṣara script and preserved in the Collection Sylvain Lévi at the Institut d'études indiennes, Collège de France as MS Skt 57-B 23. I have collated the readings of this MS for VSS chapters three and eight. It contains 249 palm leaves. Folios 214 and 216 are missing from the part of the manuscript that transmits the VSS, thus we don't have verses 1.60d-2.21ab, as well as 3.14-42 and 4.1-7. Foliation appears on the verso side: in the left-hand margin in Newari alphabetical numerals and in the right-hand margin in arabic numerals by a second hand. The portion that contains the VSS is fairly well-preserved and the text is written in a clear hand. Although it is an undated manuscript, it could be dated to the 11th century CE on palaeographical grounds. It contains the following text in the order they are presented in the manuscript: 1) Śivadharmaśāstra, 2) Śivadharmottara, 3) Śivadharmasamgraha, 4) Umāmaheśvarasamvāda,, 5) Šivopaniṣad, 6) Uttarottamamahāsamvāda, 7) Vṛṣasārasamgraha, 8) Dharmaputrikā. The VSS appears on ff. 212-252. This source gives reliable readings and contains relatively few scribal mistakes.30

³⁰ This description had as its starting point a shorter description written and kindly shared with me by Nirajan Kafle.

The Oxford manuscript

(N)O₁₅ This palm-leaf manuscript is deposited in the Bodleian Library, in Oxford, under shelf mark Sansk. a. 15. It is dated to Nepāla Samvat 307 (1186–87 CE), and it contains 335 folios, transmitting the following texts: 1) Śivadharmaśāstra, 2) Śivadharmottara, 3) Śivadharmasaṃgraha, 4) Umāmaheśvarasaṃvāda, 5) Śivopaniṣad, 6) Uttarottamamahāsaṃvāda, 7) Vṛṣasārasaṃgraha, 8) Dharmaputrikā.

A cursory examination of the text reveals rather disappointing readings, therefore I have not included in the apparatus any of the collation done.

The Kolkata manuscripts

I have not been able to access either of these two potentially important witnesses:

(N)Ko₇₆ MS G 4076 in the collection of The Asiatic Society, Kolkata. ³¹ Shastri 1928 (716–718) gives a detailed description of this manuscript along with the text of VSS 1.1–16. According to Shastri, the dimensions of the MS are $22\frac{1}{2} \times 2$ inches (57.15 × 5.08cm), the text is complete and the script is of the twelfth century CE.

This manuscript may appear as a rare instance of the VSS being transmitted independently, and not in a multiple-text manuscript, but it seems very likely that it was originally part of Ko_{52} (MS G 3852), a Śivadharma corpus MS in the same collection lacking the VSS; see note 13 on page 1.

(N)Ko₇₇ According to Shastri 1928, 720, MS G 4077 in the collection of the Asiatic Society, Kolkata, a palm leaf MS, transmits the VSS in 52 folios. The MS is dated to July 6, 1036 CE (Nepāla Samvat 156; see De Simini 2017, 542), which makes it 'the oldest known dated attestation of the corpus' (De Simini 2016b, 250–251).

The Tübingen manuscript

I have not yet utilised MS Ma I 582 in the Universitätsbibliothek of Tübingen, a beautiful and nicely written MS. It seems to contain only sixteen folios that transmit the VSS, and they are from the second half of the text. Nothing appears to have been preserved from chapters 1-12.

 $^{^{31}}$ I am grateful to our colleague Sushmita Das for attempting to get a copy of this MS in March 2020.

The London manuscript

(N) L_{16} This is a paper manuscript in the Library of the Wellcome Institute for the History of Medicine under the shelf number WI δ 16 (I–VIII). It contains 406 folios and the following texts: 1) Śivadharmaśāstra, 2) Śivadharmottara, 3) Śivadharmasaṃgraha, 4) Umāmaheśvarasaṃvāda, 5) Śivopaniṣad, 6) Uttarottamamahāsaṃvāda, 7) Vṛṣasārasaṃgraha, 8) Dharmaputrikā. This MS is described in Wujastyk 1985.

While collating MS L_{16} for VSS chapter 22, I realised that it was to be a direct or close copy of K_{82} . A few examples to prove this will suffice:

K₈₂ (f. 40r) reads:

[spha]tikām×ram [= °kāmbaram] eva ca | daśayogāsanāsīno

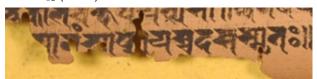

L₁₆ (f. 381v) gives:

sphaţikāṃsatam eva ca || devayogāsanāsīto supplying sa for the lost syllable and misreading the damaged da as de and the $\dot{s}a$ as va.

Here K_{82} (f. 39v) reads:

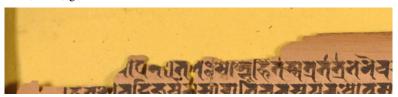

[japo yogas tapo] dhyānaṃ svādhyāyaś ca daśa smṛtaḥ with dhyā and svā damaged;

 L_{16} (f. 381r) cannot read the bit that is completely lost, and it misreads the damaged dhyānam as dhānam, svādhyā as sādhu:

In the next example, the text is supposed to read kare gṛhya tapodhanam | tataḥ so 'ntarhitas tatra tenaiva.

K_{82} (f. 39r) gives:

[kare] x x x x x dha\na tatah so 'ntar\hitas tatra tenaiva

 L_{16} (f. 380r) gives:

kare - - - dhatām tataḥ || sati hitas tatra tenaiva trying to make sense of the fragments. The examples above suggest that L_{16} was copied, most probably directly, from K_{82} when the damage had already been done to K_{82} . For this reason, I have not collated its readings for VSS chapters 1–12.

Naraharinath's edition

(N)E Much has been said of Yogi Naraharinath's pioneering but problematic edition (the editio princeps) of the Śivadharma corpus (Naraharinath 1998): see e.g. De Simini 2016a, 66, n. 190; 2017, 542, Bisschop 2018, 58–59, Bisschop, Kafle, & Lubin 2021, 55. My impression of the text of the VSS in Naraharinath's edition is that its quality is considerably inferior to those of the other texts of the corpus. It may or may not be Naraharinath's fault; others must have been involved in the process of transcription, and the number and nature of the innumerable mistakes all over the text may also suggest a general problem with the typesetting process. Nevertheless I have recorded the readings found in this publication for all twelve chapters given in my critical edition.

Editorial policies

- orthography: deviant orth, sandhi, punctuation? - avagrahas usually supplied but sometimes found in the MSS, not used by me for crasis (e.g. a+a=ā) - daṇḍas: usually 4 pādas to a verse, but I have made arbitrary decisions based on sense-units because none of the sources really indicate where a verse ends (||). - falsifications everywhere on purpose and accidentally

praṇamya vakṣye vṛṣasārasaṃgraham || 1:1 ||

Having bowed to the One who has no beginning, no middle part and no end, whose boundaries are limitless, who is very subtle and who is the unmanifest and fine essence of the world, to the One who is wholly complete with Hari, Indra, Brahmā and the other [gods], I shall recite [the work called] 'A Compendium on the Essence of the Bull [of Dharma]'.

1.1 Pāda a is reminiscent of, among other famous passages, Bhagavadgītā 11.19: anādimadhyāntam anantavīryam anantabāhuṃ śaśisūryanetram | paśyāmi tvāṃ dīptahutāśavaktraṃ svatejasā viśvam idaṃ tapantam ||

See also Bhagavadgītā 10.20cd: aham ādiś ca madhyam ca bhūtānām anta eva ca ||

A faint reference to the Bhagavadgītā seems proper at the beginning of a work that claims to deliver a teaching based on, but also to surpass, the Mahābhārata (see following verses of the VSS). Compare also e.g. Kūrmapurāṇa 1.11.237: rūpaṃ tavāśeṣakalāvihīnam agocaraṃ nirmalam ekarūpam | anādimadhyāntam anantam ādyaṃ namāmi satyaṃ tamasaḥ parastāt || To say that a god has no beginning and no end in a temporal or spacial sense is natural (anādi°...°antam), but to have no 'middle part' ('madhya°) in these senses is slightly less so. Thus the rather commonly occuring phrase anādimadhyāntam is probably a fixed expression usually referring to a deity that is endless, eternal and immaterial. As to which deity or what form of a deity this stanza refers to, it may be Śiva, his name missing in pāda c, but the phrasing of the verse is vague enough to keep the question somewhat open: the impersonal Brahman might be another option, even more so if we look at verses 1.9–10, whose topic is brahmavidyā.

In pāda b jagat-susāram is most probably not to be interpreted as jagatsu sāram ('the essence in the worlds'). Another way to translate avyaktajagatsusāram would be: 'who is the fine essence of the unmanifest world.'

Strictly speaking, pāda c is unmetrical, but it is better to simply acknowledge here the phenomenon of 'muta cum liquida', namely that syllables followed by consonant clusters such as ra, bra, hra, śra, śya, śva, sva, dva can be treated as short (laghu). (See Introduction CHECK) Thus harīndrabrahmā° can be treated as a regular beginning of an upajāti (- - - -), the syllable bra not turning the previous syllable long (guru).

The reading āsamagraṃ in pāda c is suspect, although the initial ā- might convey some sort of completeness, meaning 'all round' (see e.g. Kale 1992, 226). The fact that we could percieve the ending of pādas a and b (pāraṃ-sāram), as well as pādas c and d, as (in the latter case, oddly) rhyming pairs (graṃ-graham) suggests that accepting the reading āsamagram could be the right decision (as suggested by Alessandro Battistini). I translate this verse accordingly. M gives an exciting, albeit unmetrical, alternative (yat samagraṃ), but this seems more like a guess to me than the correct reading. For some time I was considering emending āsamagraṃ. The most tempting of all the possible options (arcyam/arhyam/arghyam/ādyam/ādhyam agraṃ, āsamastaṃ) seemed to be āptam agraṃ, meaning 'appointed/received/respected [by Hari, Indra, Brahmā etc.] as the foremost one'. The fact that the akṣaras āsam and āptam look similar in most of the scripts used in our manuscripts could support this conjecture. āptam could also possibly refer to the text itself, although then the syntax becomes slightly confusing: 'I shall recite the Vṛṣasārasaṃgraha that was

[janamejayavaiśampāyanasaṃvādaḥ — The dialogue of Janamejaya and Vaiśampāyana]

śatasāhasrikaṃ granthaṃ sahasrādhyāyam uttamam |

parva cāsya śataṃ pūrṇaṃ śrutvā bhāratasaṃhitām || 1:2 ||

Having listened to the Bhāratasaṃhitā [i.e. the Mahābhārata], the supreme book of a hundred thousand [verses] and a thousand chapters (adhyāya), with all its hundred sections (parvan), atṛptaḥ puna papraccha vaiśampāyanam eva hi | janamejaya yat pūrvaṃ tac chṛṇu tvam atandritaḥ || 1:3 ||

Janamejaya remained unsatisfied. Listen unweariedly to what he asked Vaiśampāyana in the past.

```
janamejaya uvāca |
bhagavan sarvadharmajña sarvaśāstraviśārada |
asti dharmam param guhyaṃ saṃsārārṇavatāraṇam || 1:4 ||

Janamejaya spoke: O venerable sir, O knower of the entire Dharma, O you who are well-versed in all the sciences (sāstra)! There is a supreme and secret Dharma first received by Hari...' etc. Another candidate was āḍhyam agram: 'Having bowed to [Him] who contains/is rich with Hari, Indra, Brahmā etc.' I have not emended the text because it is difficult to know if there is any need for change and if there is, which reading to chose. There was no consensus when this verse was discussed in our extended Śivadharma reading group.

Pāda d seems hypermetrical, but it can be interpreted as a vaṃśastha line, a change from triṣṭubh to jagatī (as suggested by Dominic Goodall).

1.2 The dialogue of Janamejaya and Vaiśampāyana makes up the outermost layer of the VSS (except for the introductory stanzas 1.1–3; see Introduction CHECK), mostly containing general dharmaśāstric material. That the MBh should contain a hundred thousand verses is hinted at e.g. in line 19 of the Khoh Charter 2 of Śarvanātha, year 214 (Siddham IN00088: uktañ ca mahābhārate śatasāhasryam (understand °ryām) saṃhitāyām... The hundred parvans of the Mahābhārata are listed in MBh 1.2.33–70.

1.3 My emendation from the unmetrical punah to the unusual, or rather, Middle Indic (Edgerton 1953, vol. 2, p. 347), puna is based on the assumption that in the original the metre must have overridden morphology, similarily to what may have happened in 8.44d (Mālinī metre): na bhavati punajanma kalpakoṭyāyute 'pi, and in 12.151c (Sragdharā metre): garbhāvāsaṃ na ca tvan na ca punamaraṇaṃ kleśam āyāsapūrṇam.

For an unsatisfaction or dissatisfaction (atṛpti) with previous teachings in a somewhat similar manner to what Janamejaya experiences here, see e.g. Niśvāsa mūla 1.9: vedāntaṃ viditaṃ deva sāṃkhyaṃ vai pañcaviṃśakam | na ca tṛptiṃ gamiṣyāmo hy ṛte śaivād anugrahāt ||; and the Śivadharmaśāstra:. CHECK. Vaiśampāyana, a Rṣi, disciple of Vyāsa, great-grandson to Arjuna, recited the Mahābhārata at the snake sacrifice of Janamejaya. This setting is an echo of the starting point of the Mahābhārata, see MBh 1.1.8ff. In fact the next few verses in the VSS make it clear that the VSS picks up where the Mahābhārata left off: Janamejaya has heard the whole Mahābhārata from Vaiśampāyana, but he is eager to hear more. Note how we are forced to emend pāda c to contain a stem form proper noun (janamejaya) to maintain the metre, and note how the manuscripts struggle with this pāda. Stem form nouns, prātipadikas, abound in the VSS: see Introduction p. CHECK.

Teach me the Dharma that emerged from [Vyāsa] Dvaipāyana's mouth, O best of Brahmins. Help me find satisfaction at all cost, O great ascetic!

vaiśampāyana uvāca | śṛṇu rājann avahito dharmākhyānam anuttamam | vyāsānugrahasamprāptaṃ guhyadharmaṃ śṛṇotu me || 1:6 ||

Vaiśampāyana spoke: Listen with great attention, O king, to this unsurpassed narration of Dharma. Hear the secret Dharma that I received by Vyāsa's favour.

anarthayajñakartāraṃ tapovrataparāyaṇam | śīlaśaucasamācāraṃ sarvabhūtadayāparam || 1:7 || jijñāsanārthaṃ praśnaikaṃ viṣṇunā prabhaviṣṇunā | dvijarūpadharo bhūtvā papraccha vinayānvitaḥ || 1:8 ||

Viṣṇu, the great Lord, assuming the form of a twice-born [Brahmin], wanted to test [Anarthayajña, the ascetic yogin] who performed nonmaterial sacrifices (anarthayajña), focused on his austerities and observances, whose conduct was virtuous and pure, and who was intent on compassion towards all living beings; therefore he [Viṣṇu] humbly asked him a question.

[brahmavidyā — The knowledge of Brahman]

[vigatarāga uvāca |]

brahmavidyā kathaṃ jñeyā rūpavarṇavivarjitā |

svaravyañjananirmuktam akṣaram kimu tatparam || 1:9 ||

[Vigatarāga spoke:] How is the knowledge of the Brahman to be understood if it is devoid of form and colour? The syllable that is devoid of vowels and consonants: is there anything higher than that?

- 1.4 Note dharma as a neuter noun in pāda c and in the next verse.
- 1.5 The majority of the MSS consulted include a $v\bar{a}$ in $p\bar{a}da$ b, and although C_{45} 's reading seems a bit smoother, that manuscript rarely gives superior readings. Therefore I have chosen $dharmam\ v\bar{a}\ yad$, in which $v\bar{a}$ functions probably in a weak sense. That the secret Dharma Janamejaya is seeking is the one taught by Vyāsa Dvaipāyana, and thus no real options are involved here, becomes clear in 1.6cd. The reading of M in $p\bar{a}da$ b $(dharmav\bar{a}kyam)$ is tempting but could be a later correction. In general, M's readings here are unique but probably secondary: $hi\ me\ trptim$ in $p\bar{a}da$ c seems more attractive than M's $pras\bar{a}dena$ because it echoes atrptah in 1.3a
- 1.7 Note the odd syntax here: viṣṇunā... dvijarūpadharo bhūtvā papraccha. The agent of the active verb is in the instrumental case (anacoluthic structure). On Anarthayajña, the interlocutor of VSS 1.9–10.2 and 19.1–21.22, and an important figure discussed in 22.3ff, as well as a concept ('nonmaterial sacrifice'), see Kiss 2022 and Introduction CHECK.
- 1.9 The translation of this verse, and the reconstruction and interpretation of $p\bar{a}da$ d, which is echoed in 1.10d, is slightly tentative. I doubt if kimu could have the standard (Vedic) meaning 'how much more/less' here. Rather u is probably just an expletive. In general it seems that this verse

anarthayajña uvāca | anuccāryam asandigdham avicchinnam anākulam | nirmalam sarvagaṃ sūkṣmam akṣaraṃ kimu tatparam || 1:10 ||

Anarthayajña replied: That syllable is not to be pronounced, is unquestionable, non-dividable, consistent, spotless, all-pervading and subtle: what could be higher than that?

[kālapāśaḥ — The noose of death and time]

vigatarāga uvāca | dehī dehe kṣayaṃ yāte bhūjalāgniśivādibhiḥ | yamadūtaiḥ kathaṃ nīto nirālambo nirañjanaḥ || 1:11 ||

Vigatarāga spoke: When the body disintegrates in the ground, in water, in fire or [is torn apart] by jackals and other [animals], how is the supportless and spotless soul led [to the netherworld] by Yama's messengers?

kālapāśaiḥ kathaṃ baddho nirdehaś ca kathaṃ vrajet | svargaṃ vā sa kathaṃ yāti nirdeho bahudharmakṛt | etan me saṃśayaṃ brūhi jñātum icchāmi tattvataḥ || 1:12 ||

How is it bound by the nooses of death/time? And if it is bodiless, how can it move? And how does the [soul of a] virtuous [person] (bahudharmakṛt) reach heaven if it has no body? This is my doubt. Teach me. I want to know the truth.

anarthayajña uvāca | atisaṃśayakaṣṭaṃ te pṛṣṭo 'haṃ dvijasattama | durvijñeyaṃ manuṣyais tu devadānavapannagaiḥ || 1:13 ||

Anarthayajña spoke: You are asking me about an extremely doubtful and problematic matter, O truest of the twice-born. [This is something that] is difficult to understand by humans, and [even] by gods (deva), demons (dānava) and serpents (pannaga).

karmahetuḥ śarīrasya utpattir nidhanaṃ ca yat | sukṛtaṃ duṣkṛtaṃ caiva pāśadvayam udāhṛtam || 1:14 || references the syllable om.

1.11 The word 'śivā' in pāda b is slightly suspect, and could be the result of metathesis, from 'viṣā' ('by poison'). Nevertheless, jackals seems appropriate in this context, for they are commonly associated with human corpses, death and the cremation ground (see e.g. Ohnuma 2019). Furthermore, $p\bar{a}da$ b lists phenomena that cause the body to disintegrate, and not causes of death; thus the reading śiva is probably correct.

1.12 The word $k\bar{a}la$ has, as usual, a double meaning here: $k\bar{a}lap\bar{a}sa$ is both Yama's noose, and also the limitations and bondage caused by time, as becomes clear at the discussion on the different time units in verses 1.18–31.

1.13 Note te used for tvayā in pāda a. Alternatively, taking te as genitive, the line could be translatied as: 'I am being asked about a great problem of yours that originates in doubts...'

The cause of both the birth and death of the body is karma. Good and bad deeds are called the two nooses.

tenaiva saha saṃyāti narakaṃ svargam eva vā | sukhaduḥkhaṃ śarīrena bhoktavyaṃ karmasambhavam || 1:15 ||

[The soul] goes to hell or heaven accordingly. Happiness and suffering, both arising from karma, are to be experienced by the body.

kalādviguņitā kāṣṭhā kāṣṭhā vai triṃśatiḥ kalā | triṃśatkalā muhūrtaś ca mānuṣena dvijottama || 1:19 ||

Two digits $(kal\bar{a})$ form one bit $(k\bar{a}sth\bar{a}, 3.2 \text{ seconds})$. Thirty bits $(k\bar{a}sth\bar{a})$ is one digit $(kal\bar{a}?, 1.6 \text{ minutes})$. Thirty digits $(kal\bar{a})$ make up one section $(muh\bar{u}rta, 48 \text{ minutes})$ in human terms, O great Brahmin.

muhūrtatriṃśakenaiva ahorātraṃ vidur budhāḥ | ahorātraṃ punas triṃśan māsam āhur manīṣiṇaḥ || 1:20 ||

1.14 The MSS give karmahetu in pāda a overwhelmingly, which could work as a neuter bahu-vrīhi compound picking up both utpattir and nidhanam but karmahetuḥ is grammatically more correct, picking up the feminine utpatti. I suspect that there may have been a confusion, scribes taking karmahetuśarīrasya as one single compound; but this would make it difficult to interpret the verse.

1.17 The variant jijñāsyasi seems to be the lectio difficilior as opposed to vijñāsyasi, but the latter could also work fine here. Note how M (agreeing with E) gives a reading (vaktum arhasi) that is clearly out of context. This confirms that while M comes up with interesting readings, they are mostly to be ignored.

1.18 1.18d and 1.19a are problematic in the light of 1.19b, which redefines kalā in harmony with the traditional interpretaion, see e.g. Arthaśāstra 2.20.33: trimśatkāṣṭhāḥ kalāḥ. On divisions of time, see also, e.g., Manu 1.64ff. I have calculated 1.6 second for one kalā backwards, starting from one day (see 1.20ab).

Thirty sections (muhūrta) are known to the wise as night and day [i.e. a full day]. Thirty days and nights are taught by the wise to be one month.

parārdhaparakalpāni atītāni dvijottama

- 1.21 Note how a verb (e.g. iti vadanti, iti prāhur) is missing in the first half-verse.
- 1.22 Note the stem form noun yuga metri causa, and also M's unique but confused readings.
- 1.23 The 'figure' mentioned in this verse is the sum of the duration of the four yugas, which makes up one mahāyuga: Kaliyuga = 360,000 years, Dvāparayuga = 720,000 years, Tretāyuga = 1,080,000 years, Dvāparayuga = 1,440,000 years; altogether 3,600,000 years. 72 mahāyugas make up a manvantara (= 259,200,000 years). One kalpa is 14 manvantara (= 3,628,800,000 years). Ten thousand kalpas are one day of Brahmā, and his night is of the same length, which makes one full day of Brahmā 72,576,000,000,000 years. See next verses.
 - 1.24 See 21.34ff.
 - 1.25 M has a separator sign (|o|) at the end of pāda b, as if a section ended here.
- 1.26 The plural form pralīyante in pāda a is metri causa for pralīyate, perhaps also influencing utpadyante (for utpadyate) in pāda d, which in turn is used here to avoid an iambic pattern (- - - -).

Vigatarāga spoke: I have just heard [the term] 'wheel of time' (kālacakra) uttered from [your] lotus mouth, as well as parārdha and para. You have made these things appear as exciting, as things to hear.

- 1.27 On the definition of the numbers para and parārdha, see verses 1.32–36. Note the peculiar compound bhṛgu-r-ādi-maharṣayaḥ.
- 1.28 bhramato (gen.) in pāda b seems to stand for the neuter participle bhramat. Alternatively, bhramato might mean 'erroneously' (brama-tas, abl.), but this makes the verse difficult to interpret.
- 1.30 Note that samatītāni (neuter) most probably picks up devarājāḥ (masculine) in this verse, or rather devarājā stands for devarājānāṃ and samatītāni picks up °parārdhāni. It is not clear to me what devarājā ('god king') means exactly (Indra?).
- 1.32 The reading of all manuscripts consulted, vinisṛtam, may be considered metrical if we interpret it, loosely, as vinisṛitam. Pāda d is suspect and my translation is tentative. M's reading in pāda d (srotum nah pratidīyatām) might make sense ('give it back/repeat it for us again'), but it sounds forced, as if the scribe tried to come up with a reading that he understood better than srotum vaḥ pratidīpitam, which is in fact not easy to interpret. One would expect a phrase meaning 'please

1.33 See a similar teaching of numbers in BrahmāṇḍaP 3.2.91ff.

1.34 For anta meaning ananta, see 1.58cd–59ab. M's reading in pāda d may be a result of an eyeskip to 1.35c.

1.36 Note that E, after omitting three lines, inserts this: vṛndañ caiva mahāvṛnda dviparā-nantam eva ca.

1.37 The use of the singular next to numerals is one of the hallmarks of the VSS (see p. CHECK). As an introduction to this phenomenon, pāda a has brahmāṇḍaṃ in the singular where we would expect a plural form. The word prāpitaṃ is a conjecture for cāpitaṃ, which I find unintelligible. Another possibility could be jñāpitaṃ. My emendation of cānguli-mūrdheṣu to cānguli-mūrdhveṣu (with a hiatus filler) is based on ūrdhvatas in 1.61d, which is part of the reply to the question posed in this line. In turn, anguli here triggered an conjecture in 1.61c.

- [8] Prasaha, [9] Aprasaha, [10] Sānu: [these are] the ten Leaders in the East.

[āgneye — South-East]

prabhāso bhāsano bhānuḥ pradyoto dyutimo dyutiḥ | dīptatejāś ca tejāś ca tejā tejavaho daśa | āgneye tv etad ākhyātam yāmye śṛṇv atha bho dvija || 1:42 ||

- 1.38 One would expect brahmāṇḍāni in pāda a instead of brahmāṇḍānām, but we should probably understand brahmāṇḍānām viśeṣān prasamkhyātum... The structure noun in genitive + verb meaning 'telling' occurs also in 4.69a and CHECK.
- 1.39 The claim that Brahmā taught Mātariśvan is confirmed in 1.64cd, and also, e.g., in Brahmāndapurāṇa 3.4.58cd (see the apparatus).
- $1.40\,\mathrm{My}$ conjecture in $p\bar{a}da$ b $(bh\bar{u}bhrt\bar{a}m)$ is based on the fact that the readings transmitted in the MSS seem unintelligible and, more importantly, that these names are said to belong to $n\bar{a}yakas$ in the subsequent verses, a possible synonym of $bh\bar{u}bhrt$ ('a king'), and also that it is a minute intervention. In $p\bar{a}da$ c, understand $dis\bar{a}st\bar{a}n\bar{a}m$ as $dis\bar{a}m$ as $dis\bar{a}m$ or $digastak\bar{a}n\bar{a}m$, and note that one of the hallmarks of the language of the VSS is the use of the singular in the proximity of numbers, where a plural would be expected $(dasa\ n\bar{a}ma)$.
- 1.41 Note that many of the names here and in the following verses are, in the absence of any parallel passage, rather insecure. In order to avoid the repetition of the name Saha, I take the first name here as feminine; Asabhā seems also to be a feminine ruler's name. Later on there seem to come more feminine names (Tejā, Yamunā, Naganā, etc.), therefore it may be correct to interpret some of the names as names of queens. What is clear here is that the list evokes the name Sahasrākṣa, one of the appellations of Indra, the guadrian of the eastern direction.

[1] Prabhāsa, [2] Bhāsana, [3] Bhānu, [4] Pradyota, [5] Dyutima, [6] Dyuti, [7] Dīptatejas, [8] Tejas, [9] Tejā, [10] Tejavaho: [these are] the ten [rulers] in the direction of Agni [SE]. Now listen to [the names for] the Yama's region, O twice-born.

[yāmye — South]

yamo 'tha yamunā yāmah saṃyamo yamuno 'yamah | saṃyano yamanoyāno yaniyugmā yanoyanah || 1:43 ||

[1] Yama, [2] Yamunā, [3] Yāma, [4] Saṃyama, [5] Yamuna, [6] Ayama, [7] Saṃyana, [8] Yamanoyāna, [9] Yaniyugmā, [10] Yanoyana.

[nairṛte — South-West]

nagajo naganā nando nagaro naga nandanaḥ | nagarbho gahano guhyo gūḍhajo daśa tatparaḥ || 1:44 ||

[1] Nagaja, [2] Naganā, [3] Nanda, [4] Nagara, [5] Naga, [6] Nandana, [7] Nagarbha, [8] Gahana, [9] Guhyo, [10] Gūḍhaja: [these are] the ten associated with [the South-West].

[vāruņe — West]

vāruņena pravakṣyāmi śṛṇu vipra nibodha me | babhraḥ setur bhavodbhadraḥ prabhavodbhavabhājanaḥ | bharaṇo bhuvano bhartā daśaite varuṇālayāḥ || 1:45 ||

I shall teach you the [names] in Varuṇa's region [in the west]. Listen, O Brahmin, learn from me. [1] Babhra, [2] Setu, [3] Bhava, [4] Udbhadra, [5] Prabhava, [6] Udbhava, [7] Bhājana, [8] Bharaṇa, [9] Bhuvana, and [10] Bhartṛ: these ten dwell in Varuṇa's region [in the west].

[vāyavye — North-West]

nṛgarbho 'suragarbhaś ca devagarbho mahīdharaḥ | vṛṣabho vṛṣagarbhaś ca vṛṣāṅko vṛṣabhadhvajaḥ || 1:46 ||

- [1] Nṛgarbha, [2] Asuragarbha, [3] Devagarbha, [4] Mahīdhara, [5] Vṛṣabha,
 - 1.42 Here, in the region of Agni, the names evidently evoke the image of flames.
- 1.43 I have choosen the variant samyano in $p\bar{a}da$ c only to avoid the repetition of the name samyama, and the variant yanoyanab in $p\bar{a}da$ d because I suspect that most of the names here should begin with ya. All the name forms in this verse are to be taken as tentative. The only guiding light is the presence of ya, reinforcing a connection with Yama.
- 1.44 naga in pāda b is a stem form noun metri causa tatparaḥ in pāda d might be another example of a singular form next to a number (see 1.40c above). Note that the reconstruction of these names are tentative. What is clear here is that the initials should be na and ga, probably suggesting a connection with nirṛti, narakas and nāgas.
- 1.45 Varuṇa upholds the sky and the earth. This could be the reason why these names include bharaṇa and bhartṛ.

[6] Vṛṣagarbha, [7] Vṛṣāṅka, [8] Vṛṣabhadhvaja, jñātavyaś ca tathā samyag vṛṣajo vṛṣanandanaḥ | nāyakā daśa vāyavye kīrtitā ye mayā dvija || 1:47 ||

and [9] Vṛṣaja and [10] Vṛṣanandana: these are to be known properly as the ten leaders in Vāyu's region [in the north-west], as I taught them, O twice-born.

[uttare — North]

sulabhah sumanah saumyah suprajah sutanuh śivah | satah satya layah śambhur daśa nāyakam uttare || 1:48 ||

- [1] Sulabha, [2] Sumana, [3] Saumya, [4] Supraja, [5] Sutanu, [6] Śiva, [7] Sata,
- [8] Satya, [9] Laya, [10] Śambhu: [these are] the ten leaders in the north.

[īśāne — North-East]

indu bindu bhuvo vajra varado vara varṣaṇaḥ | ilano valino brahmā daśeśāneṣu nāyakāḥ || 1:49 ||

[1] Indu, [2] Bindu, [3] Bhuva, [4] Vajra, [5] Varada, [6] Vara, [7] Varṣaṇa, [8] Ilana, [9] Valina, [10] Brahmā: [these are] the ten rulers in the Īśāna direction [i.e. in the north-east].

[madhyame — Center]

aparo vimalo moho nirmalo mana mohanaḥ | akṣayaś cāvyayo viṣṇur varado madhyame daśa || 1:50 ||

- [1] Apara, [2] Vimala, [3] Moha, [4] Nirmala, [5] Mana, [6] Mohana, [7] Akṣaya,
- [8] Avyaya, [9] Viṣṇu, [10] Varada: [these are] the ten [leaders] in the centre.
- 1.46 The connection between vṛṣa and the north-west or Vāyu is not evident to me. CHECKIn a tantric context, a western position is more standard for vṛṣa, see e.g. Goodall, Rout, Sathyanarayanan et al 2005, 40.
 - 1.47 Note how M deviates here again in a significant way.
- 1.48 I prefer the form sumanaḥ to the more standard sumanāḥ (K_7) in $p\bar{a}da$ a, because it suits the slightly irregluar language of the VSS (see pp. CHECK), and because the solitary reading of K_7 may well only be an attempt to standardise. It is also not inconceivable that sumanaḥ stands compounded with saumyaḥ. Note how daśa nāyakam could again be an example for the use of the singular next to a number in $p\bar{a}da\ d$. It seems that here the northern region is associated with Śiva, rather than the north-east, the $\bar{i}\dot{s}\bar{a}na$ direction, which is occupied by Brahmā: see next verse. In a tantric context, Brahmā is sometimes associated with the north-east, see, e.g., Goodall, Rout, Sathyanarayanan et al 2005, 39.CHECKI have left satya in stem form.
- 1.49 I consider indu, bindu and vajra stem form nouns. The north-east seems to be occupied by Brahmā, and by rulers whose names should somehow evoke Brahmā's name.
- 1.50 Note that the last three lists above have been associated with Siva, Brahmā and Viṣṇu, respectively, and here, in a layer of the text that can be labelled Vaṣṇava (see pp. CHECK), it is Viṣṇu that seems to occupy a central position. mana mohanaḥ in pāda b may sound like one single name, but we are forced to separate these two words (mana being in stem form metri causa) to arrive at a list of ten names.

[parivārāḥ — Subordinates]

sarveṣāṃ daśa-m-īśānāṃ parivāraśataṃ śatam

satānām pṛthag ekaikam sahasraiḥ parivāritam || 1:51 || Each of the ten rulers has a retinue of a hundred subordinates. Each one of [these] hundred is surrounded by a thousand subordinates.

sahasreṣu ca ekaikam ayutaiḥ parivāritam |

ayutam prayutair vṛndaiḥ prayutam niyutair vṛtam || 1:52 || Each one of the thousand is surrounded by ten thousand [subordinates], the ten thousand is surrounded by a multitude of a hundred thousand, the hundred thousand by a million, ekaikasya parīvāro niyutaḥ pṛthag eva ca | koṭibhir daśakoṭyena ekaikaḥ parivāritaḥ || 1:53 ||

[that is] each one has a retinue of a million [subordinates] (niyuta). [Then those] are surrounded by ten million (koṭi) [subordinates], [they in turn] by a hundred million (daśakoṭi).

daśakotisu ekaikam vṛndavṛndabhṛtair vṛtam | vṛndavargeṣu ekaikaṃ kharvabhiḥ parivāritam || 1:54||

Each one of the hundred million is surrounded by a billion (vṛnda) subordinates (bhṛta). Each one in these groupsof a billion (vṛnda) is surrounded by ten billion (kharva) [subordinates].

kharvavargesu ekaikam daśakharvaganair vṛtam | daśakharvesu ekaikam śaṅkubhiḥ parivāritam || 1:55 ||

Each in these gourps of ten billion (kharva) is surrounded by a hundred billion (daśakharva). Each of those hundred billion (daśakharva) is surrounded by a trillion (śańku) [deities].

śańkubhih pṛthag ekaikaṃ padmena parivāritam | padmavargeṣu ekaikaṃ samudraih parivāritam || 1:56 ||

Each of those one trillion (śańku) is surrounded by ten trillion (padma). Each

- 1.51 I take daśa-m-īśānāṃ as a disjointed CHECK compound (daśeśānāṃ). It is conceivable that each of the above ninety rulers has ten subordinates, therefore each group of ten rulers has a hundred subordinates altogether, but the original idea may have been that each one of the above ninety rulers has a hundred subordinates. Alternatively, this verse may only refer to the central group of ten rulers mentioned in 1.50, and each one of them has a hundred subordinates.
- 1.52 We are forced to follow E's reading in $p\bar{a}da$ c in order to make sense of this passage. My correction in $p\bar{a}da$ d is motivated by the same. Note that vrnda is not a number in this line. Elsewhere in this chapter vrnda is the word that signifies 'a billion'.
- 1.53 It seems that pādas ab repeat what has been stated in 1.52cd. kotyena stands for kotyā (thematisation). Note how the scribe of M gets confused at 1.53c due to an eye-skip and fully regains control only at 1.55b.

of those ten trillion (padma) is surrounded by a hundred trillion (samudra).

samudreṣu tathaikaikaṃ madhyasaṃkhyais tu tair vṛtam | madhyasaṃkhyeṣu ekaikam anantaiḥ parivāritam || 1:57 ||

And each of those hundred trillion (samudra) is surrounded by those whose number is one quadrillion (madhya). Each of those quadrillion (madhya) is surrounded by ten quadrillion (ananta).

ananteṣu ca ekaikaṃ parārdhaparivāritam | parārdheṣu ca ekaikaṃ pareṇa parivāritam | eṣa vai kathito vipra śakyaṃ sāṃkhyam udīritam || 1:58 ||

Each of those ten quadrillion (ananta) is surrounded by a hundred quadrillion (parārdha). Each of those hundred quadrillion (parārdha) is surrounded by two hundred quadrillion (para). This is how it is taught, O Brahmin. The enumeration [of the rulers of the Brahmāṇḍa] has been taught as much as it is possible.

[pramāṇam — Measurements]

pramāṇaṃ śṛṇu me vipra saṃkṣepād bruvato mama | candrodaye pūrṇamāsyāṃ vapur aṇḍasya tādṛśam || 1:59 ||

Listen to me and learn about the measurements [of the universe], O Brahmin, I shall teach [you] in a concise manner. The body of the Egg is like that of [the moon] at moonrise on the day of the full moon.

koṭikoṭisahasraṃ tu yojanānāṃ samantataḥ | aṇḍānāṃ ca parīmāṇaṃ brahmaṇā parikīrtitam || 1:60 ||

The whole circumference of the Eggs has been declared by Brahmā to be ten million (koṭi) times a thousand times ten million yojanas.

saptakoṭisahasrāṇi saptakoṭiśatāṇi ca | viṃśakoṭiṣv aṅgulīṣu ūrdhvatas tapate raviḥ || 1:61 ||

The Sun shines from the height of seven thousand seven hundred and twenty koți finger's breath.

pramāṇaṃ nāma saṃkhyā ca kīrtitāni samāsataḥ | brahmāṇḍaṃ cāprameyāṇāṃ lakṣaṇaṃ parikīrtitam || 1:62 ||

The numbers pertaining to the measurements have been taught in brief. The characteristics of the unmeasurable Brahmāṇḍa[s] have been taught.

1.56 Note that śańkubhiḥ stands for śańkūṣu (instrumental for locative).

1.61 This verse is the reply to the question in 1.37cd, which contains the word anguli: this hints at the possibility that the unintelligible gulmeṣu transmitted in most of the witnesses might be corrupted from aṅguiṣu; hence my conjecture, resulting in a ra-vipulā.

1.62 Note the mixture of different grammatical genders and numbers in this verse. Understand pramānesu saṃkhyāh kīrtitāḥ samāsataḥ and brahmānḍānām aprameyānāṃ...

The redactors (of the Purāṇas)]

purāṇāśīsahasrāṇi śatāni dvijasattama | brahmaṇā kathitaṃ pūrṇaṃ mātariśvā yathātatham || 1:63 ||

O truest of the twice-born, the Purāṇa[s of] 8,000,000 [verses] were taught by [1] Brahmā to [2] Mātariśvan [= Vāyu] in their entirety, in their true form.

vāyunā pāda saṃkṣipya prāptaṃ cośanasaṃ purā | tenāpi pāda saṃkṣipya prāptavāṃś ca bṛhaspatiḥ || 1:64 ||

1.63 Pāda a should probably be analysed and interpreted as purāṇam (purāṇānām aśītisahas-rāṇi śatāni ślokāni) brahmaṇā kathitam. Alternatively, pāda a may have originally read purāṇāni sahasrāṇi, and then the inital number of verses transmitted by Brahmā is a hundred thousand. That the number refers to the number of ślokas transmitted, and not, e.g., the number of lines, is confirmed in 1.66d: vimśatślokasahasrikam.

On the idea that initially there was only one Purāṇa, see, e.g., Rocher 1986, 41ff.

In pāda d, either understand mātariśvā (nom.) as mātariśvānam (acc.) or emend kathitam to kathitah in the sense 'Mātariśvan was taught,' echoing 1.39cd: brahmaṇā yat purākhyāto mātariśvā yathā tathā.

Compare this list to a list of twenty-eight <code>vedavyāsas</code>, from Brahmā to Vyāsa Dvaipāyana, in ViṣnuP 3.3.10–19, taught by Parāśara, the twenty-sixth <code>vyāsa</code> of this list and our text (in the numbering that I add here I follow the translation in Dutt 1896, 178–179): <code>vedavyāsā vyatītā ye aṣṭāviṃśati sattama | caturdhā yaiḥ krto vedo dvāpareṣu punaḥ punaḥ || dvāpare prathame vyastāḥ svayam vedāḥ [1] svayambhuvā | dvitīye dvāpare caiva vedavyāsaḥ [2] prajāpati || tṛtīye [3] cośanā vyāsaś caturthe ca [4] bṛhaspatiḥ | [5] savitā pañcame vyāsaḥ [6] mṛtyuḥ ṣaṣṭhe smṛtaḥ prabhuḥ || saptame ca [7] tathaivendro [8] vasiṣṭhaś cāṣṭame smṛtaḥ | [9] sārasvataś ca navame [10] tridhāmā daśame smṛtaḥ || ekādaśe tu [11] trivṛṣā [12] bhāradvājas tataḥ param | trayodaśe [13] cāntarikṣo [14] varnī cāpi caturdaśe || [15] trayyārunaḥ pañcadaśe ṣoḍaśe tu [16] dhanamjayaḥ | [17] kratumjayaḥ saptadaśe [18] ṛṇajyo 'ṣṭādaśe smṛtaḥ || tato vyāso [19] bharadvājo bharadvājāt tu [20] gautamaḥ | gautamād uttamo vyāso [21] haryātmā yo 'bhidhīyate || atha haryātmano [22] venaḥ smṛto vājaśravās tu yaḥ | somaḥ śuṣmāyaṇas tasmāt [23] tṛṇabindur iti smṛtaḥ || [24] ṛkṣo 'bhūd bhārgavas tasmād vālmīkir yo 'bhidhīyate | tasmād asmatpitā [25] śaktir vyāsas tasmād [26] aham mune || [27] jātukarṇo 'bhavan mattaḥ kṛṣṇadvaipāyanas [28] tataḥ | aṣṭaviṃśatir ity ete vedavyāsāḥ purātanāḥ ||</code>

Another relevant passage is Brahmāṇḍapurāṇa 3.4.58cd-67 (≈ Vāyupurāṇa 2.41.58-67). Note how Tṛṇabindu is, perhaps by mistake, different from Somaśuṣma/Śuṣmāyaṇa here, but, more importantly, note Amitabuddhi of VSS 1.76 appear at the end of this list: [1] brahmā dadau śāstram idaṃ purāṇaṃ [2] mātariśvane || tasmāc [3] cośanasā prāptaṃ tasmāc cāpi [4] brhaspatiḥ| bṛhaspatis tu provāca [5] savitre tadanantaram || savitā [6] mṛtyave prāha mṛtyuś [7] cendrāya vai punaḥ | indraś cāpi [8] vasiṣṭāya so 'pi [9] sārasvatāya ca || sārasvatas [10] tridhāmne 'tha tridhāmā ca [11] śaradvate | śaradvāṃs tu [12] triviṣtāya so [13] 'ntarikṣāya dattavān || [14] carṣiṇe cāntarikṣo vai so 'pi [15] trayyāruṇāya ca | trayyāruṇād [16] dhanañjayaḥ sa vai prādāt [17] kṛtañjaye || kṛtañjayāt [18] tṛṇañjayo [19] bharadvājāya so 'py atha | [20] gautamāya bharadvājaḥ so 'pi [21] niryyantare punaḥ || niryyantaras tu provāca tathā [22] vājaśravāya vai | sa dadau [23] somaśuṣmāya sa cādāt [24] tṛṇabindave || tṛṇabindus tu [25] dakṣāya dakṣaḥ provāca [26] śaktaye | śakteh [27] parāśaraś cāpi garbhasthaḥ śrutavān idam || parāśarāj [28] jātukarṇyas tasmād [29] dvaipāyanaḥ prabhuḥ | dvaipāyanāt punaś cāpi [30] mayā prāptaṃ dvijottama || mayā caitat punaḥ proktaṃ [31] putrāyāmitabuddhaye | ity eva vākyaṃ brahmādiguruṇāṃ samudāhṛtam ||

The list of vedavyāsas in Lingapurāṇa 1.7.15–18 includes these twenty-five names: Kratu, Satya, Bhārgava, Angiras, Savitṛ, Mṛtyu, Śatakratu, Vasiṣṭha, Sārasvata, Tridhāman, Trivṛta, Śatatejas, Tarakṣu, Āruṇi, Kṛtaṃjaya, Rṭaṃjayo, Bharadvāja, Gautama, Vācaśravas, Tṛṇabindu, Rūkṣa, Śakti, Jātūkarṇya, Kṛṣṇa Dvaipāyano.

Vāyu abridged the verses and then gave [the Purāṇas] to [3] Uśanas. He [Uśanas]

^{1.64} Note the stem form noun pāda twice in this verse and the slightly odd grammatical structure (purāṇaṃ) prāptam uśanasam ('the Purāṇa reached Uśanas'), as opposed to the solution in pāda d (prāptavān).

^{1.71} Note the odd structure in pādas ab: dhanamjayaḥ kṛtamjayāya samprāptaḥ, for a more standard dhanamjayena (purāṇam) samprāpitaṃ kṛtamjayam ('the Purāṇa was transmitted to Kṛtaṃjaya').

Then from ṛṇaṃjaya it was given to [18] Gautama, the great sage, from Gautama to [19] Bharadvāja, from him to [20] Haryātman.

rājaśravās tataḥ prāptaḥ somaśuṣmāya vai tataḥ | somaśuṣmāt tataḥ prāptas tṛṇabindus tu bho dvija || 1:73 ||

Then [21] Rājaśravas received it, then [22] Somaśuṣma. Then from Somaśuṣma [23] Tṛṇabindu received it, O twice-born.

tṛṇabindus tu vṛkṣāya vṛkṣaḥ śaktim abhāṣata | śaktiḥ parāśaram prāha jatukarṇāya vai tataḥ || 1:74 ||

Tṛṇabindu taught it to [24] Vṛkṣa, Vṛkṣa to [25] Śakti [the father of Parāśara]. Śakti taught it to [26] Parāśara, then [Parāśara] to [27] Jatukarṇa.

dvaipāyanaṃ tu provāca jatukarṇo maharṣiṇam | romaharṣāya samprāpto dvaipāyanamahāmuniḥ || 1:75 ||

Jatukarṇa taught it to [28] [Vyāsa] Dvaipāyana, the great sage. Dvaipāyana, the great sage, gave it to [29] Romaharṣa.

romaharṣṇṇa provāca putrāyāmitabuddhaye | daśa dve ca sahasrāṇi purāṇaṃ samprakāśitam | mānusānām hitārthāya kim bhūyah śrotum icchasi || 1:76 ||

Romaharṣa taught the Purāṇa[s] of 12,000 [verses], now fully revealed, to his son, [30] Amitabuddhi, for the benefit of humankind. What else do you wish to know?

1.72 The structure of pādas ab is as odd as that of 1.71ab. What was intended is probably ṛṇañjayena prāpitaṃ gautamāya. My emendation in pāda d of haryadvatāya to haryātmanāya (for a standard haryātmane) is based on the list of vedavyāsas in ViṣṇuP 3.3.16–17 (see note to 1.63 above).

1.73 The syntax is again slightly odd here. The indention may have been prāpitaṃ rājaśavasā somaśuṣmāya... tatas tṛṇabindunā prāptam.

1.74 In other list of vedavyāsas, Tṛṇabindu hands the Purāṇas down to Ḥkṣa, Rūkṣa or Dakṣa (see note to 1.63 above). vṛkṣa in pāda a is probably a corrupted form. The name Jatukarṇa may be a corrupted form of Jātū- or Jātukarṇa.

1.75 The syntax of pādas cd echoes that of 1.73ab above.

1.76 Romaharșa is usually considered to be the same person as Sūta, disciple of Vyāsa Dvaipāyana.

In Brahmāṇḍapurāṇa 3.4.67ab (mayā caitat punah proktaṃ putrāyāmitabuddhaye, see note to 1.63 above) Amitabuddhi is clearly the name (or epithet) of Romaharṣa's son. This suggests that the form romaharṣāya in pāda a is a mistake for romaharṣaś ca, or similar. MS M is either transmitting an otherwise syntactically problematic reading (romaharṣeṇa) that is more original than that of most other witnesses or M's scribe is trying to correct the text. Supposing the former, in this case I accepted M's reading.

Manuscripts C_{02} and M place the iti of the colophon at the end of the last śloka, before the daṇḍas, thus: icchasīti ||O|| (C_{02}) and icchasī iti ||O|| (M). Note also that M gives the number of ślokas in this chapter, 77, which is almost exactly the number of verses this critical edition has produced. The scribe of M struggled with eyeskips in this chapter, therefore it seems unlikely that he himself counted the number of verses he had copied and arrived at this very figure. Rather, he copied the number from his exemplar.

Vṛṣasārasaṃgraha

|| iti vṛṣasārasamgrahe brahmānḍasamkhyā nāmādhyāyaḥ prathamaḥ || Here ends the first chapter in the Vṛṣasārasamgraha called the Description of the Brahmāṇḍa[s].

[dvitīyo 'dhyāyaḥ] [Chapter Two]

vigatarāga uvāca |

śrutam mayā janāgreņa brahmāṇḍasya tu nirṇayam | pramāṇaṃ varṇarūpaṃ ca saṃkhyā tasya samāsataḥ || 2:1 ||

Vigatarāga spoke: I have heard the description of the Brahmāṇḍa from [you,] the best of men, its extent, colour, form and the numbers associated with it, in a concise manner.

śivāṇḍeti tvayā prokto brahmāṇḍālayakīrtitaḥ |

kīdṛśaṃ lakṣaṇaṃ jñeyaṃ pramāṇaṃ tasya vā kati || 2:2 ||

You mentioned a Śivāṇḍa as taught to be the receptacle of the Brahmāṇḍa.

What are its characteristics and how much is its extent?

kasya vā layanam jñeyam pramāṇam vātra vāsinaḥ | kā vā tatra prajā jñeyā ko vā tatra prajāpatiḥ || 2:3 ||

Whose dwelling place is it? And [what] is the scale of the one[s] who dwell there? What kind of people live there? And who is the ruler (prajāpati) there?

[śivāṇḍasaṃkhyā — Summary of the Śivāṇḍa]

anarthayajña uvāca |

śivāṇḍalakṣaṇaṃ vipra na tvaṃ praṣṭum ihārhasi |

daivatair api kā śaktir jñātuṃ draṣṭuṃ ca tattvataḥ || 2:4 ||

Anarthayajña spoke: Please don't ask me about the characteristics of the Śivāṇḍa, O Brahmin. How could even the gods have the power to really know and see [the Śivāṇḍa]?

agamyagamanaṃ guhyaṃ guhyād api samuddhṛtam | na prabhur netaras tatra na daṇḍyo na ca daṇḍakaḥ || 2:5 ||

The path leading to it is not to be trodden, it is more secret than any secret, and it is lofty. There is no master or servant [lit. the opposite] there, nobody to be punished and no punisher.

- 2.1 It is unlikely that <code>janāgreṇa</code> picks up <code>mayā</code> ('by me, the best of men'), instead, I supposed that this instrumental stands for the ablative or should be understood as 'through the best of man.'
 - 2.2 The location where Śivāṇḍa was mentioned is verse 1.40ab above.
- $2.3~v\bar{a}~layanam$ in $p\bar{a}da$ a may stand for $v\bar{a}$ - $\bar{a}layanam$, in the sense of $v\bar{a}$ - $\bar{a}layam$. The questions in this verse are most probably answered in verses 2.26-33, and if my interpretation is correct there, $pram\bar{a}nam$ $v\bar{a}tra~v\bar{a}sinam$ (understand $v\bar{a}sin\bar{a}m$) and $p\bar{a}da$ c should refer to the number of inhabitants in the five regions of $\bar{1}s\bar{a}na$, Tatpuruṣa etc., who are refered to here in $p\bar{a}das$ a and possibly d.
- 2.5 My emendation to samuddhṛtam in pāda b is not fully satisfactory, but the readings transmitted in the witnesses are problematic. M, a MS not collated for this chapter, gives a confusing reading: sa\murdhni\dam. I doubt if E's samṛddhidam ('yielding success') is the correct reading.

na satyo nānṛtas tatra suśīlo no duḥśīlavān |
nānṛjur na ca dambhitvaṃ na tṛṣṇā na ca īṛṣyatā || 2:6 ||
There are no truthful or untruthful people there, no moral or immoral people, no crooked people, no hypocrisy, no thirst or envy.

na krodho na ca lobho 'sti na māno 'sti na sūyakaḥ |

na krodho na ca lobho 'sti na mano 'sti na suyakaḥ | īrṣyā dveṣo na tatrāsti na śaṭho na ca matsaraḥ || 2:7 ||

There is no anger or desire there, no arrogance or discontent ([a]sūyaka), no envy or hatred, no cheaters and no jealousy.

na vyādhir na jarā tatra na śoko 'sti na viklavaḥ | nādhamaḥ puruṣas tatra nottamo na ca madhyamaḥ || 2:8 ||
```

There is no disease, no aging, no grief and no agitation there, there are no inferior or superior people and there is nobody in-between.

```
notkṛṣṭo mānavas tasmin striyaś caiva śivālaye |
na nindā na praśaṃsāsti matsarī piśuno na ca || 2:9 ||
```

There are no privileged men or women there in Śiva's abode, no reproach or praise, no selfish or treacherous people.

garvadarpaṃ na tatrāsti krūramāyādikaṃ tathā |
yācamāno na tatrāsti dātā caiva na vidyate || 2:10 ||
```

There is no pride or arrogance there, no cruelty or trickery and so on. There are no beggars and no donors there.

anarthī vraja tatrasthaḥ kalpavṛkṣasamāśritaḥ | na karma nāpriyas tatra na kaliḥ kalaho na ca || 2:11 ||
```

Go without material desires (anarthin), being there you'll be resting under a wishing tree. There is no karma there and no enemy. No Kali age is there and there is no fighting.

dvāparo na ca na tretā kṛtaṃ cāpi na vidyate |
manvantaraṃ na tatrāsti kalpaś caiva na vidyate || 2:12 ||
```

There is no Dvāpara age or Tretā or Kṛta. There are no manvantaras there and no kalpas.

āhūtasamplavam nāsti brahmarātridinam tathā |

Perhaps samudāhṛtam ('declared, talked about as') was meant. It is not inconceivable that C_{02} 's (and M's) agamyagahanam ('it is inaccessible because of its depth') is original and it is to be contrasted with samuddhṛtam ('lofty'). One also wonders if guhād could be the right reading, and in what sense, in pāda b.

- 2.6 Strictly speaking duḥśīlavān in pāda b is unmetrical; understand or pronounce duśīlavān. īrṣyatā (for īrṣyā, see 2.7a) is a form rarely attested.
 - 2.7 na sūyakaḥ in pāda b stands for na asūyaka metri causa.
- 2.11 Note the term anartī in pāda a: it might have something to do with non-material sacrifice (anarthayajña), the topic of chapter 11. vraja in pāda a is suspect.
 - 2.12 On manvantaras and kalpas, see 1.23-24 above.

na janmamaraṇaṃ tatra āpadaṃ nāpnuyāt kvacit || 2:13 ||

No universal floods of destruction come, and there are no days and nights of Brahmā. There is no birth and death there and one never encounters catastrophes.

na cāśāpāśabaddho 'sti rāgamohaṃ na vidyate | na devā nāsurās tatra na yakṣoragarākṣasāḥ || 2:14 ||

Nobody is tied to the noose of hope and there is no passion or delusion. There are no gods and demons there and no Yakṣas, Serpents and Rākṣasas.

na bhūtā na piśācāś ca gandharvā ṛṣayas tathā | tārāgrahaṃ na tatrāsti nāgakiṃnaragāruḍam || 2:15 ||

There are no Ghosts nor Piśācas, no Gandharvas and no Ḥṣis. There are no planets there, no Nāgas, Kiṃnaras or Garuḍa-like creatures.

na japo nāhnikas tatra nāgnihotrī na yajñakṛt |

na vratam na tapaś caiva na tiryannarakam tathā || 2:16 ||

There are no recitations or daily rituals there, nobody performs the Agnihotra and there are no sacrificers. There are no religious observances and no austerities and no 'animal hell'.

tasyeśānasya devasya aiśvaryaguṇavistaram | api varṣaśatenāpi śakyam vaktuṃ na kenacit || 2:17 ||

Nobody would be able to tell the extent of the qualities of the god Īśāna's powers, not even in a hundred years.

harecchāprabhavāḥ sarve paryāyeṇa bravīmi te | devamānuṣavarjyāni vṛkṣagulmalatādayaḥ || 2:18 ||

All are born by Hara's wish. I shall teach [them to] you one by one, excluding gods and people, starting with the trees, the bushes and creepers.

- 2.13 āhūtasamplava for the more widely attested form ābhūtasamplava occurs, e.g., in some MSS transmitting ŚDhŚ 10.77 and 81 (see Bisschop, Kafle, & Kiss forthcoming).
- 2.16 The phrase of tiryannaraka appears in MBh 3.181.18ab: aśubhaiḥ karmabhiḥ pāpās tiryannarakagāminaḥ. Here Ganguli 1883–1896 translates tiryan separately as 'in a crooked way,' but I suspect that in the VSS tiryannaraka has more to do with tiraggati, being reduced to animal existence, being reborn as an animal or entering a hell in animal form. Cf. MBh 13.134.057 (CHECK): nṛṣu janma labhante ye karmaṇā madhyamāḥ smṛtāḥ | tiryannarakagantāro hy adhamās te narādhamāḥ ||, and Umāmaheśvarasamvāda 6.1: avamanyanti ye viprān sarvaloke namaskṛtān | narakam yānti te sarve tiryagyonim vrajanti ca || I suspect that nātirya° in the witnesses is only a scribal mistake for na tirya°.
- 2.17 My translation of aiśvaryaguṇa° is tentative. It could be taken as a dvandva compound (e.g. 'supremacy and qualities'). The expression sarva° or aṣṭaiśvaryaguṇopeta occurs frequently, e.g. in SivP 7.2.8.28ab and SkandaP 55.30cd, and ŚDhU 2.6, 79, 125, 127, with aiśvarya most probably refering to the eight siddhis aṇiman, laghiman etc. De Simini (2016a, 386), e.g., translates sarvaiśvaryaguṇopetaḥ in ŚDhU 2.127 as 'endowed with all the qualities of lordship.'
- 2.18 Note the gender confusion in this verse, and the way I take $p\bar{a}da$ a as a separate statement to aviod a further confusion of case.

[Īśāna's] powers cannot be expressed by numbers, neither can [His] powerfulness, O twice-born. [In fact, the extension in the Śivāṇḍa] downwards and upwards cannot be expressed by numbers, neiter can its horizontal extension.

bhogam akṣaya tatraiva janmamṛtyur na vidyate || 2:25 ||
[In reality,] I do not know the length and width of the Śivāṇḍa. Enjoyment is

- 2.19 I understand pāda a as parārdhadviguṇa utsedho, i.e. as an example of double sandhi. On the other hand, "sedho is only my conjecture, and may refer to something else than the Śivāṇḍa. Note the number confusion in pāda d, and also that two parārdhas is one para, the highest possible number according to verses 1.35–36 above. The number may refer to any unit of length, but 2.23 below suggests that it is yojanas.
 - 2.20 Note that both anye and apare here pick up neuter nouns (gender confusion).
- 2.21 My conjectures in $p\bar{a}das$ ab result in a compoud split at the caesura, which may have been the reason why the line got corrupted.
 - 2.23 I understand pādas cd, tentatively, as vikṣepaṃ parārdhadvayaṃ yojanānāṃ
 - 2.24 This line is a reply to 2.17b.

undecaying there, and there is no birth or death there.

śivāṇḍamadhyam āśritya gokṣīrasadṛśaprabhāḥ | parārdhaparakoṭīnām īśānānāṃ smṛṭālayaḥ || 2:26 ||

In the centre of the Śivāṇḍa, [creatures] shine like cow's milk. [It is] said to be the region (ālaya) of the one and a half para crore Īśānas.

bālasūryaprabhāḥ sarve jñeyās tatpuruṣālaye | parārdhaparakoṭīnāṃ pūrvasyāṃ diśam āśritāḥ || 2:27 ||

They are all like the rising sun in the region of Tatpuruṣa. They are one and a half para crore [in number], living in the east.

bhinnāñjanaprabhāḥ sarve dakṣiṇāṃ diśam āśritāḥ | parārdhaparakoṭīnām aghorālayam āśritāḥ || 2:28 ||

Everybody is like collyrium in the southern direction, in the region of Aghora, one and a half para crore [in number].

kundenduhimaśailābhāḥ paścimām diśam āśritāḥ | parārdhaparakoṭīnām sadya-m-iṣṭālayaḥ smṛtaḥ || 2:29 ||

In the western direction, they are like jasmine, the moon, like snowy rocks. Sadyojāta's lovely region is [home] to one and a half para crore [people].

kunkumodakasaṃkāśā uttarāṃ diśam āśritāḥ | parārdhaparakotīnāṃ vāmadevālayaḥ smṛtaḥ || 2:30 ||

In the northern direction, they are like saffron in water. Vāmadeva's region is [home] to one and a half para crore [people].

īśānasya kalāḥ pañca vaktrasyāpi catuṣ kalāḥ | aghorasya kalā aṣṭau vāmadevās trayodaśa || 2:31 ||

2.25 Pāda c is transmitted in an unmetrical form and with a gender problem in the witnesses (bhogam akṣayas), hence my emendation using a stem form noun, a phenomenon frequently seen in this text. But note that bhoga is normally masculine; there might be a hiatus-filler in-between: bhoga-m-akṣaya).

2.26 Note the stem form smṛta in pāda d (cf. 2.29d). I understand īśānānāṃ as aiśānānāṃ. Īśāna is traditionally the upward-looking face of Śiva, his region is positioned in the centre here. Note that the somewhat cryptic third pādas here and in the coming verses may or may not refer to the number of people living in the given region. They may tell us about the extent of the given region, although the numbers are much higher than what one would expect after verse 2.23.

2.27 The genitive of $par\bar{a}rdhaparakot\bar{\imath}n\bar{a}m$ is baffling here and in the coming verses, but I suspect that again the expression gives the number of subjects living in the given region. $p\bar{u}rvasy\bar{a}m$ is meant to mean $p\bar{u}rv\bar{a}m$ (cf. $daksin\bar{a}m$, $pascim\bar{a}m$, and $uttar\bar{a}m$ in the next verses); note how K_{10} tries to save the construction by reading disi.

This verse conforms to the traditional view that Śiva's Tatpuruṣa-face is looking to the east.

- 2.28 Note the Aisa form disim in C_{45} , and that Aghora is indeed usually south-facing.
- 2.29 Note the Aiśa form diśim in K_7 in $p\bar{a}da$ b. In $p\bar{a}da$ d, we may presuppose the presence of a sandhi-bridge: sadya-m-istalayah. Sadyojāta is traditionally associated with the western direction.
- 2.30 Note the Aiśa form diśim in C_{94} in $p\bar{a}da$ b. Vāmadeva is traditionally associated with the western direction.

Īśāna has five parts ($kal\bar{a}$), [his Tatpuruṣa] face has four. Aghora has eight, and there are thirteen Vāmadeva[$-kal\bar{a}$]s.

sadyaś cāṣṭau kalā jñeyāḥ saṃsārārṇavatārakāḥ |
aṣṭatriṃśat kalā hy etāḥ kīrtitā dvijasattama || 2:32 ||
```

Sadyojāta has eight parts. These parts, altogether thirty-eight, which liberate us from the ocean of existence, have been taught, O truest Brahmin.

```
saṃkhyā varṇā diśaś caiva ekaikasya pṛthak pṛthak |
pūrvoktena vidhānena bodhavyās tattvacintakaiḥ || 2:33 ||
```

Those who explore the truth should know the numbers, the colours and directions associated with each one [of Śiva's faces] in the way taught above.

```
śivāṇḍagamanākṛṣṭyā śivayogaṃ sadābhyaset |
śivayogaṃ vinā vipra tatra gantuṃ na śakyate || 2:34 ||
```

If one has the intention to go to the Śivāṇḍa, one should practise Śiva-yoga regularly. Without Śiva-yoga, O Brahmin, it is impossible to go there.

```
aśvamedhādiyajñānāṃ kotyāyutaśatāni ca |
kṛcchrāditapa sarvāṇi kṛtvā kalpaśatāni ca |
tatra gantum na śakyeta devair api tapodhana || 2:35 ||
```

[Even] by [performing] millions of sacrifices such as the Aśvamedha, or by performing all the difficult austerities for a hundred kalpas, it is impossible to get there even for the gods, O great ascetic.

gangādisarvatīrtheṣu snātvā taptvā ca vai punaḥ | tatra gantuṃ na śakyeta ṛṣibhir vā mahātmabhiḥ || 2:36 ||
```

By [merely] bathing and performing austerities at all the sacred places such as the Gangā, even the honorable Ṣṣis will not be able to get there.

saptadvīpasamudrāṇi ratnapūrṇāṇi bho dvija | dattvā vā vedaviduṣe śraddhābhaktisamanvitaḥ | tatra gantuṃ na śakyeta vinā dhyānena niścayaḥ || 2:37 ||
```

Or [even] by donating the oceans of the seven islands with all their gems to a Veda expert, O Brahmin, with faith and devotion, one will not be able to go there without meditation. [This is a] certainty.

svadehān māṃsam uddhṛtya dattvārthibhyaś ca niścayāt | svadāraputrasarvasvaṃ śiro 'rthibhyaś ca yo dadet | na tatra gantuṃ śakyeta anyair vāpi suduṣkaraiḥ || 2:38 ||
```

- 2.31 Note how vaktrasya should refer to Śiva's Tatpuruṣa-face, given that the text lists Śiva's five faces: Īśāna, Tatpuruṣa, Aghora, Vāmadeva, Sadyojāta.
 - 2.32 Note sadyaś in pāda a for sadyasaś or sadyojātasya.
 - 2.34 ākṛṣṭyā in pāda a might be corrupt.
- 2.35 Understand kṛcchrāditapa sarvāṇi as kṛcchrāditapāṃsi sarvāṇi. It can be considered an instance of the use of a stem form noun.

Translation of chapter 1

He who destroys his own body and gives it without hesitation to those who are in need of it, or he who gives away his wife, his son and his possessions or his own head to those in need, or he who [performs] other difficult deeds, will not be able to go there [by merely doing these].

yajñatīrthatapodānavedādhyayanapāragaḥ | brahmāṇḍāntasya bhogāṃs tu bhuṅkte kālavaśānugaḥ || 2:39 ||

He who has completed the sacrifices, the pilgrimages, the austerities, the donations, the study of the Vedas, will experience those enjoyments that the Brahmāṇḍa offers, still being subject to time and death.

kālena samapreṣyeṇa dharmo yāti parikṣayam | alātacakravat sarvaṃ kālo yāti paribhraman | traikālyakalanāt kālas tena kālaḥ prakīrtitaḥ || 2:40 ||

Dharma decays tossed forward by time. Time flies moving everything round and round like a circle of burning coal. Time is called $k\bar{a}la$ because of the waves (kalana) of the three divisions of time [past, present, future].

|| iti vṛṣasārasaṃgrahe śivāṇḍasaṃkhyā nāmādhyāyo dvitīyaḥ || Here ends the second chapter in the Vṛṣasārasaṃgraha called the Description of the Śivāṇḍa.

2.40 Notice the muta cum liquida licence in pāda a: samapre° renders as short-short-long. I take samapreṣyena as if it read sampreṣito, picking up dharmo; otherwise it is difficult to make sense of it. As Kenji Takahashi pointed out to me, Fitzgerald 2012 is a good starting point to understand the implication of alātacakra, 'a single, rapidly twirled torch creat[ing] the illusion of an apparently real, continuous circle' (ibid., p. 777). The function of sarvaṃ in pāda a becomes clear only if we understand paribhraman in a causative sense (for paribhramayan). One cannot help noticing that this verse would be in a more fitting context after verse 1.31, at the end of a section on kāla. On the other hand, it leads us to the next topic, Dharma, smoothly.

[tṛtīyo 'dhyāyaḥ] [Chapter Three]

[dharmapravacanam — An Exposition of Dharma]

vigatarāga uvāca |

kimartham dharmam ity āhuḥ katimūrtiś ca kīrtyate |

katipādavṛṣo jñeyo gatis tasya kati smṛtāḥ || 3:1 ||

Vigatarāga spoke: Why do they call it Dharma? And how many embodiments (mūrti) is he known to have? He is known as a bull: how many legs does it/he have? How many are his paths?

kautūhalam mamotpannam samsayam chindhi tattvatah | kasya putro munisrestha prajās tasya kati smṛtāḥ || 3:2 ||

I have become curious [about these questions]. Put an end to my doubts for good. Whose son is [Dharma], O best of sages? How many children does he have?

anarthayajña uvāca | dhṛtir ity eṣa dhātur vai paryāyaḥ parikīrtitaḥ | ādhāraṇān mahattvāc ca dharma ity abhidhīyate || 3:3 ||

Anarthayajña spoke: Well, dhrti ('firmness') is [of the same] verbal root [as dharma], and is said to be [its] synonym. It is called dharma because it supports $(\bar{a}DH\bar{A}Rana)$ and because it is great (MAhattva).

3.1 For the correct interpretation of $p\bar{a}da$ a, namely to decide whether these questions focus on the bull of Dharma or Dharma itself/himself, see the end of the previous chapter, where dharma was mentioned (2.40b), and to which the present verse is a reaction; see also MBh 12.110.10–11: $prabh\bar{a}v\bar{a}rth\bar{a}ya$ $bh\bar{u}t\bar{a}n\bar{a}m$ dharmapravacanam krtam $|yatsy\bar{a}d$ $ahims\bar{a}samyuktam$ sa dharma iti niscayah || $dh\bar{a}ran\bar{a}d$ dharma ity $\bar{a}hur$ dharmena $vidhrt\bar{a}h$ $praj\bar{a}h$ $|yatsy\bar{a}d$ $dh\bar{a}ranasamyuktam$ sa dharma iti niscayah || Note the similarities of MBh this passage with this chapter: the phrase dharma ity $\bar{a}hur$, the fact that the present chapter from verse 18 on is actually a chapter on $ahims\bar{a}$, and that the etimological explanation involves the word $[\bar{a}]dh\bar{a}rana$ in both cases. These lead me to think that in $p\bar{a}das$ ab of this verse in the VSS, it is Dharma that is the focus of the inquiry and not the bull.

Understand pāda d as gatayas tasya kati smṛtāḥ. I have accepted smṛtāḥ because this plural signals that gatis is meant to be plural, similarly to what happens in 3.6cd (tasya patnī... mahāb-hāgāḥ). The use of the singular in a context of numbers and quantities is one of the hallmarks of the language of the VSS, see p. CHECK.

On Dharma as a bull, see Introduction, pp. CHECK.

3.3 For similar Purāṇic passages on the etimology of dharma, see the apparatus to this verse. The insertion in my translation '[of the same]' solves the problem of a noun (dhṛti) seemingly being considered a verbal root (dhātu) here. I owe thanks to Judit Törzsök for this interpretation. For similar passages with nominal stems appearently being treated as dhātus, see e.g. VāyuP 3.17cd: bhāvya ity eṣa dhātur vai bhāvye kāle vibhāvyate; VāyuP 3.19cd (= BrahmāṇḍaP 1.38.21ab): nātha ity eṣa dhātur vai dhātujñaiḥ pālane smṛtaḥ; LiṅP 2.9.19: bhaja ity eṣa dhātur vai sevāyāṃ parikīr-titah

śrutismṛtidvayor mūrtiś catuṣpādavṛṣaḥ sthitaḥ | caturāśrama yo dharmaḥ kīrtitāni manīṣibhiḥ || 3:4 ||
The four-legged Bull is the embodiment of both Śruti and Smṛti. It is Dharma, as made up of the four āśramas.

gatiś ca pañca vijñeyāḥ śṛṇu dharmasya bho dvija | devamānuṣatiryaṃ ca narakasthāvarādayaḥ || 3:5 ||

And the paths of Dharma are five. Listen, O Brahmin: [existence as] gods, men, animals, [existence in] hell and [as] immovable things [such as plants and rocks] etc.

brahmano hṛdayam bhittvā jāto dharmaḥ sanātanaḥ | tasya patnī mahābhāgā trayodaśa sumadhyamāḥ || 3:6 ||

Eternal Dharma was born after splitting Brahmā's heart. He has beautiful wives, thirteen in number, with nice waists.

dakṣakanyā viśālākṣī śraddhādyāḥ sumanoharāḥ | tasya putrāś ca pautrāś ca anekāś ca babhūva ha | eṣa dharmanisargo 'yaṃ kiṃ bhūyaḥ śrotum icchasi || 3:7 ||

They are Dakṣa's daughters, [called] Śraddhā and so on. They have huge eyes and they are beautiful. Numerous sons and grandsons were born to him. This is the emergence of Dharma. What more do you wish to hear?

3.4 A similar image of the legs of the Bull of Dharma being the four (and not three, at least according to Olivelle 1993, 55 and Ganguli 1883–1896, Śāntiparvan CCLXX) āśramas is hinted at MBh 12.262.19–21: dharmam ekam catuṣpādam āśritās te nararṣabhāḥ | taṃ santo vidhivat prāpya gacchanti paramāṃ gatim || grhebhya eva niṣkramya vanam anye samāśritāḥ | grham evābhisamśritya tato 'nye brahmacāriṇaḥ || dharmam etaṃ catuṣpādam āśramaṃ brāhmaṇā viduḥ | ānantyaṃ brahmaṇaḥ sthānaṃ brāhmaṇā nāma niścayaḥ ||. On the more frequently quoted interpretation of the four legs, see Olivelle 1993, 235, a translation of Manu 1.81–82: 'Dharma and truth possess all four feet and are whole during the Kṛta yuga, and people did not obtain anything unrighteously (adharmeṇa). By obtaining, however, dharma has lost one foot during each of the other yugas and righteousness (dharma) likewise has diminished by one quarter due to theft, falsehood, and deceit. (MDh 1.81–82).' Understand pādas c and d as catvāri āśramāṇi kīrtitāni dharmo manīṣibhiḥ or yo dharmaḥ kīrtitaś caturāśramāṇi manīṣibhiḥ or yo dharmaṣ caturāśramaḥ kīrtito manīṣibhiḥ. Judit Törzsök suggested that caturāśrama and dharmaḥ may be interpreted as a compound here.

- 3.5 Note the use of the singular next to numbers in $p\bar{a}da$ a, as in 3.1d, and that $vij\bar{n}eyah$ is an emendation from $vij\bar{n}eyah$ following the logic of 3.1d. tirya seems to be an acceptable nominal stem in this text for $tirya\bar{n}c$. See, e.g., 4.6a: $devam\bar{a}nusatiryesu$. $\bar{a}dayah$ in $p\bar{a}da$ d seems superfluous.
- 3.6 Note the use of the singular in pādas cd. I have left sumadhyamāḥ as the manuscripts transmit it: it signals the presence of the plural. And consider correcting mahābhāgā to mahābhāgās. In sum, understand tasya patnyo mahābhāgās trayodaśa sumadhyamāḥ.
- 3.7 śraddhāḍhyāḥ in pāda b is an attractive lectio difficilior ('they were rich in faith/devotion'), but I have finally decided to accept the easier and better-attested śraddhādyā[h]. Again, I have chosen/applied the plural forms °ādyāḥ and sumanoharāḥ in pāda b to hint at the fact that the presence of the plural is to be preferred here; thus only viśālākṣī is problematic. As patnī in the previous verse, it should be treated as a plural. Note the use of the singular for the plural also in pādas cd, especially babbūva ha for babbūvuh (babbūva ha perhaps being a phonetic and metrically 'adjusted' equivalent, so to say, of babhūvuh).

3.8 I have emended tebhyaḥ to the correct feminine form tābhyaḥ because I suspect that it is only the result of some early confusion brought about by putras, although tebhyaḥ might be original. Note again the use of the singular (nominative) for the plural (accusative) in pādas ab. Alternatively, emend dharmapatnī to dharmapatnīr (plural accusative) and putras to putrān to make them work with śrotum icchāmi.

3.9 Note how lajjā in pāda b makes the line unumetrical.

For Dharma's thirteen wives and their sons, see, e.g., LinP 1.5.34–37 (note the similarity between the first line and VSS 3.6cd–7ab above): dharmasya patnyaḥ śraddhādyāḥ kīrtitā vai trayodaśa | tāsu dharmaprajām vakṣye yathākramam anuttamam || kāmo darpo 'tha niyamaḥ saṃtoṣo lobha eva ca | śrutas tu daṇḍaḥ samayo bodhaś caiva mahādyutiḥ || apramādaś ca vinayo vyavasāyo dvijottamāḥ | kṣemaṃ sukhaṃ yaśaś caiva dharmaputrāś ca tāsu vai || dharmasya vai kriyāyāṃ tu daṇḍaḥ samaya eva ca | apramādas tathā bodho buddher dharmasya tau sutau ||.

prasūtisambhavāḥ in pāda d is a rather bold conjecture that can be supported by two facts: firstly, the readings of the manuscripts are difficult to make sense of and thus are probably corrupt; secondly, a corruption from the name Prasūti, traditionally the name of Dakṣa's wife, to ābhūti is relatively easily to explain, $s\bar{u}$ and $bh\bar{u}$ being close enough in some scripts (e.g. in C_{94}) to cause confusion. Another option would be to accept Ābhūti as the name of Dakṣa's wife. For Prasūti being Dakṣa's wife in other sources, see, e.g., LinP 1.5.20–21 (but also note the presence of the name Sambhūti): prasūtiḥ suṣuve dakṣāc caturviṃśatikanyakāḥ | śraddhām lakṣmīm dhṛtiṃ puṣṭiṃ tuṣṭiṃ medhāṃ kriyāṃ tathā || buddhi lajjāṃ vapuḥ śāntiṃ siddhiṃ kīrtiṃ mahātapāḥ | khyātiṃ sántiś ca saṃbhūtiṃ smṛṭiṃ prītiṃ kṣamāṃ tathā ||.

3.10 Understand śraddhā as a stem form noun for śraddhāyāh (gen./abl., cf. 3.11a). Alternatively, take śraddhā and suto as elements of a split compound, and understand śraddhāsuto jātaḥ kāmah.

To Puṣṭi was born a son [called] Lābha ('Profit'). Medhā's son is Śruta ('Sacred Knowledge'). Kriyā's sons are Daṇḍa ('Punishment') and Samaya ('Law').

lajjāyā vinayaḥ putro buddhyā bodhaḥ sutaḥ smṛtaḥ |

Kṣema ('Peace') is to be known as Śānti's son, Vyavasāya ('Resolution') is Vapus' son. Yaśas ('Fame') is Kīrti's son, Sukha ('Joy') was born to Siddhi. [This is how] the sons of Dharma in the [manvantara] era of Svāyambhuva [Manu] were known.

anarthayajña uvāca |

- 3.11 I have emended abhayaḥ to abhavat in pāda c, following the relevant line in the KūrmP cited above (kriyāyāś cābhavat putro daṇḍaḥ samaya eva ca) and also LinP 1.5.37 quoted in the apparatus to this verse, allotting only two sons to Kriyā. Thus I don't think that Kriyā is supposed to have a son called Abhaya ('Freedom from danger'; BhāgP 4.1.50ab claims that Dayā had a son called Abhaya: śraddhāsūta śubhaṃ maitrī prasādam abhayaṃ dayā). Nevertheless, in a number of sources Kriyā actually has three sons, see, e.g., ViṣṇuP 1.7.26ab, where they are named as Daṇḍa, Naya and Vinaya: medhā śrutam kriyā daṇḍaṃ nayaṃ vinayam eva ca. Perhaps read kriyāyās tu nayaḥ putro in pāda c? Compare VāyuP 1.10.34cd (kriyāyās tu nayaḥ prokto daṇḍaḥ samaya eva ca) with BrahmāṇḍaP 1.9.60ab (kriyāyās tanayau proktau damaś ca śama eva ca).
- 3.12 In a very similar passages in KūrmP 1.8.20 ff., Apramāda is Buddhi's son and Lajjā has only one son, Vinaya. In the above verse (VSS 3.12), sudhiyah (for sudhīḥ) may only be qualifying apramāda, thus Lajjā may have two sons: Vinaya and the wise Apramāda. Alternatively, pādas cd might be a extra line inserted accidentally.
- 3.13 Note that sukhaṃ in pāda d is probably meant to be masculine (sukhaḥ), but e.g. in the KūrmP passage quoted above it is also neuter. For the emendation in pāda e, see MatsP 9.2cd: yāmā nāma purā devā āsan svāyambhuvāntare, and BhāgP 6.4.1: devāsuranṛṇāṃ sargo nāgānāṃ mṛgapakṣiṇām | sāmāsikas tvayā prokto yas tu svāyambhuve 'ntare ||.
- 3.14 Note dharma as a neuter noun and the form atīvaṃ for atīva metri causa. My emendation from kīrtaya ('declare') to kartaya ('cut') was influenced by the combination of chindhi and saṃśaya, often with kautūhala, elsewhere in the VSS: 3.2ab: kautūhalaṃ mamotpannaṃ saṃśayaṃ chindhi tattvataḥ; 10.10cd: kautūhalaṃ mahaj jātaṃ chindhi saṃśayakārakaṃ; 15.2ab: etat kautūhalaṃ chindhi saṃśayaṃ parameśvara. The reading kīrtaya may have been the result of the influence of kīrtitā in 3.13b above (De Simini's observation).

śrutismṛtidvayor mūrtir dharmasya parikīrtitā | dārāgnihotrasambandham ijyā śrautasya lakṣaṇam | smārto varṇāśramācāro yamaiś ca niyamair yutaḥ || 3:15 ||

Anarthayajña spoke: Dharma's embodiment is said to consist of Śruti and Smṛti. The characteristics of the Śrauta [tradition] are an association with a wife [i.e. marriage] and with the fire ritual, and sacrifice. The Smārta [tradition] [focuses on] the conduct (ācāra) of the classes (varṇa) and life-stages (āśrama) which is connected to rules and regulations (yama-niyama).

[yamaniyamabhedaḥ — Yama and Niyama rules]

yamaś ca niyamaś caiva dvayor bhedam ataḥ śṛṇu | ahiṃsā satyam asteyam ānṛśaṃsyam damo ghṛṇā | dhanyāpramādo mādhuryam ārjavaṃ ca yamā daśa || 3:16 ||

Now hear the classification of both the yama and niyama rules. Non-violence, truthfulness, not stealing, absence of hostility, self-restraint, taboos, virtue, carefulness, charm, honesty: these are the ten yamas.

ekaikasya punah pañcabhedam āhur manīṣiṇaḥ | ahiṃsādi pravakṣyāmi śṛṇuṣvāvahito dvija || 3:17 ||

The wise say that there are five subclasses to each. I shall teach you about non-violence and the other [yama-rules]. Listen carefully, O twice-born.

[yameṣv ahiṃṣā (1) — The first yama-rule: Non-violence]

3.15 The reading ${}^{\circ}$ dvay $\bar{\imath}$ in K_{7} in $p\bar{a}da$ a is attractive, but as Judit Törzsök has pointed out to me, it is more likely that the slightly less convincing but widespread variant ${}^{\circ}$ dvayor is original.

As for Dharma being based on śruti and smṛti, see, e.g., Manu 2.10: śrutis tu vedo vijñeyo dharmaśāstram tu vai smṛtiḥ | te sarvārtheṣv amīmāṃsye tābhyām dharmo hi nirbabhau ||. In Olivelle's translation (Olivelle 2005, 94): "Scripture" should be recognized as "Veda," and "tradition" as "Law Treatise." These two should never be called into question in any matter, for it is from them that the Law shines forth.'

There may be a hiatus filler in pādas cd: "sambandha-m-ijyā for "sambandha ijyā.

To state that the Smārta tradition is connected to yamas and niyamas and the āśramas and then to discuss these at length (principally in chapters 3–8 and 11) can be seen as a clear self-identification with the Smārta tradition.

3.16 Pāda a should be understood as yamaniyamayoś caiva, but the author of this line may have tried to avoid the metrical fault of having two short syllables in the second and third positions. Note that this is the beginning of a long section in our text that describes the yama-niyama rules, reaching up to the end of chapter eight. The title given in the colophon of the next chapter, chapter four, namely yamavibhāga, would fit this locus better than the beginning of that chapter, which commences with a discussion on the second of the yamas, satya. Note how all witnesses read mād-būrya in pāda e instead of mādhurya. The former may have been acceptable originally in this text. Pāda e is a ma-vipulā.

3.17 In pāda a, paāca and bheda may be typeset as two separate words since the use of the singular after numbers is one of the hallmarks of the text (see CHECK).

[pañcavidhā hiṃsā — Five types of violence]

trāsanam tāḍanam bandho māraṇam vṛttināśanam

hiṃsāṃ pañcavidhām āhur munayas tattvadarśinaḥ || 3:18 ||

Frightening and beating [other people], tying [someone] up, killing and the destruction of [other people's] livelihood: violence is said by the wise who see the truth to be of [these] five types.

kāṣṭhaloṣṭakaśādyais tu tāḍayantīha nirdayāḥ | tatprahāravibhinnāṅgo mṛtavadhyam avāpnuyāt || 3:19 ||

Cruel people beat [other people] with sticks, clods of earth [understand: they stone them], with whips and other [objects] in the everyday world. Their bodies broken by the same blows, they receive the capital punishment.

śatrucaurabhayair ghoraiḥ siṃhavyāghragajoragaiḥ | trāsanād vadham āpnoti anyair vāpi suduḥsahaiḥ || 3:21 ||

He who frightens [other people] with the terrible danger of enemies and thieves, with lions, tigers, elephants or snakes, or by other horrors, will be executed.

yasya yasya hared vittaṃ tasya tasya vadhaḥ smṛtaḥ | vṛttijīvābhibhūtānāṃ taddvārā nihataḥ smṛtaḥ || 3:22 ||

He who robs somebody's money is to be punished by the same person. He is [to be] struck down by those whose livelihood got damaged by him.

viṣavahniśaraśastrair māyāyogabalena vā | hiṃsakāny āhu viprendra munayas tattvadarśinaḥ || 3:23 ||

[Those who kill other people] with poison, fire, arrows, swords, or by the

3.19 Note the use of the singular in pādas cd referring back to the agents of the previous sentence. Most probably, "vadhyam is to be understand as "vadham and the form vadhyam serves only to avoid two laghu syllables in pāda d.

3.20 Understand bhujoras ca in pāda a as bhuje, urasi ca, in this case with an instance of double sandhi, and in stem form: bhuje urasi ca \rightarrow bhuja urasi ca \rightarrow bhujorasi ca \rightarrow bhujoras ca. Alternatively, understand it as a compound (bhujorasi). In pāda b, my emendation is only one of the possible interpretations. We might accept siroru° as consisting of sira + \bar{u} ru ('head and thigh'), or emend it to sirorab° for sira + urab ('head and chest'). Also note my conjecture in $p\bar{a}$ da d, without which this $p\bar{a}$ da is difficult to interpret.

3.22 Understand vadhaḥ in pāda b as vadhyaḥ metri causa. My translation of the second line of this verse reflects a conjecture (taddvārā) understood as connected to both pāda c and nihataḥ in pāda d.

force of magic or yoga are called murderers by the sages who see the truth, O great Brahmin.

[ahiṃsāpraśaṃsā — Praise of non-violence]

ahiṃsā paramaṃ dharmaṃ yas tyajet sa durātmavān | kleśāyāsavinirmuktaṃ sarvadharmaphalapradam || 3:24 ||

Non-violence is the highest Dharma. He who abandons it is a wicked person. It is free of pain and trouble, it yields the fruits of all [other] Dharmic teachings [in itself].

nātaḥ parataro mūrkho nātaḥ parataraṃ tamaḥ | nātaḥ parataraṃ duḥkhaṃ nātaḥ parataro 'yaśaḥ || 3:25 ||

There isn't a bigger fool than he [who abandons it]. There is no bigger mental darkness [than the abandonment of non-violence]. There is no greater suffering or greater infamy.

nātaḥ parataraṃ pāpaṃ nātaḥ parataraṃ viṣam | nātaḥ paratarāvidyā nātaḥ param tapodhana || 3:26 ||

There is no greater sin or a more effective poison. There is no greater ignorance, there is nothing worse, O great ascetic.

yo hinasti na bhūtāni udbhijjādi caturvidham | sa bhavet puruṣaḥ śreṣṭhaḥ sarvabhūtadayānvitaḥ || 3:27 ||

He who does not harm the four types of living beings beginning with plants is the best person, having compassion for all creatures.

sarvabhūtadayāṃ nityaṃ yaḥ karoti sa paṇḍitaḥ | sa yajvā sa tapasvī ca sa dātā sa dṛḍhavrataḥ || 3:28 ||

He who always has compassion for all creatures is the [true] Pandit. He is the [true] sacrificer, the [true] ascetic, he is the donor, the one with a firm vow.

ahiṃsā paramaṃ tīrtham ahiṃsā paramaṃ tapaḥ | ahiṃsā paramaṃ dānam ahiṃsā paramaṃ sukham || 3:29 ||

- 3.23 Pāda a is unmetrical. Note how elliptical this verse is and that hiṃsakāni is neuter although it refers to people, perhaps implying bhūtāni. Alternatively, take y in hiṃsakāny as a rather unusual sandhi-bridge (hiṃsakān-y-āhu), or simply delete this y. Note also that āhu stands for āhur metri causa.
- 3.24 Note dharma as a neuter noun in $p\bar{a}da$ a and that ${}^{\circ}vinirmuktam$ and ${}^{\circ}pradam$ are neuter accordingly.
- 3.25 Note that parataro is masculine in pāda d, picking up a neuter 'yaśaḥ. This phenomenon is probably the result of 'yaśaḥ resembling a masculine noun ending in -aḥ and also of the metrical problem with a grammatically correct nātaḥ parataram ayaśaḥ.
- 3.26 Pāda d (nātah param tapodhana) is slightly suspect. The vocative tapodhana usually refers to Anarthayajña in these passages, and not to Vigatarāga, as here. The text may have read nātah paratamo 'dhanaḥ ('There is no bigger loss of wealth') or possibly something starting with nātah param tapo ... ('There is no greater... of austerity').

Non-violence is the supreme pilgrimage place. Non-violence is the highest austerity. Non-violence is the highest donation. Non-violence is the highest joy.

ahiṃsā paramo yajñaḥ ahiṃsā paramaṃ vratam | ahiṃsā paramaṃ jñānam ahiṃsā paramā kriyā || 3:30 ||

Non-violence is the supreme sacrifice. Non-violence is the supreme religious observance. Non-violence is supreme knowledge. Non-violence is the supreme ritual.

ahiṃsā paramaṃ śaucam ahiṃsā paramo damaḥ | ahiṃsā paramo lābhaḥ ahiṃsā paramaṃ yaśaḥ || 3:31 ||

Non-violence is the highest purity. Non-violence is the highest self-restraint. Non-violence is the highest profit. Non-violence is the greatest fame.

ahiṃsā paramo dharmaḥ ahiṃsā paramā gatiḥ | ahiṃsā paramaṃ brahma ahiṃsā paramaḥ śivaḥ || 3:32 ||

Non-violence is the supreme Dharma. Non-violence is the supreme path. Non-violence is the supreme Brahman. Non-violence is supreme Śiva.

[māṃsāhāraḥ — On meet-consumption]

māṃsāśanān nivarteta manasāpi na kāṅkṣayet | sa mahat phalam āpnoti yas tu māṃsaṃ vivarjayet || 3:33 ||

One should refrain from meat-consumption. One should not even desire it mentally. He who abandons meat will receive a great reward.

He who wishes to nourish his own flesh with the flesh of other [beings], outside of worshipping the ancestors and the gods, is the biggest sinner of all.

madhuparke ca yajñe ca pitṛdaivatakarmaṇi | atraiva paśavo hiṃsyā nānyatra manur abravīt || 3:35 ||

During the madhuparka offering and during a sacrifice, during rituals for the ancestors and the gods: only in these cases are animals to be slaughtered and not in any other case. [This is what] Manu taught.

krītvā svayaṃ vāpy utpādya paropahṛtam eva vā | devān pitṛṃś cārcayitvā khādan māṃsaṃ na doṣabhāk || 3:36 ||

Should he buy it or procure it himself or should it be offered by others, if he eats meat, he will not sin if he first worships the gods and the ancestors.

[People who know] the Vedas and [perform] sacrifices and austerities and [visit] sacred places, donate, [are of] good conduct, [perform] rituals and [keep] religious vows [but eat meat] will not [be able to] enjoy even a tiny portion of [such rewards that] [those] people [receive] who have given up meat.

Note the variant °dharma ° in both C_{02} and E in $p\bar{a}da$ b.

^{3.37} See a similarly phrased comparison in Manu 2.86: ye pākayajñās catvāro vidhiyajňasamanvitāh | sarve te japayajňasya kalām nārhanti ṣoḍasīm ||.

^{3.39} Understand phalam āhārā as phalāhārā (-m- is a sandhi-bridge). This verse clearly refers to the story of the $R\bar{a}m\bar{a}yana$.

^{3.40} guṇākāśāt in pāda c is difficult to interpret and guṇākarṣāt is a conjecture by Judit Törzsök which fits the context well, although the polysemy of guṇa may allow for other solutions. Verses 3.40–42 may be echoing BrahmāṇḍaP 216.64–66: māṃsān miṣṭataraṃ nāsti bhakṣyabho-jyādikeṣu ca | tasmān māṃsaṃ na bhuñṣīta nāsti miṣṭaiḥ sukhodayaḥ || gosahasraṃ tu yo dadyād yas tu māṃsaṃ na bhakṣayet | samāv etau purā prāha brahmā vedavidāṃ varaḥ || sarvatīrtheṣu yat puṇyaṃ sarvayajñeṣu yat phalam | amāṃsabhakṣaṇe viprās tac ca tac ca ca tatsamam ||.

meritorious rewards that others would get by donating the three worlds filled with jewels and gems in their entirety to an excellent Brahmin, by [performing] a thousand [times] ten trillion (padma) [times] ten thousand (ayuta) koṭīyajña sacrifices, by donating the earth [to a priest] as sacrificial fee, and by bathing [at] a thousand times ten million times a million (niyuta) sacred places at once.

|| iti vṛṣasārasaṃgrahe ahiṃsāpraśaṃsā nāmādhyāyas tṛtīyaḥ || Here ends the third chapter in the Vṛṣasārasaṃgraha called the Praise of Non-violence.

 $3.42\,\mathrm{Metre}$: $5\bar{a}rd\bar{u}lavikr\bar{\iota}dita$. On padma meaning 'ten trillion', and on other words for numbers, see 1.32-35.

kotīyajña in pāda d may refer to a special kind of sacrifice, mostly known as koṭihoma in the Purāṇas and in inscriptions (see, e.g., Fleming 2010, and 2013) It probably involves a hundred fire-pits and a hundred times one thousand Brahmins (hence the name 'the ten-million sacrifice'). See, e.g., BhavP uttaraparvan 4.142.54–58: śatānano daśamukho dvimukhaikamukhas tathā | caturvidho mahārāja koṭihomo vidhīyate || kāryasya gurutām jñātvā naiva kuryād aparvaṇi | yathā saṃkṣcpataḥ kāryaḥ koṭihomas tathā śṛṇu || kṛtvā kuṇḍaśataṃ divyam yathoktam hastasaṃmitam | ekaikasmiṃs tataḥ kuṇḍe śataṃ viprān niyojayet || sadyaḥ pakṣe tu viprāṇām sahasraṃ parikīrtitam | ekasthānapraṇīte ʾgṇau sarvataḥ paribhāvite || homaṃ kuryur dvijāḥ sarve kuṇḍe kuṇḍe yathoditam | yathā kuṇḍabahutve ʾpi rājasūye mahākratau ||

Note that the second syllable of phalam in $p\bar{a}da$ d is treated as long: this happens often at word-boundaries in this text; and note how K_7 aims to restore the metre by inserting tv after its phalam.

Anarthayajña spoke: The state of being real (sad-bhāva) is called truth (sat-ya). Alternatively, it is also a certainty (pratyaya) that originates in perception (dṛṣṭa). Relating things in a way that corresponds to reality is called 'speaking the truth.'

A lie does not hurt when it is connected with joking, with women, O king, at the time of marriage, at the departure from life and when one's entire wealth is about to be taken away. They call these five kinds of lies truths.

- 4.1 Although the rather similar line in the ŚDhŚ (11.105cd: yathābhūtārthakathanam ity etat satyalakṣaṇam) makes it tempting to emend satyakathanam to satyalakṣaṇam in pāda d, I rather take this verse to introduce two views on truth: one philosophical, and one ordinary that relates to the moral question of truthfulness.
- 4.2 suduḥsaham (singular) in pāda b picks up °ādīni (plural) in pāda a. The -m in satyam may be a sandhi-bridge and the phrase may refer to a masculine subject thus: sa ca satya-m-udāhṛtaḥ.
 - 4.3 Understand udyatal (nom.) in an active sense ('holding/lifting').
- 4.5 This upajāti verse appears in countless sources, beginning with the MBh (see the apparatus). All versions contain a vocative addressing a king, which is out of context in the VSS, the tiṣṭhanti sāgarāḥ satye samayena priyavrataḥ | satye tiṣṭhati govindo balibandhanakāraṇāt || 4:12 ||

The oceans exist by the truthful encounter with Priyavrata. Govinda abides in truth because He [as Vāmana] stopped [Mahā] Bali [in spite of the fact that addressee being Vigatarāga, i.e. Viṣṇu diguised as a Brahmin. The redactors did not notice or did not care about this small inconsistency. Note the metrical licence that allows the last syllable of "yuktam" to count as long. The same reading with anṛtaṃ can be found in the apparatus in the MBh critical edition.

4.7 Pāda d is slightly problematic because it is difficult to ascertain if some of the MSS actually read panthāna or pasthāna (or yasthāna). I suspect that panthāna is a stem form noun formed (metri causa) to stand for an irregular nominative of pathin.

4.8 The repetition of tīrtham in pāda c is sightly suspect. Cf., e.g., MatsP 22.79ab: satyam tīrtham dayā tīrtham tīrtham indriyanigrahah.

4.9 Looking at the similar line in the VarP (193.36cd, see the apparatus), one wonders if the slightly odd $\bar{u}rdhvasya$ in $p\bar{a}da$ c is not a corrupt form of svargasya.

4.11 Here and several times below, satye is probably to be taken as standing for satyena.

this was achieved by a trick].

lokālokaḥ sthitaḥ satye meruḥ satye pratiṣṭhitaḥ | vedās tiṣṭhanti satyeṣu dharmaḥ satye pratiṣṭhati || 4:14 ||

4.12 Pāda b, samayena priyavrataḥ, probably stand for samayena priyavratasya although it is unclear to me what exactly samaya refers to here.

For the story of Priyavrata, Manu's son, in which he wanted to turn nights into days by circling aroung Mount Meru in a chariot, and by this produced the seven oceans, see, e.g., BhāgP 5.1.30–31: yāvad avabhāsayati suragirim anuparikrāman bhagavān ādityo vasudhātalam ardhenaiva pratapaty ardhenāvacchādayati, tadā hi [priyavratah] bhagavadupāsanopacitātipuruṣaprabhāvas tad anabhinandan samajavena rathena jyotirmayena rajanīm api dinam kariṣyāmīti saptakṛtvas taraṇim anuparyakrāmad dvitīya iva pataṅgah | ye vā u ha tadrathacaraṇanemikṛtaparikhātās te sapta sindhava āsan yata eva kṛtāḥ sapta bhuvo dvīpāḥ |.

Pādas cd: for a somewhat similar reference to the story of Mahābali, see, e.g., VarP 65.66: evam purā cakradhareṇa viṣṇunā baddho balir vāmanarūpadhāriṇā | śakrapriyārthaṃ surakāryasiddhaye hitāya viprarṣabhagodvijānām ||

4.13 Since śaśi (instead of śaśin) is a possible stem in this text, śaśir ācaraḥ could be acceptable here in $p\bar{a}da$ b (see $K_{82}K_{10}K_7$), perhaps standing for śaśinaś caraṇam or śaśiś carati. My conjecture (śaśinā caraḥ) could stand for śaśinā/śaśinaś cāraḥ metri causa. Other possibilities, suggested by colleagues, include śaśibhāskaraḥ, śaśigocaraḥ and śiśirāmbhasaḥ.

Pādas cd refer to the story of Agastya and the Vindhya mountain: Vindhya became jealous of the Sun's revolving around Mount Meru and when the Sun refused him the same favour, he decided to grow higher and obstruct the Sun's movement. As a solution to this situation, Agastya asked Vidhya to bend down to make it easier for him to reach the south and to remain thus until he retured. Vindhya agreed to do what Agastya asked him but Agastya never returned. See MBh 3.102.1-14 (see in the word samaya in verse 13 and compare it to VSS 4.12b): yudhisthira uvāca | kimartham sahasā vindhyaḥ pravṛddhaḥ krodhamūrchitaḥ | etad icchāmy ahaṃ śrotuṃ vistareṇa mahāmune || lomaśa uvāca | adrirājaṃ mahāśailaṃ meruṃ kanakaparvatam | udayāstamaye bhānuḥ pradakṣiṇam avartata || taṃ tu dṛṣṭvā tathā vindhyaḥ śailaḥ sūryam athābravīt | yathā hi merur bhavatā nityaśaḥ parigamyate || pradakṣiṇaṃ ca kriyate mām evaṃ kuru bhāskara evam uktas tatah sūryah śailendram pratyabhāṣata || nāham ātmecchayā śaila karomy enam pradakṣiṇam | eṣa mārgaḥ pradiṣṭo me yenedaṃ nirmitaṃ jagat || evam uktas tataḥ krodhāt pravṛddhah sahasācalah | sūryācandramasor mārgam roddhum icchan paramtapa || tato devāh sahitāh sarva eva; sendrāḥ samāgamya mahādrirājam | nivārayām āsur upāyatas tam; na ca sma tesām vacanam cakāra || athābhijagmur munim āśramastham; tapasvinam dharmabhṛtām variṣtham | agastyam atyadbhutavīryadīptaṃ; taṃ cārtham ūcuḥ sahitāḥ surās te || devā ūcuḥ | sūryācandramasor mārgam nakṣatrāṇām gatim tathā | śailarājo vṛṇoty eṣa vindhyaḥ krodhavaśānugaḥ || taṃ nivārayitum śakto nānyaḥ kaś cid dvijottama | ṛte tvāṃ hi mahābhāga tasmād enaṃ nivāraya || lomaśa uvāca | tac chrutvā vacanam vipraḥ surāṇāṃ śailam abhyagāt | so 'bhigamyābravīd vindhyaṃ sadāraḥ samupasthitaḥ || mārgam icchāmy aham dattam bhavatā parvatottama | dakṣiṇām abhigantāsmi diśaṃ kāryeṇa kena cit || yāvadāgamanaṃ mahyaṃ tāvat tvaṃ pratipālaya | nivṛtte mayi sailendra tato vardhasva kāmataḥ || evaṃ sa samayaṃ kṛtvā vindhyenāmitrakarsana | adyāpi dakṣiṇād deśād vāruṇir na nivartate || etat te sarvam ākhyātaṃ yathā vindhyo na vardhate | agastyasya prabhāvena yan mām tvam paripṛcchasi ||.

Anarthayajña spoke: Now listen to [my teaching about] stealing, O great Brahmin, which is taught to be of five kinds. Firstly, [listen to] theft, then bribery, cheating with weights, cheating with scales, and the fifth kind, robbery.

- 4.15 satye in pāda c may stand for satyam: 'The soul dwells in the body as truth.'
- 4.16 Or: 'If truth alone (ekena) is obtained, Dharma is surely accomplished.'
- 4.18 It is not inconceivable that tava is meant to carry the sense of the ablative, as Kenji Takahashi has suggested to me: 'I can't have enough of learning about Dharma from you.'
 - 4.19 'Theft' (adattādāna): literally 'taking what has not been given.'
 - 4.20 My impression is that prabhāva in pāda a stands for bhāva, duṣṭabhāva ('vicious') be-

O great Brahmin, listen to bribery, which defiles Dharma. A sum of money taken in order to exempt somebody from a duty is a bribe. Therefore this [also] should be considered as such [i.e. as stealing because] it is committed out of greed for material goods.

prasthavyāja-upāyena kuṭumbaṃ trātum icchati |

[The case is similar] if somebody takes away somebody else's belongings by the method of cheating with scales. Other people, deceitful swindlers $(k\bar{u}ta-k\bar{a}patika)$ share the characteristics of thieves.

durbalārjavabāleṣu cchadmanā vā balena vā |

There is no sin equal to stealing. There is no crime (adharma) equal to it. There is no ill-fame comparable to that of being a thief. There is no bad-conduct comparable to being a thief.

There is no greater ignorance than stealing. There are no bigger rouges than ing a common expression. The implications of $v\bar{a}ryam\bar{a}n\bar{o}$ in $p\bar{a}da$ c are unclear to me, hence my emendation to $v\bar{a}ryam\bar{a}n\bar{a}$. My translation is thus tentative and still not satisfactory.

^{4.21} Note that mūlyam in pāda c is a conjecture for mūla. It is partly based on a relevant passage in the Mitākṣara (ad Yājñavalkyasmṛti 2.176cd): paṇyasya krītadravyasya yan mūlyam dattam, bbṛtir vetanam kṛtakarmaṇe dattam... utkocena kāryapratibandhanirāsārtham adhikṛtebbyo dattam... Note asau in pāda e as an accusative form (for amum or adaḥ). It is not unlikely that tena is a corruption from stena, and the pāda may have originally read stenam taṃ ca vijānīyād ('he should be known as a thief'), or similar (cf. 4.22c below). M (f. 7r) reads tena steya vijānīyād here

^{4.23} A line may have dropped out after pāda b, perhaps because a line similar to 4.22cd caused an eyeskip. Alternatively, this line may simply be elliptical.

^{4.24} It is possible that pāda d read differently, e.g. sa coraś cora ucyate, meaning 'that thief is [rightly] called a thief'.

Some [thieves] take away [other people's] wealth in disguise, some in broad daylight. Other wicked people take money from deposits, and some people steal through fraud. Some gather wealth by forging documents, others steal from stolen money[?]. Some people's wealth is from purchased [children?] (krīta). Others take away others' inheritance[?]. These are considered the vilest.

There isn't a bigger idiots than a thief, who is a wicked person without Dharma and Artha. As long as he lives, he trembles in fear of the king, wailing. Having received his punishment, he gets into severe and [in]tolerable difficulties, propelled by [his] karma. When his time comes, he dies and goes to hell, weeping vehemently.

4.26 Note the peculiar sandhi in pāda c ('sama ajño), which still leaves the pāda unmetrical. 4.27 Note how stena and steya are used interchangeably (or chaotically) in the above passages in the MSS to denote both 'thief' and 'theft/stealing'. The scribe of K₇ ends up writing stenya in 4.27e.

4.28 Metre śārdūlavikrīdita. It appears that hriyate in pāda a is to be taken as an active verb (harate). Note also how C_{45} and K_7 read the same here against the other witnesses. Take "hariņo in pāda b as singular and m in 'nya-m-adhamo as a sandhi-bridge. Alternatively, read as plural: "hariņo 'nya adhamo... The second half of pāda c is difficult to reconstruct. The translation of pāda d is mostly guesswork. Tentatively, I take krīta as krītaka ('a purchased son', see Manu 9.174). dhayahṛta makes little sense to me. Florinda De Simini suggested that dhaya might stand for daya, which in turn may stand for dāya ('inheritance') metri causa. Lacking any better solution, I supplied these in my translation, marked with question marks. Note also the metrical licence that the last syllable of dhayahṛta counts as long.

4.29 For some time I was wondering if one should accept E's reading stenastulya na mūdham asti as a metri causa version of stenatulyo na mūdho 'sti; see a similar case of a nominative ending inside of compound in pāda c below. One major concern remained: the accepted reading would be of an edition that rarely emerges as the sole transmitter of the best reading. Another possible solution could be to emend to stenaṃtulya..., meaning 'There is no bigger foolishness than theft', but then the second part of pāda a is difficult to connect. In the end, I decided to to go for the most widely attested reading (stenatulya), which is unmetrical.

Understand prāptahśāsana tīvrasahyaviṣamaṃ in pāda c as prāptaśāsanas tīvram asahyaṃ ca viṣamaṃ prāpnoti. Alternatively, understand tīvrasahya° as duḥsahya° (suggested by Törzsök).

The actual reading of C_{94} , $pr\bar{a}ptas'$ (lost in the process of normalization and standing in contrast with that of all other MSS that read $pr\bar{a}ptah$) may suggest a doubling of the s' of $s\bar{a}sana$ metricausa (suggestion by Törzsök). More likely is that a licence of having a nominative ending inside of a compound is applied here, as may have been the case above in $p\bar{a}da$ a (also remarked by Törzsök).

4.30 Note the stem form "kalpa for "kalpam metri causa. In pāda c, tathaivam, or tathaikam, and ekaśatikam are suspect. I understand vipule as vipulāyām, vipulā appearing in Amarakośa 2.1.7 as a synonym of dhātrī, 'earth' because it is difficult to interpret it otherwise. This is still problematic because both human and animal existence takes place on earth, thus, if tiryatva (i.e. tiryaktva) indeed means 'animal existence,' there is no contrast between pādas b and c as regards location. As for tiryaktva, see, e.g., Manu 12.40: devatvam sāttvikā yānti manusyatvam ca rājasāh | tiryaktvam tāmasā nityam ity eṣā trividhā gatiḥ || It is not unlikely that the original form of dāridryarogākulam was dāridryarogākule, picking up vipule. Note the switch from plural to singular in pāda d.

4.31 Note pitur and mātur used as accusative forms in pāda b, or alternatively understand: 'who are hateful towards their fathers and mothers'.

4.32 Törzsök has suggested emending sa nṛṣʿaṃṣakaḥ in pāda d to tannṛṃśakaḥ. I don't think that it is inevitably necessary. I think that pādas a-c form a list that is meant to be in the genitive, understanding ... ity eteṣāṃ dūṣakaḥ sa nṛṣʿaṃṣakaḥ or similar. This is clumsy but in a way that is more than possible within the style of this text.

I have not been able find any attestation of vyoman meaning the five elements. Perhaps it is meant to mean vyomādi ('the atmosphere/sky and the other four elements').

For Śiva of eight forms, see, e.g., Śakuntalā 1.1: yā sṛṣṭiḥ sraṣṭur ādyā [1] vahati vidhihutam yā havir [2] yā ca hotrī [3] ye dve kālam vidhattaḥ [4,5] śruti-viṣaya-guṇā yā [6] sthitā vyāpya viśvam | yām āhuḥ sarva-bīja-prakṛtir [7] iti yayā prāṇinaḥ prāṇavantaḥ [8] pratyakṣābhiḥ prapannas tanubhir avatu vas tābhir aṣṭābhir īśaḥ ||. The eight mūrtis, or rather, tanus, here are: [1] jala [2] agni [3] yajamāna [4,5] sūrya + candra [6] ākāśa [7] bhūmi [8] vāyu.

For a similar interpretation of aṣṭamūrti, see, e.g., Īsānaśivagurudevapaddhati 2.29.34 (mantrapāda; note yajamāna for our dīkṣa): kṣmā-vahni-yajamānārka-jala-vāyv-indu-puṣkaraiḥ | aṣṭābhir mūrtibhih sambhor dvitīyāvaraṇaṃ smṛtam || (For puṣkara as 'sky, atmosphere', see, e.g., Amarakośa 1.2.167: dyodivau dve striyām abhraṃ vyoma puṣkaram ambaram.)

A closely related Aṣṭamūrti-hymn appears in Niśvāsa mukha 1.30–41 (I owe thanks to Nirajan Kafle for drawing my attention to this); see Kafle 2019, 62, 63, 116, 119. Kafle notes that this hymn is closely parallel to some passages in the Prayogamañjarī (1.19–26), the Tantrasamuccaya (1.16–23), and the Īśānaśivagurudevapaddhati (kriyāpāda 26.56–63). See also TAK I s.v. aṣṭamūrti.

4.33 It is difficult to restore pādas cd, although the general meaning of this line is predictable. Some questions remain. Is āditya a good reading or is mātṛ hidden in daivata-mādiśca? Is ānṛśaṃsa right or was it nṛśaṃsa that was meant by the author of this line? Does tamanvitaḥ (or tamānvitaḥ) has anything to do with tamas ('darkness')?

4.36 The use of karsaṇa in pāda d, most probably in the sense of 'collecting,' is slightly odd.

āsanenārghapātreņa pādaśaucajalena ca |

- 4.37 The five Pavitras are most probably the five brahmamantras, see, e.g., TAK III s.v. pavitra 1.
- 4.38 Note that duhyanti and vāhyanti are supposed to be understood as passive, as in the similar verse in ŚDhU 12.92 (see apparatus).
- 4.39 Strictly speaking, $p\bar{a}da$ c is unmetrical. The second syllable of tapa counts as long (see Intro CHECK). Although the accusative with " $kart\bar{a}$ in $p\bar{a}da$ d is still not optimal, my emendation of tam to $t\bar{a}m$ at least restores the metre and improves upon the meaning of the sentece. Alternatively, as suggested by Törzsök, tam could be understood as tad, picking up punyam in $p\bar{a}da$ c, but in this way any reference to cows here is only implied.
- 4.40 Note the peculiar active verb forms anugaccheta and anupūjyeta. On this formation, see a remark about Niśvāsa mūla 2.8 in Goodall, Sanderson, & Isaacson 2015, 247: 'We have assumed that pūjyeta is intended to mean pūjayet and is perhaps a contraction of pūjayeta.'
 - 4.41 On the form pīdyeta, see previous note.

- 4.42 My conjecture in pāda a (°pātreṇa for °pādyena) was inspired by the fact that pāda b seems to awkwardly repeat what °pādyena in pāda a signifies. Other possibilities could include taking into account bathing (snāna) or an unguent (abhyaṅga).
- 4.43 For the requirement that one could part with his wife or son, or his own life, for the benefit of someone else, see VSS 2.38 and the narrative in VSS chapter 12 which tells about a Brahmin giving away his own wife to a guest; these influenced my decision to emend "ātmano to "ātmanā in pāda a. Note that in fact VSS 4.44cd below echoes verse 37cd in the above mentioned chapter 12: dvijarūpadharo dharmaḥ svayam eva ihāgataḥ.
- 4.46 The demonstrative pronoun tasya in pāda c may refer to the guest: 'he will obtain all his [i.e. the guest's] merits,' hinting at some sort of karmic exchange. Nevertheless, I think rather that tasya points to the merits one can obtain by the rituals listed in the previous verse. This is suggested by passages such as the following: MBh Supp. 13.14.379 ff.: ahany ahani yo dadyāt kapilām dvādašīh samāḥi | māsi māsi ca satreṇa yo yajeta sadā naraḥ || gavāṃ śatasahasram ca yo dadyāj jyeṣṭhapuṣkare | na taddharmaphalam tulyam atithir yasya tuṣyati || BrahmaVP 3.44–46: atithiḥ pūjito yena pūjitāḥ sarvadevatāḥ | atithir yasya saṃtuṣṭas tasya tuṣṭo hariḥ svayam || snānena sarvatīrtheṣu sarvadānena yat phalam | sarvavratopavāsena sarvayajūeṣu dīkṣayā || sarvais tapobhir vividhair nityair naimittikādibhiḥ | tad evātithisevāyāḥ kalāṃ nārhanti ṣoḍaśīm ||.
 - 4.47 Something has gone wrong with pādas ab and I am unable to reconstruct the meaning.

[yameṣu damaḥ (5) — The fifth yama-rule: Self-restraint]

dama eva manusyāṇāṃ dharmasārasamuccayaḥ | damo dharmo damaḥ svargo damaḥ kīrtir damaḥ sukham || 4:50 ||

Self-restraint is in itself the collected essence of Dharma for humans. Self-restraint is Dharma, self-restraint is heaven, self-restraint is fame, self-restraint is happiness.

damo yajño damas tīrthaṃ damah puṇyaṃ damas tapah | damahīna-m-adharmas ca damah kāmakulapradah || 4:51 ||

Self-restraint is sacrifice, self-restraint is a pilgrimage-place, self-restraint is merit, self-restraint is religious austerity. If one has no self-restraint, one is a sinner (adharma), [while] self-restraint yields a multitude of desired objects.

The line may have begun with something like nāgatātithyavajňa° ('he who despise a guest that has arrived will not...').

4.48 This verse is a reference to the story related by a mongoose in MBh 14.92-93: A Brahmin who practises the vow of gleaning ($u\bar{n}cha$) and his family receive a guest. They feed the guest with the last morsels of the little food they have. In the end, the guest reveals that he is in fact Dharma (14.93.80cd) and as a reward the family departs to heaven. The noble act of the poor Brahmin and his family is depicted as yielding greater rewards than Yudhisthira's grandiose horse-sacrifice. (See some remarks on this story in Takahashi 2021.)

We would be forced to accept the reading of E in pāda d (saśarīro) if the expression were in the masculine (divam gataḥ). This would make sense and it would also echo expressions occuring, e.g., in the MBh: 3.164.33cd: paśya punyakṛtām lokān saśarīro divam vraja; 14.5.10cd: samjīvya kālam iṣṭam ca saśarīro divam gataḥ. It is tempting to emend accordingly, but instead I have retained svaśarīram divam gatam, and I interpret it in a general way.

4.51 I suspect that the final m in $dhamah\bar{\imath}nam$ in $p\bar{\imath}da$ c is a hiatus filler: $dhamah\bar{\imath}na-m$ -adharmas ca. $k\bar{\imath}am$ -akulapradah in $p\bar{\imath}ada$ d is suspect, and my translation is unsatisfactory. This compound could be interpreted as 'fullfilling desires and giving a family' or it may have originally read $sarvak\bar{\imath}am$ -apradah ('fullfilling all desires') or sam-kulak $\bar{\imath}am$ -apradah ('fullfilling the desires of the family'). sam-bh 4.28b reads $sarvak\bar{\imath}am$ -asukhapradam, which opens up further possibilities.

self-restraint. The senses are the skin, the tongue, the nose, the eye and the ear.

Each of these sense faculties are hard to conquer and all are known to be fatal [if unconquered]. If one masters self-restraint in a less than proper way, one remains unrestrained and will die .

In the case of the deer, death comes about because of hearing [when, e.g., hunters use buck grunts]. Moths die because of their eyes [as they are attracted to the light of a lamp]. Bees perish because of their smelling [as they are attracted to smells], fish because of their tongues [when fishermen feed them].

- 4.52 Note kari for $kar\bar{\imath}$ metri causa, and the end of $p\bar{a}da$ b (${}^{\circ}mrg\bar{a}h$), which should be treated metrically as if it read ${}^{\circ}mrig\bar{a}h$.
- 4.53 The only way to make sense of pādas cd is to supply and avagraha before samyag. Otherwise some text may have dropped out here.
 - 4.54 My comments in square brackets in the translation are tentative.
- 4.55 Mātangalīlā 11.1 may shed some light on elephants dying in captivity: vānyas tatra sukhoṣitā vidhivasād grāmāvatīrnā gajā baddhās tīkṣṇakaṭūgravāgbhir atisugbhīmohabandhādibhih | udvignās ca manahsarīrajanitair duḥkhair atīvākṣamāḥ prāṇān dhārayitum ciram naravasam prāptāḥ svayūthād atha ||. In Edgerton's translation (1931, 92): 'Forest elephants who dwell there happily and by the power of fate have been brought to town in bonds, afflicted by harsh, bitter, cruel words, by excessive grief, fear, bewilderment, bondage, etc., and by sufferings of mind and body, are quite unable for long to sustain life, when from their own herds they have come into the control of men.'
- 4.56 We may treat purūravo in pāda a as a stem form noun or thematised stem, or imagine that the original reading was purūravā° with double sandhi: purūravās att° \rightarrow purūravā att°.

Pāda a may refer to the following passage in the MBh (1.70.16–18, 20ab): purūravās tato vidvān ilāyām samapadyata | sā vai tasyābhavan mātā pitā ceti hi naḥ śrutam || trayodaśa samudrasya dvīpān aśnan purūravāḥ | amānuṣair vṛtaḥ sattvair mānuṣaḥ san mahāyaśāḥ || vipraiḥ sa vigraham cakre vīryonmattaḥ purūravāḥ | jahāra ca sa viprāṇām ratnāny utkrośatām api || [...] tato maharṣibhiḥ kruddhaiḥ śaptaḥ sadyo vyanaśyata | ("The wise Purūravas was born to Ilā. Intoxicated with his power, Purūravas quarrelled with some Brahmins and robbed them of their wealth even though they were protesting. [...] Therefore, cursed by the great Rṣis, he perished.") See also BuddhCar 11.15 (Aiḍa = Purūravas): aiḍaś ca rājā tridivaṃ vigāhya nītvāpi devīṃ vaśam urvašīṃ tām lobhād ṛṣibhyaḥ kanakaṃ jihīrṣur jagāma nāśaṃ viṣayeṣv atṛptaḥ ||

For Daṇḍa(ka)'s story, see *Rāmāyaṇa 7.7*1.31 ff.: Daṇḍa meets Arajā, a beautiful girl, in a forest and rapes her. As a consequence, her father, Śukra/Bhārgava, destroyes Daṇḍa's kingdom, which thus becomes the desolate Daṇḍaka-forest.

For two versions of the destruction of Sagara's sons, who were chasing the sacrificial horse of their father's Aśvamedha sacrifice, and by doing so disturbed Kapila's meditation, and who in turn burnt them to ashes, see MBh 3.105.9 ff. and BrahmāṇḍaP 2.52–53.

As for Rāvaṇa's haughtiness, especially the fact that he chose to be invincible by all creatures except humans, and its consequences, one should recall the story of the Rāmāyaṇa and Rāvaṇa's destruction brought about by Rāma therein.

4.57 Saudāsa, also known as Kalmāṣapāda, hit Śakti, Vasiṣṭha's son, with a whip because the latter did not give way to him, and as a consequence Śakti cursed Saudāsa: Saudāsa had to roam the world as a Rākṣasa for twelve years. See MBh 1.166.1 ff.

As for the end of the Yādavas, see the short Mausalaparvan of the MBh (canto 16): cursed by the sages Viśvāmitra, Kaṇva and Nārada, and seeing menacing omens, the Yādavas take to drinking in Prabhāsa and destroy each other. The form $m\bar{a}ndh\bar{a}to$ in C_{45} stands for $m\bar{a}ndh\bar{a}t\bar{a}$ (nominative of $m\bar{a}ndh\bar{a}tr$). I have corrected it in spite of the fact that the authors' knowledge about his story may come from Divyāv 17, where it sometimes appears to be an a-stem noun ($m\bar{a}nd\bar{a}ta$). $dvijavaj\bar{n}ay\bar{a}$ in $p\bar{a}da$ d stands for $dvij\bar{a}vaj\bar{n}ay\bar{a}$ metri causa.

Māndhātr was born from his father's body who, being excessively thirsty once, had drank some decoction prepared for ritual purposes and as a result become pregnant with him. Nevertheless, BuddhCar 11.13 suggests that Māndhātr himself was still unsatisfied with wordly objects even after he had obtained half of Indra's throne: devena vrṣte 'pi hiraṇyavarṣe dvīpān samagrāṃś caturo 'pi jitvā| śakrasya cārdhāsanam apy avāpya māndhātur āsīd viṣayeṣv atṛptiḥ||. In fact, as Monika Zin points out (Zin 2021, 149), Māndhātr/Māndhāta's rise and fall is a very popular theme in the 'Narrative Art of the Amaravati School': 'Statistics show that in the Amaravati School the most frequently represented narrative is the story of King Māndhātar, which appears 47 times.'

Nahuṣa was elevated to the position of Indra for a period of time and he also wanted to take Śacī, Indra's wife. Indra instructed Śacī to tell Nahuṣa to harness some Ḥsis to a vehicle and use this vehicle to take Śacī. Agastya, one of the Ḥṣis, was insulted even further by Nahuṣa, therefore he cursed Nahuṣa, who then fell from the vehicle. See MBh 12.329.35 ff. and a verse in the BuddhCar (11.14) that follows the one about Māndhātṛ: bhuktvāpi rājyam divi devatānām śatakratau vṛtrabhayāt pranaṣṭe darpān maharṣīn api vāhayitvā kāmeṣv atṛpto nahuṣaḥ papāta||.

4.58 Pāda a is most probably a reference to Mahābali's promises made to Vāmana that caused his own fall. The ultimate cause of Arjuna' death while the Pāṇdavas were on the way to the underworld was summarised by Yudhisthira thus (MBh 17.2.21ab): ekāhnā nirdaheyam vai śatrūn ity arjuno 'bravīt | na ca tat kṛtavān eṣa śūramānī tato 'patat ||. ('Arjuna claimed that he could destroy

A person without taboos does not exists either in this or the other world. In a person without taboos there is no Dharma or religious austerity.

the enemy in one single day. He failed to do so. He was a boaster, that is why he fell.')

King Nala was an expert in the game of dice but once he lost his kingdom to Puskara. See, e.g., MBh 3.56.1 ff.

As for Nṛga, see MBh 14.93.74: gopradānasahasrāṇi dvijebhyo 'dān nṛgo nṛpaḥ | ekāṃ dattvā sa pārakyāṃ narakaṃ samavāptavān ||. ("King Nṛga had made gifts of thousands of cows for the twice-born. By giving away one single cow that belonged to someone else, he fell into hell.")

4.59 Note how flexible the gender of most nouns is in $p\bar{a}da$ b: svarga, moksa and dama are usually masculine in standard Sanskrit. The majority of the witnesses suggest that $p\bar{a}da$ c ends in a stem form noun (${}^{\circ}n\bar{a}\dot{s}a$). This $p\bar{a}da$ is unmetrical, or rather it applies the licence of a word-final short syllable being counted as potentially long (${}^{\circ}dharMA$ ${}^{\circ}$). Note how $vipr\bar{a}$ in $p\bar{a}da$ d is probably an attempt in some MSS to restore the metre. This $p\bar{a}da$ is also unmetrical, or rather the licence of a word-final short syllable being counted as potentially long is again applied (viPRA).

4.60 The implications of pādas ab are not crystal clear to me. Perhaps: such a person has no right for existence in society and has no place in heaven.

4.62 The translation of parayoni in pāda d is tentative.

4.63 Although 'nya in pāda a could be interpreted several ways (e.g. anye for anyasmin, or taken to be the first element of a compound: anya-anyāyārtha-), I think that bhūyo 'nyat is a fixed expression meaning 'something/anything more.' See, e.g., BhG 7.2cd: yaj jñātvā neha bhūyo 'nyaj jñātavyam avaśisyate.

4.64 In pāda d, I take caraṇācarāḥ as standing for carācarāḥ (cara-acarāḥ) metri causa. Alternatively, one may understand it as caraṇacarāḥ (metri causa), meaning 'those who move on their feet,' perhaps as opposed to snakes (bilaga or bilaṇga). Neither solution is fully satisfactory. Note that this pāda also involves a small correction.

4.65 Note mātā as a stem form in pāda d.

4.66 One should probably understand śauṇḍe in pāda c as śauṇḍike, 'a distiller,' or, alternatively, it may be corrupted from ṣaṇḍhe, 'a eunuch'; see both in Vāsiṣṭhadharmaśāstra 14.1—3: athāto bhojyābhojyam ca varṇayiṣyāmaḥ | cikitsaka-mṛgayu-puṃścalī-ḍaṇḍika-stenābhiśastarṣaṇḍha-patitānām annam abhojyam | kadarya-dīkṣita-baddhātura-somavikrayi-takṣa-rajaka-śauṇḍika-sūcaka-vārdhuṣika-carmāvakṛntānām || etc. Translated in Olivelle 1999, 285 as: 'Next we will describe food that is fit and food that is unfit to be eaten [...] The following are unfit to be eaten: food given by a physician, a hunter, a harlot, a law enforcement agent, a thief, a heinous sinner [...] a eunuch, or an outcaste; as also that given by a miser, a man consecrated for a sacrifice, a prisoner, a sick person, a man who sells Soma, a carpenter, a washerman, a liquor dealer, a spy, an usurer, a leather worker...' In support of reading ṣaṇḍhe, one might consult Manu 3.239: cāṇḍālaś ca varāhaś ca kukkuṭaḥ śvā tathaiva ca | rajasvalā ca ṣaṇḍhaś ca nekṣerann aśnato dvijān ||. Translated in Olivelle 1999, 120 as: 'A Cāṇḍāla, a pig, a cock, a dog, a menstruating woman, or a eunuch must not look at the Brahmins while they are eating.'

Those people who stick to the five kinds of taboo [and thus] seek heaven, wealth and liberation, will reach eternal faultlessness in this world, embellished with fame and glory. [A person like that] will obtain wisdom, intelligence, [knowledge of] the Śruti and Smṛti traditions, and honour forever. Kindness will arise and he will obtain an extra long life, no doubt.

[yameşu pañcavidho dhanyaḥ (7) — The seventh yama-rule: The five methods of virtue?]

caturmaunaṃ catuḥśatruś caturāyatanaṃ tathā | caturdhyānaṃ catuṣpādaṃ pañcadhanyavidhocyate || 4:68 ||

The four cases of observing silence, [victory over] the four enemies, the four sanctuariess, the four meditations, and the four legged [Dharma] are called the five ways of being virtuous.

caturmaunasya vakṣyāmi śṛṇuṣvāvahito bhava | pāruṣyapiśunāmithyāsambhinnāni ca varjayet || 4:69 ||

I shall tell you about the four cases of observing silence. Listen, be attentive. One should avoid violent and slanderous [words], lies, and idle [talk].

kāmaḥ krodhaś ca lobhaś ca mohaś caiva caturvidhaḥ | catuḥśatrur nihantavyaḥ so 'rihā vītakalmaṣaḥ || 4:70 ||

The fourfold enemy [made up of] desire, anger, greed and delusion is to be destroyed. He who destroys [these] enemies will become sinless.

caturāyatanaṃ vipra kathayiṣyāmi tac chṛṇu | karuṇā muditopekṣā maitrī cāyatanaṃ smṛtam || 4:71 ||

I shall teach you the four sanctuaries. Listen, O Brahmin. Compassion, sympathy in joy, indifference, and benevolence are the four sanctuaries.

4.67 Understand kīrtir yaśo° as kīrtiyaśo° ('r' being an intrusive consonant here metri causa). Alternatively, as suggested by Francesco Sferra, emend to kīrtiṃ yaśoʻlaṃkṛtām. In pāda c, note the muta cum liquida licence that allows °bodhaśrutiṃ° to scan as - , , , the consonant cluster śr not turning the previous syllable long. Pāda d has several problems. I take sabhavet as standing for sambhavet metri causa, and I had to emend samāyuṣa to sa āyuṣa to make sense of it. Understand āyuṣa as āyuḥ (metri causa), otherwise emend to sa mānuṣya. Also consider correcting niḥsaṃśayaḥ to niḥsaṃśayam.

4.68 Understand pāda d as pañcavidho dhanya ucyate.

4.69 Note the genitive with a verb meaning 'to tell' in pāda a, similarly to 1.38a and CHECK. Similar teachings on mauna in DharmP 1.31cd–32ab and Divyāv 186.21 are quoted in the apparatus.

4.70 Possible direct sources for the idea that kāma is an enemy to be defeated or avoided include BuddhCar 11.17: cīrāmbarā mūlaphalāmbubhakṣā jaṭā vahanto 'pi bhujaṃgadīrghāḥ | yair nānyakāryā munayo 'pi bhagnāḥ kaḥ kāmasaṃjñān mṛgayeta śatrūn ||; see also BhG 3.43: evam buddheḥ param buddhvā saṃstabhyātmānam ātmanā | jahi śatruṃ mahābāho kāmarūpam durāsadam ||. As for arihā in pāda d, the notion that a saint is a 'destroyer of the enemies' [that are evil states of mind] (arihanta/arahanta) in Jainism, but less so in Buddhism, is discussed in Gombrich 2013, 57–58.

4.71 This verse teaches the four Buddhist brahmavihāras under the label caturāyatana. Ther-caturdhyānādhunā vakṣye saṃsārārṇavatāraṇam |

ātmavidyābhavaḥ sūkṣmaṃ dhyānam uktaṃ caturvidham || 4:72 ||

I shall now teach you the four meditations, which will liberate you from transmigration. Meditation is taught to be fourfold: of the Self, $vidy\bar{a}$, bhava [= $\dot{S}iva$] and the subtle one ($s\bar{u}k;ma$).

ātmatattvah smṛto dharmo vidyā pañcasu pañcadhā | ṣaṭṭriṃśākṣaram ityāhuh sūkṣmatattvam alakṣaṇam || 4:73 ||

The tattva of the Self is Dharma. Vidyā is in the five in a fivefold way[??].

They call the thirty-sixth the imperishable one, [and] the subtle tattva has no attributes.

catuṣpādaḥ smṛto dharmaś caturāśramam āśritaḥ | gṛhastho brahmacārī ca vānaprastho 'tha bhaikṣukaḥ || 4:74 ||

The four-legged one is said to be Dharma [as] it rests on the four āśramas, [those of] the householder, the chaste one, the forest-dweller and the mendicant.

dhanyās te yair idam vetti nikhilena dvijottama |

pāvanam sarvapāpānām puņyānām ca pravardhanam || 4:75 ||

Virtuous are those who know these thoroughly, O great Brahmin. [They will experience] the purification of all sins and the growth of merits.

āyuḥ kīrtir yaśaḥ saukhyam dhanyād eva pravardhate | śāntiḥ puṣṭiḥ smṛṭir medhā jāyate dhanyamānave || 4:76 ||

One's life-span, fame and glory and happiness grow only through virtue (dhanya). In a virtuous person piece, prosperity, tradition (smṛti) and intelligence will arise.

[yameṣv apramādaḥ (8) — The eighth yama-rule: Lack of negligence]

pramādasthāna pañcaiva kīrtayisyāmi tac chṛṇu |

fore the word āyatana seems to be a synonym of vihāra here, and its use a simple method of appropriating it, turning the list into a Brahmanical one.

4.72 Note the stem form dhyāna in °dhyānādhunā (for °dhyānam adhunā) in pāda a. For contrast, but also for similarities, see the dhyānayajña section in VSS 6.7ff, in which five types of related meditations are taught. See analysis on pp. Intro CHECK.

4.73 This verse is difficult to interpret. *Pāda*s a to d should define ātman, vidyā, bhava, and sūkṣma, objects of meditation, respectively. In pāda a, dharmo is suspect: it may be the result of an eye-skip to pāda a of the next verse. Pāda b might refer to tattvas in an ontological system of 25, 26 or 36 tattvas. If pāda c is in fact a reference to a 36-tattva philosophical system, it is in striking contrast with the 25-tattva system described in VSS chapter 20. I take ṣaṭtriṃśa as being in stem form.

4.75 Note the plural instrumental (yair) with a singular active verb (vetti; anacoluthic structure).

4.76 Emending "mānavaḥ to "mānave might err by overcorrection, and "mānavaḥ may have originally been felt like a genitive ('for a person...').

brahmahatyā surāpānaṃ steyo gurvaṅganāgamam | mahāpātakam ity āhus tatsaṃyogī ca pañcamaḥ || 4:77 ||

There are five areas of negligence. I shall teach them to you, listen. Murdering a Brahmin, drinking alcohol, stealing, having sex with the guru's wife: they call these grievous sins. The fifth is when one is connected with them [i.e. with these sins or with people involved in these sinful acts].

anṛtaṃ ca samutkarṣe rājagāmī ca paiśunaḥ | guroś cālīkanirbandhaḥ samāni brahmahatyayā || 4:78 ||

A lie concerning one's superiority, a slander that reaches the king's ear, and false accusations against an elder are equal to killing a Brahmin.

brahmojjhaṃ vedanindā ca kūṭasākṣī suhṛdvadhaḥ | garhitānādyayor jagdhiḥ surāpānasamāni ṣaṭ || 4:79 ||

Abandoning the Vedas, reviling the Vedas, being a false witness, murdering a friend, eating unfit or forbidden food are six [deeds that are] equal to drinking alcohol.

retotsekaḥ svayonyāsu kumārīṣv antyajāsu ca | sakhyuḥ putrasya ca strīṣu gurutalpasamaḥ smṛtaḥ || 4:80 ||

Sexual intercourse with a female relative, with an unmarried girl, with women of the lowest castes, with the wife of a friend or of one's own son are said to be equal to violating the guru's bed.

nikṣepasyāpaharaṇaṃ narāśvarajatasya ca | bhūmivajramaṇīnāṃ ca rukmasteyasamaḥ smṛtaḥ || 4:81 ||

Stealing deposits, people, horses, silver, land, diamonds, or gems are said to be equal to stealing gold.

catvāra ete sambhūya yat pāpaṃ kurute naraḥ | mahāpātakapañcaitat tena sarvam prakāśitam | pañcapramādam etāni varjanīyaṃ dvijottama || 4:82 ||

If a man is associated with [any of these] four [i.e. brahmahatyā, surāpāna,

4.77 Note the stem form noun in $p\bar{a}da$ a (sthāna) metri causa, and also that this stem form noun may function as a singular noun next to a number ($pa\bar{n}ca$), a frequently seen phenomenon in this text. See the apparatus to the Sanskrit text for very similar verses in the MBh, Manu and the YājńS, and note how $p\bar{a}da$ f slightly deviates from Manu 11.55, which is translated in Olivelle 2005, 217–218 as: 'Killing a Brahmin, drinking liquor, stealing, and having sex with an elder's wife—they call these "grievous sins causing loss of caste"; and so is establishing any links with such individuals.'

4.78 The translation of this verse is based on Olivelle 2005, 218.

4.79 This verse continues quoting Manu. Pāda a in the witnesses may actually be no more than the result of misreading of the syllable jjha in Manu 11.57. Note the variant brahmojjham vedanindā ca, in the Southern transmission, in Olivelle's critical edition of Manu (Olivelle 2005, 847).

4.80 The text, and my emendation in pāda c, still follow Manu (11.59).

4.81 This is Manu 11.58. I have emended rugma° to rukma° in pāda d, although rugma° is attested in a great number of Southern MSS and one Śāradā MS in Olivelle 2005, 847.

stena, gurvanganāgama], he commits sin. By this all the five grievous sins have been explained. These five kinds of negligence are to be avoided, O great Brahmin.

[yameṣu mādhuryam (9) — The ninth yama-rule: Charm]

kāyavānmanamādhuryaś cakṣur buddhiś ca pañcamaḥ | saumyadrstipradānam ca krūrabuddhim ca varjayet || 4:83 ||

[Charm has five types:] bodily, verbal and mental charm, [charm of] the eyes and [of one's] thoughts as fifth. Giving [others] a friendly glance [is commendable] and one should avoid cruel thoughts.

prasannamanasā dhyāyet priyavākyam udīrayet | yathāśaktipradānaṃ ca svāśramābhyāgato guruḥ || 4:84 ||

One should meditate with a tranquil mind and should speak [to other people using] gentle words. [When] respectable people arrive at one's own hermitage, [one should] present them with as many gifts as one can, indhanodakadānaṃ ca jātavedam athāpi vā | sulabhāni na dattāni indhanāgnyudakāni ca | kṣute jīveti vā noktaṃ tasya kiṃ parataḥ phalam || 4:85 ||

with gifts of fire-wood, water and fire. [If] fire-wood, fire and water are easily available [but] are not given [as gift] or [if the phrase] 'Live [for a hundred years]!' is not uttered when [somebody] sneezes, what reward could there be for such a person in the afterlife?

[yameṣv ārjavam (10) — The tenth yama-rule: Sincerity]

- 4.82 Perhaps understand pāda c as etan mahāpātakapañcakam. Note the confusion of number and gender: understand pañca pramādāḥ etā varjanīyāḥ or pañca prāmādāny etāni varjanīyāni.
- 4.83 My emendation from °manasā dhūryas' to °mana-mādhuryas' is based on the fact that following the list of yamas in 3.16cd–17ab, we need some reference to mādhurya here and that it is easy to see how this corruption came about: °mano-mādhurya' would be unmetrical, hence the form °mana-mādhurya; °mana-mā° is easily corrupted to °manasā" (not to mention the fact that manasā comes up in the next verse). In addition, we need five items in this line because of pañcamaḥ. As always, I correct mādhūrya to mādhurya, although it seems that the former is acceptable in this text. I did not correct mādhūryas' to mādhuryam because of the corresponding pañcamaḥ.
- 4.84 Pādas cd of the previous verse, and pādas ab of the present one cover four categories of the above: cakṣurmādhurya, buddhimādhurya, dṛṣṭimādhurya and vāgmādhurya. This suggests that what follows is on kāyamādhurya. Emending pāda d to svāśramābhyāgate gurau would make the line smoother, as suggested by Kengo Harimoto.
- 4.85 Understand jātavedam in pāda b as jātavedasam or jātavedāḥ, or rather as belonging to the compound °dānam: jātavedodānam. For pāda e, see an Āryāgīti verse in the Mahāsubhāṣitasamgraha (2558): amṛtāyatām iti vadet pīte bhukte kṣute ca śataṃ jīva | choṭikayā saha jṛmb-hāsamaye syātāṃ cirāyurānandau || ('When eating or drinking, one should say: "May it turn into nectar!"; and after sneezing: "Live for a hundred years!" By snapping the thumb and forefinger when yawning, there will be long life and happiness.")

pañcārjavāḥ praśaṃsanti munayas tattvadarśinaḥ | karmavṛttyābhivṛddhiṃ ca pāratoṣikam eva ca | strīdhanotkocavittaṃ ca ārjavo nābhinandati || 4:86 ||

The sages who see the truth praise five types of sincerity. [Sincerity] in action, in livelihood, in prosperity, in gratifying others [and ...?]. A sincere person does not rejoice in women, wealth, bribery and property.

ārjavo na vṛthā yajña ārjavo na vṛthā tapaḥ |

ārjavo na vṛthā dānam ārjavo na vṛthāgnayaḥ || 4:87 ||

Sincerity [means] no sacrifice [performed] idly. Sincerity [means] no austerity [performed] idly. Sincerity [means] no donation [given] idly. Sincerity [means] no fires [kindled] idly.

ārjavasyendriyagrāmaḥ suprasanno 'pi tiṣṭhati | ārjavasya sadā devāḥ kāye tasya caranti te || 4:88 ||

The sense faculties of a sincere person are firm even when he is delighted. The gods always live inside the body of a sincere person.

iti yamapravibhāgaḥ kīrtito 'yaṃ dvijendra

iha parata sukhārtham kārayet tam manusyaḥ |

duritamalapahārī śankarasyājñayāste

bhavati pṛthivibhartā hy ekachatrapravartā || 4:89 ||

Thus has been taught this section on the yama-rules, O great Brahmin. Humans should follow them to reach happiness here and in the other world. He'll live by Śańkara's command with his filth of sins destroyed. He'll become a ruler of the world [that he subjugates] under one royal umbrella.

|| iti vṛṣasārasaṃgrahe yamavibhāgo nāmādhyāyaś caturthaḥ || Here ends the fourth chapter in the Vṛṣasārasaṃgraha called the Section on the Yama-rules.

^{4.86°} ārjavāḥ should be in the accusative, therefore it is to be taken as feminine (rather than neuter) or as an irregular form for °ārjavāni.

^{4.89} In pāda a "pra" does not make the previous syllable long: this is the phenomenon of 'muta cum liquida', one of the hallmarks of the Vṛṣasārasaṃgraha, that is, syllables such as tra, pra, bra, dra do not necessarily make the previous syllable long. In pāda b, parata most probably stands for paratra or paratah metri causa. We may correct it to paratra ('muta cum liquida'). "malaphārī in the MSS stands either for "malāpahārī or "malaprahārī metri causa. I could have choosen to emend it to "malaprahārī ('muta cum liquida' again), but I decided not to because apahārin, apahāra apahāraka are used in the text very frequently. See also 8.XX, which contains a very similar expression: sakalamalapahāre dharmapañcāśad etat.
